

John Walker

1767

1568/1558.

THERON and ASPASIO:

OR, A

S E R I E S

OF

D I A L O G U E S

AND

L E T T E R S,

UPON THE

Most Important and Interesting SUBJECTS.

I N T H R E E V O L U M E S.

BY JAMES HERVEY, A.M.

Late Rector of Weston-Favell, in Northamptonshire.

My Mouth shall daily speak of thy Righteousness and Salvation; for I know no End thereof. Psal. lxxi. 13.

V O L. II.

T H E F O U R T H E D I T I O N.

L O N D O N:

Printed by Charles Rivington,

For JOHN RIVINGTON, at the Bible and Crown, in St. Paul's Church-yard.

MDCC LXI.

30.5.76

B  L

A
S E R I E S
O F
D I A L O G U E S.

D I A L O G U E IX.

HERON, impressed with the last Conversation, was very desirous to resume the Subject, and renew the important Debate. With this View, He conducted his Friend into a Retirement, commodious for the Purpose.

They enter a spacious Lawn; which lay opposite to the House, and stretched itself in the Form of an expanded Fan. The Mounds, on either Side, were dressed in Verdure; and ran out in a slanting Direction. The whole, to an Eye placed at a Distance, bore the Resemblance of a magnificent Vista; contracting, by slow Degrees, its Dimensions; and lessening, at last, into a Point. Which, the regular and graceful Seat, with all imaginable Dignity, supplied.

4 D I A L O G U E IX.

Nature had sunk the Lawn into a gentle Decline, On whose ample Sides, were Oxen browsing, and Lambs-frisking. The lusty Doves lowed, as they passed; and the thriving Flocks, bleated welcome Music in their Master's Ear.—Along the Midst of this verdant Slope, ran a spacious and extensive Walk. Which, coated with Gravel, and fenced with Pallisadoes, looked like a plain Stripe of Brown, intersecting a Carpet of the brightest Green.—At the Bottom, two handsome Canals, copiously stocked with Fish, floated to the Breeze. Whose Waters, beheld from every front Room in the House, had a fine Effect upon the Sight; not without a refreshing Influence on the Imagination.—At the Extremity of one, stood a stately Colonnade. The Roof was elevated on Pillars of the Ionic Order; and the Area slabbed with Stones, neatly ranged in the Diamond-Fashion. Several Forest-chairs accommodated the Anglers with a Seat, while the bending Dome supplied them with a Shade.

Corresponding, and on the Margin of the other Canal, was erected a Summer-house, of a very singular Kind.—The lower Part, had an Opening towards the North. It was cool; it was gloomy; and had never seen the Sun. It carried the romantic Air of a Grotto, or rather the pensive Appearance of a Hermit's Cell. The Outside was coarse and rugged with protuberant Stones. Partly over-spread with Ivy, partly covered with Moss, it seemed to be the Work of antient Years.—You descend, by Steps of Turf, through a low and narrow Door. A scanty iron Grate, instead of a large sweeping Sash, transmits

D I A L O G U E IX.

5

mits a glimmering Light; just sufficient to discover the inner Structure. Which appeared, like one continued Piece of Rock-work; a Cavern cut, You would imagine, from the surrounding Quarry.—Above, hung an irregular Arch; with an Aspect, rather threatening, than inviting. Below, lay a Paving of homely Pebbles; in some Places, a little furrowed, as though it had been worn by the frequent Tread of solitary Feet. All around, were Rusticity and Solemnity; Solemnity, never more visibly seen, than through a Gloom.—The Furniture, of the same grotesque Fashion; with the Apartment. A Bench hewed, You would suspect, by Nature's Chizzel, out of the solid Stone. A Sort of Couch, composed of swelling Moss, and small fibrous Roots.—From one Corner, trickled a pure Spring, which crept, with a bubbling Moan, along the channeled Floor; till its healthy Current was collected into a Basin, rudely scooped from the Ground. On the Edge of this little Receptacle, lay chained a rusty Bowl; and over it, stood an antique worm-eaten Table.—On the least obscure Part of the Wall, you discern, dimly discern, a Parchment Scroll; inscribed with that sage, but mortifying Admonition; VANITY OF VANITIES! ALL IS VANITY!

Over this Recess, so pleasingly horrid, and adapted to solemn Musings, arose an open and airy Belvedere. You ascend by winding Stairs; and coming from the uncouth Abode below, are sweetly surprised with an elegant Hexagon.—The Cieling lofty, and decorated with the softest, richest, almost flowing Fret-work. The Wainscot, in large Pannels of Oak, retained its native Auburn: so beautifully plain; that, like an amiable Countenance, it would have been disfigured, rather than improved, by the most costly Paint. On this were disposed, in gilded Frames, and to great Advantage, a Variety of entertaining Landschapes. But none surpassed, none equaled, all were a Foil to, the noble lovely Views, which the Windows commanded. — The Chimney-piece, of white shining Marble, streaked with Veins of vivid Red. Over it, was carved a fine Festoon of artificial, in it, was ranged a choice Collection of natural Flowers. — On a Table of glossy Walnut, lay a portable Telescope; attended with Thomson's Seasons, and Vanierii Prædium Rusticum *.

6 D I A L O G U E I X.

The Whole was fitted up in the highest Taste, and furnished with every pleasurable Ornament. On purpose to harmonize with that lavish Gaiety, which seemed to smile over all the Face of Nature. On purpose to correspond with that vernal Delight, which came breathing on the Wings of every fragrant Gale. I may add, on purpose to remind the Beholder of those immortal Mansions, which are decorated with Images infinitely more splendid, with Objects unspeakably more glorious: where holy Beings will spend, not a few vacant Hours in refined Amusement, but a boundless Eternity in the Consummation of Joy. — For, to a well-turned Mind, Nature

is

* Vanierii Prædium Rusticum — A most elegant Latin Poem: which treats of every remarkable Peculiarity, relating to the Business of a Country Life, or the Furniture of a Country Seat. — It entertains us with a Description of the most agreeable Objects; in an easy Flow, of the purest Language, and most musical Numbers.

It is, I think, one continued Beauty. Superior to every Thing of the Kind, I have met with among the Moderns; and scarcely, if at all, unworthy the first Genius of the Augustan Age. Uni Virgilio secundus, & pæne par.

D I A L O G U E IX. 7

is a Preceptor ; and these are her instructive Lessons. To the pure in Heart, even Sense is edifying ; and these are its delicate Moralities.

The redundant Waters of the Canal, rolled off in a spreading Cascade. Which, tumbling from many a little Precipice, soothed the Air with a Symphony of soft and gurgling Sounds. Nor ever intermitted the obliging Office,

From Morn to Noon, from Noon to dewy Eve.

But, when the fanning Breezes dropt their Wings ; when the feathered Choir were hushed in Sleep ; when not so much as a chirping Grasshopper, was heard throughout the Meads ; this liquid Instrument still played its Solo : still pursued its busy Way, and warbled, as it flowed, melodious Murmurs.

Asp. Such, Theron ; so uniform, uninterrupted, and invariable, should be our Conformity to the divine Law.—But alas ! those sacred Precepts are so exceeding broad, that the most enlarged human Obedience, is far from being commensurate to their Extent : so absolutely holy, that our highest Attainments fall vastly short of their exalted Perfection.—How then can We expect Justification, from such a consummate Rule ? How dare We place our Dependence, upon such imperfect Duties ? Especially, before a GOD of unerring Discernment, and immaculate Purity.

Ther. Because Mankind are incapable of pleasing their M A K E R, by yielding an absolute and invariable Obedience to the moral Law ; does it follow from thence, that they cannot render themselves acceptable to Him, by an universal Course of sincere Obedience ?

Asp. I think, it follows from what has been already observed. If You desire new Arguments, they are at hand.

The Law, says the Teacher of the Gentiles, is the Ministration of Condemnation *. How can this be true, if it requires no more than a sincere Obedience; such as is proportioned to our infirm State? If this be sufficient to justify, and intitle Us to our CREATOR's Favour; the Law ceases to be the Ministration of Condemnation. It becomes (which is flatly contradictory to the Apostle's Doctrine) the Ministration of Righteousness.

The Law is styled, by the same inspired Teacher, A School-master to bring Us to CHRIST †. How can it, upon your Supposition, be qualified for such an Office? If a sincere Obedience be the Whole of its

* 2 Cor. iii. 7. In this Place, I apprehend, the Apostle means the moral Law, and that principally. As that alone was written and engraven on Stones. Elsewhere, I believe, He uses the Word in a larger Sense; and intends to exclude all Law whatever, from bearing any Share in our Justification.

† Gal. iii. 24. Nadaus, A School-master: Who pretends not to finish the Education of Youth; but directs them to, and prepares them for, higher Studies, or nobler Employs. The Law, in like manner, aims not at furnishing Us with a Title to Happiness; but fits, disposes, and disciplines Us, for the All-sufficient REDEEMER.

Some have thought, that us, Xp̄s or signifies, Until the Coming of CHRIST. But this will hardly consist with the Genius of the Language, or with the Import of the following Clause, That We might be justified by Faith. Besides, this would confine the Efficacy of the Law, to that Period of Time, which preceded our LORD's Incarnation. Whereas, it still does, and always will act, (until this Corruptible shall put on Incorruption) in a Way of Subserviency to his Merits.

DIALOGUE IX. 9

its Demands, it can no longer direct Us to CHRIST; it will no longer deliver Us over to a REDEEMER's Merit; but must draw and attach Us to itself. Teaching Us to look upon its Precepts, and our own conscientious Observance of them, as the Tenure of eternal Life.

Do You insist upon a third Proof? A third presents itself. Not so much founded on Argumentation, as deduced from Example.—How was Abraham *, the Friend of GOD, and Father of the Faithful, justified? By a Course of sincere Obedience? No; but by Faith in the promised MESSIAH. Abraham worked not, with a View to obtain Justification; but believed on Him, who justifieth the Ungodly.—How was David *, the Man after GOD's own Heart, justified? By his Zeal for the LORD, and by his eminent Services? No; but by a Righteousness imputed: even that Righteousness of the blessed REDEEMER, through which Iniquity is forgiven, and Sin pardoned.—And can We be said to walk humbly, or can We be thought to walk surely, if, refusing to tread in the Steps of these exemplary •• These two Examples are, with the truest Judgment selected, and with the utmost Propriety applied. Rom. iv. 1, &c. Rom. iv. 6, &c.—Abraham was the most illustrious Pattern of Piety, among the Jewish Patriarchs: In Glory there was None like Him, Ecclus. xlv. 19. David was the most zealous and seraphic of their Kings: A Man after GOD's own Heart, 1 Sam. xiii. 14. If neither of these was justified by his own Obedience; but each by an imputed Righteousness: If they both obtained Acceptance with GOD, not as upright Beings, who might claim it; but as sinful Creatures, who must implore it; the Consequence is glaring. It is such, as must strike every attentive Understanding, and must affect every individual Person.

10 D I A L O G U E IX.

emplary Saints, We divert into a Path of our own devising ?

Ther. “ Of our own devising ! ”—No, my Friend : there is a milder Law introduced by the Gospel, condescending and merciful to our Infirmities, which accepts of Sincerity instead of perfect Obedience.

Asp. When was this milder Law introduced, and the stricter abrogated ?—Not upon the Entrance of Sin, I presume. At this Rate, the original Law must be the Creature of a few Days, perhaps of a few Hours only. But can We imagine, that the All-wise and unchangeable GOD would ordain a System of Precepts, to be disannulled, as soon as enacted ?—Not in our LORD’s Time, I am very certain. That holy Commandment, which requires supreme Love to GOD, and perfect Charity to Men, He assures Us, was still in Force *. Nay, it is evident, from the Nature of the DEITY, and from our Relation to one another, That it always will be in Force ; that it never can cease ; but is necessary and everlasting.

“ A milder Law, condescending to our Infirmities.”—What can be the Purport of such an Institution ? It must be supposed to speak the following Language ; “ Be it known unto You, O Children of Adam, that You are no longer enjoined to love the LORD with all your Strength, nor to love your Neighbour as Yourselfes.—Once, indeed, I insisted upon absolute Purity of Heart ; now I can dispense with some Degree of evil Concupiscence. —Since CHRIST is come, and his Gospel preached, You need not always be clothed with Humility ; but may feel some little Emotions of “ Pride.

* Matt. xxii. 37, 38, 39.

D I A L O G U E IX. 11

“Pride.—In short; because You are weak, I will “connive; or even accommodate my Demands to “your infeeble and depraved Condition.”

Not to urge, (what must be shocking to every Ear) That such a Doctrine would make the HOLY ONE of GOD, a Minister of Sin; and the Gospel of our Salvation, a Patent for Licentiousness. Let me only ask—Does this agree with our LORD’s Declaration? One jot or Tittle shall in no wise pass from the Law, till all be fulfilled *.—Is this suitable to the Perfections of the Divine LEGISLATOR?
With whom is no Variableness, nor Shadow of Turning †?—Will this consist with the avowed Resolution of the Almighty JEHOVAH? He will magnify the Law, and make it honourable ‡.

Ther. However You may decry, what I call the milder Law, St. Paul asserts it to be the Christian Scheme. This he strenuously argues for, as the only Scheme by which any Man can be justified in the Sight of GOD.

Asp. Does He, Theron? In what Epistle? What Chapter? What Verse?—He says, addressing Himself to the Galatian Converts; I do not frustrate the Grace of GOD; for, if Righteousness come by the Law, CHRIST is dead in vain ||. From which Passage, We learn two very momentous Truths.
That, were we to derive a justifying Righteousness from the Law, this would not only be derogatory to the Honour of Grace, but subversive of its very Being.—That, by seeking Justification through our own conscientious Behaviour, We make, as far as in Us

* Matt. v. 18.

† Jam. i. 17.

‡ Isa. xlii. 21.

|| Gal. ii. 21.

Us lies, the Death of CHRIST a vain Thing ; for which there was no Occasion, and of which there is no Use.

To the same Purpose it is written in that invaluable Epistle to the Romans * ; If they which are of the Law be Heirs ; if they, who trust to their own Performance of the Law, are thereby intitled to the heavenly Inheritance ; Faith is made void, and the Promise made of none Effect.—See now, my Friend, the Tendency of your Opinion ! It is not a mere speculative Mistake ; an Error of inconsiderable Consequence ; but such as strikes at the Fundamentals of the Gospel. Instead of being the only Christian Scheme, it totally overthrows † Christianity itself. For, it would render the Promise abortive, and supersede the Necessity of Faith. It would destroy the very Existence of Grace, and make even the Death of CHRIST a superfluous Transaction.

Ther. This I see, Aspasio ; That the Method of obtaining Acceptance on Account of our own Sincerity,

* Rom. iv. 14.

† St. Paul says of those Preachers, who taught Justification by the Works of the Law, They would pervert, or (as the Original $\mu\epsilon\lambda\alpha\sigma\pi\epsilon\rho\upsilon\alpha\iota$ may be translated) subvert and overthrow the Gospel of CHRIST.—To pervert, give a wrong Turn, or a false Colour, seems not to express fully the Apostle's Idea, nor to preserve the native Energy of his Argument. The Greek Word is equivalent to the Hebrew $\פָּסַח$, which we generally render evertere. Gal. i. 7.

It may be worth our while, to transcribe Beza's Descant upon the Passage : which is no less pertinent, than it is important. Quid enim magis contrarium est Fidei, sive gratiæ Justificationi, quam Justificatio ex Lege, sive Meritis, non CHRISTI sed nostris ? Itaque qui volunt ista duo conciliare, magis etiam sunt inepti, quam si quis conetur Lucem cum Tenebris, Morrem cum Vitâ conjungere.

rity, is a benign Expedient; such as corresponds with the compassionate Nature of the DEITY; and is, what the Apostle styles, being justified by Faith, without the Deeds of the Law.

Ass. How! To be justified by Faith, and justified by Sincerity, the same Thing!—Is it possible, that these should be equivalent Terms?—Let me illustrate my Query by a Similitude, which our present Situation suggests. Sometimes, an easy Comparison is more convincing, than a laboured Argument.

From this pleasing Eminence, We command an extensive View of the Country. Our Eye connects the artless Grandeur of Nature, with the elegant Embellishments of the Summer-house. Nor is the public Road the least entertaining Part of the Scene. Because, it presents Us with a moving Picture; with a perpetual Succession of new Objects.—How many Travelers have passed in Review, since We took our Seat in this agreeable Elevation! Just at this Instant, a Stage-coach bolts out of the Lane: filled, I presume, with Passengers, that reside in the Neighbourhood, or are to lodge in the next Market-town. We will suppose them set down at their Journey's End. An Acquaintance visits them: congratulates them on their Arrival: and asks that customary Question, “How they came?”—“We came, say they, without walking a Step ourselves; yet by walking, as well, and as far, as We were able.”—Is this Answer intelligible? Are these Methods of traveling consistent? So intelligible is my Friend's Doctrine. So consistent is Justification, vouchsafed without the Deeds of the Law; and Justification obtained, by performing the Deeds of the Law, as well as We are able.

Ther.

Ther. Without the Law, signifies, Without the Necessity of an exact and unerring Conformity to it.

Asp. This is not without, but by the Law, qualified in the Rigour of its Demands, and departing somewhat from the Perfection of its Precepts. Could You affirm, with any Propriety, that this Part of the Hemisphere is without the Sun? Because, an intervening Cloud has moderated its Fervour, and abated its Glare.

What says the Apostle? His Words in another Place, will determine his Meaning in this. If a State of Acceptance with GOD, be of Works; be referable to our own Obedience, whether sincere or perfect; it is no more of Grace *. Works and Grace, in Point of Justification, are irreconcilable Opposites †. On this Pinnacle they cannot stand together. One must supplant and overthrow the other.

But why do I speak of Grace? If my Friend's Opinion prevail, Grace is at an end. What We took to be the Gospel, turns out a Covenant of Works. Salvation ceases to be a free Gift, and becomes a necessary Payment. For, to Him that worketh, that performeth what the Law requires, is the Reward not reckoned of Grace; but He may claim it,

* Rom. xi. 6. The Passage produced by Aspasio, refers immediately to the Doctrine of Election, and but remotely to the Privilege of Justification. However, as the former includes the latter, if that be perfectly free, this cannot be the Consequence of Works. The Argument, therefore, I apprehend, is conclusive, though the Proof is not so direct.

† E diametro inter se opponuntur, Moses & JESUS CHRISTUS: Lex & Promissio: facere & credere: Opera & Fides: Merces & Donum. BENIGEL.

it, as his Due; it must be paid Him, as Matter of Debt *.

Ther. You take no Notice of what I urged, concerning the Benignity of this Scheme; and how much it magnifies the Clemency of the great LEGISLATOR.

Asp. But why should Clemency erect its Throne, on the Ruins of almost every other Attribute?—This Method would dishonour the Veracity of GOD; which has denounced a Curse, upon every Deviation from his revealed Will.—It would depretiate the Administration of his Justice; which cannot but punish, whatever violates his sacred Precepts.—It would greatly derogate from the Dignity of his Law; and make it a mere Thing of Wax. To bend; and truckle; and take its Form, from the Sin and Weakness of human Nature.

Ther. Will the divine Law then make no favourable Allowances for human Infirmities, for constitutional Faults, and Strength of Passion?

Asp. Far be it from me to represent the Law of the MOST HIGH, either more strict, or more yielding, than it really is. To avoid all Possibility of such a Mistake, let Us hear the Declaration of the Law itself. Cursed is every One that continueth not in all Things, that are written in the Book of the Law to do them †.

Every One; without any Exception of Persons; without any Regard to Pleas, either of human Weakness, or violent Temptation.—That continueth not; it is not enough to observe these holy Commandments, in the general Tenour of our Conversation. Our Course

* Rom. iv. 4.

† Gal. iii. 10.

Course of Obedience must be without any Intermifion ; from the earliest Dawn of Reason, to the latest Period of Life. — In all Things ; We must refrain from all the Sins that are forbidden, and from every Approach towards them. We must practise all the Virtues, that are enjoined, and in their full Extent of Perfection.

In a Word ; the Law insists upon Obedience, perfect in its Principle ; perfect in all its Parts ; perfect in every Degree ; and in each of these Respects perpetual *. — The least Deficiency in any one Particular, renders Us liable to Vengeance ; and, notwithstanding any Repentance for Transgressions, notwithstanding all Pretensions to Sincerity of Heart, subjects Us to the Curse.

Theron paused. — He seemed to be struck with Surprise. — But rallying his Thoughts, replied. If this be the Sense of the Passage, Who of all Flesh can be saved ?

Asp. Say rather ; If the Extent of the divine Law be so enlarged, if its Demands be so high, and its Sanction so awfully rigorous ; then must every Mouth be stopped — then is all the World become guilty before GOD — and, by the Works of the Law shall no Man living be justified.

Ther. Will not such excessively severe Doctrine, drive People into Despondency, or even drown them in Despair ?

Asp.

* That the Law insists upon an Obedience absolutely perfect, will be farther evident to the attentive Reader ; if He considers the Tenour of St. Paul's Argumentation, in his Epistle to the Romans, and to the Galatians. Particularly Rom. iii. 23. iv. 15. Gal. iii. 21.

Asp. No, Theron; unless it be such a Despair, as is the Parent of heavenly Hope; and productive of those amiable Twins, Peace and Joy. A Despair, I mean, of being reconciled to our offended GOD, and of obtaining eternal Happiness, by any Satisfaction or any Duties of our own.

Ther. Surely, You forget the gracious Manifesto, published by the condescending KING of Heaven; *If there be first a willing Mind, it is accepted, according to what a Man hath, not according to what He hath not. Is it not plain from this Text, that infinite Goodness will admit our honest, though imperfect Endeavours. And, since We are not able to pay an unfinning, will mercifully accept our best Obedience.

Asp. I do not forget, but possibly my Friend may misapply the gracious Manifesto.—To whom was the Word of this Consolation sent? To true Believers; who had given their own selves to the LORD †; who were established in CHRIST ‡; and abounded in Faith §.—If You likewise, my dear Theron, acknowledge Yourself a vile Sinner in your worst, and an unprofitable Servant in your best Estate: if, in consequence of this Acknowledgment, You fly for Refuge to the Wounds of a crucified SAVIOUR; and rely, for Salvation, only on his Obedience unto Death: then, You imitate those Corinthian Converts. Then You may apply that indulgent Declaration to Yourself. And then would I venture to address You, in the elegant and cheering Language of the royal PREACHER; Go thy Way, eat thy Bread with Joy, and drink thy Wine with a merry Heart; for GOD

VOL. II.

B

now

* 2 Cor. viii. 12. † 2 Cor. viii. 5. ‡ 2 Cor. i. 21.
§ 2 Cor. viii. 7.

now accepteth * both thy Person, and thy Performances.

But, if You overlook the Righteousness of the blessed JESUS; if You depend upon Yourself and your own Attainments; You are (how shall I speak it!) not accepted, but accursed. In such a Case, You have already heard your Doom denounced by the Leader of the Jews, and may hear it ratified by the Apostle of the Gentiles; As many as are of the Works of the Law, who seek Justification by their own Observance of its Commands, are under the Curse †.

Ther. Under the Curse! Because, our Attempts to obey, though faithfully exerted, are attended with Defects! Is not this unreasonable and shocking? Unreasonable, that the GOD of Justice should establish a Law of such consummate Perfection, as no Child of Adam can, even with his utmost Affiduity and Care, fulfil? Shocking, that the GOD of Mercy should thunder out so severe a Denunciation, on the least inadvertent Breach, on every unavoidable Failure?—This exceeds the relentless Rigour of Draco, or the tyrannical Impositions of the Egyptian Task-

* Eccles. ix. 7.—Aspasio's Remark discovers an Ambiguity in the Word accepted.—If People mean, That sincere Obedience shall be accepted, as their justifying Righteousness; as that which constitutes their Title to everlasting Felicity: the Proposition is extremely false.—If they mean, That the sincere Obedience of Believers, though very imperfect in itself, shall be graciously regarded in CHRIST, and find Favour through his all-recommending Merit: the Sentiment is unquestionably true.—Is Sincerity the Effect of Faith? Then We may rejoice in it, with the happy Apostle, 2 Cor. i. 12. Would Sincerity be the Condition of our Justification? Then We must renounce it, with holy Job, Chap. ix. 15.

† Gal. iii. 10.

Task-masters. Draco is said to have written his Laws in Blood. Yet He never enacted such Institutions, as were absolutely too strict and difficult to be observed. And, though the Aegyptian Task-masters insisted upon the full Tale of Bricks, without allowing the necessary Proportion of Straw, yet the Punishment they inflicted, was incomparably less than everlasting Destruction.

Asp. If GOD Almighty, in delivering his Law to fallen Mankind, intended to propose the Means of their Justification; your Argument would be valid, and your Inference undeniable. But the SUPREME LEGISLATOR had a very different, a far more mysterious Design.—However, before I proceed to touch upon this Point, let me desire to know your Opinion,

For what Reasons, think you, was the Law ordained?

Ther. For what Reasons?—To deter Men from the Commission of Vice, and excite them to the Practice of Virtue.—To set before them a Rule for their Conduct; which if they diligently observe, they shall be rewarded with eternal Happiness; which if they presumptuously transgress, they shall be punished with eternal Misery.

Asp. If Man had never fallen, this Doctrine had been sound Divinity; and this Method, a practicable Scheme. But, ever since the Fall, such a Way of Salvation, is somewhat like the North-East Passage. As Mountains of Ice, and the severest Rigours of Winter, block up this: so, extreme Impotence in Man, and the utmost Perfection in the Law, bar up that.—The Law, saith the Apostle, is weak; is incapable of furnishing Us with a Title to the heavenly Felicity *. Not through any Defect in its Precepts, but through the Flesh; through the Inability of our degenerate Nature.

Yet I must confess, You are not alone in your Opinion. Multitudes have unwarily entertained the same Notion. Not apprehensive, that they frustrate hereby the Grace of GOD, and render it of none Effect with regard to themselves.—If You examine the scriptural Account, You will find it quite of another Strain.

Ther. Pray let me hear the scriptural Account. For, whenever those DIVINE ORACLES speak, I am all Attention. Where-ever they interpose their Authority, I am all Submission.

Asp. By the Law is the Knowledge of Sin †. Far from being our Justifier, it is our Accuser. It arraigns and proves Us guilty. It demonstrates, beyond all Possibility of Contradiction, that the very best among Us, have failed and come short of our Duty; nay, that, the very best among Us, have done amiss, and dealt wickedly.

I was alive without the Law once, says the Apostle ‡. I thought myself upright and holy; and intitled, by virtue of these Qualifications, to Life eternal. But when the Commandment came, shining in its Purity, and operating with Power, Sin revived; a clear and lively Sense of Guilt shot, like a piercing Ray, through

* Rom. viii. 3. Therefore he says in another Place; IF there had been a Law given, which could have given Life. Gal. iii. 21. It is the same way of speaking, and intended to denote the very same Impossibility, which is implied in that Speech of JEHOVAH to Abraham; IF a Man can number the Dust of the Earth. Gen. xiii. 16.

† Rom. iii. 20.

‡ Rom. vii. 9.

through all my Soul. I saw myself chargeable with many past Provocations, I felt myself subject to much remaining Corruption. In consequence of which, I died; my vain Conceits were blasted; my presumptuous Hopes expired; I could not but acknowledge myself, justly liable to Condemnation and Death.

Ther. It had this Effect on Saul, when He was a malignant and barbarous Persecutor. But, when People are virtuous and benign, what Purpose does it then serve?

Asp. A very important one. Yet such as may, probably, at the first Hearing, affect You with a little Surprise. The Law entered, says the Apostle, that the Offence might—

Ther. Be restrained, no doubt.

Asp. That the Offence might *abound, is the Assertion.

Ther. Surprising indeed! Is it possible that GOD's Law should give Countenance to Sin? Nay, add Spurs to the Sinner?

Asp. Let Us beware of mistaking our sacred Casuist. The Law entered, not that the Commission of Sin might be authorized, but that the Abundance of our Sins might be manifested. That all Mankind, even your virtuous Persons, may perceive the great Multitude of their Iniquities; the greater Impurity of their Hearts†; together with the utter Imperfection of their highest Attainments, and best Services.

This End could not be answered by a Law, relaxed in its Demands, or warping to our Weakness; only

B 3

* Rom. v. 20.

† And therefore was Law giv'n them, to evince Their natural Pravity.

MILT. B. XII. 287.

only by a System of Precepts, every Way exact, and in all Degrees perfect.—Whoever would represent to his Neighbour, the Spots that sully, or the Scars that disfigure his Countenance, must effect the Design, not by a stained, but by a pure Mirror.

Ther. The Knowledge of Sin, and a Conviction of our exceeding Sinfulness!—These are Intentions, which I should not have suspected.

Ass. These are not all. There is another Intention of the Law, equally necessary, and no less awful. *It reveals the Wrath of GOD, against all Ungodliness and Unrighteousness of Men.—Having set before the Sinner, his innumerable Offences, and enormous Guilt; it denounces the Doom, which He deserves. It unsheaths the Sword of Justice, and threatens the Offender with everlasting Destruction from the Presence of the LORD.

Ther. A modern Writer supposes, that GOD may set aside the Law, in favour of frail Men. I might far more reasonably suppose, that He would mitigate the Law, on the same Consideration. But what You urge, makes me afraid to lean on so precarious a Prop.

Ass. To look for Comfort and Salvation from this Quarter, would be to lean, as the Arabian Proverb speaks, on a Wave of the Sea: which will not only fail to support, but will certainly swallow up, the unadvised and rash Depender.

No, Theron; rather than the divine Law should lose its Honours, Sodom and Gomorrah were laid in Ashes; the antient World was destroyed with a Deluge; the present Frame of Nature is destined to the Flames, and all its unholy Inhabitants will be condemned to Hell.—Nay, rather than the least Tittle should pass unaccomplished, its Curse has been executed on GOD's own SON, and all its Injunctions have been fulfilled in the Person of JESUS CHRIST.

demned

Ther. As I dare not confide in the modern provisory Salvo, so neither can I accede to your severe and terrifying Notions.—The Laws of a wise and beneficent Governor, are calculated for the Good of his Subjects. What Good, what Advantage can accrue to Us, from receiving such a Sentence, and possessing such Convictions?

Asp. Though I might mention many Advantages, I shall content myself with selecting one. Which is not only valuable in itself, but the Introduction to every spiritual Blessing.—When, by the Instrumentality of the Law, and the Illumination of the SPIRIT, We are brought under such Convictions; then We are taught to see our Danger; then We are made to feel our Misery: and then We shall no longer sleep in Security, but solicitously look out for Deliverance, and gladly accept the sovereign Remedy.

Ther. The Law, according to your Representation, is intended to accuse me—to convict me—to condemn me. So it becomes, instead of a salutary, a killing System.

Asp. The Letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth Life *. If We adhere to the literal Sense, without attending to the spiritual Design: if we regard only the Precept and the Sanction, as they stand in themselves; and neither consider, nor improve them, as acting in Subserviency to the MEDIATOR's Righteousness; they are doubtless a killing Ordinance, and bind Us down under a Sentence of Death.—But rightly improved—Hold ! Let me proceed no farther with the Argument.

B 4

bind

You are a Sportsman, Theron, and delight in the manly Recreations of the Field. You must therefore have read that fine Poem, which so elegantly describes your favourite Diversion.

Ther. The CHACE, I suppose, You mean.

Asp. The same.—Do You remember the large Description of the royal Stag Chace?

Ther. Perfectly well. It is not a Week, since I perused the whole Passage ; and with as much Pleasure, as if it had been intirely new.

Asp. Then You can give me a Summary of the agreeable Narrative.

Ther. I can. But will not this Chace lead Us away very far from our Subject?

Asp. Perhaps, not so far as You imagine. I have a Reason for my Request.

Ther. What Reason, I beseech You?

Asp. You shall soon know. Only favour me with the Account.

Ther. I protest, I cannot discern the least Connection, between these rural Sports, and the grand Topic of our Conversation. However, since You command, I will implicitly obey.

The Stag, roused from his Lair, shakes his dappled Sides ; tosses his beamy Head ; and, conscious of superior Agility, seems to defy the gathering Storm.—You see, speaking of Poetry, I have caught something of the poetical Strain.

Asp. This invlivened Manner excites my Eagerness, and makes me more desirous to hear the Sequel.

Ther.

DIALOGUE IX. 25

Ther. First, He has recourse to Stratagem, and evasive Shifts. He plunges into the Copse; darts across the Glade; and wheels about in doubling Mazes; as though he would pursue, even the Foe He avoids. The full-mouthed Pack unravel all his Windings, and drive Him from his wily Arts.

Now, He betakes Himself to Flight, and confides in his Speed. He bursts through the Woods; bounds over the Lawns; and leaves the lagging Beagles far behind. The Beagles slow, but sure, trace his Steps, through Woods, through Lawns, through half the extended Forest. Unwearied, still unwearied, they urge their ardent Way, and gain upon the alarmed Object of their Pursuit.

Again He flies. Flies with redoubled Swiftneſs. Shoots down the Steep; strains up the Hill; and takes shelter in the inmost Recess of some sequestered Grove. The sagacious Hounds hang, with greedy Nostrils, on the Scent. They recover, by indefatigable Affiduity, the Ground they had lost. Up they come a third Time; and, joining in a general Peal of Vengeance, hurry the affrighted Animal from his short Concealment.

Perplexed, and in the utmost Distress, He seeks the numerous Herd. He would loose Himself, and elude his Pursuers, amidst the Multitude of his Fellows. But they, unconcerned for a Brother's Woe, shun the miserable Creature, or expel him from the selfish Circle.—Abandoned by his Associates, and haunted with Apprehensions of approaching Ruin, He trembles at every Leaf that shakes. He starts; He springs; and wild, and swift as the Wind, flies he knows not where, yet pours all his Soul in Flight.—Vain, vain are are his Efforts. The horrid Cry, lately lessened, thickens upon the Gale, and thunders in his Ear.—Now, the poor breathless Victim is full in View. His Sprightliness forfakes Him. His Agility is spent. See ! how He toils in yonder Valley, with faltering Limbs, and a hobling Gait. The Sight of their Game, quickens the Pace, and whets the Ardour, of the impetuous Hounds. With tumultuous Violence they rush in, and with clamorous Joy demand their Prey.

What can He do ? Surrounded as He is, with insulting Tongues, and ravenous Jaws ? Despair is capable of inspiriting even the timorous Breast. Having nothing to hope, He forgets to fear. He faces about, and makes a resolute Stand. The Trunk of a sturdy Tree, covers his Rear ; and his own branching Horns, defend Him in Front. He rushes upon his Adversaries ; goars some ; lays others groveling on the Turf ; and makes the whole coward Pack give way.

Encouraged by this unexpected Success, his Hopes revive. He rallies once again his drooping Spirits ; exerts the little Remainder of his Strength ; and springs through the Midst of the retiring Rout.—It is his last, last Chance. He stretches every Nerve ; once more loses Sight of the Rabble from the Kennel ; and, finding no Security on the Land, takes to the Water. He throws his burning Sides into the River ; sails down the cooling Stream ; and sinks away to the Verge of some little shelving Island. There, finding a Resting-place for his Feet, He skulks close to the shady Margin. All immersed in the Wave, excepting only his Nostrils, He baffles, for a-while, a-while, the prying Eye of Man, and the keener Smell of Brute.

DIALOGUE IX. 27

Discovered, at length, and forced to quit this un-availing Refuge, He climbs the slippery Bank. Unable to fly any longer, He stands at bay against an aged Willow. Stands, all faint with Toil, and sobbing with Anguish. The Crouds that gather round Him, with merciless and outrageous Transport, triumph in his Misery. A Multitude of bloody-thirsty Throats, joined with the sonorous Horn, ring his funeral Knell.—The Tears, till this fatal Instant unknown, gush from his languishing Eyes, and roll down his reeking Cheeks. He casts one more Look on the Woods, the Lawns, the pleasing Scenes of his former Delights; and, determined to die, prepares to sell his Life as dear as possible.

At this most critical Juncture, the royal Sportsman comes up. He sees the distressed Creature; and, as soon as he sees, He pities. The Clemency, which attends the Throne, accompanies even the Diversions of Majesty. He issues the high Command. The prohibitory Signal is given. The Pack, though raving for Blood, are checked in a Moment. And not checked only, but called off from the Prey. Disappointed and grumbling, they retire: and leave the intended Victim of their Fury, to enjoy his Liberty, his Safety, and his Ease again.

I have now followed the Stag, till I have tired your Patience. Why did You suffer me to run on, at this extravagant Rate? You know, I am, on these favourite Topics, an everlasting Talker.

Ass. Why this Apology, Theron? I am sure You did not see my Mouth yawn, or my Head nod, while You was pursuing your Subject. Besides, I intend to make Reprizals, and put your Attention to the same Tryal.

Thus the Strictness of the Law pursues the Soul; dislodges it from every Refuge of Lies; and never remits its terrifying Menaces, till the poor Delinquent ceases from Self-confidence, and fixes on CHRIST for his whole Salvation *.

The Man, perhaps, is awakened into a serious Concern for his eternal State. In consequence of which, He relinquishes his profane and iniquitous Practices. Breaks the Sabbath, and defrauds his Neighbour no more.—But the Law quickly represents, and in a glaring Light, that a negative Obedience is by no means sufficient.

Upon this, He betakes Himself to a Course of positive Holiness. Gets acquainted with religious People, and performs religious Duties. Prays in secret, and attends public Ordinances. Conscientiously observes the LORD's Day, and regulates his Behaviour by the Rule of GOD's Commandments. Now, He is ready to congratulate Himself on his remarkable and hopeful Reformation.

Soon he perceives, that all his Proficiency is but Skin-deep: a mere outside Varnish: which has not penetrated the inner Man. He begins, therefore, to watch over the Motions, and bewail the Evils of his Heart.

* Lex Hominem urget, donec is ad CHRISTUM confugit. Tum ipsa dicit; Asylum es nactus; desino Te persequi; sapias, salvus es. That is; The Law urges and pursues the Sinner, till He flies for Refuge to JESUS CHRIST. Then the Law speaks to this Effect; "You are entered into the Strong-hold; my Demands are satisfied; my Curses are silenced; I remit the Pursuit. "You are wise; You are safe; You are happy."

BENJEL.

Heart. He labours to subdue Pride, and curb Passion; to purge out filthy Lusts, and to banish spiritual Wickedness. Notwithstanding all his Vigilance, Conscience flies in his Face, either for the Neglect of some Virtue, or the Commission of some Sin. The Law rings in his Ear that dreadful Denunciation; "Curfed is He, that performeth not all Things."

Struck by this Conviction, his Wounds bleed afresh. He is obliged to seek some new Balm for his Sore. In order to appease an offended GOD, and atone for his sinful Relapses, He makes many sorrowful Confessions; possibly, submits to voluntary Sufferings. He denies Himself, and bestows liberally on the Poor. He sighs deeply, and mourns bitterly.—But can Waters that are muddy, cleanse the Garment that is filthy? Wilt Thou satisfy, O vain Man, wilt Thou satisfy for one Sin, by committing another? In these penitential Exercises, were thy Thoughts steadily devout? In these Acts of Beneficence, was thy Heart warmly affectionate? If not, such fancied Reparations of past Faults, only aggravate the heavy Score.

What shall He do? He cannot pay. To beg He is ashamed. Fain would He enter into Life, yet not be too much indebted to Grace. He attempts therefore to compound with Heaven. He binds Himself by solemn, perhaps by sacramental Engagements, to use greater Circumspection for the future. Then turns his Eye to the divine MEDIATOR; not with a View of relying wholly on his Righteousness; but only to obtain such a Supply, as may make up the Deficiencies of his own.—Somewhat like this was the Mistake of the Galatian Converts; against against which St. Paul, in his Epistle to that People, so solidly disputes, and so sharply inveighs *.

For a while, He holds fast his purposed Integrity. At length, falling notoriously short, in executing his Part, a startling Voice sounds in his Ear that dreadful Alarm; “Curst is He that continueth not.” His Heart sinks with Discouragement, and all his Resolutions hang their enfeebled Heads. He has tried every Method, that He can devise; and has found every Method ineffectual. All his Expedients are a Spider’s Web, and his Hope is as the giving up of the Ghost.

His Soul, pursued by the Law, and hunted by Terror, is brought to the Gates of Death, or the very Brink of Despair. And now the KING of Kings, now the LORD our Righteousness, appears for his Rescue. Now is accomplished that gracious Declaration; O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thy Help †.—Driven from every false Refuge, and drawn by the blessed SPIRIT, He comes weary and heavy laden to CHRIST. Convinced of the Sin of his Nature, the Sin of his Life, and the Sin of his best Duties, He renounces Himself in every View. This is all his Salvation, and all his Desire, that He may win CHRIST, and be found

* Sharply indeed! For, instead of saluting them, under the honourable Title of Saints, and Faithful in CHRIST JESUS; He stigmatizes them with that severe Appellation, O foolish Galatians!—And as to their Practice, which was a Departure from Justification by CHRIST alone, He styles it, not merely an Error, but an Error of the most mischievous and horrid Kind—an Infatuation—a Bewitchery, Te Caecum. Gal. iii. 1.

† Hos. xiii. 9.

DIALOGUE IX. 31

found in Him. Did that poor afflicted Woman say,
If I may but touch his Garment, I shall be whole?
 With equal Ardour does this inlightened Sinner cry;
 “ If I may but have Fellowship with the glorious “ EMMANUEL, in his Merits, and in his Be“ nefits, I am alive from the Dead; I am happy for “ ever.”

Having seen a Glimpse of the transcendent Excellency of the REDEEMER's Person; having received a Taste from the inexhaustible Fulness of his Grace; O! how He longs for brighter Manifestations! How He thirsts after more plentiful Draughts!
 —None that come to CHRIST, are cast out. He that awakens these ardent Desires, in his due Time gives the desired Blessings. After various Conflicts, a comfortable and established Faith is wrought in the Penitent's Soul. He believes, that the SON of the MOST HIGH died in his Stead, and was obedient for his Justification. Believes, that all the un-searchable Riches of the adored MEDIATOR's Life and Death are his Portion*.

By this Faith, his Heart is purified; his Heart is quickened: He is fitted for every good Work. —

Though

* See this Work of Grace, and Procedure of Conversion, more copiously displayed, in a valuable little Piece intitled, Human Nature in its fourfold State, by Mr.
Thomas Bosson, page 227. — Which, in my Opinion, is one of our best Books for common Readers. The Sentences are short, and the Comparisons striking. The Language is easy, and the Doctrine evangelical. The Method proper, the Plan comprehensive, the Manner searching, yet consolatory. — If another celebrated Treatise is styled,
The whole Duty of Man, I would call this The WHOLE of Man: as it comprises — what He was originally — what He is by Transgression — what He should be through Grace — and then what He will be in Glory.

Though Temptations assault Him, He derives Strength from his SAVIOUR; resists the Devil; and is faithful unto Death.—Though Corruptions defile Him, He flies to the Fountain opened for Uncleanneſs *; makes daily, hourly Application of the Blood of Sprinkling; and goes on his Way, rejoicing in GOD his SAVIOUR.

Ther. Your Discourse puts me in mind of Abſalom's Procedure, when Joab refused to make Him a Viſit. The Prince ordered his Servants to ſet on fire the General's ſtanding Corn †. This Strata-gem had its intended Effect. The Apprehenſion of Danger drove Him, when the reſpectful Invitation would not lead Him, to a perſonal Interview. You ſeem to ſuppoſe, that the Law was delivered with ſuch a Deſign; to lay Us under a Necceſſity of flying to the Atonement of CHRIST.

Aſp. I do, Theron. And for this Opinion, I have a far better Authority, than my own Suppoſition. We are aſſured by unerring Wiſdom, That CHRIST is the End of the Law ‡. It points invariably to Him. It terminates wholly in Him. And then obtains its firſt, its principal Purpoſe, when Sinners are brought to their Divine REDEEMER, for Righteouſneſs and Strength: for that Righteouſneſs, which intitles to Heaven; that Strength, which capacitates for Obedience.

The Law bath concluded all Mankind under Sin ||. Yet not with an Intention, that any ſhould be discouraged

* Zech. xiii. 1. † 2 Sam. xiv. 30. ‡ Rom. x. 4.

|| Gal. iii. 10. The ſacred Original is ſomewhat more comprehensive than Aſpasia's Interpretation. It is not couraged now, or perish for ever: but that every One may see his inexpressible Need, of a SAVIOUR's Death, and a SAVIOUR's Obedience *. That, being thus prepared, both to value and receive so precious a Blessing, the Promise of Justification by Faith in JESUS CHRIST may be given to them that believe.

VOL. II.

C

Let

αἰσλας, but αἰσλα. Which denotes Things, as well as Persons: And implies, that nothing We have, nothing We do, is free from Sin; till the Merits of CHRIST intervene, and the Blood of CHRIST be sprinkled.

* Witſius, speaking of the Law delivered at Sinai, says; Facta est ista Fæderis Operum Commemoratio, ad Israelitas Peccatorum & Misericæ suæ convincendos, ex seipsis expellendos, de Necessitate Satisfactionis edocendos, & ad CHRISTUM compellendos: & sic inservit Fæderi Gratiæ.

Animadv. IREN. p. 99.

The Genius and Design of the Law were, I think, emblematically taught, by the Circumstances attending its Delivery.—The Mountain, not to be trodden by any Israelite, or touched by any Beast, on pain of Death—The Voice of Thunder, and the Glare of Lightning—The Sound of the Trumpet, and the Clouds of Smoke—The vast Range of Hills and Rocks, trembling to their Center—Six hundred thousand Men struck with inexpressible Consternation—And Moses, even Moses himself, the Favourite of Heaven, terrified exceedingly—All these indicated the righteous, the rigorous, and the awful Import of “The Word spoken.”

Nor was the Effect of these astonishing Incidents, without a spiritual Meaning. The People durst not adventure upon a personal Approach, but had recourse to a Mediator. They requested, that Moses might interpose; and transact Affairs, between the terrible JEHOVAH, and the guilty Congregation.—Such an Impression, the Purity and the Rigour of the Law, should make on our Hearts: should drive Us from Self to a SAVIOUR; deter Us from confiding in our legal, and prompt Us to seek an evangelical Righteousness.

Let Us advert to this grand Aim of the Law. Then, We shall see Goodness, unquestionable and sovereign Goodness, in forming its Constitution so sublimely perfect, and making its Threatenings so inflexibly severe. Exclusive of this wholesome Severity, We should supinely disesteem, perhaps, wantonly reject, the Grace of the Gospel.—The prodigal Son would never have returned to his Father, in that humble, submissive, supplicating Posture; if He had not found his Circumstances utterly ruined, and felt Himself perishing with Hunger. No more would the conceited Sons of Adam, disclaiming all Pretence to any Merit of their own, and with nothing but the Halter * of Self-condemnation about their Necks, fall down at the Feet of a merciful REDEEMER: if they were not instigated by the sharp Goad, or rather driven by the flaming Sword of the Law.

Ther. Has the Law then nothing to do with our Temper and Conversation? Is it no longer to be considered as a System of Duties? No longer to be regarded as a Rule of Life?

Assp. When it has forced the Lines of Self-righteousness, and driven Us to JESUS CHRIST, that only Citadel of Safety, for Acceptance and Salvation; then, it serves as a Rule for our Conduct. Then it shews Us, like a Friend and a Guide, how to order our Conversation, and adorn our Profession; how to glorify GOD, and express our Gratitude to CHRIST. But, till it has accomplished the fore-

* Alluding to those remarkable Words of Benhadad's Servants; Let Us put Sackcloth upon our Loins, and Ropes upon our Heads, and go out to meet the King of Israel; peradventure He will save thy Life, 1 Kings xx. 31.

DIALOGUE IX. 35

fore-mentioned End, it thunders Vengeance; it flashes Terror; it is, as Moses speaks, a fiery Law*.

And is it, my dear Theron, a fiery Law? Then let it constrain Us to take shelter in that meritorious Obedience, which will be to our guilty Souls as the Cold of Snow in the Time of Harvest †.—Is it a Law, which worketh Wrath? Let it endear to our Affections that inestimably precious Gospel, which preacheth Peace by JESUS CHRIST ‡.—Is it the Ministration of Condemnation ||? O! let it quicken our Flight to that All-gracious SURETY, who was condemned at Pilate's Bar, that we may be acquitted at GOD's Tribunal.

To all this agrees our celebrated Milton. Whose Divinity is as faultless, as his Poetry is matchless. You will give me Leave to quote a few of his beautiful Lines. Which recapitulate, as it were, the whole preceding Conversation: and, while they recapitulate the Conversation, confirm the Doctrine. This will make you some Amends, for my late tedious Harangue. This will tip the Lead with Gold.

*So Law appears imperfect; and but giv'n
With Purpose to resign them, in full Time,*

C 2

Up

* Fiery Law, Deut. xxxiii. 2. I dare not affirm, that this is the exact Import of the Original, nor do I presume to determine the precise Signification of a Phrase, so remarkably difficult. But as this is our received Version; as it suggests a very useful Truth; and a Truth, which, in the present Age, is peculiarly needful to be inculcated; I am inclined to acquiesce in the common Rendering.

† Prov. xxv. 13. ‡ Acts x. 36. || 2 Cor. iii. 19.

*Up to a better Cov'nant ; disciplin'd
 From shadowy Types to Truth ; from Flesh to Spirit
 From Imposition of strict Laws, to free
 Acceptance of large Grace ; from servile Fear,
 To filial ; Works of Law, to Works of Faith .

* Book XII. 300.

DIALOGUE X.

ASPASIO.

AGAIN, Theron! Must we never lay aside the Weapons of Controversy?— You put me in mind of the resolute Athenian; who, having fought with distinguished Bravery on the Field of Marathon, pursued the vanquished Persians to their Fleet. At that very Instant, a Galley full of the Enemies Troops, was putting off to Sea. Determined, if possible, to prevent their Escape, He laid hold on the Vessel with his Right-hand. Which was no sooner fixed, than chopped off by the Sailors. The Warrior, not at all discouraged, seized it with his Left. When that also was cut away, He fastened his Teeth in its Side; and never quitted his Gripe, till He resigned his Breath*.

C 3

Ther.

* The Athenian's Name was Cynegyrtus. The Author, who relates this extraordinary Story, is Justin. If the Reader should think it a Rhodomontade, I believe, He will not judge amiss. And I promise myself, the same good Sense will enable Him to distinguish, between what is hinted by way of Pleasantry, and what is urged by way of Argument.

Ther. I have been reconsidering the Case of imputed Righteousness; and am by no means satisfied, as to the Propriety of the Phrase, or the Truth of the Doctrine; especially, in the Sense which You espouse. — Objections arise, more substantial and weighty, than any that have hitherto been urged. And which, if I mistake not, You will find it a more difficult Task to answer.

Asp. I must do my best. And if my best Attempts prove unsuccessful, I shall say with the gallant Iphicrates, when overpowered by the Eloquence of his Antagonist; “My Adversary is the better Actor, but mine is the better Play.”

I say better — For, to You, Theron, I will freely own, what to another Person I should not be so willing to disclose; That I receive no Comfort, but from the habitual Belief, and daily Application of this precious Doctrine. — Whenever I read the most correct and beautiful Writings, that proceed in the contrary Strain, I feel my Spirits heavy; I find my Prospects gloomy; and not one Ray of Consolation gleams upon my Mind. Whereas, much meaner Compositions, which breathe the Savour of this evangelical Unction, seldom fail to quicken my Hopes; to brighten my Views; and put into my Mouth that piously alert Profession of the Psalmist, I will run the Way of thy Commandments, now thou hast set my Heart at liberty *. — Though I am far from laying any considerable Stress upon this Observation; farther still from advancing it into the Place of an Argument; yet I may be permitted to mention it, in the Confidence and Familiarity of Friendship.

Ther.

* Psal. cxix. 32.

Ther. An Opinion proposed with so much Modesty, and so nearly connected with my Aspasio's Comfort, has doubtless a Claim to my serious Attention. Otherwise, it might possibly provoke my Raillery. For, You must know, I am no great Admirer of inward Feelings. I cannot think them a very solid Method of demonstrating your Point. It must be enforced by better Reasons, if you would gain it Access to my Heart,

We must place, You say, a Dependence upon the LORD JESUS CHRIST, in all that He has done and suffered. What HE has done and suffered, You add, is our only justifying Righteousness: and, to place our Dependence on it, is the only Method to obtain Pardon of our Sins, and Life eternal.

Asp. I have said it, Theron, and I abide by it. This being the Righteousness of GOD, is —

Ther. Give me Leave, before You proceed farther, to propose a Query. Does the Righteousness of GOD signify the active and passive Obedience of CHRIST?

Asp. Righteousness is a Conformity to the Law, in Heart, and in Life. As the SON of GOD voluntarily made Himself subject to the Law; perfectly fulfilled its Precepts; and suffered to the utmost its Penalty; this, I should imagine, furnishes Us with the truest and noblest Signification of the Phrase.

Ther. What, if I or Others should imagine quite the Reverse?

Asp. I thank my Friend for his Admonition. It is indeed unreasonable, that my bare Imagination should pass for Orthodoxy and Truth. Let Us then inquire after better Proof.

When the divine Name, in the sacred Phraseology, is added to a Substantive, it expresses some very extraordinary Property.—The Trees of the LORD *, denote those stately and magnificent Forests, which the Hand of the MOST HIGH planted.—The Mountains of GOD †, are those prodigiously large Elevations of the Earth, which none but an Almighty Arm could establish.—The Righteousness of GOD likewise means, A Righteousness of the most supereminent Dignity; such as is worthy to be called by his Name; and may justly challenge his Acceptance. And where shall We find this, but in the Conduct and Person of his blessed SON?—This has a most unexceptionable Claim to the exalted Title: being, as a masterly Critic explains the Phrase, “A Righteousness devised by GOD the FATHER, from all Eternity; wrought out by GOD the SON, in the Person of JESUS CHRIST; applied by GOD the HOLY GHOST, to the Sinner’s Soul.”

Ther. This Doctrine of yours, if I rightly understand it, would make Remission of Sins but one half of our Justification; and something else necessary, in order to obtain eternal Life. Which is just as rational, as to suppose, That though one Cause may expel Darkness, another must supervene, in order to introduce Light.

Asp. The Nature of Justification, and the Nature of Condemnation, are two Opposites, which will mutually

* Psal. civ. 16

† This is the Import of the Original, הרי אלהים Psal. xxxvi. ver. 7. Heb. ver. 6. Eng.

tually illustrate each other.—What is implied in the Condemnation of a Sinner? He forfeits eternal Life, and is doomed to eternal Death.—What is included in the Justification of a Sinner? It supersedes his Obligation to Punishment, and invests Him with a Title to Happiness.—In order to the first, there must be a Remission of Sins. In order to the second, an Imputation of Righteousness. Both which are derived from CHRIST's Mediation in our Behalf; and both take place, when we are united to that Divine HEAD.—So that We do not derive them from two different Sources, but ascribe them to one and the same great, All-sufficient CAUSE.

Your Comparison, though intended to overthrow,
 I think, fully establishes the Sentiment.—When yonder bright Orb makes his first Appearance in the East, what Effects are produced? The Shades of Night are dispersed, and the Light of Day is diffused.—To what are they owing? Each to a separate, or both to the same Origin? Every one's Experience will answer the Question. Thus, when the Sun of Righteousness arises in the Soul, He brings at once Pardon and Acceptance. Remission and Salvation are under his Wings. Both which constitute the Healing * of the Nations: and both owe their Being to CHRIST's Obedience, embraced as active, and not rejected as passive.

Ther. This, I know, is the fine-spun Theory of your systematic Divines. But where is their Warrant from Scripture? By what Authority do they introduce such subtle Distinctions?

Asp. I cannot think the Distinction so subtle, or the Theory so finely spun. To be released from the damnatory

* Mal. iv. 2.

damnatory Sentence, is one Thing; to be treated as a righteous Person, is evidently another.—Absalom was pardoned, when He received a Permission to remove from Geshur, and dwell at Jerusalem. But this was very different from the Recommencement of filial Duty, and parental Endearment*. A Rebel may be exempted from the capital Punishment, which his traiterous Practices deserve; without being restored to the Dignity of his former State, or the Rights of a loyal Subject. In Christianity likewise, to be freed from the Charge of Guilt, and to be regarded as a righteous Person, are two several Blessings; really distinct in themselves, and often distinguished in Scripture.

Ther. Where are they distinguished? In what Texts of Scripture? This is what I called for—your scriptural Warrant.

Asp. What think You of Job's Reply to his censorious Friends? GOD forbid, that I should justify You +! That He forgave them, there is no Doubt. Yet he could not justify them: could not allow their Reflections to be equitable, or their Behaviour charitable.

What think You of Solomon's Supplication? Then hear Thou in Heaven, and do, and judge thy Servants; condemning the Wicked, to bring his Way upon his Head; and justifying the Righteous, to give Him according to his Righteousness †. To condemn, in this Passage, evidently signifies to pronounce guilty, and obnoxious to Punishment. By Parity of Reason, to justify

* 2 Sam. xiv. 24.
 + Job xxvii. 5. Vos justos in Causâ vestrâ adversus me pronuntiem.

justify must denote to pronounce righteous, and entitled to Happiness.

What says Solomon's Father? Enter not into Judgment with thy Servant, O LORD! For, in thy Sight, shall no Man living be justified *. A Man might be pardoned, if judged according to the Tenour of his own Obedience. But no Man could be declared righteous, in consequence of such a Tryal: this were absolutely and universally impossible.

From all which Passages I conclude, That to be justified, is different from, is superior to, the bare Remission of Sin.

Ther. All these Instances are derived from the Old Testament: the New, if I mistake not, speaks another Language. Consider the Case of the penitent Publican. What does He request? GOD be merciful to me a Sinner! What does He obtain? He went down to his House justified †. If then the Petition and the Grant may be deemed correspondent, Pardon and Justification must be reckoned equivalent.

Asp. The Old and the New Testament are, in their Style and Contents, exactly correspondent. Echo, in yonder Cloysters, does not more punctually reverberate the Speaker's Voice, than those divine Books harmonize with each other.

Yet it will not follow, from the Publican's Request and the Publican's Blessing, That Pardon and Justification are the same. Only, that GOD's Bounty frequently exceeds our Prayers, and is larger than our Expectations; or, that the Blessing which was implored, and the Blessing which was vouchsafed, safed, are inseparably connected, and always accompany each other.

* Psal. cxliii. 2.

† Luke xviii. 13, 14.

St. Paul mentions A Justification of Life: not barely an Exemption from the Sentence of Death; but such a Justification, as gives a Title * to the Reward of Life. The Words are very emphatical. We shall injure the Dignity of their Meaning, if We understand them in a more contracted Sense.—Towards the Close of the same Chapter, We have another Passage, rich with Consolation, and full to our Purpose. Grace reigneth through Righteousness unto eternal Life †: Here, is pointed out the prime Source of all our Blessings, infinitely free and triumphant Grace: The meritorious Cause, not any Works of Man, not any Qualifications of our own, but the perfect Righteousness of our LORD JESUS CHRIST: The Effect or End of all; which is, not barely an Absolution from Guilt, but an Instatement in Life; a Life of holy Communion with GOD in this World, to be crowned with an eternal Fruition of Him in another ‡.

Let me produce one Text more, which just at this Instant occurs to my Memory. You will find it, in the Apostle's Defence of Himself, before Festus and Agrippa. He opens, as it were, his apostolical Commission, and repeats the Words of his royal MASTER. I send thee to ignorant and in- flaved,

* Rom. v. 18. Δικαιωσις ζωῆς ἐστὶν Declaratio divina illa, qua Peccator, Mortis reus, Vitæ adjudicatur, idque jure:

BENGEL. in loc.

† Rom. v. 21.

‡ Accordingly, eternal Life is called The Hope, not of Forgiveness, but of Righteousness, Gal. v. 5. And it is bestowed, not barely because of Absolution, but because of Righteousness, Rom. viii. 10.

flaved, guilty and ruined Creatures ; *to turn them from Darknefs to Light, and from the Power of Satan unto GOD ; that they may receive Forgiveness of Sins, and Inheritance among all them which are sanctified by Faith that is in me . The great PREACHER of the Gentiles, or rather the Supreme LORD of all Preachers, has distinguished between Remission of Sins, and the Inheritance of Saints ; between the Pardon that delivers from Hell, and the Justification that intitles to Heaven. So that the former does by no means constitute the latter ; but is connected with it, as a Link in the same sacred Chain ; or included in it, as Part of the same glorious Whole.

Ther. Admitting your Distinction to be proper ; Is not the Satisfaction, made by the Death of CHRIST, sufficient of itself to obtain, both our full Pardon, and our final Happiness ?

Asp. Since my Friend has started the Question, I may venture, with all Reverence to the divine Counsels, to answer in the Negative : it being necessary, that the REDEEMER of Men should obey, as well as suffer, in their Stead.—For this We have the Testimony of our LORD Himself. This Commandment, says He, have I received of my FATHER, that I should lay down my Life †. Thus it becometh Us, adds He in another Place, to fulfil all Righteousness ‡. To which his Apostle subjoins ; that, if We reign in Life, it must be, not only through those Sufferings which expiate, but also through that Righteousness || which merits.

Ther.

* Acts xxvi. 18.
|| Rom. v. 17.

† John x. 18.

‡ Matt. iii. 15.

Ther. Our LORD's Testimony relates only to a positive Institution, and is quite foreign to your Purpose.—I have often been disgusted at such strained Applications of Scripture. The Partizans of a System wrest the sacred Book. They deal with divine Truth, as the Tyrant Procrustes served those unhappy Creatures, who fell into his merciless Hands. Is a Text too short, to suit their Design? Our Procrustean Expositors can stretch it on the Rack, and lengthen its Sense. Is it too full, to consist with their Scheme? They can lop off a Limb, secrete a Sentence, or contract the Meaning.—Is this to reverence the great GOD? Is this to treat respectfully his holy Word?

Asp. I have been grieved, I assure You, and disgusted at this Practice, as well as Yourself. A Practice, not only very irreverent, but very injudicious also. It really prejudices the Cause, it would unfairly recommend. Such a Support is like a broken Tooth, or a Foot out of joint *; not only unserviceable, but hurtful; an Obstruction, rather than a Furtherance.—However, I am not conscious of committing any Violence on this Passage, or of forcing it into my Service. The Circumstance You object, rather strengthens, than invalidates the Conclusion. If it was so requisite for our blessed MEDIATOR, to observe a positive Institution; how much more necessary, to fulfil those moral Precepts, whose Obligation is unalterable and everlasting.

Besides; it should be considered, Whether CHRIST's Sufferings were a complete Satisfaction to the Law? Complete they were, with regard to

* Prov. xxv. 19.

to the Penalty, not with regard to the Precept. A Distinction obvious and important. From whence arises the following Argument; which, for once, You will allow me to propose in the logical Form.

By what alone the Law was not satisfied; by that alone Sinners could not be justified:

By CHRIST's Sufferings alone, the Law was not satisfied:

Therefore, by CHRIST's Sufferings alone, Sinners could not be justified.

But when We join the active with the passive Obedience of our LORD; the Efficacy of the One, with the Perfection of the Other; how does our Justification stand firm, in the fullest Sense of the Word! We have all that the Law demands, both for our Exemption from the Curse, and as a Title to the Blessing.

Ther. Does not the Scripture ascribe the Whole of our Salvation to the Death of CHRIST? Delivering it, as a never-to-be-forgotten Maxim in Christianity; That *We have Redemption through his Blood: are brought near through the Blood of CHRIST†: nay, that We are justified (the very Point under Debate) through his Blood‡.—Would the inspired Writer have assigned these various Blessings to this one Cause; if it had been a Price inadequate to the Purchase, or a Means insufficient to accomplish the End?

Asp. This Part of our LORD's meritorious Humiliation, is, by a very usual Figure, put for the Whole. The Death of CHRIST includes, not only his Sufferings, but his Obedience. The Shedding

* Eph. i. 7.

† Eph. ii. 13.

‡ Rom. v. 9.

ding of his precious Blood, was at once the grand Instance of his Suffering, and the finishing Act of his Obedience. In this View it is considered, and thus it is interpreted, by his own Ambassador. Who, speaking of his Divine MASTER, says, He was obedient unto Death, even the Death of the Cross *.

By the same Figure, Faith is sometimes said to be a lively influential Persuasion, That CHRIST died for our Sins †. At other Times, it is represented as a firm practical Belief, That GOD hath raised Him from the Dead ‡. Neither of which can, without the utmost Contrariety to the Analogy of Scripture, be taken in the exclusive Sense. Each Act must be understood, not separately, but jointly. Each as implying both, or reciprocally inferring one another.

In like manner, when the Scripture ascribes our Justification to the Death of CHRIST; We are not to think, that it would set aside, but imply his Obedience. It is not because his active Obedience has no Concern, in procuring the Blessing; but because his bitter Passion was the most conspicuous, and the completing Stage of his ever-glorious Undertaking. Then, and not till then, He could truly say; FATHER, I have finished the Work, Thou gavest me to do ||.

Ther. According to your Account then, it should be possible for a Man to have all his Sins done away, yet not attain to complete Justification. Which is as contrary to sound Sense, and true Divinity, as to imagine, that Crookedness may be removed, and the Object not become straight.

Asp.

* Phil. ii. 8.
|| John xvii. 4.

† 1 Cor. xv. 3.

‡ Rom. x. 9.

Asp. No, Theron. According to my Account, it is impossible, that the active and passive Obedience of our REDEEMER should be disjoined. To whomsoever the one is imputed, from Him the other is not with-held. They were undivided in CHRIST the illustrious Head, and they are undivided in their Application to his mystical Body. As CHRIST in suffering obeyed, and in obeying suffered; so, whoever receives CHRIST as an Atonement, receives Him also as a Righteousness.

This has been observed before; and if this be real Fact, what an inestimably precious Gift, is the Gift of CHRIST! Never was the most sovereign Remedy, so admirably suited to any Malady, as this is adapted to all our Wants. In HIM may We be found, living and dying! How safe, how happy then!—Let me not weary your Patience, if I repeat a Passage from our excellent Dr. Lightfoot. Which, though artless and remarkably simple, has very much affected my Mind; and, I hope, will leave some valuable Impression on my Friend's. "Justification," says that judicious Divine, is a Man's being interested in all CHRIST's Righteousness. And "if any Thing is to be longed for, sure that is, to be interested in all CHRIST's Righteousness."

Ther. You don't weary my Patience; neither do You satisfy my Doubts. For You take no notice of the Absurdity objected, and the Comparison that enforces it.

Asp. Your Comparison, my dear Friend, is not founded on a parallel Case. Neither Sense, nor Philosophy find a Medium, between the Removal of Crookedness, and the Succession of Straightness. But Reason discerns an apparent, and Revelation maintains an important Difference, between the Pardon of Guilt, and a Title to Life. This has already been proved from Scripture; and is, to me at least, evident from the very Nature of Things. For, if a King, in favour of some condemned Malefactor, revoke the Sentence of Death; this is one very considerable Act of Clemency. But if He pleases to make the pardoned Criminal, a Partaker of his Kingdom, or an Heir of his Crown: This surely is a new, and a much higher Instance of royal Bounty.

If You insist upon a Similitude, the Word of GOD, which always speaks with consummate Propriety, will furnish Us with one. Zechariah illustrates the Doctrine of Justification. He represents the Sinner by a Person arrayed in filthy Garments. His Pardon is described by taking away this sordid Apparel. By which Benefit, He ceases to be defiled; yet is He not hereby clothed; yet is He not hereby justified. This is an additional Blessing; signified by putting on Change of Raiment *, and wearing beautiful Robes. Here, the Circumstances tally. The two constituent Parts of Justification, are severally displayed, and strongly marked. Here We have the Removal of Filth, and the Robe of Righteousness; that which frees Us from being abhorred, and that which renders Us accepted. Which, though distinguishable in themselves, and distinguished by the sacred Writer, are always united in the divine Donation.

Ther.

* Zech. iii. 3, 4, 5.

Ther. This Notion is founded on a chimerical Covenant, that CHRIST would take upon Him the Obedience due from Man, of which there is not the least Intimation in holy Scripture.

Asp. That CHRIST undertook every Thing necessary, to redeem lost Sinners from Guilt and Condemnation; every Thing necessary, to procure for attainted Rebels a fresh Title to Life and Glory; this cannot be reckoned chimerical. This must be as real, as that lost Sinners are redeemed, or attainted Rebels restored. Every Proof of the one, proves and establishes the other. This is what We call a Covenant; and, from its benign Nature, THE COVENANT OF GRACE.

Without undertaking this, I see not how our LORD could sustain the Character of a SURETY; nor, without fulfilling it, how He could execute the Office of a REDEEMER.—And I believe, You yourself will be at a loss to shew, with what Kind of Justice the Eternal FATHER could lay * our Iniquities on the innocent JESUS, unless He had consented to be answerable for our Guilt.

Ther. This is no Answer to my Objection. I said—and it has been asserted by a very eminent and able Pen—that there is no Intimation of any such Covenant in the whole Scriptures.

Asp. What then can be the Meaning of those remarkable Words, in the Prophecy of Zechariah? The Counsel of Peace shall be between them both †. Here, I think,

* Isa. liii. 6.

† Zech. vi. 12, 13. These two Verses contain a brief, but very fine Description of the REDEEMER; of his Person, his Office, and his Glory; together with the

I think, the Covenant is mentioned, and the Parties are specified.—The Counsel of Peace, if I mistake not, signifies the mysterious and unsearchable Contrivance, formed for the Recovery of ruined Man.—Formed and carried into Execution by the LORD Almighty, all-gracious Cause, and ever-blessed Fruit of our Redemption.

His Person: He is the Man; or, as the Hebrew imports, the real, but at the same Time, the illustrious Man.—Whose Name is the BRANCH; being the new Origin of a new Race; the Father of a spiritual Seed, who are Children, not of the Flesh, but of the Promise.—A Branch that shall spring, not from a common Root, not from any human Planting, but מתחתיו from under Himself; being born of a pure Virgin, and by the Power of his own SPIRIT, He shall be both Stock and Stem to Himself.

His Office: It is to build the Temple, the Church of the Elect; which is the House of the living GOD. In which he dwells, and by Whom He is worshipped. Laying the Foundation of this spiritual Edifice in his Cross, and cementing it with his Blood.—Which He shall rule as a King, after having redeemed it as a Priest; uniting the sacerdotal Center with the regal Diadem, and being a Priest upon his Throne. Hence proceeds his Glory: For, he stands not, like other Priests, offering daily the same Oblations; but having, by one Sacrifice, obtained eternal Redemption for Us, is set down at the Right-hand of the MAJESTY on High.

What is the Cause of these great Events? What, but that most sacred and august Convention, the Council of Peace? Which was settled between them both; between the LORD JEHOVAH on one Hand, and the Man whose Name is the BRANCH on the other.—Called a Council, from the intire Consent, which actuated each Party; and the transcendent Wisdom, displayed in the whole Scheme.—The Council of Peace, because of its sovereign Efficacy, to make Peace with an offended GOD, Peace in the accusing Conscience, Peace among People of jarring Tempers and discordant Principles.

DIALOGUE X. 53

mighty, or GOD the FATHER; and that illustrious Person, who is to build the Temple, and bear the Glory. A Character, which None can claim; a Task, to which None is equal; but the blessed JESUS only.

In Psalms the xlth, the Conditions of the Covenant are circumstantially recorded: Which were the Incarnation and Obedience of the eternal SON: A Body hast Thou prepared me. Lo! I come to do thy Will *.—The Accomplishment of these Conditions, is alledged and pleaded by our great MEDIATOR, in the Introduction to his last solemn Prayer †. What He implores, in the Process of his Supplications, may be looked upon as the Recompence ‡, decreed Him by the FATHER, and stipulated in this magnificent Treaty. Implores, did I say? 'Tis very observable, that our LORD makes a Demand, rather than a Request. The Expression is not ερωτω, but θελω ||: A Word of Authority, not of Supplication. He claims what, by the FATHER's Engagement, and by his own Obedience, was become his unquestionable Right.

Here are the Parties of the Covenant; the Conditions of the Covenant; the Performance of the Covenant; and the Reward, which, by virtue of such Performance, is merited, is claimable, is due. All this, I should imagine, amounts to an Intimation, and somewhat more than an Intimation of the Covenant.

D 3

Ther.

* Heb. x. 5, 7.

† John xvii.

‡ This Recompence is specified and promised, in another authentic Copy of the same grand Treaty, recorded, Isa. xlix. 1—6.

|| Not I beg, but I will. John xvii. 24. Sic volo, sic jubeo.

Ther. This you call the Covenant of Grace: But if We are justified by CHRIST's fulfilling of the Law, We are justified by Works. So that, before You can strike out such a Way of Salvation, You must contradict Yourself: And, what is more adventurous, You must abolish that fundamental Principle of the Gospel; By the Works of the Law, shall no Flesh be justified.

Asp. We are, I grant it, justified by Works. But whose? The Works of CHRIST, not our own.—This is very far from contradicting Ourselves; equally far is it from abolishing, what You call the Gospel-principle. Which, though an undeniable Truth, is not an evangelical Doctrine. Because, it only shews Us our miserable State, and the utter Impossibility of relieving Ourselves. Whereas, nothing is genuine Gospel, but what speaks Comfort, and administers Recovery.

Between the Covenant of Works, and the Covenant of Grace, this, I apprehend, is the Difference: By the former, Man was indispensibly bound to obey, in his own Person. By the latter, the Obedience of his Surety is accepted, instead of his own. The Righteousness required by both, is not sincere, but complete; not proportioned to the Abilities of fallen Man, but to the Purity of the Law, and the Majesty of the LAW GIVER.—By this means, the Glory of GOD as an awful Sovereign, and the Glory of his Law as an inviolable System, are intirely preserved and illustriously displayed. The Salvation of Sinners, neither clashes with the Truth, nor interferes with the Justice of the Supreme LEGISLATOR. On the contrary, it becomes a faithful and just

just * Procedure of the most High GOD, to justify Him that believeth on JESUS.

Ther. When You make this Difference between the two Covenants, where is your Authority from Scripture? Which of the sacred Writers have taught Us, that, though one demanded personal, the other is content with vicarious Obedience?

Asp. Which?—The first Three. The most eminent Historian; the most inraptured Poet; and the most zealous Preacher. I need not inform You, that I mean Moses, David, and Paul.

The Testimony of David has been already recited.—Moses gives Us a concise, but very instructive Account of the second Covenant. With Whom, according to his Representation, was it made? Not with Adam, or any of his Posterity; but with the LORD JESUS CHRIST, in the Room and Stead of both. None of the Articles are proposed to a poor, impotent, ruined Creature; but the whole is consigned over to the interposing SAVIOUR, significantly described by the Seed of the Woman. It is not said, “Thy best Endeavours, O Adam, thy true Repentance and sincere Obedience, shall retrieve this fatal Miscarriage; but, the Seed of the Woman shall bruise the Serpent’s Head†: the SON of the MOST HIGH, by taking thy Nature, submitting to thy Obligations, and suffering Death for thy Sins, shall fully repair thy Loss.”

CHRIST, We see, undertook to execute the Conditions. CHRIST was our Representative in this great Transaction. For which Reason He is styled by St. Paul, The second Man†, and the Surety

D 4

8f

* 1 John i. 9. † Gen. iii. 15. ‡ 1 Cor. xv. 48.

of a better Covenant*—Our Help being laid upon ONE, that is so mighty; upon ONE, that is so faithful; the Covenant is said to be, In all Things well ordered and sure †. Admirably well ordered indeed, for the Comfort of the Christian, and the Security of his Salvation.—“ ’Tis true, may He argue, “ I cannot fulfil the Conditions; and ’tis equally “ true, that this is not required at my Hands. The “ LORD JESUS CHRIST, of his adorably “ rich Goodness, has performed all that was conditionary ‡; and has established, for me and for his “ People, a valid Title to the Promises, the Privileges, and—

Ther. “ has thereby released me from all Obligation to Duty.”—Farewel then to our own Obedience. No more Occasion for any Holiness of Life. Nay; the Sluice is opened for an Inundation of Ungodliness.—Fine Divinity truly! Should I not rather say? Downright Antinomianism!

Asp. No, my Friend: CHRIST came not to destroy the Law, but to fulfil §. He has fulfilled it, to [the

* Heb. vii. 22.

† 2 Sam. xxiii. 5.

‡ Wissius, instead of representing the Covenant of Grace as a chimerical Thing, most affectionately and charmingly displays its Excellency; Si quicquam ergo attentissima Consideratione dignum censeretur debeat, sane id Fœdus Gratiæ est. Hic Via ostenditur ad meliorem terrestri Paradisum, & ad certiores stabilioremque Fœlicitatem, eâ qua Adam excidit. Hic nova Spes perditis Mortalibus allucet, quæ eo gratior esse debet, quo inexpectatior obvenit. Hic Conditiones offeruntur, quibus æterna Salus annexa est; Conditiones non a Nobis rursus præstandæ, quod Animum despondere faceret; sed ab E O, qui Vitâ non excedet, antequam vere dixerit, Consummatum est.

De Oecon. Lib. II. Cap. i.

§ Matt. v. 17.

the very uttermost, in his own Person. He has also merited for Us, those Supplies of the SPIRIT, which alone can enable weak corrupt Creatures, to yield faithful and acceptable Obedience.—Though our LORD JESUS died, and was obedient for the Ungodly; though He finds Us ungodly, when He justifies Us; yet He never leaves his People in this abominable State. On the contrary, He teaches them to deny all Ungodliness and worldly Lusts *.

Pray, let us consider the Tenour of this Covenant; since You are so very apprehensive of its Consequences.—“ I will put my Laws into their Minds, and on their Hearts will I write them †. They shall discern such a Beauty and Glory in my Precepts, as will engage their Desires, and win their Affections. So that it shall be no longer their Burden, but their Delight, even their Meat and Drink, to do the Will of their FATHER in Heaven.”—This, this is one of the Privileges, purchased by our great MEDIATOR. And it seems wondrous strange, that the Purchase of an Estate for You or me, should be reckoned the sure Means, to deprive Us of the Possession, or debar Us from the Enjoyment.

How often is this weak Surmise urged as an Argument? All whose Plausibility is owing, to a palpable Mistake, or an egregious Fallacy: to a supposed Separation of Things, which are absolutely inseparable; I mean our Justification and our Sanctification ‡.—You are a Philosopher, Theron. Try, if You can separate Gravity from the Stone, or Heat from the Fire.

* Tit. ii. 12.

† Heb. viii. 10.

‡ See Isa. xlv. 24. 1 Cor. i. 30. 1 Cor. vi. 11. Where these Blessings walk Hand in Hand; and never were, never will, never can be parted.

Fire. If these Bodies and their essential Properties, are indissolubly connected; so are a genuine Faith, and a conscientious Obedience. To suppose them disunited, is as contrary to sound Divinity; as it would be contrary to true Philosophy, if You should talk of a burning Substance that has no Warmth, or of a solid Substance that has no Weight.—Never therefore, my dear Friend, repeat this stale Objection; never propagate this ungrounded * Clamour; nor adopt a Cavil, which is altogether as unphilosophical, as it is anti-evangelical.

Ther.

* This puts me in mind of what Theodorus replied to Philocles; who was often insinuating, That He preached licentious Doctrine; because He enlarged, with peculiar Assiduity, upon Faith in JESUS CHRIST; and frequently chose such Texts as, Believe in the LORD JESUS, and Thou shalt be saved.

“ I preach Salvation by JESUS CHRIST; and give me Leave to ask, Whether You know, what Salvation by CHRIST means?”—Philocles paused. He began to blush; would have eluded the Question, and declined an Answer.—“ No, said Theodorus: You must permit me to insist upon a Reply. Because, if it be a right one, it will justify me and my Conduct: if it be a wrong one, it will prove, that You blame Yourself, not what; and have more Reason to inform yourself, than to censure others.”

This disconcerted Him still more. Upon which Theodorus proceeded. “ Salvation by CHRIST means, not only a Deliverance from the Guilt, but also from the Power of Sin. He gave Himself for Us, that He might redeem Us from all Iniquity; redeem Us from our vain Conversation, as well as deliver Us from the Wrath to come.—Go now, Philocles, and tell the World, that by teaching these Doctrines, I promote the Cause of Licentiousness. And You will be just as rational, just as candid, just as true, as if You should affirm; That the Firemen, by playing the Engine, and pouring in Water, burnt your House to the Ground, and laid your Furniture in Ashes.”

Ther. We digress from the Point. My principal Objection is not satisfied. I was observing that, according to your Manner of stating the Affair, Salvation is no longer free, but founded upon Works.—They are the Works of the Law, though CHRIST performs them. To maintain, that We are justified by these Works, is to confound the Difference between the Law and the Gospel.

Asp. Though We should admit your Premises, We cannot acquiesce in your Conclusion. The same Righteousness, by which We are justified, is both legal and evangelical. Legal, in respect to CHRIST, who was made under the Law, that He might obey all its Commands. Evangelical, in respect to Us, who work not Ourselves, but believe in the great FULFILLER of all Righteousness.—This is much of the same Nature, with that other momentous Distinction in Divinity; Salvation is freely given, yet dearly bought. Freely given, with regard to Us; dearly bought, with regard to CHRIST. So, We are justified by Works, if You look forward to our SURETY: We are justified without Works, if You cast a retrospective View on Ourselves.

Theron was silent. Aspasio, after a short Interval, renewed the Discourse.—I know not, whether my Friend is yielding to my Arguments, or searching after Objections; deliberating upon a Capitulation, or mustering his Forces for a fresh Sally. However, let me take this Opportunity of dropping a Hint, and suggesting a Caution.

The grand Reason, which inclines some People to reject this comfortable Doctrine, lies concealed, if not in an absolute Disbelief of our LORD's eternal nal Glory and GODHEAD, yet in unsettled Apprehensions of it, or an habitual Inattention to it.— If our SAVIOUR was not really GOD, as some Writers, unhappily mistaken themselves, endeavour to persuade the World; it would be a reasonable Practice, and intirely consistent with their Scheme, to disavow the Imputation of his Righteousness. Because, upon such a Supposition, his Obedience was no more than bounden Duty; in which there could not be the least Pretence to Merit, and which could be profitable to None but Himself.— Whereas, if We verily believe Him to be the incarnate GOD, his Submission to the Law becomes an Act of voluntary Humiliation. Which Circumstance, together with the transcendent Dignity of his Person, render his Obedience, not meritorious only, but inexpressibly and infinitely meritorious.

As the Blood of CHRIST is called GOD's own Blood *; so the Obedience of CHRIST was performed in the Person of that adorable MEDIATOR, who is GOD over all †. He acted through the whole Course of his Life, and suffered Death at the last, not merely as Man, but as GOD-Man; as JEHOVAH-JESUS; EMMANUEL.— Let me intreat You to remember, nay, let me intreat You never to forget this all-important Article of our Faith. And may the SPIRIT of Wisdom give Us an Understanding, to know the weighty, the extensive Influence of so glorious a Truth!

Ther. Far be it from me, to derogate from the Dignity of our SAVIOUR's Person, or to depreciate

* Acts xx. 28.

† Rom. ix. 5.

ciate the Merits of his mediatorial Office. Place them as high, as Words can reach ; exalt them as far, as Thought can soar ; I stedfastly believe, You will still fall short, unmeasurably short, of their real Worth.—But this Consideration seems to increase the Absurdity of your Notion. For, if CHRIST's Righteousness, his very Righteousness be imputed ; then, the true Believers are altogether as righteous, as CHRIST himself. Whereas, if You maintain, that his Righteousness is imputed only as to its Effects, You will keep clear of this Rock.

Asp. This, I apprehend, will be like keeping clear of Scylla, only to fall foul upon Charybdis.—What are the Effects of the MEDIATOR's Righteousness ? Pardon of Sin, Justification of our Persons, and the Sanctification of our Nature. Shall We say, These Effects, these Benefits are imputed ?—To talk of their Imputation, I think, is an Affront to sound Sense ; as, I am sure, to be put off with their Imputation, would be a fatal Disappointment of our Hopes.—All these Benefits are, not imputed, but imparted ; they are not reckoned to Us, but are really enjoyed by Us ; ours they are, not barely in the divine Estimation, but by proper and personal Possession.

Yet, it does by no means follow, that Believers are altogether as righteous, as CHRIST Himself : unless You can prove, that to be the Receiver is, in all Respects the same, as to be the Author and Finisher *.—The Righteousness of CHRIST arises wholly from Himself, the Source of ours subsists in Another. CHRIST's Righteousness is originally and absolutely his own ; whereas, it is made ours in a way a way of Favour and gracious Imputation. Circumstances these, which create a material Difference, which yield Room for a vast Pre-eminence.

* Heb. xii. 2.

Ther. But if CHRIST's perfect Obedience be accounted ours, methinks, We should have no more Need of *pardon*ing Mercy, than CHRIST himself.

Asp. Yes; because, before this Imputation, We were sunk in Guilt, and dead in Sins. Because, after it, We are defective in our Duty, and in many Things offend.

Ther. Does not this Doctrine render the Intercession of our SAVIOUR superfluous? What Occasion have they for an Advocate with the FATHER, whose Righteousness has neither Blemish nor Imperfection?

Asp. They stand in need of an Advocate; first, that they may be brought Home to the REPAIRER of their Breaches *, and made Partakers of his Righteousness by a living Faith. Next, that their Faith may be preserved, notwithstanding all Opposition, steadfast and immoveable; or rather, may be carried on, victorious and triumphant, even to the End.

Ther. You say, "CHRIST performed all that was conditional;" then He repented for Us, and believed for Us. This must be admitted in Pursuance of your Principles. But this is so wild a Notion, so contrary to Reason and Scripture, that to mention it, is to refute it.

Asp. CHRIST performed whatever was required by the Covenant of Works, both before it was violated, and after it had been transgressed. But neither Repentance nor Faith were comprehended in this Institution.

* Isa. lviii. 12.

stitution. It knew nothing of the One, and it would not admit of the Other.—It was not therefore necessary, neither indeed was it possible, for our spotless and Divine LORD, to repent of Sin, or believe in a SAVIOUR. But he did unspeakably more. He put away Sin by the Sacrifice of Himself *. He is Himself the SAVIOUR of all the Ends of the Earth. And He has Power to bestow that blessed SPIRIT, which worketh Faith, and produceth Repentance.

Ther. However, from what You have advanced, this will unavoidably follow — That a Man is to be justified, under the Character of a notorious Transgressor of the Law; and justified under the Character of a sinless Observer of the Law. And what is this, but a glaring Inconsistency?

Asp. Not at all inconsistent, but absolutely needful, if We consider those distinct Branches of the divine Law, the preceptive and the penal. Both which, in case of Guilt already contracted, must necessarily be satisfied.—Not at all inconsistent, but perfectly harmonious, if We take in the two constituent Parts of Justification, The Acquittance from Guilt, and a Title to Life. The former supposes Us to be Transgressors of the Law; and such the highest Saints in the World are. The latter requires Us to be Observers of the Law; and such must the Inheritors of Heaven be. — Much less is this inconsistent, if We consider Believers in their personal and relative Capacity; as they are in themselves, and as they are in their SURETY. Notorious Transgressors in Themselves, they have a sinless Obedience in CHRIST.

* Heb. ix. 26.

CHRIST. The Consciouſness of that, will be an everlaſting Motive to Humility; the Belief of this, an inexhaustible Source of Joy.

All this is no more inconfiſtent, than the Union of a gloomy Contexture, and a lightſome Splendor, in thoſe detached Clouds, which float amidſt the Firmament. In themſelves, they are a louring and dark Collection of Vapours; by the Impreſſion of the Sunbeams, they are fair and bright as the poliſhed Silver.

Ther. After all, the Imputation taught in Scripture, is not the Imputation of CHRIST's Righteouſneſs, but of our own Faith. Agreeably to the Apoſtle's expreſs Declaration, Abraham believed GOD, and it was imputed to Him for Righteouſneſs *.

Aſp. This Objection admits the Thing in Diſpute, though it controverts the Way and Manner of obtaining it. Admits the Neceſſity of ſome active, poſitive Righteouſneſs, in order to our Juſtification. In this Particular, I am glad to agree with my Theron: and in this Particular, I believe, the Generality of ſerious People agree with Us both.—Whenever their Conſciences are awakened, and ſeek to eſtabliſh the Hope of eternal Life, they conſtantly turn their Eyes to ſome Righteouſneſs: which, they apprehend, may, either in Whole or in Part, answer the Demands of the Law. Some look to their own ſincere Obedience. Others call in to their Succour Works of Supererogation. My Friend would aſſign this Office to his Faith.

Ther. Is this a proper Answer to my Objection, Aſpaſio? The Text is point-blank againſt Your Tenet.

* Rom. iv. 3.

net. You do wisely therefore, not to confront, but to elude the Evidence.

Asp. I did not intend it for an Answer; only as an occasional Observation, which nevertheless has a pretty close Connection with the Subject.—Neither would I use so mean a Subterfuge, as to elude an Argument, which I could not confute. If my Friend had allowed me Leisure to explain myself, this should have been my Reply.

That a Man is not justified by Works, is a Position most clearly demonstrated, and a Doctrine most zealously inculcated by St. Paul. That Faith is a Work *, exerted by the human Mind, is equally certain. Unless therefore We would render the Apostle inconsistent with Himself, We must understand the Passage in a qualified Sense.—Why should We not suffer Him, to be his own Interpreter? Why should We not take the Narrative of his Experience, for a Comment on his Doctrine? He declares, that the Ground of his own Comfort, the Cause of his own Justification, was, not the Grace of Faith, but the Righteousness which is of GOD by Faith †. Not the Act of Believing, but that grand and glorious Object of a Sinner's Belief, The LORD our Righteousness.

Besides; what was that Faith of Abraham, to which the Apostle refers? And which He proposes, as the invariable Model of our Justification?—It was Faith in the promised Seed; in JESUS CHRIST the

VOL. II.

E

Righte-

* So it is called by HIM, who knew what was in Man, and what were the Differences of Things; This is THE WORK of GOD, that Ye believe on Him whom He hath sent, John vi. 29.

† Phil. iii. 9.

Righteous *. It was a firm Persuasion, that this illustrious PERSON should spring from his Loins; and be the Author of Forgiveness, Acceptance, and Salvation to Himself, and to a Multitude of Believers, numberless as the Stars of Heaven. Let Us tread in these Steps of the holy Patriarch, and We shall ascribe little, ascribe nothing to our Faith, but all to the infinitely excellent Obedience of our REDEEMER.

Ther. Sure, Aspasio, You will not presume to correct Inspiration! The inspired Writer makes no mention of a REDEEMER's Obedience. He says expressly and positively — It, that is, Abraham's Faith, and not any Thing else, was counted unto Him for Righteousness.

Asp. True, Theron; as those Windows are reckoned, are counted, The Lights of your House. Why? Because they illuminate? No; but because they afford a Passage to the illuminating Rays. Through them, the first and best of Elements, is diffused into all your Habitation.—So We are saved by Grace through Faith; by Grace imputing, through Faith accepting, the Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST. Grace is the magnificent Source of this nobler Light; Faith is the Means of transmitting it into all the Faculties of the Soul.

When our LORD declares to the diseased Woman, Thy Faith hath made thee whole †: how are We to understand his Words? That the Patient's Belief, and not the Agency of CHRIST, wrought the Cure? To suppose this, would be extremely derogatory to the Power of our great PHYSICIAN.

And

* Compare Gen. xv. 5, 6. with Gal. iii. 16.

† Matt. ix. 22.

And if We ascribe Justification to the Act of Believing, this will be equally derogatory to the Obedience of our great MEDIATOR. In the former Case, CHRIST and his omnipotent Operation, were All in All. In the latter Case, CHRIST and his infinite Merit, are All in All. In both Cases, Faith is only the Eye to discern, or the Hand to receive, the sovereign Good.

I would farther observe, That Faith is very particularly distinguished from the Righteousness which justifies. We read of the Righteousness which is by Faith, which is of Faith *. This Form of Expression, puts an apparent Difference between the evangelical Faith, and the evangelical Righteousness. Since, whatever is by another, and of another, cannot, without the greatest Violence to Reason and Language, be reckoned that other.—If Faith was the Cause of our Acceptance with GOD, then We should be justified by a Righteousness, which is confessedly imperfect. For, who has ever attained to the highest Degree of this Virtue? Or whose Faith is not mixed with an Alloy of Unbelief?—If Faith itself was the Matter of our Justification, I see not how Boasting could be excluded; how the Law could be

E 2

* Rom. ix. 30. Phil. iii. 9. The Apostles, I believe, never make use of this Phrase, δικαιοσύνης υπέρ πίστεως, or διὰ τὴν πίστιν, but ἐκ πίστεως or διὰ τῆς πίστεως. Not for, or on Account of our Faith, but by or through Faith. Making this Grace, not the procuring Cause, but only the Instrument of Application.—Such Language as the former, seems contrary to the sound Words of our LORD JESUS CHRIST. Yet, if Theron's Sense of the Text were admitted, the Doctrine contained in this unscriptural and offensive Style, is the unavoidable Consequence.

be magnified; or what Reason the Apostle could have, to account all Things, but the Righteousness of CHRIST, meaner than Dross *.

Say not, that We presume to correct Inspiration. We only interpret the inspired Word in an harmonious Consistency with itself. This Sense is agreeable to the prevailing Doctrine, and to the current Language of Scripture.—To the prevailing Doctrine; which is A Believing in HIM, who justifieth the Ungodly. Sift and examine this Expression; Him who justifieth. You will find, that the Work is CHRIST's; CHRIST's and no Other's. The HOLY GHOST assigns not the least Share, not so much as a Co-efficiency, to any other Cause. Faith therefore, if it presumes to arrogate this exalted Prerogative, or if it pretends to the least Part in this important Business, is a sacrilegious Usurper.—To the current Language; as when GOD is called our Fear †, our Hope ‡, our Joy ||. In these Places, the Act is undoubtedly put for the Object. So, in the Passage before Us, the Act must denote the Object of Faith. It is to be understood, not absolutely, but as some Divines speak, objectively, instrumentally, relatively.

Ther. In the Name of Wonder, what can You mean by this Heap of harsh and obscure Expressions! Let me intreat You, Aspasio, to speak in your own Style, not in the Dialect of Aquinas. I have

* Phil. iii. 8. The Original is κωβαρα—A Word of the most contemptible Meaning; it signifies the worthless Scraps, and sordid Offals, that are cast to the Dogs. The Reader may see this Passage more fully explained in Letter V.

† Gen. xxxi. 42, 53. ‡ Psal. lxxi. 5. Jer. xiv. 8.
|| Psal. xliii. 4.

have an irreconcilable Aversion to these scholastic Terms. They are the Barbarisms of Divinity. I know but one Use, they are fitted to serve; that is, to perplex and puzzle a Cause, You cannot maintain. Somewhat like the Liquor, which a certain Fish, when closely pursued, is said to emit: by which the Water is darkened, and the Foe eluded.

Asp. This, Theron, is the Meaning of our uncouth Phrases: It is not Faith itself, which justifies; but that Righteousness, which Faith continually views; which Faith delightfully apprehends; and on which it finally terminates.

To be plainer still — We are justified by Faith, in the same Manner, as We are fed by the Hand; or as We are said, to drink of a Cup. Neither the Hand nor the Cup are the Cause of our Sustenance, but the Instruments, one of conveying it, the other of receiving it *. — If an Apostle affirms, We are justified by Faith: Faith itself declares, In the LORD I have Righteousness. Put these Passages together, and

E 3

You

* Though I am intirely of Theron's Mind, and can by no means admire our scholastic Divines, or their logical Terms; yet a Remark from Paræus, couched in this Style, is so pertinent to the Purpose, and so full an Explication of the Point, that it would be an Injury to the Cause, not to make it a Part of my Notes. And some Readers, I apprehend, not much acquainted with this old-fashioned Dialect, may be well enough pleased to view a Specimen: may like it, as they do the Rust of a Medal, merely for its Uncouthness and Antiquity.

" Faith justifies, says my Author, not effectively, as working an habitual Righteousness in Us; not materially, as though it were itself the constituent Cause of our Justification; but it justifieth objectively, as it apprehendeth CHRIST; and instrumentally, as it applieth his Righteousness."

You will have the true Sense of our Doctrine, and the true Doctrine of the Gospel.

When Themistocles fled from the Malice of his Countrymen, what recommended Him to the Protection of King Admetus? — Not his Name; that was obnoxious — Not his Actions; they had been hostile — But the Person of the young Prince; whom the distressed Refugee caught up in his Arms; and, charged with these Credentials, presented Himself to the royal Parent *. — So, Faith recommends to GOD, and justifies the Soul, not for itself, or its own Worth; but on Account of what it presents, and what it pleads.

Ther. Is not this a fanciful Distinction, and an excessive Refinement? Has it any Foundation in Scripture?

Ass. It is implied in almost all the Representations of CHRIST, and all the Descriptions of Faith, which occur in the sacred Writings.

CHRIST is likened to Clothing; and Believers are said to have put on CHRIST †. Now, it cannot be the Act of putting on, that covers our Bodies, or keeps them warm; but the commodious Garment, which is wore. — He is compared to Bread: I am the Bread of Life ‡. Shall we say? It is the Act of Eating, which strengthens the Constitution, and recruits our Spirits. No surely; but the Food eaten
and

* This, says Plutarch, was a Custom peculiar to that Country; was reckoned the most solemn Method of supplicating Favour; and seldom met with a Repulse. — To which I may add, It is a Custom that Christians should imitate, in all their Addresses to the GOD and FATHER of our LORD JESUS CHRIST. When thus used, thus improved, it will never fail of Success.

† Gal. iii. 27.

‡ John vi. 35.

and digested.—CHRIST was typified by the Cities of Refuge *; and Sinners, by the obnoxious Manslayer. Who, if He fled to one of those privileged Abodes, and there remained, was safe. No Prosecution against Him could be valid. He had nothing to fear from the Avenger of Blood. In this Case, was it the bare Act of Flying, that screened the Criminal? By no means. This conveyed Him to a Place of Security. But the Place itself was his Sanctuary, his Asylum, his Safeguard.

Faith is styled, A Receiving of CHRIST †: As many as received Him, to them gave He Power, or granted the Privilege, to become the Sons of GOD. The Office of Faith is, according to this Definition, not to contribute its Quota, much less to deposit the whole Sum, but to take and use the inestimable Gift.—Faith is called, A Looking unto JESUS ‡; in Allusion, I suppose, to the famous Expedient, provided for the wounded Israelites ||. Our crucified LORD was prefigured, by the brazen Serpent; our Guilt, by the Stings of the fiery Serpents; and our Faith, by looking to the miraculous Remedy.

E 4

Did

* Numb. xxxv. 13.

† John i. 12. See also Rom. v. 17. Where a Critic of accurate Judgment, and delicate Taste (though little known in England) makes this Remark on the Word καταλαβόντες, Non justificat Actus sumendi, quatenus est Actus; sed illud quod sumitur aut apprehenditur. BENGELIUS in loc.—His Annotations on the New Testament are comprised in a small Quarto Volume. They present the Reader with many refined Observations, on the Elegancies of the Style, and Sublimity of the Doctrines. They are a Pattern of the concise Manner; and, which is perhaps the crowning Excellency, they all along indicate a Heart warm and glowing with the Love of its Subject.

† Heb. xii. 2.

|| Numb. xxi. 8.

Did the healing Power, I would ask, reside in the mere Act of viewing? No: but in the Emblem of a dying SAVIOUR, elevated on the Pole, and ordained for the Recovery of the People. Here all the Efficacy was lodged. From hence it was all derived. The Action of the Eye, like the Office of Faith, was only to fetch home, and apply the sanative Virtue.

Once more; Faith is represented, as laying hold on GOD our SAVIOUR *; leaning upon our BELOVED †; cleaving to the LORD ‡.— Please to take notice of yonder Vine. Its Shoots are weak, and its Branches flimsy. Being absolutely unable to support themselves, they are furnished with a very remarkable Set of Claspers. Which, like so many Fingers, lay hold on the Pegs of the Wall, or fasten themselves to the Poles within their Reach. Without such a Provision, the Boughs must lie prostrate on the Ground, and be exposed to the Insults of every Foot. Whereas, by this kind Contrivance of Nature, so creeping a Plant, will climb into the Air, and enjoy the Breeze; so feeble a Plant, will stand out the Winter, and defy the Storms.— An instructive Admonition to Sinners! And no contemptible Illustration of Faith, especially in its principal and most distinguishing Employ! Thus let Us apprehend the blessed JESUS; hold Us fast by our adored REDEEMER; cleave to his ineffable Worthiness, as those twining Tendrils, by repeated Circumvolutions, adhere to their substantial Supporters. Then shall We rise, by Merits not our own,

* Isa. xxvii. 5.

† Cant. viii. 5.

‡ Acts xi. 23.

own, from the most abject and miserable Condition, to a State of everlasting Honour and Joy.

Ther. Some People, I believe, would hardly forbear smiling at the Peculiarity of your Diction; and might be inclined to call your Discourse Canting, rather than Reasoning. For my own Part, I must acknowledge, that, as all your peculiar Phrases are derived from the Scriptures, I hear them with Reverence, rather than any Disposition to sneer. Was my Friend delivering a Latin Oration, it would be a sufficient Warrant for any of his Expressions, to prove that they came from the Ciceronian Mint. And will it not be, at least, an equally sufficient Authority, for any Modes of Speech used in a theological Essay, to alledge that they bear the Stamp of the Bible.

Though I make no Objection to your Language, I have yet another Scruple with regard to your Doctrine.—Do the antient Fathers adopt or inculcate this imputed Righteousness? If it was so important an Article of our Faith, surely it could not be unknown in those early Ages, which were so near the apostolical Fountain. It would not have been omitted by those zealous Preachers, who chose to endure all the Rigours of Persecution, rather than renounce their holy Profession.

Asp. I think, it were sufficient to answer this Question, by asking another—Do the Apostles, does the HOLY SPIRIT of GOD speaking in Scripture, inculcate this Doctrine, or display this Privilege? If so, We need not be very solicitous for any farther Authority. To the Law, and to the Testimony *, is our grand, our final Appeal. Amidst all the Darkness and Uncertainty, which evidently run through the

* Isa. viii. 20.

the Writings of the best of Men, this is our unspeakable Happiness, That We have a more sure Word of Prophecy; to which We do well to take heed *.

However; to be a little more particular—It cannot be expected, that We should find many Passages in those pious Authors, very strong and very explicit, upon the Point. Because, in their Days, it was not so professedly opposed; and therefore could not be so exactly discussed, as in later Ages. Nevertheless, they have left enough behind them, to avouch the Substance of what We assert; That a Man is not justified by any Works, Duties, or Righteousness of his own, but only by Faith in JESUS CHRIST.—I cannot say, that I have charged my Memory with their very Words; and for that Reason, must not attempt at present to make any Citation. But, when a proper Opportunity offers, and their Works are before me, I may possibly produce a few of their Testimonies.

In the mean Time, I can mention a Set of Writers, whose Attestation will, I imagine, carry as much Weight with my Friend, as the united Voice of the Greek and Latin Fathers.

Ther. Who are they?

Asp. Our venerable Reformers. The Homilies composed by those excellent Divines, are as express to my Purpose, as they are unexceptionable in their Evidence. This is their Language—“The true Understanding of this Doctrine, We be justified freely “by Faith without Works, is not, that this our Act to “believe, or this our Faith in CHRIST, doth “justify Us: for that were to count Ourselves to “be justified by some Act or Virtue, that is within “Our-

* 2 Pet. i. 19.

Ourſelves. But the true Meaning thereof, is, “ That although We hear GOD’s Word, and “ believe it; although We have Hope and Faith, “ Charity and Repentance, and do never ſo many “ good Works: Yet We muſt renounce the Merit “ of all our Virtues and good Deeds, as Things “ that be far too weak and inſufficient, to deſerve “ Remiſſion of Sin, and our Juſtification. We muſt “ truſt only in GOD’s Mercy, and that Sacrifice “ which our High Prieſt and Saviour JESUS “ CHRIST, the SON of GOD, offered for “ Us upon the Croſs.”

The Homily ſubjoins a very appoſite Illuſtration; which may conclude our Diſcourſe with perfect Propriety, and I hope with equal Efficacy.—“ So that “ as St. John Baptiſt, although He were never ſo “ virtuous and godly a Man, yet in the Matter of “ forgiving Sin, He did put the People from Him, “ and appoint them unto CHRIST; ſaying thus “ unto them, Behold! Yonder is the LAMB of “ GOD, which taketh away the Sins of the World: “ Even ſo, as great and as godly a Virtue as the “ lively Faith is, yet it putteth Us from itſelf, and “ remitteth Us unto CHRIST, for to have only “ by Him Remiſſion of Sins or Juſtification. So “ that our Faith in CHRIST, as it were, ſaith “ unto Us thus, It is not I that take away your Sins,
 “ but it is CHRIST only; and to Him only I ſend
 “ You for that Purpoſe, forſaking therein all your “ good Words, Thoughts, and Works, and only “ putting your Truſt in *CHRIST.”

Ther.

* See the ſecond Part of the Homily on Salvation.

Ther. If there be any tolerable Sense of the Notion under Debate, I think, it must be understood as follows.—CHRIST's Performance of the Law of his Mediation, or, in other Words, his unfinning Obedience to the moral Law, and the spotless Sacrifice of Himself to the vindictive Justice of GOD; these are the only valuable Consideration, on Account of which, the gracious GOD restores guilty Creatures to a State of Acceptance with his Divine MAJESTY.

Asp. I am far from denying your Proposition. I rejoice in the Propriety of my Theron's Sentiments. May his Faith, which is thus far advanced, be carried on by Grace, till it is completed in Glory!—That unfinning Obedience, and that spotless Sacrifice, are indeed the only valuable, they are also the truly, or rather the infinitely valuable Consideration; which has fully merited for Us the Remission of Sins, and the Enjoyment of Life; and this not only from the gracious, but even from the just, the faithful, the righteous GOD.

But then, they must be imputed, in order to furnish Us with a Claim, and invest Us with a Right, to the purchased Privileges.—Suppose them not imputed; and what becomes of our Interest in them? They are like a Medicine prepared, but not applied.—Suppose them imputed; and they lay a firm, an apparent, a rational Foundation, for every pleasing Hope, and for every heavenly Blessing.

Ther. I fear, I have acknowledged too much.—My Thoughts fluctuate. My Mind is unsettled.—I would not withstand the Truth. I would not disbelieve any Doctrine of the Gospel. Yet—what shall shall I say? While I listen to your Reasoning, I am half a Convert. When I recollect the Objections, I revert to my first Opinion.

Of this, however, I am convinced; That human Righteousness is insufficient for our Justification. Here your Arguments have carried their Point. I shall henceforth place my Hopes of everlasting Happiness, not upon any Works of my own, but upon the free Goodness, and unbounded Beneficence, of the Supreme BEING. Pursuant to that Maxim of Scripture, The Gift of GOD is eternal Life.

Asp. You do right, Theron, to expect eternal Life as the Gift of GOD, not as the Wages of your own obediential Service. But be pleased to remember, that all the Gifts of Grace, though perfectly free to Sinners, are founded upon a grand and inestimable Price, paid by their SAVIOUR.—Are they intirely absolved from Guilt? It is because CHRIST gave his Life for their Ransom.—Are they heard with Acceptance when they pray? It is because their exalted HIGH-PRIEST intercedes in their Behalf.—Are they completely justified, and instated in endless Bliss? It is because their REDEEMER's consummate Obedience, is the glorious Equivalent for this and every other Blessing.—Therefore, when You mention eternal Life as the Gift of GOD, You should not forget to add with the Holy Apostle, through JESUS CHRIST our LORD *.

———— Well, my Theron; what say You farther? Is your Quiver emptied? Are your Scruples satisfied? May I interpret this Silence, as an Act of Assent?

Ther.

Ther. Observe, how the Ranunculuses, on yonder gay Parterre, have contracted their spreading Tufts, and the Tulips have closed their expanded Cups. While all the neighbouring Flowers, have shut their ivory Doors, or drawn their Velvet Curtains.—Such is the State of my Thoughts. They are all bent inwards; collected in themselves; and pondering upon your Discourse. Which has inclined me, before I was aware, to contemplate, rather than talk.—You will excuse my Thoughtfulness, Aspasio. Or, if it wants an Apology, You must blame Yourself. For, had your Reasons been less cogent, my Attention had been more disengaged.

Asp. My dear Theron, I shall only wish, in Allusion to your own Simile, and in the Language of the best of Books; That these Truths may *distil as the Dew upon your Mind, and lie all Night upon your Branches†. This, I am persuaded, is the only Way to have all your Comforts green before the Sun, and all your Virtues flourish as an Herb. Whereas, under the Influence of any other Faith, I am afraid, they will be as the Garden, that is visited with a Drought; or as the Leaves, that are smitten with a Blast.

Ther. I shall attentively consider, both your Doctrine, and your Arguments. Which that I may execute, with more Ease, and to better Purpose, be pleased to sum up, in a few Words, the Substance of what has passed.—This done, it will be Time to withdraw. The Flowers, You see, are our Monitors. They have folded up their Robes, and veiled their Beauties.* A Custom which they seldom use, till the rising Damps render it unsafe, for their Master

to

* Deut. xxxii. 2.

† Job xxix. 19.

to be among them; and the surrounding Gloom renders it difficult, for his Eye to distinguish them.

Asp. You could not oblige me more, than by giving me such a Command.—We trust for Salvation,

Not on our own external Duties. This were to build our House upon the Sand. Which, when the Rains descend, when the Torrents pour, when the Winds blow with tempestuous Violence, will certainly fall; and bury the Builder, with all his vain Hopes, in irretrievable Ruin.

Not on the Sincerity of our Hearts. This, if opposed to CHRIST, and made the Rival of his Merits, will be a “despised broken Idol.” Despised, by the infinitely sublime and majestic RULER of the World. Broken, with regard to the Strefs We lay, or the Confidence We repose, on so deceitful a Prop. No more able to stand in the Judgment of the Great Day, than Dagon was able to maintain his Station, before the Ark of the LORD GOD of Hosts*.

Not upon our Faith. This is often weak, as the rickety Child: sometimes quite faint, like the Person in a deep Swoon: always imperfect, like every other Performance of ours. Alas! To what afflicting Fears, to what grievous Despondency should I, for my Part, be perpetually liable, if my own Faith was the Ground of my Justification. Blessed be the FATHER of Mercies! We have a surer Support. Not upon Faith, not upon Faith, but upon its gracious AUTHOR, and glorious OBJECT, is the Hope of Israel founded. Yet

Not

* 1 Sam. v. 3, 4.

Not upon our LORD's Righteousness, considered only as passive; but upon his active and passive Obedience united. All that He did, in Conformity to the Commands of the Law; and all that He suffered, in Submission to its Penalty. Both which, immensely dignified by his divine Nature, are a Basis for our Faith, which nothing can shake; are a Foundation for our Affiance, which can never be removed.—Nothing else, in any Creature, or in all Worlds, could expiate the least Sin. This, not only expiates all Sin, but gives a Title to every Blessing—to the Blessings of Grace, and of Glory—of evangelical Holiness, and everlasting Happiness.

DIALOGUE XI.

ASPASIO.

I HAVE often purposed, and as often forgot, to ask my Theron—What Picture He was so attentively surveying, when I stole unperceived upon Him, in this favourite Arbour *.

Ther. I was indulging a pensive Pleasure, in viewing the Ruins, and contemplating the Fate of Babylon—that renowned and opulent City! Once the Residence of the Assyrian Monarchs, and Capital of one of the greatest Empires in the World. The Draught I held in my Hand, represented some of its Remains. And indeed this was the very last Subject, which employed my Thoughts. In the Morning, my Son brought me his Observations upon the Scene; which I have just now been revising.

For, I frequently set Him, to exercise his Judgment, or display his Fancy, on remarkable Passages, which occur in History.—He was lately commissioned to determine a Controversy, between the illustrious

VOL. II,

F

Leonidas,

* See Dialogue V.

Leonidas, and the less celebrated Pædaretus. This was the Point in Debate: Which of them discovered the truest Generosity of Spirit, and the most heroic Love of their Country? The former, who willingly sacrificed his Life in its Defence? Or the latter, who, when He was Candidate for a Seat among the Three Hundred, and lost his Election; instead of being chagrined or dissatisfied, went home unfeignedly rejoicing, “That there were found in Sparta three hundred Men, more worthy than Himself?”—The Task of this Day was, To give a descriptive Picture of those wonderful Ruins.

Asp. Pray, let me have the Pleasure of hearing the young Gentleman’s Performance.

Ther. It will be too long, and too puerile: tire your Patience, and offend your Taste.

Asp. I don’t use to make either of these Complaints, when I am entertained with Theron’s Compositions. And, as the Son has so much of his Father’s Genius, I am not at all apprehensive of any such Disappointment.—We have a most agreeable Situation, and more than an Hour’s Leisure. I must therefore repeat my Request.

Ther. ’Tis true, I have retouched the Sketch: which may render it somewhat more tolerable. And since You persist in your Demand, I will read the Paper.—Only desiring some Allowance for a little Luxuriancy of Imagination. Which, in young Writers, it may be adviseable to indulge, rather than repress. As Age and Judgment will, probably, come with the pruning Knife, and make the proper Retrenchments.—I must farther observe, that, contrary to the Custom which prevails in our Schools, I generally rally choose to have Him express his Sentiments in English. Because, it is in this Language, He must communicate his own; and become acquainted with the Ideas of Others. Because, to acquire some good Degree of Propriety and Fluency in this his native Tongue, will be incomparably more serviceable, than to speak Latin with the Terentian Elegance, or to write it with the Ciceronian Copiousness.

Is this Babylon? The Glory of Kingdoms! The Beauty of the Chaldean Excellency!

Where once the gorgeous East, with richest Hand, Shower'd on her Kings barbaric Pearl and Gold.

How is She fallen! Fallen from the Height of Magnificence, into the Abyss of Confusion! What was once the Object of universal Admiration, is now a Spectacle of Astonishment and Horror.

The Palace, where Majesty sat introned like some terrestrial Deity, is a Heap of Rubbish: no longer distinguished by an Air of superior Elegance, but by stronger and more melancholy Marks of departed Dignity*.—Where, the Nobles of that sumptuous Court, trailed along the marble Pavements their Robes of Purple and Embroidery; there, the crested Snake hisses, or the fierce invenomed Adder glides.

F 2

How

* Benjamin, a Jew of Tudela, in his Itinerary, written about the Year of our LORD 1170, tells Us—"That He was upon the Place, where this City formerly stood, and found it wholly desolated and destroyed. Only some Ruins of Nebuchadnezzar's Palace were still remaining; but Men were afraid to go near them, by reason of the many Serpents and Scorpions, that were then in the Place."

How changed is the hospitable Hall, and how disgraced the Room of State! The first afforded a constant and cordial Reception to the welcome Guests; in the last, the great King gave Audience to his cringing, his adoring Vassals. Now, Thorns over-run the Circumference, and “Desolation sits in the Threshold of them both.”—Where are the Roofs of Ivory, painted with Vermilion, and adorned with Sculpture? The radiant Roofs, whose Lamps of burnished Silver, pendent in many a blazing Row, yielded Light as from another Sky? Swept from their Foundations, they lie clotted with defiling Dirt, or clasped with tangling Briars.—Music no longer pours her Harmony, through the spacious and extended Apartment; but the Night-Owl, nestling in some Cleft of the Ruins, screams her harsh and portentous Dissonance. Joy no longer leads up the sprightly Dance, amidst the Lustre of that artificial Day; but the solitary Batt flits in silent Circles, or flaps her footy Wings. All those gay Delights—let the Sons of Sensuality hear the Tale, and take Warning from the Catastrophe!—all those gay Delights are extinguished, like one of their feeblest Tapers; which, having illuminated for a-while the festive Assembly, shone itself to the Edges of the exhausted Socket, and in a Moment flashed into Stench and Darkness.

The Walls, though cemented with Bitumen *, and consolidated into the Firmness of a Flint, are become like

* The Walls were built of Brick, and cemented with a glutinous Kind of Slime; which binds more firmly than any Mortar, and soon grows harder, than the Brick or Stones themselves.—These Fortifications were, according to the Account given by Herodotus, in Breadib eighty-seven like the broken Bubble. There was a Time; when the Inhabitants, confiding in the Strength of their Bulwarks, and the Multitude of their Towers, looked down with fearless Disdain on the Army of Besiegers. But now the Prophet's Threatening is most terribly fulfilled: The Fortrefs of the high Fort of thy Walls hath HE brought down, laid low, and brought to the Ground, even to the Dust *.—Where are the Gates, the grand and glittering Gates †, which admitted the triumphant Hosts, or poured forth their numerous Legions against the Day of Battle? Not one Trace remains, to tell the inquisitive Stranger; "Here the spacious Avenues opened: Here the massy Portals rose."—Commodious Walks, in which the clustering Merchants raised the busy Hum, and planned the Schemes of Commerce; ample Streets, in which Industry drove the toiling Car, or smote the sounding Anvil; are shrouded with matted Grass, or buried beneath the rankest Weeds. Silence, in both Places, a fullen Silence reigns; and Inactivity, a death-like Inactivity, slumbers.

What is become of those Hanging-gardens, which for curious Contrivance and stupendous Workmanship, ship,

F 3

seven Feet, in Height three hundred and fifty Feet, and reckoned to be absolutely impregnable. Infomuch that the Inhabitants, when besieged by Cyrus, insulted Him from the Walls, and laughed at his Attempt, as a vain impracticable Project,—Οἱ δὲ ἐν τῷ τείχεϊ καθεστὼν τὴν πολιορκίαν. XENOPH. Inst. Cyr. Lib. VII.

* Isa. xxv. 12.

† There were no less than an hundred Gates, all of solid Brass. Hence it is, that when JEHOVAH promises to make Cyrus Master of Babylon, He speaks in this very remarkable and particularizing Manner; I will break in Pieces before Thee the Gates of Brass, Isa. xlv. 2.

ship, were never equaled in any Nation under Heaven? Terraces, that overlooked the tallest Houses! Parterres, exalted to the Clouds, and opening their flowery Beauties in that strange Region! Groves, whose very Roots were higher than the Tops of the loftiest Trees *!—They are now smitten by a dreadful Blast. Their Beauty is decayed, like a withered Leaf. Their very Being is gone, like the Chaff of the Summer Threshing-floors; which the Wind carrieth away, and its Place is no where-found †. What was once the favourite Retreat of a Queen, and the Admiration of the whole World, is now a Nest for poisonous Reptiles, and a Kennel for ravenous Beasts. —The Traveler, instead of expatiating with Delight, where this penfile Paradise flourished, is struck with Horror; keeps at a trembling Distance; and surveying the rueful Spot, cries out, Righteous art Thou, O LORD, and true are thy Judgments!

Here stands an Obelisk, maimed by the Stroke of revolving Years, like a Mountain-Oak shattered by the flaming Bolt. Another, all unhinged and quite disjointed, seems to tremble before every Blast that blows.—There, the Pyramid ‡; firm as the solid Rock,

* Penfiles Horti sunt, summam Murorum Altitudinem æquantes, multarumque Arborum Umbra & Proceritate amœni.

CURT. Lib. V.

† Dan. ii. 35.

‡ Strabo calls the Temple of Belus a Pyramid. Lib. XV. But if the Critics in History should question or deny the Existence of Pyramids among the Babylonians, for this and other Liberties used by our young Declaimer, Horace shall make an Apology:

———— Pictoribus atque Poetis
Quidlibet audendi semper fuit æqua Potestas.

Rock, and stable, One would have thought, as the everlasting Hills; wrenched from its mighty Base, is tumbled headlong in enormous Ruin, and has crushed many a Structure by its Fall.—See yonder, the triumphal Arch; which exhibited, through its extensive and beautiful Bend, an advantageous View of the Firmament. It was, once, the graceful Memorial of some celebrated Victory; it is, now, converted into a Trophy of a very different Kind. Just retaining two uneven, battered, ragged Stumps, it serves to recognize the destructive Ravages of Time.—Spires, that pierced the Clouds, and shot into the Skies, are leveled with the trodden Soil. On Pinnacles, to which the strong-winged Bird could hardly soar, the groveling Worm crawls, and the sordid Snail leaves her slimy Track.—Baths, that contained the translucent Wave, and were so often perfumed with odoriferous Unguents, are choked with Filth; the grand Colonnade, that surrounded them, is shivered to pieces; and the elevated Dome, that covered them, is dashed to the Ground.—The public Aqueducts, which conveyed Cleanliness and Health along their crystal Currents, are degenerated into a stagnating Lake; while croaking Vermine swarm among the Weeds, and noisome Exhalations steam from the Mire.

August and stately Temples, that seemed to affect the Neighbourhood of Heaven *, are sunk to the very

* A Tower in the Temple of Belus, and dedicated to his Worship, was most amazingly high. It consisted of eight Piles of Building, erected one above another. It arose to the Elevation of six hundred Feet perpendicular. And is thought, by the learned Bochart to have been very Dust.—Who can point the Spot, where the consecrated Victim bled, or the sacred Fire glowed? Where the sceptred Image lifted its majestic Head, or the venerating Crouds bowed the suppliant Knee *? Degraded are those splendid Vanities, and cast (according to the Denunciation of the sacred Oracles) to the Bats and to the Moles †. All is low; low as the spurious Dignity of the Idols they complimented; low as the Straw, that is trodden down for the Dung-hil ‡.

—Sepulchres, the once venerable Repositories of the Dead, awful Mansions, destined to everlasting Concealment; are cleft and rent asunder. They disclose the horrid Secrets of the Pit, and frightfully yawn upon the blasted Day. Possibly, some ravenous Creature lurks within, that has already rifled the Tomb of its Hero; given the putrid Bones a new Grave; and waits only for the Approach of Night, to repeat his funeral Dirge in Yells.—Inscriptions, designed to perpetuate some illustrious Character, or eternize some heroic Deed, are blended in the promiscuous Mass.

In

Part of that superb Work, which was begun when the whole Earth was of one Language: but miscarried, or rather was providentially defeated, by the Confusion of Tongues. In this Structure, there were doubtless very strong Traces of that arrogant Boast; Let Us build Us a City and a Tower, whose Top may reach to Heaven, Gen. xi. 4.

* Alluding to that prodigious Instance of Profuseness, Ostentation, and idolatrous Madness, the golden Image set up in the Plain of Dura: whose Height (that is, the Height of the Statue and Pedestal taken together) was threescore Cubits, Dan. iii. 1. See PRIDEAUX's Connexion, Vol. I. p. 95, &c. p. 367, &c.

† Isa. ii. 20.

‡ Isa. xxv. 10.

In vain, would the prying Antiquary search for a legible or consistent Sentence: in vain, attempt to find the memorable Names of a Nebuchadnezzar or a Nimrod. These, though engraved on Plates of Brass, or cut in Blocks of Marble, are lost amidst the stupendous Lumber; as Prints on the unsteady Sand are effaced, when returning Tides smooth the furrowed Beach.

Here and there a straggling Cypress rises, as it were with funeral Solemnity, amidst the Waste*. Somewhat like the black Plumes, nodding over the mournful Hearse, they augment the Sadness of the Scene, and throw a deeper Horror on all below.—No human Voice is heard, nor human Face seen, amidst these desolated Heaps. Too dreary, even for the Roam of hoary Hermit, or the Cell of gloomy Monk. Abandoned they are, totally abandoned, to the Dominion of Solitude; or else, to the unmolested Resort of shaggy Monsters, and feathered Hags; which stun the midnight Hours—these, with their importunate Shrieks—those, with their execrable Howls.

See! to what a despicable, what an abhorred State, the proudest Monuments of earthly Grandeur, and the most costly Apparatus for earthly Felicity, may be reduced! A pregnant and alarming Proof, that, for lasting Honour, or real Happiness,

They

* Rauwolf, a German Traveler, who passed that Way, in the Year of our LORD 1574, says; "This Country is so dry and barren, that it cannot be tilled; and so bare, that I should have doubted, whether the potent Babylon did stand there, if I had not known it by several antient and delicate Antiquities, that are still standing hereabout in great Desolation."

They build too low, who build beneath the Skies.

Asp. I very much approve the Choice of your Subject. The Ruins of Persepolis, would have given Us a View of Magnificence in Abasement. The Ruins of Palmyra, might have shewed Us Elegance in the Dust. But the Ruins of Babylon display at once, Magnificence and Elegance under an Eclipse, Scripture and Revelation in their Glory.—The utter Destruction of this City, which was absolutely unequalled * in every Instance of Dignity, and seemingly invincible by any Enemy, must certainly have been looked upon as the most improbable of Events. Nevertheless its utter Destruction was decreed by JEHOVAH, and denounced by his Prophet, several Ages before the Execution took place. The awful Sentence was not only denounced, but recorded; and is still remaining, in the public Archives of our Religion.

Ther. Where is this Sentence recorded, and remaining?

Asp. In the Prophecy of Isaiah. And not only recorded, but in the most circumstantial Manner, and with a minute Detail of the horrible Desolations. These are the Words of the inspired Writer; BABYLON, the Glory of Kingdoms, the Beauty of the Chaldees Excellency, shall be as when GOD overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. It shall never be inhabited; neither shall it be dwelt in from Generation to Generation:

* Unequaled—Represented therefore by the golden Head, in Nebuchadnezzar's prophetic Dream, and emblematic Image. Dan. ii. 38.—And described by an antient Author, as Omnium quas unquam Sol aspexit Urbium maxima.

PAUSAN. in Arcad.

tion: Neither shall the Arabian pitch Tent there; neither shall the Shepherds make their Fold there. But wild Beasts of the Desert shall lie there, and their Houses shall be full of doleful Creatures, and Owls shall dwell there, and Satyrs shall dance there. And the wild Beasts of the Islands shall cry in their desolate Houses, and Dragons in their pleasant Palaces.*

In the two first Sentences, is comprized the most finished Picture of Prosperity and Grandeur. The Glory of Kingdoms; beyond every other royal Seat, spacious, ornamented, and wealthy; revered by many conquered and tributary Dominions, as their Mistress, and their Sovereign.—The Beauty of the Chaldees Excellency: The Chaldeans, who excelled all the Nations of the Earth in Riches, in Splendor, and in Power, even they gloried in this wonderful City. This was the highest Honour of the most illustrious, and chief Strength of the most victorious People; fairest, where all was conspicuously fair; noblest, where all was supereminently noble. — Yet this distinguished, this crowning City, shall, at the blasting of the Breath of J E H O V A H, be totally, totally destroyed, even as when G O D overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.

In describing the Overthrow, the Prophet is equally admirable; and rises, by a most judicious Gradation, into all the Pomp of Horror. q. d. “ Now, indeed, “ it is thronged with Citizens; but, the Hour is “ coming, when it shall be intirely depopulated, and “ not so much as a single Inhabitant left. — Left “ You should think, that in Proceſs of Time it may “ be re-edified, and again abound with joyful Mul- “ titudes, it shall never be inhabited more; no, never “ be

* Isa. xiii. 19, 20, 21, 22.

“ be dwelt in any more, from Generation to Generation; but shall continue a dismal Waste, through all succeeding Ages. — A Waste so dismal, that none of the neighbouring Shepherds shall make their Fold, or find so much as an occasional Shelter for their Flocks; where Kings, Grandees, and Crouds of affluent Citizens, reposed themselves in profound Tranquility. Even the rude and roving Arabian, shall not venture to pitch his Tent, nor be able to procure for Himself the poor Accommodation of a Night’s Lodging; where Millions of polite People basked in the Sunshine of profuse Prosperity.—In short; it shall neither be habitable, nor accessible; but a Dwelling-place for Dragons, an Astonishment, and a Hissing *. What was once the golden City †, and the Metropolis of the World, shall be an everlasting Scene of Desolation and Horror; a fearful Monument of divine Vengeance, and an awful Admonition to human Pride.”

All this is foretold in Scripture; and, though to human Appearance impossible, though to human Apprehension incredible, was, in the appointed Time, most minutely accomplished. The Memorials and Evidences of the Accomplishment remain to this very Day ‡. They are so authentic, that the most inqui-

* Jer. li. 37.

† Isa. xiv. 4.

‡ It is said, by a very learned Author; Babylonem usque eo concidisse, ut Nemo cum Fiducia illius Locum amplius demonstrare queat. i. e. “ Babylon is now so totally destroyed, that the most skilful Geographers cannot, with Certainty, determine the Place on which it stood.”

Should any of my Readers prefer this Account, I shall neither litigate the Point, nor be anxious for the Consequence. It may indeed rank Eugenio’s Composition among the Works of Fancy. But it will realize Alpasio’s Assertion, inquisitive Curiosity cannot doubt; and so incontestable, that the most bigotted Incredulity will not deny. And should not this teach Us, to reverence the Authority, to admire the Wisdom, and confide in the Promises of that heavenly Volume?

I know, You are not fond of Compliments, Theron. Therefore, instead of speaking my Opinion of your Son's Performance, I will endeavour to return your Favour.—You have entertained me with an Account of the most memorable Ruins, extant in the material World. Let me present my Friend with a Picture of Ruins, no less remarkable, far more deplorable, and unspeakably interesting to Us all. I shall give it, in the Colouring of a great Master; whose Works, this very Day, I happened to be perusing.

The Passage displays a Doctrine, of the utmost Importance in the Christian Scheme; and by one of the finest Pieces of Imagery, to be met with in elegant Writing. I think, it may be looked upon, as a practical Improvement of Eugenio's Declamation. It pleased me so much, that I transcribed it; and I make no Apology for reading it, because I shall expect your Thanks,

tion, and corroborate his Argument. If We find no Memorials of the City, We have the most evident Verification, and the fullest Accomplishment, of the Prophecy.

If this be the Case, it gives an amazing Emphasis to that just, but terrible Decree, issued from the supreme Tribunal; I will sweep it with the Besom of Destruction, saith the LORD of Hosts. “I will not only lay it in Ruins, but extirpate it from the Earth. I will efface the very Footsteps of its Existence; and not leave so much as a Fragment or a Trace of the magnificent, but “wicked Babylon. Isa. xiv. 23.

Thanks.—Only let me hint, that it considers the human Soul, as originally an Habitation of GOD through the SPIRIT; and then, speaking of its Fallen Condition, proceeds.

“ That He bath withdrawn Himself, and left “ this his Temple desolate, We have many sad and “ plain Proofs before Us. The stately Ruins are “ visible to every Eye, that bear in their Front (yet “ extant) this doleful Inscription; HERE GOD “ ONCE DWELT. Enough appears of the ad“ mirable Frame and Structure of the Soul of Man,
 “ to shew the divine Presence did sometime reside “ in it; more than enough of vicious Deformity, to “ proclaim He is now retired and gone. The Lamps “ are extinct, the Altar overturned; the Light and “ Love are now vanished, which did the one shine, “ with so heavenly Brightness; the other burn, with “ so pious Fervour. The golden Candlestick is dis“ placed, and thrown away as an useless Thing, to “ make room for the Throne of the Prince of Dark- “ ness. The sacred Incense, which sent rolling up “ in Clouds its rich Perfumes, is exchanged for a “ poisonous hellish Vapour; and here is, instead of a “ sweet Savour, a Stench. The comely Order of this “ House is turned all into Confusion. The Beau- “ ties of Holiness into noisome Impurities. The House “ of Prayer to a Den of Thieves, and that of the “ worst and most horrid Kind; for every Lust is a “ Thief, and every Theft is Sacrilege. Continual “ Rapine and Robbery is committed upon holy “ Things. The noble Powers, which were designed “ and dedicated to divine Contemplation and Delight, “ are alienated to the Service of the most despicable “ Idols,

“ Idols, and employed unto the vilest Intuitions and “ Embraces ; to behold and admire lying Vanities, “ to indulge and cherish Lust and Wickedness.

“ There is not now a System, an intire Table of “ coherent Truths to be found, or a Frame of Holiness, but some shivered Parcels. How many Attempts have been made, since that fearful Fall and “ Ruin of this Fabric, to compose again the Truths
 “ of so many several Kinds into their distinct Orders, and make up Frames of Science or useful “ Knowledge ! and after so many Ages, nothing is “ finished in any Kind. Sometimes, Truths are “ misplaced, and what belongs to one Kind, is transferred to another, where it will not fitly match ; “ sometimes, Falsbood inserted, which shatters or disturbs the whole Frame. And what with much “ fruitless Pains, is done by one Hand, is dashed in “ pieces by another ; and it is the Work of a following Age to sweep away the fine-spun Cobwebs “ of a former. And those Truths, which are of “ greatest Use, are least regarded ; their Tendency
 “ and Design are overlooked, or they are so loosened “ and torn off, that they cannot be wrought in, so “ as to take hold of the Soul ; but hover as faint ineffectual Notions, that signify Nothing. Its very “ fundamental Powers are shaken and disjointed,
 “ and their Order towards one another confounded
 “ and broken. So that what is judged considerable, “ is not considered ; what is recommended as eligible
 “ and lovely, is not loved and chosen. Yea, the “ Truth which is after Godliness, is not so much “ disbelieved, as bated, held in Unrighteousness : and “ shines as too feeble a Light, in that malignant “ Dark-

“Darkness, which comprehends it not. You come, “amidst all this Confusion, as into the ruined Pa“lace of some great Prince, in which You see here
 “the Fragments of a noble Pillar, there the shat“tered Pieces of some curious Imagery: and all ly“ing neglected and useless amongst Heaps of Dirt.
 “He that invites You to take a View of the Soul “of Man, gives You but such another Prospect,
 “and doth but say to You, Behold the Desolation,
 “all Things rude and waste. So that should there “be any Pretence to the divine Presence, it might “be said, If GOD be here, why is it thus? The “faded Glory, the Darkness, the Disorder, the Im“purity, the decayed State in all respects of this “Temple, too plainly shew, The GREAT IN- “HABITANT is gone *.”

Ther. Your Painter, I must own, is a Master in his Profession; and seems to have a peculiar Talent for a Night-piece.—But why, I beseech You, so much of his Shades and Solemnity? Has He no Colours, but the dark? No Lineaments, but the sour? Could He not allow Us one bright Tint, one smiling Feature? when He was copying the noblest Being in this sublunary World?—Is it for the Honour of the great CREATOR, to give such a deformed Draught of his most finished Workmanship?

Asp. It reflects no kind of Dishonour upon the Architect of Babylon, that its Palaces are fallen, its Edifices demolished, and its Walls leveled with the Ground. They might have been built with the exactest Symmetry, and once embellished with every graceful

* See Mr. Howe's Treatise, intitled The living Temple.

graceful Ornament; notwithstanding the Stroke of Violence, or the Sap of Years, have now reduced them to Heaps of Rubbish.—The human Soul, when recent from the Inspiration of the ALMIGHTY, was bright with Knowledge, amiable with Virtue, and in every Respect excellent. But How—to speak in the Language of the mourning Prophet; a Language never more pertinent than on the present Occasion—How is the Gold become dim! How is the most fine Gold changed!

Ther. Man's Soul is rational and eternal; is the Offspring of the DEITY, and capable of resembling its MAKER.

Asp. What Milton allows to the fallen Archangel, I can readily allow to fallen Man:

*He had not lost
All his original Brightness.*

The grand and distinguishing Faculties of the Soul remain. Just as, when a Fountain is poisoned, the Waters continue to flow: but flow no longer with Health, flow rather with Death in the Stream. These very Faculties, unless renewed and regulated by the Influence of Religion, must be our present Misery, and will prove our everlasting Curse.—“The Soul,” You say, “is rational, is eternal.” And do not even the Devils possess the Powers of Reason? Is not their Existence also of an endless Duration? Yet are they of all Creatures, the most execrable and the most miserable.

You call the human Soul, the Offspring of the DEITY. And You call it properly. Must We not then adopt the Prophet's Exclamation, “How “ art Thou fallen, O Lucifer, Son of the Morning * !

 “ How art Thou degenerated, O Man, Son of the “ MOST HIGH ! Thy glorious Original serves “ only to set forth, with more glaring Evidence, thy “ deplorable Apostacy.”

Capable, You add, of resembling its MAKER. This, I acknowledge, is a valuable Prerogative. In this the infernal Spirits have no Share. But this Capacity will always lie dormant ; will never awaken into Act ; never be established in Habit ; unless Almighty GRACE intervene.

Ther. The most celebrated Philosophers of Antiquity, frequently exhort their Readers to follow Nature ; as a certain Guide to true Excellence.—Many eloquent Writers of our own Country, inlarge upon the Dignity of human Nature ; and from this Topic derive very forcible Arguments, for a correspondent Dignity both of Sentiment and Behaviour.—Upon what can those Principles of the antient Sages, and of our later Moralists, be founded ?

Asp. Indeed, Theron, I am at a loss to tell. If they have any Foundation, it is merely imaginary ; not laid in Truth, nor confirmed by Experience.—According to my Apprehension, they invert the Order of Things. They take that for a Postulatum, which ought to be ranked among the Desiderata ; and make an Axiom of a mere Figment.

Had Man continued, as He was created ; to act according to Nature, and according to the Law of GOD, would have been one and the same Thing. For which Reason, We find no Precepts of Religion, no Delineation of Morality, given to Adam in Paradise.

* Isa. xiv. 12.

dise. Because, Religion and Morality were engraven on his Heart : or rather, they resulted from the very Bent and Tendency of his perfect Frame. — But since the Fall it is quite otherwise.

Ther. Have not many of the antient Worthies been living Confutations of your Opinion? Wise Philosophers, judicious Lawgivers, and steady Ministers of Justice? Their Desires refined, their Affections benevolent, their whole Conduct upright?

Asp. I cannot forbear wondering, that You should instance in Lawgivers and Ministers of Justice. Since the very Institution of their Office presupposes the Depravity of Mankind. Was human Nature agitated by no irregular or vicious Inclinations, the Barrier of Laws would be as needless in civil Societies, as the vast Banks of Holland are needless in our upland Counties.

But this, You will say, is a digressive Observation. Your Question requires a positive Answer. And it is easy to answer, That the Painting is beyond the Life. If my Author has been too free with the dark, my Friend has been too lavish of the glittering Colours.—Those famous Men might aim, perhaps, at the Excellency You describe. Not one of them came up to the Mark.—Or, suppose they did, this would not invalidate my Tenet.

Ther. This not invalidate your Tenet! Then Demonstration carries no Conviction.

Asp. Pray, who is your greatest Favourite, among all the renowned Persons of Antiquity?

Ther. Socrates. — He stands at the Head of the Class; and was, indisputably, the wisest and the best of the Heathen World.

Asp. I think so too.—Be pleased, however, to recollect the Story of the Physiognomist; who pretended to discover the Disposition of the Mind, by the Cast of the Countenance. The Professor of this occult Science undertook, You know, to exercise his Skill upon Socrates; and pronounced Him, after an Examination of his Features, lascivious, passionate, and morose.—This Judgment, so extravagantly wide of the Truth, was bringing a Storm of Ridicule and Resentment upon the poor Fortune-teller. When the ingenuous Philosopher interposed, and owned the Description to be exactly true. That such was his natural Temper; and if his Conversation had been of a different Turn, it was owing to the Aids of Philosophy.—So that, even in your most finished * Character, there was no innate Dignity. All was adventitious.

Ther.

* Though I love and admire the Character of Socrates, yet I cannot approve the whole of his Conduct. One Thing which gives me particular Offence is, the habitual Practice of Swearing, which occurs in all his Conferences with his Pupils. Μα τοι Δία, Νη Δι', or some such Appeal to the DEITY, is used, not only in every Discourse, but almost in every Page; and that upon the most unnecessary Occasions.—I have often wondered, that so polite a Writer as Xenophon, should admit this flagrant Impropriety into his Dialogues. Which, besides its irreligious Air, is somewhat like the Crambe repetita; and recurs, and recurs, and recurs, till it is really tiresome. But much more I wonder, that his excellent Master, should suffer the Sanction of an Oath, to become so trivial; and the Honour of his Jupiter, so cheap.

This proves the deplorable Blindness of human Reason; which could mistake so notorious a Profanation of the Divine Name, for a genteel Embellishment of Speech.—It
shews

Ther. If Corruption was derived unto all Men from their Forefather Adam; methinks, all should be equally corrupt. But this is contrary to known Fact. Some We see naturally loving and lovely; gentle in their Manners; and subject to no inordinate Appetites.

Asp. Some Persons may be of more composed, or, if You please, of less dissolute Manners, than the Generality of other People. Thanks to a better Temperature of their Constitution, or a more watchful Care in their Education.—But shew me the unregenerate Man, who is subject to no inordinate Appetites? One vile Affection may check another, or a Sense of Decency may hold the Curb upon all. But it is one Thing, to have the wild Beast in the Heart chained; another, to have Him expelled, or the Lion transformed into a Lamb.

Ther. Have We not often observed heroic Courage, and a Generosity of Spirit, where the Education has been none of the strictest? To what can we ascribe these laudable Qualities, but to the innate Virtue and Nobleness of the Temper, working without any auxiliary Succours?

Asp. Virtue, Theron, is a complete Assemblage, not some disjointed Shreds, of laudable Qualities. Those You mention, if not accompanied with the whole Circle of amiable Accomplishments, are no more to be called Virtue; than two or three scattered Fragments shews Us, likewise, our extreme Need of that revealed Law, which, among other refined Precepts, unknown to the Religion of Nature, enjoins; Above all Things, swear not—And Thou shalt not take the Name of the LORD thy GOD in vain.

G 3

ments of an Edifice, are to be honoured with the Appellation of an House.—How often are those very Persons, with all their Fortitude, Slaves to ignoble Pleasures, or in Bondage to the basest Lusts. A most infallible Indication, that they have no uniform Generosity, nor any real Courage.—Desire of Fame, may prompt to many such Acts, as dazzle the superficial Eye: which yet are far, very far from genuine Virtue.

Ther. Do You then attribute the Grecian Politeness and the high Roman Spirit, all the gallant Actions of their Heroes and Generals, to a Desire of Fame?

Asp. There is Reason to suspect, that they derived their Origin from some improper Motive. And no Motive was more artfully instilled, or more assiduously cherished, than the Spirit of Ambition.—View their Crowns, their Statues, their triumphal Solemnities — Read their Orators, their Historians, their Poets—The former were the School, the latter were the Masters, to inculcate this grand Lesson.

Let Us consider the Romans a little more attentively; and not amidst the Dregs of their Community, but in their very best Ages; when their Republic subsisted, and their Scipios flourished. Many great and shining Deeds were undoubtedly performed. But did they spring from a reverential Regard to the Supreme BEING; from Obedience to his Will, or Zeal for his Honour?

If this Principle should be thought too refined, did they proceed from a Love to their Fellow-creatures? In case, neither of these Motives * actuated their

* A Zeal for the Honour of GOD, and a Concern for the Good of our Fellow-creatures, are the true Sources of their Conduct, it can never be placed to the Account of Virtue. — Had Benevolence been their leading Principle, why such Inhumanity to Carthage? Why must that opulent City be laid in Ashes, and her numerous Citizens be put to the Sword? Were they Enemies to Mankind, or a Nuisance in the World? You well know, that they were only too industrious, and too powerful. By which means, they would be in a Condition, to eclipse the Magnificence of the Roman Name, and dispute the Prize of Sovereignty with the Roman State. For this Crime—a Crime, in Ambition's Eye, absolutely inexcusable — even Cato's upright Soul, shall doom them to utter Destruction; and Scipio's gentle Hand, shall execute the horrid Decree.

Is this Virtue? Does Virtue ravage Countries, from the mere Wantonness of Pride, or Lust of Pre-eminence? Does Virtue destroy Millions of Lives, only to aggrandize a particular People, or extend the Dominion of some favourite Empire? If this were Virtue, Brutus thought too honourably of her Character, when he termed Her an empty Name.—I am sure, my Theron has juster Notions of Things. He need not be informed, that true Virtue, far from personating the rapacious Harpy, acts as a Father to Others, as a Father to All. And, like HIM, who is

G 4

of Virtue, 1 Cor. x. 24, 31. When our Actions flow not from these Principles, Reason will put a Query upon them, and Revelation will expunge them from the List of Virtues.—They may be specious in themselves; they may be costly to the Performer; they may even be serviceable to Others. But can no more deserve the Title of Virtue, than the Activity of our Sun-fire Officers, in extinguishing the Flames on some insured House, can merit the Name of Charity.

is both its Pattern and its Author, goes about doing Good.

Ther. The most elegant Cane, if plunged into yonder Bafon, while the Waters are curled by the Breeze, will appear both crooked and coarse. I cannot but think, the Accusers of human Nature examine her State with a prejudiced Understanding. Which has the same perverse Effect upon their Judgment, as those ruffled Waves have upon the Sight.—Or else, they contemplate her Condition with a melancholy Mind; which, like a jaundiced Eye, gives every Object a distempered Aspect; darkens the chearful; discolours the beautiful; and hangs even the Sun in Mourning.

Asp. Rather let this be the Comparison, to illustrate our Point.—View the meanest Piece of Earth, through the Prismatic Glafs; and it will appear, not beautiful only, but perfectly splendid. Remove the delusory Medium, and all the sophisticated Finery vanishes. The Indigo, the Orange, the Violet are gone: and leave nothing to be seen, but a rude unornamented Lump of Clay.—So, if We consider human Nature, according to the partial Representations of Self-love; or contemplate it, in the flattering Mirror of some popular Writings; it may seem regular, holy, excellent. But, if We behold it under the Light, the unerring Light of Revelation, its fancied Charms disappear; it stands clothed with Deformity; and is a Spectacle of Commiseration, if not of Horror.

Ther. What Reason have You to father such a Notion upon the sacred Writings?—The sacred Writings inform Us, that Man was made after the Image

Image of GOD. This, sure, could not be so dishonourable and depraved a Pattern, as your Discourse would insinuate.

Asp. Far, very far from a dishonourable Pattern ! The Image of GOD is the consummate Standard of all Perfection.—In conformity to this admirable Exemplar, our first Parents were created ; and in this admirable Condition they continued, till by Transgression they fell. Fell from the most holy and happy State, into Guilt, Condemnation, and Ruin.—Therefore, when this fatal Catastrophe had taken place, the sacred Historian varies his Style ; and with a remarkable Peculiarity, as well as Propriety of Speech, says, *Adam begat a Son in his own, not in the DIVINE, Likeness. That every Reader may advert to this melancholy, but important Truth ; it is marked more strongly still ; it is enforced by a very emphatical Repetition. After his own Image†, Moses adds ; as contradistinguished to the Image of GOD, mentioned in a preceding Verse. Which Expressions are evidently intended, to denote the Difference between the State, in which Adam was created, and Seth was begotten.

Ther. Pray, let me have a succinct, but full Account of this tragical Story. Since all your orthodox Divines lay such a mighty Stress upon the Doctrine of the Fall.

Asp. GOD, having formed the human Body out of the Ground, animated the Structure with a living Soul ; and transcribed upon this Soul the Image of his

* This is affirmed, not of Cain, but of Seth, the most excellent of Adam's Children, and Father of the holy Seed.

† כְּצַלְמוֹ בְּדִמּוּתוֹ Gen. v. 3. Corruptus corruptum.

his blessed SELF. All was Light in the Understanding; all was Rectitude in the Will; and nothing but Harmony in the Affections.—Man, thus endowed, was placed in the delightful Garden of Eden; and furnished with every Accommodation, which was necessary to support his Being, or desirable to gratify his Senses.—He was constituted Lord of this lower Creation; and, amidst numberless Indulgencies, received only one—easy—negative Command—not to eat of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil.—From this He was to abstain, as a Pledge of his Subjection, and as an Exercise of his Obedience, Bliss and Immortality were to be the Reward of Duty; Misery and Death the Punishment of Disobedience. *In the Day Thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die, was the Sanction of the divine Law.

How equitable! How gracious the Terms! Yet, neither the Goodness of GOD, could induce Him to keep them; nor the Authority of GOD, deter Him from breaking them.—Unreasonably discontented even with such advantageous Circumstances, and presumptuously aspiring to be like the MOST HIGH, He hearkened to the Suggestions of the evil Spirit.—In a Word; He violated the Precept, and incurred the Penalty. GOD was just, and Man was undone. He lost his Uprightness†; became subject to Mortality; and, as the nervous Original expresses it, Died the Death,

Ther.

* Gen. ii. 17.

† ———— *Innocence, that as a Veil
Had shadow'd them from knowing Ill, was gone, Just Confidence, and native Righteousness.*

MILT. Book IX. 1054.

Ther. True; He became subject to many bodily Infirmities, and to the Necessity of final Dissolution.—But, what has this Sentence, or what have these Sufferings to do with your Notion of universal Depravity in the Mind? The Death, which the Almighty LEGISLATOR threatened, can be opposed only to the Life, which the Almighty CREATOR gave.

Asp. Be it so.—The CREATOR gave, and Man possessed a Life, incomparably more excellent, than that which the Pulse imparts, or the Beasts enjoy. He possessed a divine Life; which, according to the Definition of the Apostle, consisted in Knowledge, in Righteousness, and true Holiness *. This—which was the distinguishing Glory, and the supreme Felicity of his Nature—this, alas! was extinct.

His Understanding, originally enlightened with Wisdom, was clouded and overwhelmed with Ignorance.—His Heart, once filled with religious Veneration, and warmed with heavenly Love, became alienated from GOD his MAKER.—His Passions and Appetites, instead of moving on, in orderly Array, according to the beauteous Measures of Truth and Duty, grew mutinous; shook off the Government of Reason; and ran wild into the most lawless Extravagancies.—In a Word; the whole moral Frame was unhinged, disjointed, broken.

Ther. What Cause have You to suppose, that all this Misery was either included in the Threatening, or introduced by the Fall?

Asp. The Ignorance of fallen Adam was palpable. Witness that absurd Attempt, to hide Himself from the Eye of OMNISCIENCE, among the Trees .

* Eph. iv. 24. Col. iii. 10.

Trees of the Garden.—His Aversion to the All-gracious GOD was equally plain. Otherwise, He would never have fled from his MAKER; but rather have hasted, and on the Wings of Desire, into the Place of the divine Manifestation.

A strange Variety of disorderly Passions *, were evidently predominant in his Breast—Pride; for He refuses to acknowledge his Guilt, though he cannot but own the Fact—Ingratitude; for He obliquely upbraids the CREATOR with his Gift, as though it had been a Snare, rather than a Blessing; The Woman, whom Thou gavest me—Want of natural Affection; for, He endeavours to cast all the Blame upon the weaker Vessel; and to acquit his obnoxious Self, by impeaching the Wife of his Bosom.—The female Criminal acts the same unhumbled Part: neither takes Shame to Herself; nor gives Glory to GOD; nor puts up a single Petition for Pardon.

As all these Disasters ensued, upon the Breach of the Commandment; they furnish Us, I think, with the best Key to open the Meaning of the prohibitory Sanction.

* Milton, speaking of the unhappy Pair, and describing the Consequences of their Fall, says;

—Nor only Tears
Rain'd at their Eyes; but high Winds within Began to rise; high Passions, Anger, Hate, Mistrust, Suspicion, Discord, and shook sore
Their inward State of Mind; calm Region once,
And full of Peace; now tost and turbulent!
For, Understanding rul'd not, and the Will Heard not her Lore! But, in Subjection now
To sensual Appetite, who from beneath Usurping, over sovereign Reason claim'd Superior Sway.

Book IX. 1121.

Sanction. They prove, beyond any Argument, that spiritual Death, and all its Consequences, were comprehended in the Extent of the Threatening.

Ther. How could one Act of Disobedience produce such destructive Effects? Erase the fair Image of the GODHEAD; and stamp the Monster, stamp the very Devil, in its Stead?—And so small an Act of Disobedience too!

Asp. The Prohibition, if You please, was small; not so the Transgression. It was committed against the clearest Knowledge of Duty, and the strongest Obligations to Obedience. It argued Ingratitude for the richest Favours, and Unbelief of the most solemn Declarations. It was an Act of the most horrid Presumption in the Creature, and of the most impious Rebellion against the CREATOR.

As to the Smallness, or rather the gentle and benign Import of the Command, this aggravates, beyond measure, the Crime of Disobedience. Alluding to the Words, once addressed to the Syrian General, we may justly expostulate—“ O thou Adam, if thy “ LORD had bid Thee do some great Thing *;
“ in Submission to his high Authority, and out of “ Gratitude for his unspeakable Goodness, oughtest “ Thou not to have done it? How much more,
“ when He says to Thee?—Freely eat of all, except this single Tree. Thousands, Thousands of “ Honours, Privileges, and Gifts be thine; only “ one Acknowledgment of thy Subjection, mine.
“ And that the easiest, which thy Heart can wish, or “ even thy Fancy conceive.”

You ask, How could one Act of Disobedience produce such destructive Effects?—I answer; The Reality

* 2 Kings v. 13.

Reality of the Fact, in numberless Instances of material Nature, is plain to a Demonstration; while the Manner of Operation, remains an impenetrable Secret. Every Child perceives the former; Newton himself is at a loss for the latter.—For which Reason, I have always thought it better, to believe what GOD has taught, than attempt to explain, what GOD has concealed. Let us forego this curious, perhaps fruitless Inquiry; and substitute a Remark, which naturally arises from the Subject, and may considerably edify our Minds.

Ther. Edify! Is it possible to render this dishonourable and afflictive Notion edifying? Can any generous Fruit spring from such a penurious Soil?

Asp. Samson, I believe, had no Expectation of finding any Thing valuable, in the Reliques of his slain Lion. But, to his agreeable Disappointment, there was Honey in the Carcase *. If our Doctrine appear ghastly as the One, it may yield a Benefit sweet as the Other.

From hence We may learn (what, when rightly learnt, is more serviceable than all the Sciences) the extreme Malignity of Sin.—When Volcanos open their tremendous Jaws, and disgorge a fiery Inundation; they confine their Fury to a single Territory.—When Famine lifts her mildewed Hand, and destroys the Supports of animal Life; She is content with ruining a Kingdom or a Nation.—When War drenches his Sword in Blood, or the Pestilence impregnates the Air with Poison; they also, even they observe some Limits, and never make the whole Compass of Nature the Scene of their Ravages.—But Sin leveled its Blow at the whole human Race. SIN poured Con-

* Judg. xiv. 3.

DIALOGUE XI. III.

Contagion, and spread Destruction, through all Countries, and all Ages. One single Act of Sin brought Confusion and a Curse upon the material, and Miseries, infinite Millions of Miseries, on the rational World *.—How then should We fear this most pernicious of all Evils ! With what Carefulness guard against its insidious Allurements ! With what Resolution fly from its killing Caresses !

Ther. I must observe, that You take for granted, what remains to be proved. For, supposing your Account true, with regard to Adam ; yet, how does this affect his Children ? Why must all his Posterity be contaminated, because their Forefather has played the Prodigal ? Such a heavy Charge against the whole Body of Mankind will not be admitted, without very cogent Proofs.

Asp. The Proofs are cogent ; perhaps irrefragable.—Reason offers to turn Evidence in the Case. Reason, in concurrence with Revelation, demands ; Who can bring a clean Thing out of an unclean † ? If the Fountain be polluted, how can the Streams be pure ? And if the Root is corrupt, 'tis impossible to conceive, how the Branches should be sound, or the Fruit good ‡.

The

* St. Chrysostom calls the first Transgression, η πρωτη λυμαινουμενη αμαρτια. Which is, in a Manner, translated by Milton ; who, speaking of the same tragical Act, says

—————It
Brought Death into the World, and all our Woe.

† Job xiv. 4.

‡ Milton has anticipated Theron's Objection ; and, in Adam's Soliloquy, very judiciously solved it.

—Ab!

The scriptural Testimonies are almost innumerable. They pour their Evidence from every Quarter; and constitute, not two or three only, but a whole Cloud of Witnesses.—GOD made Man upright, says the royal Preacher; the human Nature in its primitive State, was without any wrong Bias. But at, and ever since the first Transgression, they have found out and followed many perverse Inventions *.

Ther. I don't deny, but Multitudes of People, seduced by bad Example, or betrayed by their own Inadvertency, have departed from the Rule of Duty. Have, as the wise Man affirms, tried many foolish Experiments to acquire Happiness, and devised as many idle Excuses for their Folly. But, this is no such irrefragable Proof, that they were originally bad. It only implies, that not taking proper heed to their Ways, they warped from their native Uprightness. As yonder Tulips, though perfectly beautiful at present, if not attended with the necessary Cultivation, will degenerate into homely Flowers; and, at length, be no better than tawdry Weeds.

Asp. No, my Friend. Iniquity is not an adventitious Thing, caught from Example, or contracted by Carelessness. These may increase, but these do not occasion, the moral Malady. A sinful Disposition

is

*Ab! why should all Mankind
For one Man's Fault, thus guiltless be condemn'd,
If guiltless? But from me what can proceed
But all corrupt, both Body and Mind deprav'd;
Not to do only, but to will the same
With me? How can they acquitted stand In Sight of GOD?*

Book X. 822.

* Eccles. vii. 29.

is as early as our Being: the very Mould, in which all our Faculties are cast.—David bears very express Testimony to this humbling Truth. Behold! He sets his N. B. upon the Passage. 'Tis a sad, but certain Fact. Such as should never depart from my Memory, nor ever be omitted in my Confessions; and is much to be regarded by every Reader. I was shapen in Wickedness, and in Sin did my Mother conceive me *. As though he had said—"Alas! LORD, " this Crime, though extremely horrid, is but a little " Part of my Guilt. I have not only sinned in Prac- " tice, but I am totally and universally corrupt in " my very Nature."

This He acknowledges, not to extenuate his Offence, but to lay open his excessive Vileness. And indeed it is not possible, to form a right Judgment of Ourselves, or to be duly humbled before GOD, unless We add the Depravation of our Nature to the Transgressions of our Life. Just as it is impossible to discern, what monstrous and voracious Animals lie hid in the Ocean, if We only glance an Eye upon the Surface of the Waters.

Ther. This, You know, was written by the royal Penitent, under the Pangs of severe Remorse. Does not a Sense of his enormous Iniquity, together with the Apprehension of divine Wrath, make his Hand shake, and lead Him to aggravate Features?—Or suppose it were true of the adulterous King, is it equally applicable to Others, who have escaped such gross Pollutions?

Asp. It is no exaggerating Draught; but a faithful Delineation; and exactly represents every Child of Adam.—It was written with the utmost Deliberation;

VOL. II.

H

and

* Psal. li. 5.

and therefore is introduced with that Call for peculiar Attention, Behold!—And, though David was scandalously criminal in his Intrigue with the Wife of Uriah; yet, the general Tenour of his Life was not only irreproachable, but exemplary. Who so zealous for the House of his GOD, or so devoted an Admirer of the divine Word? His Heart was an Altar, ever flaming with heavenly Love; and his Tongue a Trumpet, to sound the Praises of J E H O V A H through all Generations.—And if He had Reason to make this abasing Confession; who is the Person, that can think Himself aggrieved, by sharing in the Imputation?

One of our most eminent Martyrs *, when He heard of any Malefactor, condemned to suffer an ignominious Death, used to lay his Hand upon his Breast, and say—“ The Seeds of all those Villanies, “ which brought that unhappy Wretch to the Gib- “ bet were sown Here. And, if they have not “ sprung up into the same detestable Deeds, unto “ divine Grace, unto divine Grace alone, be all the “ Glory?”

Ther. Your Martyrs had honest Hearts, but not always the clearest Heads. I admire their Zeal, and reverence their Memories: but I can no more receive their Opinion, as an Oracle, than I can be persuaded to worship their Relics.

Assp. I have no Intention to palm Popery on my Friend, nor any Desire to calumniate the human Species. If it be disingenuous and sinful, to asperse a particular Character; how much more unjustifiable, to traduce our Nature in general!

My

* Mr. Bradford.

DIALOGUE XI. 116

My Account, dark and disgusting as it is, stands confirmed by a higher Authority, than any private Opinion. It is confirmed from an universal Survey of Mankind; taken by the Eye of the CREATOR, Himself, and left upon Record in the Books of Revelation. The LORD looked down from Heaven upon the Children of Men, to see if there were Any that did understand, and seek after GOD.—What is the Result of this grand Inquiry? It must, without all Peradventure, be infallibly true. Because GOD's Inspection is too keen, to be eluded; and his Judgment too impartial, to be biassed. This is the Report, made by the infinitely wise OBSERVER: They are all gone aside, they are altogether become filthy; there is None that doeth Good, no not One.*

Ther. This, I apprehend, is the Character of those besotted Creatures, those most egregious of all Fools, Who say, There is no GOD. To them the Psal relates, and to them the abandoned Character is appropriated. They have it, if I may so speak, Cum Privilegio.

Asp. It is meant rather of practical, than of speculative Atheists. Who say, not explicitly with their Mouths, but implicitly in their Hearts; There is no GOD. Who live, as if there was no ALL-SEEING EYE, to take Cognizance of their present Conduct; no Supreme JUDGE, to call them

H 2

* Psal. xiv. 2, 3. The two original Words סר ואכלו are metaphorical Expressions; taken from — Wines, that are become sour—and Meats, that are in a State of Putrefaction. I believe, it is impossible to find Images, more strongly expressive of a total Depravity, and of the utmost Degeneracy.

them to a future Reckoning.—And I dare appeal to Yourself, though perhaps the fondest of Fathers, Whether this Instance of Foolishness, is not bound up in the Hearts of our Children*. Nay, whether it be not natural to Us all, both in Youth and Manhood, to forget our CREATOR?

In this Case, Theron, there is no Monopoly. Your Right and mine, are too strongly established by Experience, and too clearly expressed in the preceding Scripture, to admit of any Controversy.—If there were Any, that understood—They are all gone out of the Way—There is None, that doeth Good—No, not One.—Could any Conveyancer in Europe have contrived a Form of Words, more fully to ascertain our unhappy Title?

Ther. There may be some Texts in Scripture, which seem to countenance your Assertion. But these refer to the worst of Men, in the worst of Times. And can You, with any Justice, ascribe the Properties of a few Reprobates to the whole Species?

Asp. This very Passage, and others of a like Import, are adopted by St. Paul, and applied both to

Jews

* Prov. xxii. 15. Let none think, that by Foolishness the sacred Writer means only those filly Tricks, which discover a Weakness of Understanding in Children. Solomon's Fool is not the Idiot, but the Sinner; and the Folly, stigmatized throughout the Proverbs, denotes, not a Failure in the intellectual, but in the religious and moral Character.

The Words, in this Passage, are peculiarly forcible. Foolishness is in the Heart; implanted in the very Nature; sunk deep into the inmost Faculties.—And not only sunk deep, but adheres almost inseparably: קשורה is wrapped, and bound: twines like the Ivy, and is rooted like the Oak.

*Jews and Gentiles; with this professed Design, that every Mouth may be stopped, and all the World may be found guilty * before GOD. Which evinces, I should think, beyond all Doubt, the Universality of its Extent.*

If to the Universality, We add the Antiquity of this Fact, it will bear the two grand Characteristics of Truth. Far from being a novel Opinion, it was received as a Maxim, in the early Age of Job. What is Man, that he should pretend to be clean? And He that is born of a Woman, that He should presume to be righteous? Righteous before the infinitely JUST and HOLY ONE! Behold! He putteth no Trust in his Saints, though the most exalted of all intelligent Beings. Yea, the Heavens, those brightest Parts of the material Creation, are not clean in his Sight. How much more abominable and filthy is Man †? Who drinketh Iniquity; though lothesome to GOD, and worse than Poison to his own Soul; yet drinketh it like Water; without any Hesitation or the least Fear, with an eager and profuse Delight.

H 3

This,

* Rom. iii. 19. ὑποδικόμενοι γυναι, "May become guilty," does not so exactly answer the Scope of the Context, neither does it so solidly establish the Apostle's Argument, as "may be found guilty;" be fully convicted, and apparently liable to most just Condemnation.—Those Things were written of Old, and were quoted by St. Paul, not to render Men criminal, but to prove them so.

† Job xv. 14, 15, 16. The immaculate Purity of the blessed GOD, and the utter Depravity of fallen Man, are Points of so great Importance in the scriptural System of Divinity, that they are inculcated no less than three Times, within the Compass of this single Book. And by much the same noble Contrast of striking Images. Chap. iv. 17, 18.—xv. 14, 15, 16.—xxv. 4, 5, 6.

This, You will observe, was alledged in a Dispute, carried on with no small Vehemency. Yet is admitted, on all hands, as unexceptionably true.—Be pleased also to take notice, That the Charge is not confined to some very notorious Sinners, but is laid against the whole Body of Mankind. Whatever Figure they may make, each in his own Conceit; they are all described in the Word of GOD—as Beings, insatiably athirst after Evil—from Objects, that We cannot endure to behold; or cannot behold without Abhorrence*,—Such is Man by Nature! People must have Eyes very different from mine, to discern any Dignity in this Draught.

Ther. As to innate Dignity, We will let it pass. But this I must insist upon, and several Writers of the first Repute are on my Side—That we enter the Stage of Life, in a State of Indifference either to Good or Evil.—That the Affections are like a Balance, nicely poised, and preponderating neither one Way nor the other.—The whole Soul, like a Sheet of fair Paper, is equally susceptible of strait or crooked Lines; and will as readily receive the amiable Features of an Angel, as the hideous Deformity of a Devil.

Asp. With regard to your first Illustration.—The Simile, I think, confutes the Sentiment. For, to be in suspense, whether we shall love the LORD
our

* The original Words are נתעב ונאלץ—One is used to signify that abominable Practice, which the Agyptians could not bear to see. Exod. vii. ver. 22. Heb. Bib. ver. 26. Engl. Bib.—The other denotes an Object, too squalid to be viewed without loathing.

our GOD, the Giver of all Good, and the Source of all Perfection; this, surely, must be condemned as an irreligious Temper.—This is a criminal Halting between GOD and Baal.—A Neutrality, which is no better than Hostility.

I fear, the Writers You mention, pay but little Deference to the inspired Volume. Our Escutcheon is very differently blazoned, in that Office of spiritual Heraldry. A Transgressor from the Womb *, is one of our hereditary Titles. Transgressors We are, by strong internal Propensity; even before We transgress, in outward Act.

Observe the young Hawthorn Plants, which have unfolded their green Leaves, in yonder Nursery; but have scarce learned to spread the gay Blossom. Is there in those an equal Aptitude, to produce the luscious juicy Grape, or their own coarse and husky Berry? By no means. They will (unless grafted with some generous Cyon) certainly, universally, constantly bear the same harsh Fruit with their parent Tree.—So certainly will the human Mind, if not renewed by the SPIRIT of CHRIST, branch out into ungodly Tempers, and bring forth wicked Practices.

Ther. The Nobleman, mentioned by Xenophon †, when overcome by an alluring Temptation, devised for his Excuse the Notion of two Souls; one, that inclined

H 4

* Isa. xlviii. 8. A Truth so apparent and undeniable, that Seneca could not but discern it, though He was an unlightened Heathen: could not but acknowledge it, though He was one of the proud Stoic Sect. Hac Conditione nati sumus. Animalia abnoxia non paucioribus Animi quam Corporis Morbis. De Ira. Lib. II. c. 9.

† Cyropæd. Lib. VI.

inclined Him to Vice; another, that prompted Him to Virtue. This was a moderate Caricatura *, compared with my Friend's. He will allow nothing regular or graceful in the human Heart.—You have metamorphosed the Master-piece of the Creation, into such a deformed Object; as may justly render Him a Terror to Himself. Can there be a grosser Libel upon the CREATOR, or a greater Discouragement to our Fellow-creatures?

Asp. If this be a distorted Piece, what will You call the following Description? GOD saw that the Wickedness of Man was great upon the Earth; and that every Imagination of the Thoughts of his Heart was only evil continually †.—This, perhaps, may be reckoned a more monstrous Drawing still. Yet it came from that Hand, which painted the Canopy of the Skies, and touched all the Pictures of Nature into such inimitable Perfection,

Pray, let us examine the most distinguishing Features in this Draught.—Not barely the Works of his Hand, or the Words of his Tongue, but the Imaginations of his Heart, are evil. The Contagion has spread itself thro' the inner Man. It has tainted the Seat of his Principles, and the Source of his Actions †.—Is there not,

* A Term used by the Italian Painters, to signify a Resemblance horrid, or ridiculous.

† Gen. vi. 5.

‡ The Original is very nice in its Structure, and no less emphatical in its Meaning.—לב The Heart, or grand Principle—מחשבות The Thoughts of the Heart, or the various Actings of that Principle—יצר The Imagination of the Thoughts, or the Produce and Result of those Actings; namely, Desires and Affections, Counsels and Purposes.—Not one, a few only, or the greatest Part, but all these are evil.

not, You will say, some Mixture of Good? No; they are only Evil. There is no hopeful Tendency. Not so much as a little Leaven of Piety; that may have a Chance to diffuse itself, and meliorate the whole Lump.—But are there no lucid Intervals? No happy Moments, when Virtue gains the Ascendency? None: He is only evil continually. The Usurpation of Sin is total, and its Tyranny perpetual.

What I have advanced, therefore, is no Libel upon the CREATOR's Benignity. Because, it is the very Echo of his own Determination.—Neither is it so properly discouraging, as humbling and alarming to our Fellow-creatures. Humbling, to make Us sensible of our Ruin: Alarming, to make Us desirous of a Recovery.

Ther. Is not the Description, which You have produced, peculiar to the Men of that wicked Generation? Whose Guilt was as unparalleled, as their Punishment?

Asp. It is applicable both to them and their Successors. The Wisdom of GOD repeats the Charge, and fixes it upon the Race, which survived the Flood*. The Depravity of human Nature continued, nor could the Waters of an universal Deluge purge it away.

* Gen. viii. 21. Where, I think, the Particle ו is used in the adversative, not the causal Signification; and should be rendered though, rather than for.—Where it seems likewise, that the Forbearance of the righteous GOD, is ascribed to the great Atonement; typified by Noah's Burnt-offerings, and expressed by St. Paul in his Epistle to the Ephesians; who probably alludes to this Passage. The LORD smelled a sweet Savour, and the LORD said in his Heart, I will not again curse the Earth any more for Man's sake, though the Imagination of Man's Heart be evil from his Youth, Eph. v. 2.

away. So deep alas ! is the Stain, and so incorrigible the Virulency, of original Corruption ; that it will yield to nothing—to nothing will it yield, but to the Washing of Regeneration, and renewing of the HOLY GHOST *. Till this takes place, every Heart of Man must wear the Prophet's stigmatizing Motto, Deceitful above all Things, and desperately wicked.

Ther. This Passage, I am informed, is not rightly translated ; especially, in the last Expression. The Hebrew Original does not bear so hard upon the human Character, as the English Version.

Asp. You allow then, that the Heart is deceitful. And of this We have a glaring Proof, in the Conduct of Hazael. He thought it impossible, that He should ever perpetrate such horrid Barbarities, as the Prophet foresaw. Is thy Servant a Dog, that He should do this great Thing † ? Yes, Hazael ; however Thou mayest imagine Thyself gentle as a Lamb, thou art fierce as a Dog, and savage as a Tyger.—Which was most terribly demonstrated by the Event.

Suppose, we translate the other Word somewhat more accurately. The little Alteration will be of less Service to your Cause. Instead of desperately wicked, You may, if You please, read deplorably disordered ‡. This is the exact Import of the Phrase.—It is a Metaphor, derived from a very distempered Body. In which, the whole Head is sick, and the whole Heart faint. From the Crown of whose Head, to the Sole of whose Feet, there is nothing but consuming

* Tit. iii. 5. † 2 Kings viii. 13. ‡ Jer. xvii. 3. 228

suming Disease, and enfeebling Languors *.—The Rules of Civility may set a specious Varnish on the Conversation. But until Grace, sanctifying Grace administers the Remedy, the most civilized Heart will be like the pale emaciated Cheek, that is poorly invivened with Paint.

Ther. What say the Writers of the New Testament? Is not their Way of thinking more liberal and benign?—If human Nature wore so hideous an Aspect, under the legal Dispensation; since the Coming of our LORD, and the Publishing of his Gospel, One may expect an improved and more pleasing Face of Things.

Asp. Human Nature in every Period of Time, and under every Dispensation of Religion, is still the same. It was the SPIRIT of CHRIST, who indited the Old Testament, and He cannot vary from Himself, in the Declarations of the New.

I am very much inclined to believe, That all the bodily Diseases, which our Divine PHYSICIAN healed, during his Abode on Earth, were so many emblematical Representations of spiritual Disorders. Which, like certain Family Distempers, may be said to run in the Blood of all Mankind.—Will you give me leave, Theron, to explain myself? I don't like to engross the Discourse. Yet I would willingly enlarge upon this Subject.

Ther. By all means. The Laws of Argument, separate from the Indulgencies of Friendship, give you a Warrant to urge, whatever may support your Cause.

* Isa. i. 6. Agreeable to this Doctrine, and consonant to this Metaphor, is the Confession of our Liturgy, There is no Health in Us.

Cause.—Besides, I shall be glad to hear your Sentiments upon a Point so curious.

Asp. The poor Leper, covered with noisome Sores, is the very Picture of a polluted Sinner. Was the One, for his contagious Impurities, separated from the Society of his Fellow-citizens? So shall the other, for his abominable Uncleaness, be banished from the beatific Presence: Unless He be cleansed by the Blood, and justified by the Righteousness of JESUS.

You pity the Condition of that unhappy Creature, who was born blind. His Eyes rolled, but rolled in vain, to find the dawning Ray. Such is the benighted State of the human Mind, till Almighty GOODNESS command the Scales of Ignorance to fall off, and pour heavenly Day through all the intellectual Faculties. Then, and not till then, we begin to know the Holiness, the Justice, the adorable Excellencies of GOD.—We see the sublime Purity of his Law, and the extreme Depravity of our own Hearts.—We are brought acquainted with the transcendent Glories of our REDEEMER's Person, and apprehend that most comfortable Mystery of his Substitution in our Stead. We discern the ineffable Perfection of his Merits, and the divinely rich Freeness of his Grace *. Truths, incomparably more delightful to the Soul, than all the delectable Scenes of Creation are to the Sight.

The

* This, and the preceding Particulars, are Lessons of the last Importance in the Christian School. The Knowledge of them deserves to be most solicitously sought, both by attentive Contemplation, and by earnest Prayer. For, to know them, is to be truly wise; to be influenced by them, is to be substantially happy.

The Paralytic's enervated Limbs too truly represent the Impotence of our Nature. Was He unable to grind at a Mill; to run in a Race; or to turn Himself on His Bed? So unable are We, to fight the good Fight of Faith; to exercise the Graces of Christianiati; or even to turn Ourselves unto GOD.

—Do not you, my Friend, experience something of this Inability? For my Part, I must lay my Hand on my Breast, and daily, hourly confess, "The Palsy is Here. Though not altogether dead in Sin (blessed be CHRIST JESUS, and his quickening SPIRIT!) yet how languid is my Zeal, how enfeebled my Industry, in the great Affair of everlasting Salvation!—I would fain believe, and with a full Assurance of Faith, the Promises of the unchangeable JEHOVAH. But how often do I stagger through Unbelief!—I would fain love, and with the warmest Gratitude, my ever-merciful and most beneficent GOD. But Oh! what Coldness benumbs my Affections!—I wish to be humble in every Thought; heavenly in all my Desires; and wholly resigned to the divine Will. But, alas! my Sufficiency for these Things, is like the flaccid Sinew, or the withered Arm."

It would be endless to particularize all the Maladies, which were Emblems of our Misery, and the Triumphs of our LORD's Power. Let me only remark—That their Bodies were afflicted with a single Disorder; our Souls labour under a Complication of Evils.—They felt their Affliction, and were desirous, importunately desirous of Relief. We are, till awakened from above, insensible of our calamitous Case. We add, to all our other Indispositions, a stupifying Lethargy, or an extravagant Delirium.

Ther.

Cause.—Besides, I shall be glad to hear your Sentiments upon a Point so curious.

Asp. The poor Leper, covered with noisome Sores, is the very Picture of a polluted Sinner. Was the One, for his contagious Impurities, separated from the Society of his Fellow-citizens? So shall the other, for his abominable Uncleaness, be banished from the beatific Presence: Unless He be cleansed by the Blood, and justified by the Righteousness of JESUS.

You pity the Condition of that unhappy Creature, who was born blind. His Eyes rolled, but rolled in vain, to find the dawning Ray. Such is the benighted State of the human Mind, till Almighty GOODNESS command the Scales of Ignorance to fall off, and pour heavenly Day through all the intellectual Faculties. Then, and not till then, we begin to know the Holiness, the Justice, the adorable Excellencies of GOD.—We see the sublime Purity of his Law, and the extreme Depravity of our own Hearts.—We are brought acquainted with the transcendent Glories of our REDEEMER's Person, and apprehend that most comfortable Mystery of his Substitution in our Stead. We discern the ineffable Perfection of his Merits, and the divinely rich Freeness of his Grace *. Truths, incomparably more delightful to the Soul, than all the delectable Scenes of Creation are to the Sight.

The

* This, and the preceding Particulars, are Lessons of the last Importance in the Christian School. The Knowledge of them deserves to be most solicitously sought, both by attentive Contemplation, and by earnest Prayer. For, to know them, is to be truly wise; to be influenced by them, is to be substantially happy.

The Paralytic's enervated Limbs too truly represent the Impotence of our Nature. Was He unable to grind at a Mill; to run in a Race; or to turn Himself on His Bed? So unable are We, to fight the good Fight of Faith; to exercise the Graces of Christianiety; or even to turn Ourselves unto GOD. —Do not you, my Friend, experience something of this Inability? For my Part, I must lay my Hand on my Breast, and daily, hourly confess, "The Palsy is Here. Though not altogether dead in Sin (blessed be CHRIST JESUS, and his quickening SPIRIT!) yet how languid is my Zeal, how enfeebled my Industry, in the great Affair of everlasting Salvation!—I would fain believe, and with a full Assurance of Faith, the Promises of the unchangeable JEHOVAH. But how often do I stagger through Unbelief!—I would fain love, and with the warmest Gratitude, my ever-merciful and most beneficent GOD. But Oh! what Coldness benumbs my Affections!—I wish to be humble in every Thought; heavenly in all my Desires; and wholly resigned to the divine Will. But, alas! my Sufficiency for these Things, is like the flaccid Sinew, or the withered Arm."

It would be endless to particularize all the Maladies, which were Emblems of our Misery, and the Triumphs of our LORD's Power. Let me only remark—That their Bodies were afflicted with a single Disorder; our Souls labour under a Complication of Evils.—They felt their Affliction, and were desirous, importunately desirous of Relief. We are, till awakened from above, insensible of our calamitous Case. We add, to all our other Indispositions, a stupifying Lethargy, or an extravagant Delirium.

Ther.

Ther. Such allegorical Expositions of Scripture are pretty enough. But, I presume, You yourself cannot reckon them demonstrative. For my own Part, I must appeal from the Surmises of Fancy, to the Verdict of Reason.

Asp. I cannot think, that the allegorical Sense, when feebly introduced, is unworthy our Regard, or without its Weight. However, I have no Design to preclude your Appeal.—Will the avowed, with the reiterated Decision of an Apostle, satisfy my Friend, and be admitted as the Verdict of Reason?—St. Paul has declared of Himself; in me, that is, in my Flesh, or unrenewed Nature, dwelleth no Good *; no good Temper, nor so much as any good Desire.—Elsewhere he affirms; That the carnal Mind, or unregenerate Soul, is not subject to the Law of GOD. Nay, is an Enemy, or rather Enmity itself † — against what?—Against Sin? That were a noble Antipathy.—Against the World? That were a laudable Disaffection.—No; but against GOD and his Law. Amazing Perverseness! To be Enmity against GOD; who is boundless Benignity, and consummate Goodness. Enmity against his Law; which is the Transcript of his amiable Perfections, and the faultless Model of all Virtue.

Ther. This, I suppose, is the Character of Saul the Pharisee, not of Paul the Apostle. Descriptive of his Condition, when He was “ a Blasphemer, a Persecutor, and injurious.”

Asp. It relates not to Himself alone, but is applicable to All, who continue in a State of Nature.—The blessed AUTHOR of our Being, speaking
of

* Rom. vii. 18.

† Rom. viii. 7.

DIALOGUE XI. 127

of Mankind in general, says; That He is even Flesh *: mere Flesh, altogether Flesh, his very Soul, and all its Powers, are wholly enslaved to fleshly Appetites.—The beneficent RESTORER of our Happiness, pronounces the same Sentence, in the very same Words: That which is born of the Flesh, is Flesh †: The Faculties, which Men receive by their natural Birth, have a carnal Bias; incline to nothing, but sordid Pleasures, and ignoble Pursuits.—Our SAVI-OUR reinculcates the Admonition, and illustrates it by a very remarkable Allusion. You cannot forget his Answer to a procrastinating Disciple; Let the Dead bury their Dead ‡: Intimating, that as many as are unsanctified by the HOLY GHOST, though possessed of an animal, are destitute of the divine Life: are no more fit for the Kingdom of Heaven, for its Converse or its Joys, than a pale Corpse in the Coffin, or dry Bones in the Charnel-house, are qualified to transact any secular Business.

St. Paul sets the Seal of Heaven to this momentous Truth, in various Passages of his Epistles. From a Multitude let me select one, and recommend it to your

* Gen. vi. 3. The Word Flesh, by which the All-wise CREATOR characterizes Man, signifies, in the sacred Writings, whatever is dishonourable in itself; provoking to GOD; or introductory to the Ruin of Man.—The Works of the Flesh, are a Compendium of all Iniquity. Gal. v. 19, 20, 21.—To walk after the Flesh, is the very Reverse of walking in the SPIRIT; diametrically opposite to the divine Law and true Holiness, Rom. viii. 4.—To be carnally minded, or to have the Influence, the Savour, the Relish of the Flesh (σπορνμα σαρκος) predominant in our Minds, is the spiritual Death of the Soul; and a Presage of eternal Death, both in Body and Soul, Rom. viii. 6.

† John iii. 6.

‡ Matt. viii. 22.

your serious Consideration. *You, that were sometime alienated and Enemies: the Colossians, and all Mankind were alienated from the living GOD; had no true Knowledge of Him; and, what is worse, had no sincere Desire after Him. Nay; they were not only Strangers, but Enemies; in a State of Hostility to his holy Nature and heavenly Will.—What can express a greater Degeneracy? Nothing, unless it be the following Clause: by a Mind intent upon wicked Works . A Mind, not only averse to all Good, but passionately prone to all Evil.

Ther. A few picked Passages, of a figurative Import, and artfully clogged by some dextrous Interpretation, may seem to support your Cause.

Asp. Ah! Theron, there is no need to use Sleight of Hand. He that runs, may read this Doctrine in the sacred Authors. It is interwoven with the whole Series of their historical, and makes a professed Part of their practical Writings.

What is more common with the inspired Penmen, than to express a profligate Course of Life, by following our own Imaginations, and walking in our own Ways? When Immorality and Licentiousness were predominant in Israel; knew no Restraints, and kept no Bounds; how does the unerring Historian describe this horrible State of Things? Every One did that

* Coloss. i. 21. ἡ διαβολα ἐν τοῖς ἑσπῶς τοῖς ὀνόματι, Mente malis Operibus intenta. An eminent Critic would thus point, and thus translate the Words. And assigns, for his Alteration, the following Reason; Mens enim dicitur esse in ea Re, quam semper cogitat, ad quam Cupidine fertur & inclinatur. DAVENANT in loc.—Let the Words be pointed and translated, either in this or the received Manner, they speak the Language, and confirm the Sentiments, of this whole Dialogue.

that which was right in his own Eyes *. Nothing can more strongly imply the extreme Depravity of Mankind, than such a Phraseology. Which makes it one and the same Thing, to pursue our natural Inclinations, and to act the abandoned Sinner.

St. Jude cannot write a few Lines, but He must touch upon this Subject; must teach this humbling Lesson. Sensual †, He says, not having the SPIRIT. According to his Estimate, not to be actuated by the Power of especial Grace, is to remain under the Dominion of Sensuality. If We may credit this Servant of CHRIST, every Man, while unrenewed by the Divine SPIRIT, is governed by Flesh and Sense. Can any Man then pretend to be originally free from the Influence of Corruption?

St. Paul exempts not Himself, no, nor any of the highest Saints, from the opprobrious Charge: We all walked according to the Desires of the Flesh and of the Mind. Which Desires in Us, as well as in the idolatrous Heathens, were base, sordid, and contaminating. Insomuch that We, who are Jews by Birth; who are Sons of GOD by our new Birth; even We were by Nature the Children of Wrath †. And if liable to Wrath; then, doubtless, subject to Depravity, and chargeable with Sin.

VOL. II.

I

Ther.

* Judg. xviii. 6.—See also Psal. lxxxi. 12. Eccl. xi. 9; Acts xiv. 16.

† Jude 19. The original Expression is ψυχικός, and denotes Persons, who have no higher a Principle, than the animal Life, and the rational Soul.

‡ Eph. ii. 3. Hoc uno Loco, says BEZA, quasi Fulmine, totus Homo, quantus quantus est, prosternitur. Neque enim Naturam dicit læsam, sed mortuam, per Peccatum; ideoque Iræ obnoxiam.

Ther. What says St. James? You have suppressed, and I had almost forgot, his Testimony; though it is so very pertinent to my Purpose, and so very explicit in my Favour. Men, who are made after the Similitude of GOD.—The Similitude of GOD signifies, in the sacred Books, those moral Endowments, which distinguish the Possessor both from the Brute and the Devil. And if Men are made after this Image; if they are created with these Endowments; where is your Doctrine of original Sin?

Ans. I began to flatter myself, that your Objections were exhausted. But, since I am mistaken in this Particular, surely it must be as great a Mistake to imagine, that our Apostle would maintain an Opinion, so repugnant to the aforementioned Texts, and so contrary to universal Observation.—Do not You perceive the very Reverse true, with regard to your own Children? Why do You address them with such tender Intreaties; such warm Exhortations; such repeated Arguments? Why do You allure them to Duty by Promises, and deter them from Transgression by Threatenings? Is all this Regimen, all this Discipline, necessary for Creatures, that bear the holy Image of GOD.

They made after the Similitude of GOD!—Then they have no need of the renewing Influences of the HOLY GHOST, in case they live; and no need of the Atonement of CHRIST's Blood, in case they die. Would James the LORD's Brother assert such an egregious Error; as not only opposes a single Article, but undermines the whole Constitution of Christianity? Sets aside the Sanctification of the Divine SPIRIT, and the Propitiation of the

RE-

DIALOGUE XI. 131

REDEEMER's Death?—Impossible for Him to assert! Impossible, I should think, for Us to suppose!

St. James speaks of a Fact that is past: speaks of Men collectively, as they were all included in their first Parent. The Passage, I apprehend, should be translated, not, Men that are, but, Men that were * created, &c.—The Scripture considers Adam, as the common Parent of Us all: nay more, considers Us all as existing in our great Progenitor. Which is so far from overthrowing, that it establishes, the Point in Debate. For, if We were all created after the Similitude of GOD, in and with Adam; it must follow, that We all felt from our Conformity to GOD, in and with Adam. And if so—let me for once retort my Friend's Interrogatory—Where is not original Sin?

I am very sure, it runs through our Liturgy; is an essential Part of our Articles; and most strongly delineated in our Homilies. Shall I produce some of those Testimonies; which are as clear, as they are copious?

Ther. No more of your Testimonies, good Aspasio. Inform me rather, what Advantages can accrue from your inculcating, or my adopting such a Doctrine. Suppose, it were undeniably true; disagreeable Truths, like disagreeable Objects, should be consigned over to Obscurity, not obtruded upon our View.

I 2

* Jam. iii. 9. That this is the precise Signification of the Participle ἔσθωσα, may be gathered from 1 Tim. v. 9. Where ἔσθωσα is translated having been; and must necessarily refer, not to the present, but to the past Condition of the Widow.

View.—On such an Occasion, the Reply of Themistocles should be mine. One of the Literati of Greece, offered to communicate an elaborate and curious Invention. By means of which, his Memory should be so wonderfully strengthened, as to retain whatever He read or heard. “My Friend, replied the Hero, “You quite mistake the Way to serve me. I want “to learn the Art, not of remembering, but of forgetting.”

Asp. If to forget our Disease, were a likely Method to restore our Health, I should readily concur in your Hero’s Way of Thinking. As this will hardly be allowed, I cannot but judge it more adviseable, to remember our Disease, that We may inquire after a Remedy.

Thor. Where is this Remedy to be had?

Asp. Not on Earth, but from Heaven.—The Schools of Science cannot discover it. The Courts of Kings are unable to procure it. The College of Physicians know not how to prescribe it. But the Gospel of our Salvation prescribes, prepares, and dispenses it. The Language of CHRIST in his holy Word is, I will bring Her Health and Cure *. And the Beginning of our Cure is, to be sensible of our Disorder.

Hence We are taught to be humble.—To review the Catalogue of our actual Transgressions, is a mortifying Employ. But that which lays the Soul in the lowest Abasement, is the Conviction of inbred Iniquity. This strikes at the Root of human Vanity, and cuts asunder the very Sinews of Self-conceit. Blindness in the Understanding; Impotency in the Will; Disorder in the Affections; these are not V

* Jer. xxxiii. 6.

tants, but * Inhabitants ; congenial with our Frame, and ingrained in our Constitution. How then—O! how can We be vain of our moral Beauty, who have an hereditary Defilement cleaving to all our Faculties? Surely, this must banish the Pharisee from our Breast, and inspire Us with the Sentiments of that sincere Penitent, Behold! I am vile †! Must teach Us the Language of the abashed Leper, Unclean! Unclean ‡!

Ther. I should think, it would make Us melancholy, rather than humble. Serve no other Purpose, than to introduce an afflictive Sense of extreme Wretchedness.

Asp. Did we intend to rest Here, your Apprehensions would be just. But We urge the Doctrine of original Corruption, as a Preparative for the Redemption of CHRIST.

It is observable, that very Few applied to the blessed JESUS in the Days of his Flesh, but the Sons and Daughters of Affliction. The Levee of that PRINCE of Peace, was crouded by the Lame, the Blind, the Diseased. These, being sensible of Distress, and longing for Relief, fell as humble Supplicants at his Feet. While Others, who were firm in their Health, and gay in their Spirits, rejected Him with contemptuous Scorn.—When We perceive, “the Plague of our Heart,” and feel those worse than ulcerous Sores, which overspread our Nature; We also shall ardently seek to the LORD our Healer. When we find Ourselves subject to the

I 3 Curse

* Called therefore ἡ νόσος ἐν ἡμῖν ἀκαθάρτια, Sin that dwelleth in me, Rom. vii. 17.

† Job xl. 4.

‡ Lev. xiii. 45.

Curse of the Law, in Bondage to the Tyranny of Satan, and liable to everlasting Damnation; then the Divine PHYSICIAN, and the Divine REDEEMER will be precious indeed. — Whereas, if We remain insensible of our Misery, the Gospel, which is saving Health to the contrite Soul, will be an unaffecting Story to our Ears. We may hear it, We may read it, as an amusing Narrative; but shall not receive it, as a sovereign Remedy.

Ther. Not receive the Gospel, Aspasio! I hardly understand what You mean. I often study the Gospel; I believe it to be a divine Revelation; and endeavour to follow its Directions. — I look upon it, as containing the most refined System of Morality; as enforcing every Virtue, by the strongest Motives; and recommending all, by the most perfect Example.

Asp. To which You should add — as revealing that great MEDIATOR, who has fulfilled all Righteousness, to effect our Justification; who has also the Fulness of the SPIRIT, to accomplish our Regeneration. Otherwise, what You mention, is infinitely short of the Gospel. — It brings no glad Tidings to fallen Creatures. It administers no Succour to ruined Sinners. It is like writing a Copy for the Blind, or setting a Task to the Disabled. Which would rather be an Insult on their Impotence, than a Relief of their Distress.

The first Particular I wave at present. Only let me ask your Opinion of the last; which is a grand Doctrine, and a very distinguishing Privilege of the Gospel. I mean the Doctrine and the Privilege of spiritual Regeneration. Exclusive of which, all your Endeavours to possess Virtue and practise Morality, will be no better than Endeavours, to fly without Wings, or to run without Feet.

wil

While unimpressed with a Sense of our original Depravity, We shall probably sit down contented with some superficial Reformation, and not aspire after a Renewal of the Heart. Civility will pass for Sanctity, and a temperate Disposition for a gracious Habit.—Why is the New Birth, why are all the saving Operations of the blessed SPIRIT, disregarded by some, derided by Others? Because, these Persons are insensible of their utter Inability to all Good, and of their abject Slavery to all Evil. Therefore, they see no Reason for this divine Agency, or for that universal Change.

You also, my dear Friend, while unacquainted with your natural Corruption, cannot apprehend either the Reasonableness or the Necessity, of being renewed in the Spirit of your Mind *. But when Experience has taught You the former, You will want no Arguments to convince You of the latter.—Can Creatures, who are blind in their Understandings, discern the Things which belong to their eternal Peace?—Can Creatures, who are dead in Sin, exercise the Graces, or discharge the Duties, of a Christian Life?—Can Creatures, whose Hearts are Enmity against GOD, either delight to do his Will Here, or be meet for his beatific Presence Hereafter?

Under the Influence of such Convictions, that New Birth, which the Gospel of CHRIST promises, which the SPIRIT of GOD produces, will

I 4

* Eph. iv. 23.

will appear as necessary for your State, and be as welcome to your Soul, as these gentle Dews are necessary for the languishing Herbs, and welcome to the thirsty Soil.

Ther. The Dews, though refreshing to the Flowers, may be too chilly for our Constitutions. And see! The Star of Evening, by proclaiming the Approach of Night, has given Us a Warning to quit our Arbour.—Some other Time We must resume this Inquiry. For I am by no means satisfied, that your Theory agrees with Experience.

Asp. I fear, I have already kept You out too long. Let me just observe, as We go in — That the Doctrine, however disagreeable in itself, is conducted to an advantageous Issue. It is productive of a much more substantial Consolation, than History assigns to the great, but exiled Marius. When he fled, with his ruined Circumstances, to linger out the poor Remains of Life among the Ruins of Carthage, what was his chief Support? “Contemplating, says my Author, that famous City in the Dust, He was the less afflicted with his own Downfal*.”

We have not been put off with such cold Comforts, such negative Benefits. The Belief of original Sin has a Tendency — To make Us humble — To shew Us our Need of CHRIST — To create in Us a Hunger and Thirst after the renewing Influences

* Inopem Vitam in Tugurio Ruinarum Carthaginiensium toleravit: cum Marius aspiciens Carthaginem, illa intuens Marium, alter alteri possent esse Solutio.

DIALOGUE XI. 137

ences of his SPIRIT, and the justifying Merit of his Righteousness.—So that it must be owing to our own Perverseness, or our own Negligence, if We do not levy a Tax upon our Loss, and rise even by our Fall.

DIA-

DIALOGUE XII.

THE Sun was fiercely bright, and the Sky without a Cloud.—Not a Breath fanned the Woods; nor a Gale curled the Stream.—The Fields, exposed to all the fiery Beams, were like a glowing Hearth.—The little Birds, overcome by the potent Influence, lost for a while their tuneful Notes. Nothing was heard in the Garden, but the drowsy Hum of Bees, and the Moan-like Buz of winged Insects.—All Nature seemed to languish. The flourishing Meads looked sickly; the gayest Blossoms began to fade; the sprightliest Animals, if not reposed under some cooling Shelter, panted for Breath, and hung their drooping Heads, amidst the all-surrounding Blaze and the unsufferable Heat.

Aspasio disappeared ever since Dinner, and none could tell, whither He was gone.—Theron, as soon as the Tea-Equipage was removed, took his Way to the Wood. Desirous of the thickest Shade, He hastened to the Center. A serpentine Walk composed the Avenue; which, after several Windings, delivered Him into a large circular Area: not covered with a Grecian or Roman Temple, unmeaning Imitation of Pagan Idolatry: but surrounded with aged and princely Oaks. The Coalition of whose Branches, threw over the grassy Plat a majestic rural Dome; and their unpierced Foliage, imbrowned the Noon-tide Hours.
with

In the Midst, and elevated on a square Base, was a Statue representing the venerable Elijah—on his bended Knees—with Hands stretched out, and Eyes lifted up to Heaven. His Attitude, his Air, his every Feature, were a most lively Comment on those strong energetic Expressions of Scripture; *take hold on GOD; wrestle with the ALMIGHTY†; pour out your Hearts before Him‡.—On one Side of the Pedestal, were engraven the Priests of Baal; in frantic Emotions calling upon their senseless Deity, and gashing themselves with unavailing Wounds.—On the other was exhibited, in Basso-relievo, the adoring Tisbite's Altar; his Victim burning with Fire from the LORD, even while the Water ran from every Limb, and overflowed the Trench below.

A remote Cascade tumbled from a craggy Rock. The Stream, after having wasted its silver Foam in a winding Progress, straggled into this grand Arbour. Here, it just appeared, gliding down a gentle Slope, with a Haunting Air, and a prattling Noise. Impressed, as it were, with the unexpected Solemnity of the Scene, it seemed to check its wanton Waves, and turned aside into a more sequestered Path. As some heedless Trifler, who bolts unawares into the royal royal Presence, stands struck with Reverence and Awe, or retires with Precipitance and Confusion.

* Isa. lxiv. 7.

† Coloss. iii. 12.

‡ Psal. lxxii. 6.

The deep Gloom, shedding a Kind of Night, even while the Sun glared in the Sky—Not a Whisper stirring, among so many Millions of Leaves; and all their warbling Natives hushed in Silence—The sonorous Toll of the distant Cascade, and the tinkling Chime of the nearer Rill—The profound Adoration, and fervent Devotion, which lived in the Lineaments of the impassioned Stone—All these Circumstances rendered the Place prodigiously august and striking. Not much unlike the antient Oratories *; where holy People retired from the giddy Ring,

* It is thought by some eminent Critics, that, when our LORD continued all Night ἡ νύκτα Our, Luke vi. 12. the Phrase denotes his Continuance in an Oratory; a Place set apart for Prayer, and a devout Intercourse with GOD.

That there were Places of this Kind among the Jews, is indisputable; and that the Opinion is ingenious, cannot be denied. But I very much doubt, whether it gives Us the true Meaning of the Evangelist.—Having mentioned a Mountain, it would hardly suit his concise Manner, to be more particular with regard to the Place; neither was the Circumstance so important, as to deserve a second Mention.—I am apt to think also, that such a Place would have defeated the Design of our SAVIOUR's Retirement, which seems to have been Privacy; and that such a Title, as GOD's Place of Prayer, was wholly appropriated to the Temple.

I apprehend, We shall have a more defensible, and I am persuaded, We shall have a more exalted Sense, if We suppose the Expression to signify—the Copiousness and Pervour of our LORD's Devotion—the vast Importance, and the unequalled Success, of this his prolonged and solemn Prayer. Which could no way be more emphatically declared, than by the Addition of the Divine Name: He continued all Night in the Prayer of GOD.—See Aspasio's Remark, p. 40.

Ring, and the bustling Croud, to ennoble their Minds, with sublime Contemplation. Where, they bid a temporary Adieu to the tumultuous World, its gay Impertinence and solemn Dulness; in order to maintain a more uninterrupted Communion with that Mighty BEING, who sitteth upon the Circle of the Earth, and the Inhabitants thereof are as Grasshoppers before HIM *.

Welcome to Theron, was the shady Bower; welcome the cool Aspect, and the musical Flow of the Water; but more welcome than all, was the Sight of his Friend. Who lay reclined at the Foot of an Oak; with a Book half open in his Hand, and his Eye fixed upon the Statue.

Ther. I know not, Aspasio, whether I must make an Apology, for breaking in upon your Retirement; or call You to an Account, for depriving the Ladies of your Company at the Tea-table.

Asp. Indeed, Theron, I have been so much delighted with the Place; with the Companion in my Hand; and the noble Object before me; that I scarce observed, how the Time stole away. And I flatter myself, if You will take a Seat by my Side, and share

* Isa. xl. 22. What a noble Image is here, and what an exquisitely fine Contrast! GOD, the great GOD, sitteth on those lofty and immense Heavens, which, at an inconceivable Distance, surround this penfite Globe. From that most sublime and magnificent Throne, he looks down upon the Inhabitants of the Earth. Who—in all their Pomp and Splendor—amidst all their admired Works and boasted Acquisitions—are mean and impotent in his Sight. Mean and impotent as the poor Insects, which wander over the parched Heath for Sustenance: which spend all the Day in idle insignificant Chirpings: and, at Night, take up their contemptible Habitation on a Blade of Grass.

Share my Entertainment; You will be more inclined to excuse, than to aggravate my Fault.

Ther. Is Tully then (for I observe his Name on the Volume) your Companion? And can such a devoted Admirer of the Bible, be so highly charmed with a Heathen Classic?—St. Augustine somewhere declares, that, though passionately fond, before his Conversion, of Tully's Writings; yet, after that memorable Change, He could no longer relish those admired Compositions; because they were not sweetened, as He expresses Himself, with the mellifluous Name of JESUS.

Ass. I am far from pretending to such an exalted Pitch of Devotion, as that seraphic Father attained. I can spend a vacant Minute on the delicate Odes of Horace; and taste a refined Entertainment in Virgil's beautiful Poem. But when I hear a Sermon, or peruse a religious Treatise, which borrows neither Dignity nor Charms from that amiable and glorious Name, I own myself extremely disappointed. Without the Offices, the Merits, or the Grace of CHRIST, the Sermon and the Treatise appear as defective, as a Body that is neither adorned with the Head, nor invivified with the Heart.

Ther. I suppose then You cultivate an Acquaintance with the Grecian and Roman Authors, in order to improve your Taste, and polish your Style.

Ass. These, and I am apt to think, more considerable Advantages than these, may be derived from an occasional Application to their Works. They may serve as so many Shades, to set off, with heightened Lustre, the Beauty and Glory of the sacred Oracles.

While

While I peruse Plato's ornamented Page, or listen to Cicero's flowing Periods, I am somewhat like the Person, who amuses Himself in a Gallery of painted Flowers. He is pleased with the curious Creation of the Pencil. But, finds none of that delicious Fragrance, none of those breathing Sweets, which meet Him in the Garden, and regale his Sense from the blooming Parterre. — So, here are brilliant Sentiments, and a florid Diction; delicate Touches of Wit, and bold Strokes of Description. But, no Discovery of CHRIST JESUS—no Displays of his ineffable Love—no Overtures of Reconciliation with the blessed GOD. Nothing to yield Us solid Comfort, in our present State; or any joyful Expectations, with regard to the approaching Eternity.

Besides; when I converse with those celebrated Geniuses of Antiquity, who were at once the most erroneous, and the most judicious—the most judicious, in their Taste of polite Literature; the most erroneous, in their Apprehensions of invisible Things; they shew me, what they never intended, the inexpressible Need of Revelation. They teach me to set a higher Value on that inestimable Gift. I bless the distinguishing Goodness of Providence, which has cast my Lot*, not at Athens, but in EMMANUEL's Land. I say, with Wonder and Gratitude—“ Why did not “ my Existence commence, in those Æras of religious Dotage? Why was not my Portion confined,

* Alluding to the Story of the Philosopher, who used to bless the Gods for three Privileges.—That He was made, not a Brute, but a rational Creature.—That He was born, not in barbarous Climes, but in Greece.—That He lived, not in the more uncultivated Ages, but in the Time, and under the Tuition of Socrates.

144 DIALOGUE XII.

“ fined, to those Regions of Barbarism and Delusion? Why am not I burning Incense to Idols; “ paying senseless Adoration to sculptured Stone; or “ worshipping, with detestable Ceremonies, a Set of “ lascivious, debauched, and scandalous * Deities?” —Surely, Theron, from every Perusal of those Volumes, attended with such a Reflection, We shall see the utmost Reason to magnify the tender Mercies of our GOD; whereby the Day-spring from on high bath visited Us †, and brought Us out of Darkness into the marvelous Light of the Gospel.

Permit me to mention another Benefit, which may result from a Correspondence with those masterly Writers.—The Streams may lead Us to the inexhaustible Fountain. Lead Us to admire the only wise GOD our SAVIOUR, who has given such a shining Vein of Ingenuity to his rational Creatures. As I read their Works, and am charmed with their Beauties, I would frequently reflect—“ If “ the Essays of a finite Mind, and the Compositions of a mortal Pen, yield such high Satisfaction; “ what rapturous, what unknown Delight must arise, “ from an uninterrupted Communion with infinite “ Wisdom?

* This, I think, gives Us the most deplorable and horrid Idea of the Blindness of our fallen Nature. The Heathens, even amidst all the Politeness of their Taste, and notwithstanding their superior Advancement in the Sciences, were Haters of the true GOD, and robbed Him of his Honour: nay, what is unspeakably worse, they paid it to Monsters—Monsters of Lewdness and Treachery, Vice and Immorality. Egregious, sottish, almost incredible Stupidity! To worship those Beings, which deserved universal Abhorrence! To deify those Characters, which could never be sufficiently detested!

† Luke i. 78.

D I A L O G U E XII. 145

“ Wisdom ? To stand—not at the Feet of Homer,
 “ and attend the Flights of his elevated Imagination “ —not in the Presence of Socrates, and hear the “ Dictates of his sagacious Soul—but, to stand in “ the Courts of the LORD, and before the “ Throne of the LAMB. There to contemplate, “ without any interposing Veil, the Counsels of his “ unerring Providence ; to have the Mysteries of “ his redeeming Love, laid fully open to our View ;
 “ and receive the brightest Manifestations of all his “ amiable, his adorable, his unspeakable Attri“ butes !”

Ther. These are Advantages, truly desirable, and equally obvious. Methinks, it surprises me, that I should never so much as propose them ; and grieves me, that I should so long be deprived of them. A View to such very superior Improvements will, I hope, render my future Intercourse with those favourite Authors, still more agreeable, and abundantly more beneficial.

But let me ask, what Passage was engaging your Attention, this Afternoon ?

Asp. The great Orator's Treatise, concerning the Nature of the Divine BEING *. That Part especially, which proves his Existence and Perfections, from the Formation of the human Body.

Ther. And don't You perceive, that He is almost as deficient in the Knowledge of his Subject ; as he is mistaken in his Ideas of the Supreme CAUSE ?—The exquisite Contrivance and inimitable Workmanship of the human Frame, were, in those early Ages, but dimly discerned. It was the Infancy of Anatomy :
 when the very Professors had scarcely the Qualifica-VOL. II. K tions

* De Natura Deorum.

tions of a modern Pupil. Many of the received Notions, were childish; almost all of them, superficial.

Asp. Will my Theron then entertain me with a more accurate Description of this wonderful Structure?

Ther. How could You take occasion, Aspasia, from the Hint I dropped, to conceive any such Expectation? It is one Thing to discover, another to correct, what is amiss. Many Spectators can point out an accidental Defect in some celebrated Statue, or a small Indelicacy in some valuable Piece of Painting; who are absolutely incapable of retouching the One, or supplying the Other.

Asp. Since We are fallen upon this Point, You must give me leave to renew and urge my Request. I shall be extremely glad to hear your Remarks upon the Subject. Especially, as You have made this Branch of Science, a Part of your Amusement; and not without the Advantage of anatomical Dissections. Whereas, I have very seldom applied my Thoughts to the former, and never had an Opportunity of being present at the latter.

Let me also observe, that our very Situation favours, or rather suggests such a Topic of Conversation. All the fine Prospects of the Country are excluded. We have scarce any Thing left, but Ourselves, to contemplate. And shall this be the only Theme We neglect?

Ther. It is somewhat preposterous, I must confess: to pry into the Archives of Colleges; to ransack the Cabinets of the Virtuosi; to carry our Search through the whole Compass of external Nature; and, at the same Time, overlook the far more surprising Curiosities fities, which abound in the Composition of our own Bodies.

Since you insist upon it, my Observations, crude and extemporaneous as they are, shall submit themselves to your Judgment. Provided, You will be content to receive, only a few of the Outlines, and nothing like a finished Draught.

Asp. Let me just hint, that the more circumstantial your Account is, so much the more welcome will it be to your Friend, and so much the more honourable to our common CREATOR. For, I really think, that Galen's Declaration upon this Head is perfectly just: which I have read in my favourite Commentator Beza, and which speaks to the following Effect *.—"Such Treatises, as display the Excellencies of the great CREATOR, compose one of the noblest and most acceptable Hymns. To acquaint Ourselves with his sublime Perfections; and point out to Others his infinite Power, his unerring Wisdom, and his boundless Benignity; this is a more substantial Act of Devotion, than to slay Hecatombs of Victims at his Altar, or kindle Mountains of Spices into Incense."—Theron, after pausing a few Minutes, thus resumed the Discourse.

Ther. When some Master-builder undertakes to erect a magnificent Edifice, He begins with the less decorated, but more solid Parts. Those which are to support, or those which are to contain the rest. This Order, if You please, We will follow, in

K 2

con-

* Vid. BEZ. Annot. ad. Rom. i. 20.

148 DIALOGUE XII.

considering “the earthly House of our Tabernacle *.”

First, You have a System of Bones; cast into a Variety of Moulds; enlarged or contracted into a Variety of Sizes. All strong, that they may commodiously bear up the fleshy Machine: yet light, that they may not depress the Animal with an incumbering Load.—Bored with an internal Cavity, to contain the moistening Marrow; and perforated with exceedingly fine Ducts, to admit the nourishing Vessels.—Insensible themselves, they are covered with a Membrane † of exquisite Sensibility. Which warns them of the Approach, and secures them from the Annoyance, of any injurious Friction: and, at the same time, preserves the muscular Parts, from being fretted in their Action, by the hard and rough Substance of the Bones.—Their Figures are always most precisely fitted to their Uses. They are generally larger at the Extremities, than in the Middle; that they may be joined more firmly, and not so easily dislocated.—The Manner of their Articulation is truly

* 2 Cor. v. 1. St. Paul very pertinently compares the bodily Structure to a House. And adds, in that Strain of godly Edifying, which runs through all his Writings, our earthly and tent-like Habitation, ἐπισημασμένης οὐκίας τῆς σαρρῆς. Referring to its mean Original, as it was formed out of the Dust; and to its short Continuance, as it must soon return to Dust again. Being, though commodious as a House, yet transitory as a Tent: not like the everlasting Mountains, which stand fixed and rooted to the Center; but like those portable Tenements, which are set up in the Evening, are taken down in the Morning, and then their Place is known no more.

† The Periostrum.

truly admirable *, and remarkably various: yet never varied, without demonstrating some wise Design, and answering some valuable End. Frequently, when two are united, the one is nicely rounded, and capped with a smooth Substance; the other is scooped into a Hollow of the same Dimensions, to receive the polished Knob; and both are lubricated with an unctuous Fluid, to yield the readiest Rotation in the Socket.

The Feet compose the firmest and neatest Pedestal: infinitely beyond all that Statuary or Architecture can accomplish; capable of altering its Form, and extending its Size, as different Circumstances require. Besides performing the Office of a Pedestal, they contain a Set of the nicest Springs; which help to place the Body in a Variety of graceful Attitudes, and qualify it for a Multiplicity of advantageous Motions.—The undermost Part of the Heel, and the Extremity of the Sole, are shod with a tough, insensible, sinewy Substance. This We may call, a Kind of natural Sandal. It never wears out; never wants Repair; and always prevents that undue Compression of the Vessels, which the Weight of the Body, in walking or standing, might otherwise occasion.—The Legs and Thighs, are like substantial and stately Columns †; articulated in a such a Manner, that

* Mirabiles Commissuras habent.

C. 1. c.

† Styled therefore by the sacred Philosopher, The strong Men, Eccles. xii. 3. And compared, by the same beautiful Writer, to Pillars of Marble, Cant. v. 15.—As these are the strongest Parts of the Body, and the Support of all the other, hence, I presume, arose that proverbial Expression, which occurs in the History of Samson, שוק על-ירך Judg. xv. 8. Rendered by the Septuagint, not very exactly, αὐτῶν ἐπὶ μέσων; by our English Translators, rather too vulgarly, that they administer most commodiously to the Act of Walking, yet obstruct not the easy Posture of Sitting. The Legs swell out, towards the Top, with a genteel Projection; and are wrought off, towards the Bottom, with neat Diminutions. Which Variation lessens their Bulk, at the same Time that it increases their Beauty.

The Ribs, turned into a regular Arch, are gently moveable, for the Act of Respiration. They form a secure Lodgment for the Lungs and the Heart: which, being some of the most distinguished and important Organs of Life, have their Residence fortified by this strong semicircular Rampart *.—The Backbone is intended, not only to strengthen the Body, and sustain its most capacious Store-rooms; but also to bring down that Communication of the Brain, which is usually termed the spinal Marrow. As an open Channel, it conveys, as a well-closed Case, it guards this vital Silver †; and, by several commodious Outlets, transmits the animating Treasure vulgarly, Hip and Thigh. I believe, the Word שׁוֹן signifies Here, as it certainly signifies in many other Places, what the Latins call Armus. And that the Image is taken from some robust and fierce Animal, whose Shoulders before, and whose Thighs behind, are broken in pieces. Then, what Mischief can He do? What Resistance can He make? He is utterly disabled. So that the Expression seems to denote, (and might perhaps, without Violence to the Original, be translated) A total Overthrow.

* Thou hast fenced me, secured my inward and vital Parts, with Bones and Sinews, Job x. 11.—Crates Pectoris, is Virgil's Expression.

† This is supposed to be the Part, which Solomon describes by The silver Cord: and is indeed like a Cord, on Account of its Shape; like Silver, on Account of its Colour, Ecclef. xii. 6.

ture into all the inferior Parts. Had it only been large, strait, and hollow, it might have served these several Purposes. But then the Loins must have been inflexible, and every Man impaled (not by the Executioner, but by Nature) on a Stake co-eval with his Existence. To avoid which, it consists of very short Bones, closely knit together by intervening Cartilages. This Peculiarity of Structure prevents Dislocation; and gives the main Pillar of our Frame the Pliancy of an Osier, even while it retains the Firmness of an Oak.—By this means, it is a Kind of continued Joint; capable of various Inflections, without bruising the soft medullary Substance, which fills its Cavity; without intercepting the nervous Fluid, which is to be detached from this grand Reservoir; or diminishing that Strength, which is necessary to support all the upper Stories.—A Formation so very peculiar in any other of the Solids, must have been attended with great Inconveniencies. Here, it is unspeakably serviceable. Is, both for Workmanship and Situation, a Master-piece of creating Skill, never enough to be admired.

The Arms, pendent on either Side, are exactly proportioned to each other; that the Equilibrium of the Structure may not be disconcerted. These, being the Guards which defend*, and the Ministers which serve the whole Body, are fitted for the most diversified and extensive Operations. Firm with Bone, yet not weighty with Flesh; and capable of performing, with singular Expedition and Ease, all Manner of useful Motions. They bend inwards, and turn out-

K 4

* Called, in Solomon's figurative but elegant Sketch of Anatomy, The Keepers of the House, Eccles. xii. 3.

outwards ; they rise upwards, and stoop downwards ; they wheel about, and throw themselves into whatever Direction We please.—To these are annexed the Hands ; and all terminated by the Fingers. Which are, not like the Arms, of the same Length, and of an equal Bigness ; but in both Respects different. Which gives them a more graceful Appearance, and a much greater Degree of Usefulness. Were they all Flesh, they would be comparatively impotent : were they one intire Bone, they would be utterly inflexible. But consisting of various little Bones, and a Multitude of Muscles, what Shape can they not assume ? What Service can they not perform ?—Being placed at the End of the Arm, the Sphere of their Action is exceedingly enlarged. This advantageous Situation realizes the Fable of Briareus ; and renders a Pair of Hands, as serviceable as an Hundred.—The Extremities of the Fingers, are an Assemblage of fine tendonous Fibres, most acutely sensible *. Which, notwithstanding the Delicacy of their Texture, are destined to almost incessant Employ, and frequently exercised among rugged Objects. For this Reason, they are overlaid with the Nails,

* So very acute is the Sensibility of these Parts, that, I am informed, it furnishes the Tribunal of Inquisition, with one of the most refined Expedients in the Art of Torture. A strong Quill, sharpened by the Pen-knife, and dipped in some inflammable Liquor, is thrust deep between the Nail and the Finger. When the Quill has cut its Way through the shivering Nerves ; and stands planted, like a Dagger, amidst the gushing Blood ; some barbarous Hand sets Fire to the Extremity. The keen Point, the slow Flame, and both in the Seat of the most lively Sensation, put the miserable Sufferer to the most excruciating Pain.

Nails, a Sort of horny Expansion : which, like a Ferule, hinders the Flesh from being ungracefully flattened ; and, like a Sheath *, preserves the tender Parts from injurious Impressions.

In the Ministry of the Hands, and Activity of the Fingers, We possess a Case of the finest Instruments, or a Collection of the noblest Utensils. Qualifying Us for the Execution of every Work, which the projecting Genius can devise, or the lavish Fancy crave.—To these We are obliged for the beautiful Statues, which have often entertained our Eyes, in yonder solitary Walks ; and even for that melodious Trumpet, which now addresses our Ears, from the Summer-house on the Fish-pond.—These raise the lofty Column, and turn the spacious Arch. These swell the majestic Dome, and adjust the commodious Apartment. Architecture, with all her striking Beauties, and all her rich Benefits, are the Creation of the human Hand.—Yielding to the Strength of the Hand, the tallest Firs fall to the Ground, and the largest Oaks descend from the Mountains. Fashioned by the Dexterity of the Hand, they accommodate the Sailor with a floating Warehouse ; and circulate, from Britain to Japan, the Productions of Nature, and the Improvements of Art.—Obedient to the human Hand, Metals ascend from their subterranean Beds ; and compose the most substantial Parts of that curious Machine †, which transmits far and near, to the Monarch's Palace, and to the Peasant's Hut, such Treasures of Wisdom and Knowledge, as the Gold and Crystal cannot equal ‡.

Among

* Digitis Munimina.

† The Printing-press.

‡ Job xxviii. 17.

Among the Egyptians, the Hand was the Symbol of Strength: among the Romans, it was an Emblem of Fidelity: and I think, it may, among all Nations, be looked upon as the Ensign of Authority. It is the original and the universal Sceptre; that which not only represents, but ascertains our Dominion, over all the Elements, and over every Creature.—Though Providence has not given Us the Strength of the Horse, the Swiftneſs of the Greyhound, or the ſagacious Scent of the Spaniel; yet, directed by the Underſtanding, and enabled by the Hand, We can ſubject them to our Will; turn them to our Advantage; and, in this Senſe, make them all our own.—Theſe Hands (ſurpriſing to relate!) theſe ſhort Hands have ſound out a Way, whereby they can dive to the Bottom of the Ocean; can penetrate the Bowels of the Earth; and reach from Shore to Shore. Theſe feeble Hands can manage the Wings of the Wind; can arm themſelves with the Rage of the Fire; and preſs into their Service the forcible Impetuouſity of the Waters.—How eminent is the Dignity! How extenſive the Agency of the Hand! It would require more Eloquence, than your Orator poſſeſſed, to diſplay the former; and more Pages, than your Book contains, to deſcribe the latter.—How greatly then are We indebted to our indulgent CREATOR, for accommodating Us with this noble, this diſtinguiſhing, this invaluable Member!

Above all, is the Head; a majeſtic Dome, deſigned for the Reſidence of the Brain. It is framed in exact Conformity to this important Purpoſe; ample, to receive it; ſtrong, to uphold it; and firm, to defend it.—As the Head reſembles the General's Tent in an Army, or the Monarch's Palace in a City; it has a Communication established with all, even the most inferior and remote, Parts of the System. Has Outlets and Avenues, for the ready Dispatch of Couriers to all Quarters; and for the Reception of speedy Intelligence, on every interesting Occasion. It is furnished with Lodgments, wherein to post Centinels of various Characters, and appointed for various Offices.—To expedite their Operations; whether they are employed in reconnoitring what passes without, or examining what claims Admittance within; the whole turns upon a curious Pivot, most nicely contrived, to afford the largest and freest Circumvolutions.

has

This stately Capital, is screened from Heat; defended from Cold; and at the same time very much beautified, by a copious Growth of Hair. Which flows down from the parted Forelock in decent Curls; and hangs, mantling on the Cheeks, clustering on the Shoulders.—A Decoration *, incomparably more delicate,

* Absalom's Hair was reckoned a distinguishing Part of his Beauty, 2 Sam. xiv. 26.—The Amiability of the Church, in the exemplary Conversation of true Believers, is displayed by the same Ornament. Thy Hair is as a Flock of Goats, that are seen afar off, and appear in a pendent Attitude from the Summit of Mount Gilead; most agreeably adorning the Place, and detaining the Spectator's Eye. Cant. iv. 1. I prefer the Exposition of Arias Montanus, שגלשו quæ pendent, quæ prominent. As it takes in a Circumstance, which corresponds with the penfile Position of the Hair; renders the Comparison more full and exact; and is, according to the Observation of a most accurate Judge, one of the chief Remarkables in such a Prospect;

Non Ego vos posthac, viridi projectus in Antro, Dumosa pendere procul de Rupe videbo.

VIRG.

156 DIALOGUE XII.

licate, than any or all the Orders of Architecture can supply; and so perfectly light, that it no way incumbers or incommodes the Wearer.

While many Animals creep on the Ground: while all of them are prone in their Posture, or their Aspect: the Attitude of Man is erect.—Which is by far the most graceful; has an Air of Dignity, and bespeaks Superiority.—It is by far the most commodious; fits Us for the Prosecution of every grand Scheme, and facilitates the Success of all our extensive Designs.—It is likewise attended with the greatest Safety; being, if not less than any other Position exposed to Dangers, yet more happily contrived to repel or avoid them.

Asp. May it not likewise be intended, to remind Us of our exalted Original, and our sublime End? Our Original, which was the Breath of the ALMIGHTY, and the Spirit of the MOST HIGH. Our End, which is, not the Soil We tread on, or any of its low Productions, but the Heaven of Heavens, and the Things that are above.

But not to divert from our Subject; which, in my Friend's Manner of handling it, is as entertaining, as it is instructive.—The Bones (to carry on your own Allusion) are only the Rafters, the Beams, the Shell of the living Edifice. You have raised the Walls, and laid the Floors; You have made the proper Divisions, and left the necessary Apertures. But, in every finished House, the Roof is covered, and the Rooms are wainscoted. The Sashes are hung, and the Doors turn upon their Hinges. The Grates are fixed, and the Stairs ascend. Within, the Lodgings are furnished; without, the Front is ornamented.

AN

DIALOGUE XII. 157

All is rendered commodious for domestic Use, and graceful to the external View.

Ther. This likewise is executed by the great, the Divine ARTIFICER.—Here are Ligaments; a tough and strong Arrangement of Fibres; to unite the several Limbs; and render, what would otherwise be a disjointed unwieldy Jumble, a well-compacted and self-manageable System.—Membranes; or thin and flexile Tunics; appointed to inwrap the fleshy Parts; to form a Connection between some, and make a Separation between others *.

Arteries, the Rivers of our little World †, or the Aqueducts of the organized Metropolis. Some of which ascend to the Head: others spread themselves over the Shoulders: some extend to the Arms: some descend to the Feet: and striking out, as they go, into numberless smaller Canals, visit the Streets, the Alleys, and every individual Apartment of the vital City.—These, being wide at their Origin, and lessening as they branch themselves, check the rapid Impetus of the Blood. To sustain this Shock, they are endued with uncommon Strength: by performing this Service, they oblige the crimson Current to pass into the narrowest Defiles, and distribute itself into all Quarters.—The Blood, thrown from the Heart, dilates the Arteries, and their own elastic Force contracts them. By which means, they vibrate, in proper

* The Intestines are fastened to each other by the Mesentery. The Breast is divided into two Cavities by the Mediastinum. Both which are reckoned among the Membranes.

† A human Body was called by the Antients, The Microcosm; that is, a little World, or the World in Miniature.

per Places, very perceivably against the Finger; bring Advices of the utmost Importance to the Physician; and very much assist Him, both in discovering the Nature of Diseases, and prescribing for their respective Cures. — The larger Arteries, where-ever the Body is formed for Incurvation, are situate on the bending Side: left, being stretched to an improper Length by the Inflection, their Dimensions should be lessened, and the circulating Fluid retarded. — They are not, like several of the considerable Veins, laid so near the Surface, as to be protrusive of the Skin; but are deposited to a proper Depth in the Flesh. This Situation renders them more secure from external Injuries. It conceals likewise those Starts and Resilitions of the Pulse, which, if apparent, would discompose the most sedate, and disfigure the most comely Countenance. — Could We cast our Eye upon the River, which runs through the neighbouring Meadow, We might observe several Mills intersecting the Stream. The Waters at those Places, if not intirely stopped, drain away very slowly. In consequence of this Obstruction, the lower Channels would be sunk dry, and the upper Ones swelled into a Flood. To obviate both these Inconveniencies, Low-shots are provided: which, carrying off the Surcharge, prevent a Glut above, and supply the Banks below. In those Parts of the Body, which are most liable to Pressure, much the same Expedient takes place. The Arteries inofculate; or, breaking into a new Track, they fetch a little Circuit, in order to return and communicate again with the main Road. So that, if any Obstacle blocks up or straitens the direct Passage; the Current, by diverting to this new Channel, eludes eludes the Impediment ; maintains an uninterrupted Flow ; and soon regains its wonted Course.

Veins are appointed to receive the Blood from the Arteries, and reconvey it to the Heart.—Small at their Rise, and enlarging as they advance, they are void of any Pulsation. In these, the Pressure of the circulating Fluid, is not near so forcible as in the arterial Tubes : for which Reason, their Texture is considerably flighter. Such an exact Oeconomist is Nature, even amidst all her Liberality * !—In many of these Canals, the Current, though widening continually, and acquiring a proportionable Increase of Gravity, is obliged to push its Way against the Perpendicular. By which Circumstance, it is exposed to the Hazard of falling back, and overloading the Vessels ; if not of suppressing the animal Motion. For a Security against this Danger, Valves are interposed at proper Distances. Which are no Hindrance to the regular Passage, but prevent the Reflux ; sustain the augmented Weight ; and facilitate a Progress to the grand Receptacle. This auxiliary Contrivance comes in, where the Blood is constrained to climb ; but is dismissed where the steep Ascent ceases, and such a Precaution would be needless.

Here are Glands, whose Office it is, to filtrate the passing Fluid. Each of these Glands is an Assemblage of Vessels, complicated and intervolved, with seeming Confusion, but with perfect Regularity. As some kind of Sieves transmit the Dust, and retain the Corn ;

* A parallel Instance of Frugality is observable in the Arteries. Whose Coats are spun thinner, as the Diameter of the Vessels becomes smaller, and the Pressure of the Blood weaker.

Corn; others bolt out the Meal, and hold back the Bran; so, some of these glandulous Strainers draw off the finest, others the grossest Parts of the Blood. Some, like the Distiller's Alembic, sublimate *; others, like the common Sewers, defæcate †. Each forms a Secretion, far more curious than the most admired Operations of Chemistry; yet all, necessary for the Support of Life, or conducive to the Comfort of the Animal.—Muscles, wove in Nature's nicest Loom; composed of the slenderest Fibres, yet endued with incredible Strength; fashioned after a Variety of Patterns, but all in the highest Taste for Elegance, Convenience, and Usefulness.—These, with their Tendons annexed, constitute the Instruments of Motion. The former, contracting their Substance, operate somewhat like the Pulley in Mechanics. The latter, resembling the Cord, are fastened to a Bone, or some Partition of Flesh; and, following the muscular Contraction, actuate the Part into which they are inserted. This, and all their Functions they execute, not like a sluggish Beast of Burden, but quick as the Lightning.—Nerves, surprisingly minute Tubes; derived from the Brain, and permeated by an exquisitely subtle Fluid. Which, gliding into the Muscles, sets them on work; diffuses the Power of Sensation through the Body; or, returning upon any Impression

* The glandulous Substance of the Brain; which secretes the animal Spirits.

† The Liver and Kidneys. The former of which separates the Gall; the latter drains off a Fluid, which, being sufficiently known, need not be named. I could wish, it had not been so explicitly and coarsely mentioned, in our Translation of the best of Books. But that We had rendered the Original, in 1 Kings xiv. 10. Every Male; in Isa. xxxvi. 12. Eat and drink their own Excrements.

sion from without, gives all needful Intelligence to the Soul.—Vesicles, distended with an unctuous Matter; in some Places, compose a soft Cushion * for Nature; in other Places, they fill up her Vacuities, and smooth the Inequalities of the Flesh. Inwardly, they supple the several Movements of the active Machine. Outwardly, they render its Appearance plump, well proportioned, and graceful.

The Skin, like a curious Surtout †, exactly fitted, is superinduced over the whole. Formed of the most delicate Net-work; whose Meshes ‡ are minute, and whose Threads ¶ are multiplied, even to a Prodigy.—
The

* The Calf of the Leg, for instance. Whose large Collection of Muscles, intermingled with Fat, is of singular Service to those important Bones. It flanks and fortifies them, like a strong Bastion. It supports and cherishes them, like a soft Pillow. And what is no less pleasing to observe, it accommodates and defends them on that very Side, where they most frequently rest their Weight, and where they are least capable of being guarded by the Eye.

† Thou hast clothed me with Skin and Flesh, Job x. 11.
—The Word Surtout is used according to the French Etymology; signifies a Garment, coming over the whole Body; and is most beautifully expressed by our LORD's μεινωσις. Matt. vi. 30.

‡ The Pores of the Cuticula.

¶ The nervous Fibres, and other Vessels of the Cutis.
—Nature is somewhat like Solomon's virtuous Woman. Who is not afraid of the Snow for her Household, because her Household are clothed in Scarlet: or, as it may be rendered, are clothed with Pairs, have two Coats a-piece, Prov. xxxi. 21. (See Gen. vi. 19, 20. where the Word שני occurs in this Signification.)—The Body also is accommodated with a double Covering. The outermost is that soft whitish Tegument, which rises in the Pustule of a blister. The innermost is that reddish and exquisitely tender

The Meshes so minute, that nothing passes them, which is discernable by the Eye; though they discharge, every Moment, Myriads and Myriads of superfluous Incumbrances from the Body. The Steam, arising from the warm Business transacted within, is carried off by these real, though imperceptible Funnel^s *. Which constitutes, what We usually call insensible Perspiration.—The Threads so multiplied, that neither the Point of the smallest Needle, nor the incomparably nicer Spear of a Gnat, nor even the invisible Lancet of a Flea, can pierce any single Part, without causing an uneasy Sensation and a Suffusion of Blood: consequently, without wounding, even by so small a Puncture, both a Nerve and a Vein †.

The

tender Part, which appears when the Blister is broke, and the dead Skin taken off.—The first is void of Sense, and intended to screen the second, not only from the Stroke of Injuries, but even from the Impressions of the Air: which, mild as it may feel to the sheathed, would be too rough and sharp for the naked Nerves.

There seems to be an Allusion to this Particular, in that remarkable Expression, Skin for Skin, עֵר בְּעֵר עוֹר Job ii. 4. Skin even unto Skin; the very inmost Skin, which cannot be taken away, without the greatest Loss, and severest Pain. Yet, even this Loss a Man would suffer, this Pain He would endure, in order to preserve precious Life.

* These are somewhere prettily styled, cutaneous Chimneys; and no Wonder they are imperceptible, if, as Mr. Lewenhoeck affirms, a single Grain of Sand will cover no less than 125,000.

† A Blood-Vessel at least. Compared with these Vessels, the fine filmy Threads, which, on some bright autumnal Morning, float in the Air, or hang on the Stubble, must be large as a Bell-rope, or bulky as a Cable.—Such Tubes, One would think, should burst at every Breath We draw, or even break with their own Fineness.

Yet,

DIALOGUE XII. 163

The Veins, either pervading, or lying parallel with, this fine transparent Coat, beautify the human Structure; those Parts especially, which are most conspicuous, and intended for public View. The pliant Wrist, and the taper Arm, they variegate with an Inlay of living Sapphire. They spread Vermilion over the Lips *, and plant Roses in the Cheeks. While the Eye, tinged with glossy Jet, or sparkling with the Blue of Heaven, is fixed in an Orb of polished Crystal. Insomuch that the earthly Tabernacle exhibits the nicest Proportions, and richest Graces. Such nice Proportions, as afford the most correct Model for Statuary: such rich Graces, as the Canvass never bore, as Painting imitates in vain.

App. How just in itself, and how pertinent to our Purpose, is that well-known Acknowledgment of the sacred and royal Anatomist; “I am curiously wrought †!”
 “There is a Variety, a Regularity, and an Elegance, in the Texture of my Body; in the Formation and Arrangement of these Bones and Muscles, these Veins and Arteries;—resembling, L 2 “shall

Yet, they are the Conduit-pipes, which convey the vital Fluid from and to the grand Reservoir. And so exquisite, so admirable is their Texture, that they will out-last the Strength of Lead, or the Heart of Oak: these wearing away, those growing stronger, by Use.

* Thy Lips are like a Thread of Scarlet, Cant. iv. 3. Like a Thread, for their delicate Shape; like a Thread of Scarlet, for their glowing Colour.

† The Original רִקְמָתָא signifies finely wrought, or elegantly flourished with a Needle.—The Translation adopted by our Liturgy is, in this Place, flat and inexpressive. The English Word fashioned, has just the same Inferiority to the beautiful Hebrew Phrase; as the Badge, tacked upon some poor Pensioner's Coat, has to the Star embroidered on a Nobleman's Breast. Psal. cxxxix. 14.

164 DIALOGUE XII.

“ shall I say?—rather, infinitely surpassing, the most costly and admired Pieces of Embroidery.”

It is one of the finest Similitudes, which the whole Circle of polite Arts could afford. Yet every Comparison, fetched from the Performances of Mankind, must necessarily debase the noble Subject. All the Enrichments, which the Needle can give, or the most splendid Silks receive, are rude, are coarse, are mere Sack-cloth, when set in opposition to the exquisite Delicacy of the fleshy Web. As indeed all the celebrated Palaces, Amphitheatres, Temples, which ever adorned the most magnificent Cities in the World, are but a Heap of Confusion, if compared with the Symmetry and Beauty of the bodily Fabric.—And, what is beyond measure marvelous, all these Wonders of Mechanism and Decoration arose—not from the purer Elements—not from the more refined Parts of the Creation—but from the Dust of the Ground*. How easily, Theron, can that stupendous ARTIFICER renew our Hearts, and transform our Souls into his own Image; who could raise such delicate and stately Edifices, from Particles—despicable Particles of the trodden Soil!

I could not forbear interposing this Remark. Because, it tends to manifest our CREATOR's Glory, to encourage our Hopes, and strengthen our Faith. Otherwise, I should be angry with myself, for interrupting your Discourse.—Pray, go on with your Description of the animal Oeconomy. Only let me observe, That such a Course of incessant Action, must exhaust the Fluids; must waste the Solids; lids; and, unless both are supplied with proper Recruits, must gradually weaken, and at length totally destroy, the Machine.

* The LORD GOD formed Man of the Dust of the Ground, Gen. ii. 7.

Ther. For this Reason, it is furnished with the Organs, and endued with the Powers of Nutrition.—Teeth; the foremost, thin and sharp; fitted to bite asunder the Food, or cut * off such a Portion, as the Mouth can conveniently manage. The hindermost, broad and strong; indented, like the Surface of a Mill-stone †, with small Cavities, and jagged with little Asperities. Which qualify them to grind in pieces, whatever is transmitted to their Operation.—Were the Teeth, like our other Bones, covered with the usual Membrane, the Act of Chewing would always occasion great Uneasiness; and, when any hard Substance is eaten, might even lacerate the tender Tegument. Were they left without any Sort of Covering; they would suffer from the Inclemencies of the Air, and be liable to the Penetration of Liquors. In which Case, they must soon become soft and unfit for Service, or be corrupted, and entirely perish. To guard against these Disadvantages, they are curiously glazed, or overlaid with a neat Enamel; as white as Ivory, and harder than the Bone itself.

L 3

* Called therefore, Incisivi.

† Styled accordingly, Molares.—We find neither of these Kinds in the new-born Babe. As Milk is, for a considerable Time, its appointed Food, Teeth would be of no Service to the Infant itself. As it is to press the tender Nipple for this milky Sustenance, Teeth would be painful and prejudicial to the Nurse. Therefore Nature has postponed the Formation of these fine Implements, till they become both necessary and beneficial.

itself. Which renders them an Ornament to the Mouth *; secures them from various Injuries; and exempts them from Pain in the Office of Mastication.

As the Rims and Cushions of a Billiard-Table, keep the Ball from flying off; and send it back into the green Area, for repeated Essays of Skill; so the Lips prevent the Food from slipping out of the Mouth; and, assisted by the Tongue, return it to the renewed Attrition of the Grinders.—While the Lips, in Concert with the Cheeks, are employed in this Work, their Motion compresses the circumjacent Glands; and, from innumerable little Orifices, a thin pellucid Liquor exsudes. Which moistens the attenuated Food, and prepares it for more easy Digestion.—When the Mouth remains inactive, these Fountains of Spittle are, in a manner, closed. But, when it is exercised, either in speaking or eating, their Moisture then being peculiarly necessary, they never fail to give out a sufficient Quantity.

When the Soldier charges his Carbine, the Cart-ridge could not make its way to the Bottom, with-

* This ornamental Furniture of the Mouth, is, in the grand oriental Manner, described by Solomon. Thy Teeth are like a Flock of Sheep, that are even shorn, which come up from the Washing, Cant. iv. 2. Growing, not single, like the Nose; not in Pairs, like the Eyes; but in Rows considerably numerous, like a Flock.—None rising higher than the other; none standing unduly prominent beyond another; but all set as true, as if they were ranged by the Compass; and making as regular an Appearance, as the Flocks that are even shorn.—They are clean also as the Fleeces which have no Spot, and white as the Colour of the purest Wool, like the Flocks just come up from the Washing.

without the Protrusion of the Rammer *. Neither would the Food, which We receive at the Mouth, descend, by the Force of its own Weight, through a narrow and clammy Channel, into the Stomach. To effectuate therefore, and expedite its Passage, Muscles, both strait and circular, are provided. The former, enlarge the Cavity of the Throat, and afford a more easy Admittance; the latter, closing behind the descending Aliment, press it downwards, and finish the Deglutition.—Before the Food enters the Gullet, it must of necessity pass over the Orifice of the Wind-pipe; consequently, must be in very imminent Danger of falling upon the Lungs. Which would, if not intirely obstruct the Breath, yet occasion violent

L 4

Cough-

* This, and the other Similitudes, are undoubtedly too mean for the noble Occasion. Neither do they, in every Circumstance, quadrate with the Functions described. The Motion of the Muscles, which minister to the Act of Deglutition, is different from the perpendicular Protrusion of the Rammer. And it is mentioned, only to demonstrate the Necessity of some propelling Force, in order to convey the Aliment into the proper Receptacle.

When We descant upon a Subject, of such extensive Contrivance, and such finished Perfection, as the human Structure; it is scarce possible to find Similitudes, that will correspond in all Particulars, or that can rise to the Dignity of the Original. Yet if they tend, in any tolerable Degree, to explain its Formation, to display its Uses, and render its wonderful Oeconomy somewhat more intelligible, perhaps they may be allowed to take place.

I hope, it will be remembered, that Theron speaks, not as an Adept in the Science, but as One whose highest Pretensions are, to admire the Work, and adore the ARTIFICER. Which Acknowledgment may intitle Him to some candid Indulgence, in case He should offend against the precise anatomical Exactness, either of Sentiment, or Expression.

Coughing *, and great Inconveniencies. To obviate this Evil, the all-foreseeing CONTRIVER has placed a moveable Lid, or hung a cartilaginous Draw-bridge †. Which, when any the smallest Particle of Food advances to enter the Stomach, is pulled down and shut close; but, the very Moment the Morfel is swallowed, it is set loose and stands open. By this two-fold Artifice, the important Passage is always barred and made sure, against any noxious Approaches; yet, is always left free for the necessary Accession of Air, and commodious for the Purposes of Respiration.

When the Malster prepares his Grain for the Transmutations of the Brewhouse; He suffers it to lie, several Hours, steeping in the Cistern; before it is fit, to be spread upon the Floor, or dried on the Kilm. The Meat and Drink likewise must remain, a considerable Time, in the Stomach; before they are of a proper Consistence and Temperature, either for the tender Coats, or the delicate Operation of the Bowels. For which Purpose, that great Receiver is made—strong to bear—capacious to hold—and so curiously contrived, as to lay a temporary Embargo ‡ upon its Contents. Here, they are lodged in the very Center of Warmth, and concocted by the most kindly Combination of Heat and Humidity. Here, they are saturated with other fermenting or diluting Juices;

* This is what We experience, when, in eating or drinking, any Thing goes (as is commonly, and not improperly said) the wrong Way.

† Called the Epiglottis.

‡ Which is quite contrary to the Oeconomy of the Gullet; though they are not only contiguous to each other, but a Continuation of the same Tube.

Juices; and are kneaded, as it were, by the Motion of the Stomach, and Compression of the neighbouring Parts. So that every the minutest Fragment is separated; the Whole is reduced to a Tenuity, abundantly finer than the exactest Grinding could effect; and all is worked up into the smoothest, most nicely mixed Pulp imaginable.—From hence it is dislodged, by a gently acting Force; and passes, by a gradual Transition, into the Cavity of the Intestines.

Near the Entrance, punctual as a Porter in his Lodge, waits the Gall-bladder *; ready to transfuse its acrimonious, but salutary Juices, on the advancing Aliment. Which dissolve its remaining Viscidities; scour the Passage of the Intestines; and keep all its fine Apertures clear.—This Bag, as the Stomach fills, is elevated by the Distention; as the Stomach empties, is proportionably depressed. The former Posture brings on a Discharge, the latter occasions a Suppression, of the Bile. It is furnished also with a Valve, of a very peculiar, but most convenient Form †; through which the deterfive Liquid, cannot hastily pour, but must gently ooze.—Admirable Construction! Which, without any Care or Consciousness of ours, prohibits an immoderate Effusion, yet ascertains the needful Supply.

Sufficiently charged with this adventitious Fluid, the nutritive Mass pursues its Way through the Intestines. Whose wonderful Meanders, are incomparably more curious, than the Mazes of the Dædalean Labyrinth. They are actuated with a worm-like or undulatory

* The Gall-bladder is situate upon the lower Margin of the Liver; and to secrete the bilious Juice, is supposed to be the principal Use of that largest of Glands.

† A spiral Form.

undulatory Motion *: which protrudes the received Aliment, and forces its fine milky Particles into the Lacteal Vessels. These are a Series of the most delicate Strainers; ranged, in countless Multitudes, all along the Sides of the winding Passage. Each so nicely framed, as to admit the nutrimental balmy Juices, and reject the gross excrementitious Dregs.—Had the Intestines been strait and short, the Food might have gone through them, without resigning a sufficient Quantity of its nourishing Particles. Therefore, this grandest of all the vital Ducts, is artfully convolved, and greatly extended; to afford Nature an Opportunity, of sifting more thoroughly whatever passes, and of detaining whatever may serve her Purposes.—Lest such Lengths of Entrails, should be intangled among themselves, or be cumbrous to the Wearer, they are packed into the neatest Folds, and lie within a narrow Compass. They are at least six Times longer †, than the Body which contains them. Yet are they lodged, not crowded; in a Part, not in the whole Region, of the lower Belly. And amidst this small Space, have sufficient Room to execute the nicest and most important Functions.—Though the alimentary Substance can never mistake its Way; yet it may, through some accidental Impediment, attempt to return backward. In this Case, a Valve intervenes; and renders, what would be extremely pernicious, almost always impracticable.—As the Whole proceeds in this serpentine Course, it is perpetually send-

* Styled vermicular or peristaltic.

† According to this Calculation, they must measure, in a pretty tall Man, more than thirty-six Feet.—The Substance of the Bowels, though thin to a Delicacy, is strong to a Wonder. The Skin of an Ox Gut, I am told, will endure the Blows of the Gold-beater's Hammer, for many Months, nay for several Years.

sending off Detachments of nutritious Juices. In consequence of which, it would lose its soft Temperature; might become rugged, and pain the tender Parts; perhaps, be hindered from sliding on to its final Exit. To prevent such an Obstruction, Glands are posted in proper Places *, and discharge a lubricating Fluid; which aids the Progress of the Mass, and renews the Secretion of the Chyle. Till all that remains of the One, is clean drawn off; and the Other—But here You must excuse me; and for my Neglect of farther Particularity, your Author shall make an Apology; Quemadmodum autem Reliquiæ Cibi depellantur, tum astringentibus se Intestinis, tum relaxantibus, haud sane difficile dictu est: sed tamen prætereundum est, ne quid habeat Injucunditatis Oratio †.

The Chyle, drawn off by all the secretory Orifices, is carried along Millions of the finest ‡ Ducts, and lodged

* In the Bowels, which lie nearest the Stomach, these Glands are smaller or fewer: because, in those Parts, the Aliment is copiously furnished with Moisture. Whereas, in the Bowels, which are more remote from the Stomach, and receive the Food drained of a considerable Quantity of its Chyle, the lubricating Glands are either multiplied or enlarged. A most admirable Provision! Apparently diversified, according to the several Changes of the Aliment; yet exactly adapted to the Exigencies of the Animal.

† CICERO De Nat. Deor.—As Theron avoids meddling with a Subject, which is become useless and putrescent, I think myself obliged to imitate his Delicacy. Only I would add one Remark in the Notes, and shall beg leave to express it in Greek. That if it should prove, in any degree, disgusting; it may have, at least, the negative Merit, not to offend many Readers. Επει δε τα αποχωρῶντα δυσχερῆ, ἀπέσχετο τῆς τε τῶν οὐλῆς ἡ φύσις, καὶ ἀπηρέσκει ἡ δύναμις προσώλαιν ἀπο τῶν αἰδησέων. SOCRAT. Memorab.

‡ Fine indeed! Since their Orifices, through which they lodged in several commodious Cells *. As a Traveler, by baiting upon the Road, and taking proper Refreshment, is better qualified to pursue his Journey: so the Chyle, diverting to those little Inns, is mixed with a thin, diluting, watery Substance; which renders it more apt to flow, and more fit for Use.— From hence it is conveyed to one common Receptacle †, and mounts through a perpendicular Tube. When Provision or Ammunition is transmitted to an Army, it generally passes under an Escort of able Troops. As this is the immediate Support, and principal Nourishment of the whole System, its Conveyance is guarded and ascertained with peculiar Caution. The perpendicular Tube, not having sufficient Force of its own, is laid contiguous to the great Artery; whose strong Pulsation drives on the creeping Fluid; enables it to overcome the steep Ascent, and unload its precious Treasure at the very Door of the Heart.— Here, it enters the Trunk of a large Vein, most conveniently opened for its Reception. It enters in a slanting or oblique Direction. By this Method of Approach, it avoids thwarting, and coincides with the purple Stream; which, instead of obstructing its Admission, expedites its Passage; and, instead of being a Bar to exclude it, becomes a Vehicle to waft it.— Its Entrance is farther secured by a Valve, admirably con-

they admit the Chyle, are not discoverable even by the very best Microscopes. To this prodigiously nice Construction it is owing, that nothing enters the Substance of the Blood, but what is smaller than the smallest Arteries in the System: and thereby fitted to pass through the finest capillary Vessels, without causing any Obstruction.

* The Glands of the Mesentery.

† The Receptaculum Chyli; a Reservoir, placed near the left Kidney.

constructed, and most happily situate. Which shuts the Aperture against the reflux Blood, in case it should offer to obtrude itself; but opens a free, safe, and easy Avenue, to introduce this Milk, this Manna of Nature.

The Blood, through every Stage of its ample Circuit, having sustained great Expences; being laid under Contribution, by every Gland in the whole System; and having supplied Myriads of the capillary Vessels, with Matter for insensible Perspiration; must be very much impoverished. But is most opportunely recruited, by this Accession of Chyle.—Yet though recruited, it is not refined. In its present crude State, it is absolutely unqualified to perform the vital Tour, or carry on the animal Functions. Therefore, by a grand Apparatus of muscular Fibres, it is wasted into the Lungs; and pours a thousand, thousand Rills into either Lobe.—In the Cells, the spongy Cells of this amazing Laboratory, it imbibes the Influences of the external Air; its heterogeneous Parts are thoroughly incorporated; and its whole Substance is made cool, smooth, and florid.—Thus improved, thus exalted, it is transmitted to the left Ventricle of the HEART; a strong, active, indefatigable * Muscle; placed in the very Center of the System. Impelled by this beating Engine, Part shoots upward; and sweeps, with a bounding Impetus, into the Head.

There,

* Indefatigable—This is a very distinguishing, and no less amazing Property of the Heart. The large Muscles of the Arm, or the much larger of the Thigh, are soon wearied. A Day's Labour, or a Day's Journey, will exhaust their Strength. But the Muscle, which constitutes the Heart, works through whole Weeks, whole Months, whole Years, and never becomes weary. Is equally a Stranger to Intermission and Fatigue.

There, it impregnates the prolific Fields of the Brain; and forms those *subtle spirituous Dews, which impart Sense to every Nerve, and communicate Motion to every Limb. Part flows downward; rolls the reeking Current through all the lower Quarters; and dispenses the nutrimental Stores, even to the meanest Member, and the minutest Vessel.

Observe, how the stately Thames, and the rapid Rhine, refresh the Forests and the Groves; water the Towns, which croud their Banks; and make the Meadows they intersect, laugh and sing. So, only with an incomparably richer Fluid, and with infinitely more numerous Streams, this human River laves the several Regions of the Body. Transfusing Vigour, and propagating Health, through the Whole.

But, how shall a Stream, divided into Myriads of Channels, and pervading innumerable Tracts, how shall this be brought back again to its Source? Should any Portion, like your Lake-Waters after a Land-Flood, deviate from their Course, or be unable to return—Putrefaction would take place—A Nuisance would arise—Death might ensue. Therefore,
the

* These are, what We call, The animal Spirits; and it is generally supposed, that Sensation is caused, by the undulatory Motion of this nervous Fluid.—Though some imagine, it is performed by the vibratory Motion of the Nerves themselves.—Others think, that neither of these Opinions will comport, with the Texture of those fine Tubes, or with the Nature of the Fluid they contain.—It is, I believe, one of those Mysteries in the material World, which may reconcile thinking and unprejudiced Minds, to the Mysteries of the Christian Revelation. Why should any One wonder, to find some Doctrines in the BIBLE, that surpass the Reach of human Understanding; when there are so many Operations in the Body, confessedly and absolutely inexplicable by the most acute Anatomist?

the All-wise CREATOR has connected the Extremity of the Arteries, with the Beginning of the Veins. So that the same Force, which darts the crimson Wave through the former, drives it through the latter. Thus it is reconducted, without the least Extravasion, to the great salient Cistern *. There played off afresh, it renews and perpetuates the vital Functions.

Where two opposite Currents would be in Danger of clashing, a fibrous Excrescence interposes †; which, like a projecting Pier, breaks the Stroke of each, and throws both into their proper Receptacle.—When the Wasture is to be speedy, the Channels either forbear to wind in their Course ‡, or to lessen in their Dimensions §. When the Progress is to be retarded, the Tubes are twined into various Convolutions §, or their Diameter is contracted into a narrower Size.—Modeled by these judicious Rules; guarded by these wise Precautions; the living Flood never discontinues its interchangeable Tide: but, Night and Day, whether We sleep or wake, still perseveres to fully

* Solomon makes use of this Similitude—Or ever the Pitcher be broken at the Fountain; or the Wheel broken at the Cistern. The two Ventricles of the Heart, replenished with Blood, are fitly represented by a Cistern; and the contractile Force of their Fibres, acts like the Water-wheel in Hydraulics.—The Pitcher, which receives the Water at the Spring head, and conveys it away for the Owner's Service, may probably signify the Aorta, and the pulmonary Artery; whose Functions correspond with the Uses of such a Vessel. Ecclesl. xii. 6.

† In the Point, where the Streams, from the Vena cava and Vena ascendens, meet.

‡ In the great Artery, that descends to the Feet.

§ In every Interval, between all the Ramifications.

§ In the Vessels, which carry the Blood to the Brain; which form the viscous Secretions; and indeed which constitute all the Glands.

fally briskly through the Arteries, and return softly through the Veins.

Such astonishing Expedients are used, to elaborate the Chyle—to blend it with the Blood—and to distribute both through the Body! By means of which, the animal Constitution is maintained. In Youth, its Bulk is increased; in Age, its Decays are repaired; and it is kept in tenantable Condition for the Soul, during the Space of seventy or eighty Years.

These are a few, and but a very few Instances of that Contrivance, Regularity, and Beauty, which are observable in the human Frame. Attentive Inquirers discover deeper Footsteps of Design, and more refined Strokes of Skill. Discover them, not only in the grand and most distinguished Parts, but in every Limb, and in every Organ: I may venture to add, in every Fibre that is extended, and in every Globule * that flows.

Asp. What a various, but uniform System, is the Body! I see the greatest Multiplicity of Parts, yet the most perfect Harmony subsists between them all. No one hinders, but each assists, the Operation of another; and all conspire to the Benefit and Preservation of the Whole.—Most judiciously has the great Apostle touched this Subject; and most happily applied it, to illustrate the Reasonableness, and inforce the Practice, both of personal and social Duties, of private Content and public Concord †.

The

* The extreme Minuteness of the Globules, which form the red Part of our Blood, is one Exemplification of this Remark. If, as Mr. Leuwenboeck computes, every Globule be 125,000 times smaller, than the smallest Grain of Sand.

† See 1 Cor. xii. 12, &c.

D I A L O G U E XII. 177

The Body, He observes, is not one Member, but many. To each of which some peculiar and needful Office is assigned. So that the Foot, though placed in the lowest Order, and destined to serve on the very Ground, has no Reason to reckon itself a worthless Outcast; or to say, Because I am not the Head, I am not of the Body. Neither has the Head, in its exalted Station, and amidst its honourable Functions, any Cause to despise the inferior Limbs; or to say, with Contempt and Self-sufficiency, I have no Need of You.—If there were no Feet, what would become of the locomotive Faculty? Or how could the Body convey itself from one Place to another? If there were no Hands, what should we do for the Instruments of Action? Or how could the animal Frame be defended and accommodated?—Nay, the Parts, which seem to be less honourable, are necessary. Even those, which form the Sediments, or throw off the Dregs, are of the last Importance to Life and its Comforts. Should those be obstructed in their Action, the most raging Torment ensues; should the Obstruction continue, Death is the inevitable Consequence.—By this wise Adjustment, there is no Schism in the Body; no separate or interfering Ends are pursued by the Members; but the Safety and Support of each are the one undivided Care of all.

Thus should it be among Men, and among Christians; in the Civil Community, and in the Catholic Church. There is in both a Subordination of Persons, but a Concatenation of Interests. For which Reason, a general Agreement should take place, and a mutual Subserviency to each other's Welfare.—The Meanest have no Cause to be dissatisfied with their Condition; but to acquiesce in the unerring Disposal of Providence, and cheerfully contribute their Share to the common Good.—The Highest should condescend to Men of low Estate; and maintain a Regard to the Well-being of the Poorest, as that which is intimately connected with their own.—In a Word; each should feel a tender Concern for all; rejoicing in their Happiness, and studying to establish it; sympathizing with their Miseries, and endeavouring to heal them.
 VOL. II. M

I am sure, my Theron will be pleased with this fine Comparison, used by the Apostle; and adapted to Purposes, at once so noble and so benevolent. Especially, as it receives additional Propriety and Force from his own Observations.—But I have one more Inquiry to make.

Your System, though organized, though endued with a Principle of Motion, and furnished with the Powers of Nutrition, is still destitute of Sense.—The Creation abounds with Objects, fitted to yield the most refined Entertainment. The Sun impurples the Robe of Morning, and Stars bespangle the Curtains of Night. Flowers of silver Whiteness, and of golden Lustre, enamel the Ground. Fruits of all radiant Hues, and of every delicious Taste, hang amiably dangling on the Boughs.

————— *Airs also, vernal Airs, Breathing the Smell of Field and Grove, attune
The trembling Leaves.*

But We hear of no Capacities, formed for the Enjoyment of these various Delights. Without which, the Breath of Fields must lose its reviving Fragrance; the whispering Grove must degenerate into full Silence;

lence; and Nature's Book of Knowledge, all fair and instructive, be no better than a vast unmeaning Blank.

Ther. Therefore, the great CREATOR, profusely gracious to Mankind, has made Us a Present, an inestimable Present, of the Senses. To be the Inlets of innumerable Pleasures, and the Means of administering the most valuable Advantages.

High in the Head, bright and conspicuous as a Star in the Brow of Evening, is placed the Eye. In this elevated Situation, like a Centinel posted in his Watch-tower, it commands the most enlarged Prospect.—Consisting only of simple Fluids, inclosed in thin Tunicles, it conveys to our Apprehension all the Graces of blooming Nature, and all the Glories of the visible Heavens.—How prodigiously wonderful! That an Image of the hugest Mountains, and a Transcript of the most diversified Landscapes, shall enter the small Circlet of the Pupil!—How surprisingly artful! That the Rays of Light, like an inimitable Pencil, should paint on the optic Nerves; paint in an Instant of Time; paint in their truest Colours, and exactest Lineaments, every Species of external Objects!

The Eye is so tender, that a slight Accident, scarce perceivable by some other Parts of the Body, would be very injurious to its delicate Frame. It is guarded therefore with remarkable Circumspection, and the most solicitous Care: with a Care, evidently proportioned to its nice Texture, and extensive Usefulness. It is intrenched deep in the Head; and barri- caded, on every Side, with a strong Fortification of Bones,—As the Incurfion of the smallest Fly would incommode the polished Surface, it is farther defended by two substantial Curtains, hung on a most slender cartilaginous Rod. Which secure it, not barely from Blows, and from any hurtful Attrition, but also from every troublesome Annoyance. In Sleep, when there is no Occasion to exercise the Sense, but an absolute Necessity to protect the Organ, these Curtains spontaneously close, and never fail to lie shut. At any Time, they will fly together with a Motion, quick as the Alarm of Fear, I had almost said, quicker than Thought itself. At all Times, they are lined with an extremely fine Sponge *, wet with its own native Dews. Which lubricate the Eye-ball; oil, as it were, its Wheels; and fit it for a Course of unwearied Activity.—At the End of this skinny Mantelet (if I may use the military Style) is planted a Range of bristly Pallisades †. Which keep out the least Mote; ward off even the straggling Atom; and moderate the otherwise too potent Impressions of the Sun-beams ‡.

The

* The Glandula Lachrymalis and its Ducts; opening on the inner Part of the Eyelid, and secreting the Fluid, which Theron calls its Oil; because, it irrigates the Eye-ball, and facilitates its Motion.

† The Hairs, which arise upon the Extremities of the Eye-lash, grow only to a certain convenient Length, and never stand in need of cutting.—They are not flaccid and pendulous, like those of the Head; but stiff and prominent, like Bristles. The first Sort would be troublesome, the last is beneficial.—Add to this, that their Points stand out of the Way; those of the upper Eyelid being bent upwards, and those of the lower downwards.—So nice is Nature, even in such small Matters!

‡ The incessant, the more than fatherly Care, which the LORD GOD ALMIGHTY takes of his People, is represented in Scripture by this extraordinary

Pro-

D I A L O G U E XII. 181

The Brows are a kind of natural Pent-house, thatched and arched with curious Wreaths of Hair. The Thatch is intended to divert the Sweat, from trickling into the Eyes, and offending them with its Brine. The Arches are so finely coloured, and so elegantly turned, that they set off the Whiteness of the Forehead, and bestow additional Grace on the whole Countenance.—Because, in our waking Hours, there is almost an incessant Call for those little Orbs, they run upon the finest Casters; rolling upwards or downwards, to the Right-hand or to the Left; with the utmost Speed, and with equal Ease. Which Circumstance, added to the Flexibility of the Neck, renders our two Eyes as useful, as if the whole Body, like the living Creatures in St. John's Vision, was full of Eyes before and behind *.

The Ear consists of an outward Porch and inner Rooms, with Tools of the most admirable Contrivance and finished Workmanship. The Contrivance and the Workmanship incomparably nicer, than the Designs of Palladio, or the Architecture of Solomon's Temple; though the former were drawn from the magnificent Monuments of Rome, though the latter was built in the Taste of Heaven. Yea; so con-

M 3

summately

Provision, made for the Security of the Eye. Which is one of the finest Images, that Fancy can form; and one of the most consolatory Truths, that Faith can believe. He kept Him as the Apple of his Eye, Deut. xxxii. 10.—He that toucheth You, toucheth the Apple of his Eye, Zech. ii. 8.—The Reader will easily see, that the Comparison, every Way beautiful, is carried to the highest Pitch of Energy and Beauty, by the sacred Writers. Not barely the Eye, but the Apple or Pupil of the Eye; the tenderest Part even of the most tender Member.

* Rev. iv. 6.

summately nice is the Structure of this Organ, that GOD, the only wise GOD, is not ashamed to be called its Artificer. He that planted the Ear *, is to be found among the Titles of the exalted JEHOVAH.—In one very remarkable Peculiarity, this minute Fabric resembles that sacred Edifice, the Porch being loftier † than any other Part of the Building.

The Porch I call that semicircular Lodge, which stands somewhat prominent from the Head; and is—not soft and sinking as Flesh, lest it should absorb the Sound, rather than promote the Repercussion; not hard and stubborn as Bone, lest it should occasion painful Inconveniencies, when We repose Ourselves on either Side—but of a cartilaginous Substance, covered with a tight Expansion of Skin, and wrought into irregular Bends and Hollows. Which, like circling Hills, or surrounding rocky Shores ‡, collect the wandering Undulations of the Air; and transmit them, with a vigorous Impulse, to the finely stretched Membrane of the Tympanum ||. — The Avenue, or narrow Entry, is secured from the insinuating

* Psal. xciv. 9.

† Compare 1 Kings vi. 2. with 2 Chron. iii. 4.

‡ Alluding to those expressive Lines, where Echo seems to live in the Sound, as well as in the Sense;

———— Vocemque inclusa volutant Littora, pulsati Colles Clamore resultant.

VIRG.

|| So called, because it resembles a Drum, both in Figure and Use. Being a fine Skin, expanded upon a Circle of Bones, and over a polished reverberating Cavity.—It is affected by the Vibrations of the external Air, as the Covering of the War-drum is by the Impressions of the Stick.—It is also furnished with Braces, which strain or relax it at pleasure; and accommodate its Tension either to loud or languid Sounds.

sinuating Attempts of little Insects, by a Morass (shall I say?) of bitter and viscous Matter: disgustful to their Taste, and embarrassing to their Feet.—The Hammer and the Anvil; the Stirrup and the Drum; the winding Labyrinths *, and the sounding Galleries; these, and other Pieces of Mechanism, all instrumental to the Power of Hearing, are beyond Description curious.

Amazingly nice must be the Formation, and inconceivably exact the Tension, of the auditory Nerves: since they correspond with the smallest Tremors of the Atmosphere, and easily distinguish their most subtle Variations. With the gentle Gales that fan Us, or even with the ruder Blasts that assault Us, these delicate Strings are but little affected. Whereas, they are perfect Unisons with those fine, those significant Agitations of the Air, which the acutest Touch is unable to discern. These living Chords, tuned by an Almighty Hand, and diffused through the echoing Isles, and sonorous Cells—these receive the Impressions of Sound, and propagate them to the Brain. These † give Existence to the Charms of Music,

* Of this Kind is the auditory Tube; intended to soften and qualify the rushing Sound. Lest, if the Incur-sion were direct, it might be too impetuous, and injure the delicate Expanse of the Tympanum.—While this is designed to moderate, the Concavities of the inner Structure are prepared to heighten and invigorate the Sound, by calling in the auxiliary Force of an Echo.—Such Intentions, so varying, nay so opposite, concur to form this admirable Organ!

† Elegantly styled, The Daughters of Music. For this Phrase may refer, as well to the Organs which distinguish, as to those which form, the harmonious Accents. Eccles. xii. 4.—Methinks, I am always desirous to add any ap-
M 4
posite

Music, and reciprocate the rational Entertainments of Discourse. These treat my Assasio with the Melody of the Woodland Choirs, and afford me the superior Pleasure of my Friend's Conversation.

The Eye perceives only the Objects that are before it; whereas, the Ear warns Us of Transactions, that pass above Us, behind Us, all around Us.—The Eye is useless, amidst the Gloom of Night; and cannot carry its Observation, through the bolted Door, or the closed Window-shutter. But the Ear admits her Intelligence, through the darkest Medium, and the minuteſt Cranny.—The Eye is upon Duty, only in our waking Hours; but the Ear is always expanded, and always accessible *: a Courier, which never tires: a Centry, ever in his Box.—To secure a Resource, in case any Misfortune should disable one of the hearing or seeing Organs, our all-gracious MAKER has given Us Duplicates of each.

As there are tremulous Concussions impressed upon the Air, discernable only by the Instruments of Hearing; there are also odoriferous Particles, waſted by the same aerial Vehicle, which are perceivable only by the Smell.—The Nostrils are wide at the Bottom, that a large Quantity of Effluvia may enter; narrow

posite Expression, or parallel Passage from the BIBLE. As I find, Writers of Taste and Politeness are studious to embellish their Works, with Quotations from the Classics. And I persuade myself, the Reader will allow me to gratify this favourite Inclination. Because, every Portion of that inestimable Book, however minute, is like the Filings of Gold, or the Sparks of a Diamond. Is sure, when properly applied, to add Worth, and impart Beauty.

* Auditus autem semper patet. Ejus enim Sensus etiam dormientes egemus. A quo, cum Sonus est acceptus, etiam e Somno excitimur.

De Nat. Deor.

row at the Top, that, when entered, they may close their Ranks, and act with greater Vigour.—Fine, beyond all Imagination, are the Steams which exhale from fetid or fragrant Bodies. The very best Microscopes, which discover Thousands and Thousands of Animalcules in a Drop of putrified Water, cannot bring one Individual, among all these evanescent Legions, to our Sight. They sail, in numberless Squadrons, close to our Eyes, close by our Ears; yet are so amazingly attenuated, that they elude the Search of both. Nevertheless, so judiciously * are the ol-factory

* The Keeness and Sagacity of this Sense, furnished the evangelical Prophet with a beautiful Metaphor, to display the Accuracy of the MESSIAH's Judgment in spiritual Things. Isa. xi. 3.

הריחו implies his Faculty or Sense of Smelling; which Expression is accommodated to our Language, and properly enough translated, Shall make Him of quick Understanding. q. d. "He shall judge, not according to external Appearance, but according to the State of the inner Man. Unfeigned Self-abasement, Affiance in a REDEEMER's Righteousness, and Faith purifying the Heart; these Endowments, though not observed, or, if observed, not valued by the World; these shall be the Test of his Approbation, and the Objects of his Esteem. These constitute, what is called in the next Words, The Fear of the LORD.

"In determining the Reality of these Qualities, He shall be unerringly exact, and infallibly true. Let Hypocrisy put on every Mask, and practise all her Wiles, they shall avail nothing before the ROOT and OFF-SPRING of David. (Ver. 1.) As those extremely subtle Effluvia, which escape the Inquisition of every other Sense, are easily and perfectly distinguished by the Smell; so, those Recesses of the Breast, and those Secrets of the Heart, which lie too deep for all human Discernment; even they are naked and open, are obvious and palpable, to his divinely sagacious Understanding."

factory Nets laid, and so artfully their Meshes sized, that they catch these vanishing Fugitives. They catch the roaming Perfumes, which fly off from the opening Honeysuckle; and take in the stationed Sweets, which hover round the expanded Rose. They imbibe all the balmy Fragrance of Spring, all the aromatic Exhalations of Autumn, and enable Us to banquet even on the invisible Dainties of Nature.

Furnished with these several Organs,

Not a Breeze
*Flies o'er the Meadow, not a Cloud imbibes
 The setting Sun's Effulgence, not a Strain
 From all the Tenants of the warbling Shade Ascends, but whence our Senses can partake Fresh Pleasure .

Another Capacity for frequent Pleasure, our bountiful CREATOR has bestowed, in granting Us the Powers of Taste. By means of which, the Food that supports our Body, feasts our Palate; first, treats Us with a pleasing Regale; then, distributes its beneficial Recruits.—The Razor, whetted with Oil, becomes more exquisitely keen. The Saliva, flowing upon the Tongue, and moistening its Nerves, quickens them into the liveliest Acts of Sensation.—This Sense is circumstanced, in a Manner peculiarly benign and wise; so as to be a standing, though silent Plea for Temperance. Without recurring to the Vengeance of GOD, or the Terrors of eternal Judgment, it is a powerful Disfluative from irregular and excessive Indulgencies. Because, the Exercise of Sobriety,

* See that very elegant Poem, The Pleasures of Imagination. Book III.

Sobriety, sets the finest Edge on its Faculties; and adds the most poignant Relish to its Enjoyments. Whereas, Riot and Voluptuousness poll the Appetite; blunt its Sensibility; and render the Gratifications extremely languid, if not perfectly insipid. — The Sight, the Smell, the Taste are, not only so many separate Sources of Delight; but a joint Security to our Health. They are the vigilant and accurate Inspectors, which examine our Food, and inquire into its Properties; whether it be pleasant or disagreeable; wholesome or noxious. For the Discharge of this Office, they are excellently qualified, and most commodiously situate. So that nothing can gain Admission through the Mouth, till it has undergone the Scrutiny, and obtained the Passport of them all.

To all these, as a most necessary and advantageous Supplement, is added the Sense of Feeling. Which renders the whole Assemblage complete. — While other Senses have a particular Place of Residence; this is diffused throughout the whole Body. In the Palms of the Hands, on the Tips of the Fingers, and indeed through all the extreme Parts of the Flesh, it is most quick and lively: as the advanced Guards, or Scouts upon the Frontiers, are or ought to be peculiarly attentive and wakeful. — Scouts did I say? The whole Army of Xerxes, drawn out in Battle array, with his Millions of supernumerary Attendants*, were but like a few Gleaners straggling in the Field; if compared, either in Number or Order, with those nervous

* The Soldiers and Attendants of Xerxes, amounted to five Millions two hundred and eighty Thousand. Another Army, so large and numerous, occurs not in all the Records of History.

nervous Detachments, which pervade the Texture of the Skin, and minister to the Act of Feeling.—How happily is this Sense tempered between the two Extremes! Neither so acute, as the Membranes of the Eye; nor so obtuse, as the Callus of the Heel. The former would expose Us to continual Pain; render our Clothes galling, and the very Down oppressive. The latter would quite benumb the Body, and almost annihilate the Touch.—Nor this alone, but all the Senses are most exactly adapted to their respective Offices, and to the Exigencies of our present State. Were they strained to a much higher Tone, they would be Avenues of Anguish. Were they relaxed into greater Insensibility, they would be so many useless Incumbrances.

Asp. How admirable and gracious is this Provision, which the blessed GOD has made, to accommodate Us with delightful Sensations, and instructive Ideas!—The Taste, the Touch, and the Smell, are somewhat straitened in the Extent of their Operations. The Ear carries on a Correspondence with a larger Circle of Objects. But the Sight most amply supplies, whatever is wanting in all the other Senses. The Sight spreads itself to an infinite Multitude of Bodies; and brings within our Notice some of the remotest Parts of the Universe.—The Taste, the Touch, the Smell, perceive nothing but what is brought to their very Doors. Whereas, the Eye extends its Observation, as far as the Orbit of Saturn; nay glances, and in an Instant of Time, to the inconceivable Distance of the Stars. The Compass of the Earth, and the Immensity of the Skies, are its unlimited Range.

From

From this remarkable Variety, with regard to the Sphere and Activity of the Senses, St. Paul forms one of the finest, boldest, and most important Comparisons in the World. By this He illustrates the Difference between the Wisdom, which is derived from the Word of divine Revelation; and the Wisdom, which is acquired by Dint of human Application.— In his Oration to the Athenians, speaking of their most celebrated Sages, He says; If so be, they might feel after, and find HIM *. In his Epistle to the Hebrews, speaking of the Man Moses, our Author observes; That He endured as seeing Him who is invisible †. Writing to his Corinthian Converts, He adds, as a farther Heightening of the Contrast; We all beholding with open Face the Glory of the LORD ‡. —The Knowledge of the Philosopher, is like that obscure and scanty Information, which is to be obtained by groping with the Hand, in a dark Night. The Knowledge of the Christian, is like that copious Influx of clear and enlarged Ideas, which We receive by the Mediation of the Eye, amidst the Shining of a bright Day.

Tully, We find, has, in the Book before us, hit upon some of the most general and obvious Uses, to which the several Parts of the human Body are adapted. Yet how superficial and deficient appears his Penetration, when We take in the much deeper Discoveries, and the much higher Improvements of our modern Anatomy! Thus, and abundantly more defective, is his Knowledge of moral Duties and divine Doctrines; when compared with what is taught Us,

* Acts xvii. 27. Εἰ ἀρα γὰρ Ὑπλάσθησαν αὐτοὶ.

† Heb. xi. 27. ‡ 2 Cor. iii. 18.

Us, in the plain Sermon on the Mount, and the unstudied Epistles of the Jewish Tent-maker.

Therefore, though I would bless the beneficent GOD, for the Ministration of all the Senses, and particularly for the noble Organs of Vision: I would be more especially thankful for that Light of the World, CHRIST JESUS and his glorious Gospel; as well as for that spiritual Eye *, by which the One is understood, and the Other seen — a lively Faith. I would also long for that Place of beatific Enjoyment, where our Views of the adorable GOD-
HEAD, and our Acquaintance with the sublimest Truths, will as much transcend all our present Apprehensions, as the most inlightened Saint exceeds the benighted Gentile.

Ther. The crowning Gift—That which improves the Satisfaction, and augments the beneficial Effects, accruing from all the Senses, is Speech.—Speech makes me a Gainer, from the Eyes and Ears of other People; from the Ideas they conceive, and the Observations they make. And what an admirable Instrument, for articulating the Voice, and modifying it into Speech, is the Tongue!—The Tongue has neither Bone nor Joint; yet fashions itself, with the utmost Volubility, into every Shape and every Posture, which can express Sentiment, or constitute Harmony. This little Collection of muscular Fibres, under the conducting Skill of the CREATOR,
is

* Luke xxiv. 45. Then opened He their Understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures. Διανοήξεν is the Word used in this Place, and the Word used by the evangelical Historian, when He relates that supernatural Act, which gave Sight to the Blind.

DIALOGUE XII. 191

the Artificer of our Words *. By this We communicate the Secrets of the Breast, and make our very Thoughts audible. By this We instruct the Ignorant, and comfort the Distressed; We glorify GOD, and edify each Other †; the Academic explains the abstrusest Sciences, and the Ecclesiastic preaches the everlasting Gospel.—This is likewise the Efficient of Music. It is soft as the Lute, or shrill as the Trumpet; it can warble as the Lyre, or resound like the Organ. Connecting the sacred Anthem with its tuneful Strains, We soothe the Cares, and beguile the Toils of Life: We imitate the Angelic Choirs, and anticipate, in some Degree, their celestial Joys.—As the Tongue requires full Scope, and an easy Play, it is lodged in an ample Cavity; and surrounded with Reservoirs of Spittle, always ready to distil the lubricating Dews. It moves under a concave Roof, which serves

* I am sensible, that the Glottis has a considerable Share, in modulating the Sound, and forming the Voice. But, as the Nature and Office of this most curious Aperture, are very little known by the Generality of People; We choose to follow the popular Opinion, so neatly described by the Poet,

————— Dædala Lingua, Lingua figuratrix Verborum, Opifexque Loquela.

Anti-Lucret:

† The articulating Tongue is called Our Glory, Psal. lvii. 8. And such indeed it is, when devoted to these Purposes. It is then a Distinction, not only of Man from the brutal Herd, but of the Righteous from the Congregation of the Ungodly. It is then like choice Silver, or as a Tree of Life.

*Who would not bless for this the Gift of Speech,
And in the Tongue's Beneficence be rich?*

192 DIALOGUE XII.

serves as a Sounding-board to the Voice ; giving it much the same additional Vigour and Grace, as the Shell of a Violin adds to the Language of the Strings.

Wife—wonderfully wise, and eminently gracious, is the Regulation both of spontaneous and involuntary Motion. Was this Regulation reversed, what deplorable Inconveniencies would take place ; nay, what unavoidable Ruin must ensue !—Deplorable Inconveniencies ; if the Discharges of the Bowels, or Evacuations of the Bladder, were quite independent on our Leave. Unavoidable Ruin ; if the Action of the Heart, required the Co-operation of our Thoughts ; or the Business of Respiration, waited for the Concurrence of our Will.

The Will, in some Cases, has not so much as a single Vote. In others, She determines and commands, like an absolute Sovereign ; nor is there a Monarch upon Earth so punctually obeyed, as this Queen of the human System. If She but intimate her Pleasure, the Spirits run, they fly, to execute her Orders ; to stretch the Arm, or close the Hand ; to furrow the Brow with Frowns, or dimple the Cheek with Smiles. —How easily, as well as punctually, are these Orders carried into Execution ! To turn the Screw, or work the Lever, is laborious and wearisome. But We move the Vertebræ, with all their appendent Chambers ; We advance the Leg, with the whole incumbent Body ; We rise from our Seat ; We spring from the Ground ; and, though much Force is exerted, though a very considerable Weight is raised, We meet with no Difficulty, We complain of no Fatigue.

That all this should be effected, without any Toil, and by a bare Act of the Will, is very surprising. But that

that these Motions should be made, renewed, continued, even while We remain intirely ignorant of the Manner, in which they are performed, is beyond measure astonishing.—Who can play so much as a single Tune upon the Spinnet, without learning the Difference of the Keys, or studying the Rudiments of Music? Impossible! Yet the Mind of Man touches every Spring of the human Machine, with the most masterly Skill; though She knows nothing at all, concerning the Nature of her Implements, or the Process of her Operations.—We walk, We run, We leap; We throw Ourselves into a Variety of Postures, and perform a Multitude of Motions; yet are utterly unable to say, Which Nerve should be active; which Muscle should swell; or which Tendon approximate.

Put a German Flute into the Hand even of a sensible Person: without a Master to instruct Him, He is at a loss to make the Instrument speak: much less is He able to sink and soften the Sound, to exalt and extend it, just as He pleases.—Yet We are self-taught in the Method of forming, regulating, and varying the Voice. Naturally, and with unpremeditated Fluency, We give it the languishing Cadence of Sorrow, or the sprightly Airs of Joy; the low faltering Accents of Fear, or the elevated Tone and rapid Sal-lies of Anger.

The Eye of a Rustic, who has no Notion of Optics, or any of its Laws, shall lengthen and shorten its Axis; dilate and contract its Pupil, without the least Hesitation, and with the utmost Propriety: adapting itself, even with mathematical Exactness, to the particular Distance of Objects, and the different Degrees of Light. By which means, it performs some of the most curious Experiments in the improved Newtonian Philosophy, without the least Knowledge of the Science, or so much as any Consciousness of its own Dexterity.

194 DIALOGUE XII.

I can never sufficiently admire this Multiplicity of animated Organs; their finished Form, and their faultless Order. Yet I must confess myself struck with greater Admiration as the Power, the truly mysterious Power and Sway, which the Soul exercises over them. Ten thousand Reins are put into her Hand: she is not acquainted with their Office, their Use, or their Name: she has not learnt so much as to distinguish one from another: nevertheless, she manages all, conducts all, without the least Perplexity or the least Irregularity: rather, with a Promptitude, a Consistency, and a Speed, which nothing else can equal!

Upon the Whole—Great Reason had Euripides to call the human Body,

Σοφὴ τέχνη καλὸν ποικιλύμα.

I believe, the preceding Observations will justify us, if we give a fuller Meaning to the Poet, and translate his Words—The infinitely varied, and inimitably fine Workmanship, of a great, supreme, unerring ARTIST. Or, as Virgil speaks, with a Pertinency and a Spirit, which epitomizes all I have said, and expresses all I would say; This bodily Structure is indeed—Non enarrabile Textum *.

Asp.

* That is, A Structure, not barely correct, or highly finished, but (as Theron has elsewhere expressed it) beyond Description curious.

D I A L O G U E XII. 195

Asp. Wonderfully, I perceive, and fearfully are we made * !—Made of such complicated Parts ; each so correctly fashioned, and all so exactly arranged † ; every one executing such curious Functions, and many of them operating in so mysterious a Manner ; as may justly render Us a Wonder to Ourselves.—Since Health depends upon such a numerous Assemblage of moving Organs : since a single Secretion stopped, may destroy the salutary Temperature of the Fluids ; or a single Wheel clogged, may put an End to the vital Motion of the Solids : with what holy Fear, should We pass the Time of our Sojourning Here below ‡ ! Trusting, for continual Preservation, not merely on our own Care, but on that Omnipotent Hand, which formed the admirable Machine. That the same Hand which formed it, may superintend its Agency, and support its Being ||.

When We consider the extensive Contrivance, and delicate Mechanism—What Plans of Geometry, have been laid ; what Operations of Chemistry, are performed ; in a Word, what Miracles of Art and Ele-

N 2

gance

* Psal. cxxxix. 14.

† St. Paul's Language on the Subject is exceedingly beautiful and expressive, Συναρμοσμένοι καὶ Συνεβαζόμενοι. Eph. iv. 16. The several Parts most nicely adapted to each other, and most perfectly harmonizing with the whole. All associated with that Propriety, and connected with that Firmness, which are the very Foundation of Symmetry, Vigour, and Agility.

‡ 1 Pet. i. 17.

|| Agreeably to that philosophical Maxim, Creatio & Conservatio eadem est Actio : and to those scriptural Acknowledgments, It is GOD, who holdeth our Soul in Life ; He is the Length of our Days ; his Visitation prolongeth our Spirit.

gance are executed ; in order to furnish Us with the necessary Recruits, and the several Delights of Life— Is there not abundant Reason to cry out, with the same inspired Writer ; “ How dear are thy Counsels unto me, O GOD ! Thy Counsels of creating Wisdom ! Thou hast not been sparing, but even lavish of thy indulgent Designs. Thou hast omitted no Expedient, which might establish my Ease ; enlarge my Comforts ; and promote, yea complete my bodily Happiness !” And is not this a most endearing Obligation *to glorify the blessed GOD, with our Bodies, as well as with our Spirits * ?*

Ther. Our Spirits ! Ay ; what is this Mansion of Flesh, though so exquisitely wrought, compared with the noble and immortal Inhabitant, which resides within ?

*That intellectual Being ;
Those Thoughts, which wander through Eternity † !*

This Consideration inclines me to think, that, if the Casket be so highly polished, the Jewel cannot be so excessively coarse, as my Aspasio's Doctrine of original Corruption supposes.

Asp. I perceive your Aim, Theron. But must beg leave, at present, to decline all Overtures for a Dispute. If my Arguments have failed, your Description has answered its End. — I cannot suffer my Thoughts to be diverted from a Subject, which is so very engaging, yet so rarely discussed. I have such a strong Desire to recollect and retain what has been observed, that even your Conversation will, at this Juncture,

* 1 Cor. vi. 20.

† MILTON.

D I A L O G U E XII. 197

Juncture, lose its Relish. Here therefore I put a Period to our Discourse, and must break away from your Company, in order to ruminate and digest my Notions, in some sequestered lonely Walk. Unless You will permit me, before I retire, to make one Remark.—And let it not startle my Friend, if I venture to say, That, amidst all his curious Observations, He has forgot the principal Circumstance of Honour and Excellence, which dignifies the human Body.

Ther. I have omitted many fine and admirable Properties, I confess. But sure I have not forgot the principal and most distinguishing.

Asp. You need not be displeased with Yourself. It argues no Defect in your Dissertation. The Circumstance I have in my View, could never be discovered, by following the dissecting Knife. It is learnt, not from Cheselden's Draughts, or the Tables of Albinus; but from the Word of Revelation. What I mean, is This—The human Body was exalted to a most intimate and personal Union, with the eternal SON of GOD. He who decorated the Heaven with Stars, and crowned the Stars with Lustre; HE vouchsafed to be made Flesh *, and was found in Fashion as a Man †.—Nay, this is, even now, the Apparel of that divine and adorable PERSON. He is clothed with our Nature; He wears our very Limbs; and appears in the Dress of Humanity, even at the Right-hand of GOD, and at the Head of all the heavenly Hosts.

What think You of another Privilege, mentioned by the Apostle? Your Bodies are the Temple of the

N 3

HOLY

* John i. 14.

† Phil. ii. 8.

198 DIALOGUE XII.

HOLY GHOST *. Not your Souls only, but your very Bodies are the Shrine, in which the High and Holy ONE, that inhabiteth Eternity, condescends to dwell. HE, who sitteth between the Cherubim, and walketh in the Circuit of the Skies, is pleased to sanctify these earthly Tenements, for his own Habitation. And is not this a much grander Embellishment, than all their matchless Contrivance and masterly Workmanship? Just as the Rod which budded, and the Manna which was miraculously preserved; the sacred Oracle of Urim and Thummim, with the Cloud of Glory covering the Mercy-seat; were a much higher Distinction to Solomon's Temple, than the most heightened Beauties of Architecture.

Nor must I omit the Dignity — the transcendent and amazing Dignity — which is reserved for these Systems of Flesh, at the Resurrection of the Just. They will then be refined and improved, into the most perfect State, and the most beauteous Form. Surpassing whatever is resplendent and amiable in the most ornamental Appearances of material Nature. They will be purer than the unspotted Firmament; brighter than the Lustre of the Stars; and, which exceeds all Parallel, which comprehends all Perfection, they will be made like unto CHRIST's glorious Body †. Like that incomparably glorious Body, which the blessed JESUS wears, in his celestial Kingdom, and on his triumphant Throne.

When We add all these magnificent Prerogatives, which are revealed in Scripture, to all those inimitable

* 1 Cor. vi. 19.

† Phil. iii. 21.

DIALOGUE XII. 199

table Niceties, which are displayed by Anatomists, what Thankfulness, what Admiration, can equal such a Profusion of Favours?

*When all thy Mercies, O my GOD,
My rising Soul surveys, Transported with the View I'm lost
In Wonder, Love, and Praise!*

DIALOGUE XIII.

THE Morning had been wet. At Noon the Rain ceased. But the Heavens still continued gloomy. — Towards Evening, a gentle eastern Gale sprung up; which dissipated the dead Calm, and cleared the Face of the Sky. — The Sun, which had been muffled in Clouds, dropped the Veil. Disengaged from the dusky Shroud, He shone forth with peculiar Splendor. His Beams, endeared by their late Suspension, were doubly welcome, and produced unusual Gaiety.

At this Juncture, Theron and Aspasio walked abroad. They walked alternately on the Terraces; one of which was opposite to the Country, the other contiguous to the Parterre. — Where the Gales, impregnated with the freshest Exhalations of Nature, breathed the Smell of Meads, and Heaths, and Groves. — Or else, shaking the Clusters of Roses, and sweeping the Beds of Fragrance, they flung Balm and Odours through the Air.

At

DIALOGUE XIII. 201

At a Distance, were heard the Bleatings of the Flock, mingled with the Lowings of the milky Mothers. While more melodious Music, warbled from the neighbouring Boughs, and spoke aloud the Joy of their feathered Inhabitants.—And not only spoke their Joy, but spread an additional Charm over all the Landschape. For, amidst such Strains of native Harmony, the breathing Perfumes smell more sweet; the streaming Rills shine more clear; and the universal Prospect looks more gay.

Then was experienced, what Milton so delicately describes;

*If chance the radiant Sun with farewell Sweet Extend his Evening Beam, the Fields revive,
The Birds their Notes renew, and bleating Herds Attest their Joy, that Hill and Valley rings.*

With Wonder and Delight our Friends observed, both the exquisite Beauty, and the immense Magnificence of Things.—They were struck with the most profound Veneration of that Almighty MAJESTY; who hung the Sun in Vaults of Azure, and clothed his Orb with Robes of Lustre. Whose Right-hand spanneth the Heavens *, and stretcheth them out as a Tent, for innumerable Creatures, Worlds, Systems to dwell in †.—Charmed they were, at the Consideration of the CREATOR's boundless Beneficence. Who lifts up the Light of his Countenance, and Joy is shed; who opens his munificent Hand, and Plenty is poured, throughout all the Regions of the Universe. Inasmuch, that even inanimate Beings seem to smile under a Sense of the Blessings: and though they

* Isa. xlviii. 13.

† Isa. xl. 22.

they find not a Tongue to praise, yet speak their Acclamations by their gladdened Looks.

Ther. How very different, Aspasio, is this delightful Appearance of Things, from your ill-favoured Doctrine of original Guilt, and original Depravity! Your Doctrine is a Contradiction to the Language of Nature. Nature says, through all her Works, "That GOD is good, and Men are made to be "happy." Whereas, your Opinion would turn the whole World into a vast Hospital, and make every individual Person, a Leper or a Lazarus.

Asp. I join with my Theron, and with universal Nature, in bearing witness to the Goodness of our GOD. And nothing, I am persuaded, displays it more, nothing manifests so much, as the Doctrine of our Fall in Adam, connected with our Recovery in CHRIST.—Only in one Particular I am obliged to dissent. It is not my Opinion that would make, but the Sin of our Forefather which has made, the whole World an Infirmary, and every individual Person a Leper.

Ther. At this Rate, You would croud into that single Act of Disobedience, Evils more numerous, and more fatal, than the Plagues which were lodged in Pandora's Box, or the Troops which were stowed in the Trojan Horse.

Asp. Far more numerous, and infinitely more pernicious.—The Fable of Pandora's Box seems to have been a Shred of the Doctrine, picked up by the Heathen Wits, and fashioned according to their sportive Fancy. This would, if there was any Occasion for such weak Assistance, bring in the Pagan Theology, as a subsidiary Evidence to our Cause.—The Trojan Horse poured Ruin upon a single City; but the primitive Transgression entailed Misery upon all Generations.

Ther. You have advanced this heavy Charge pretty strenuously, I must confess. But without descending to Facts, or appealing to Experience. All the Invectives are general and declamatory, none pointing and particular.

Asp. It is easy, my dear Friend, too easy to draw up a particular Bill of Indictment; and not only to specify the Facts, but to demonstrate the Charge. Experience, sad Experience will furnish Us with a Cloud of Witnesses, and prove my Remonstrances to be more than Invectives.

Were we to dissect human Nature, as, in our last Conference, You treated the animal System, we should find the Leprosy of Corruption, spreading itself through our whole Frame. For which Reason, it is styled, by an inspired Writer, “The Old Man*.” —Old; because, in its Commencement, it was early as the Fall; and, in its Communication to Individuals, is coeval with their Being.—Man; because it has tainted the Body, infected the Soul, and disordered the whole Person.

St. Paul, describing a profligate Conversation, speaks in this remarkable Manner; fulfilling the Desires of the Flesh, and of the Mind †. By the Desires of the Flesh, He means those irregular Inclinations, which correspond with the animal Part of our Constitution, By the Desires of the Mind, He denotes those evil Propensities, which are more immediately seated in
the

* Rom. vi. 6.

† Eph. ii. 3.

the intellectual Faculties. And by both, He very strongly expresses the total Depravation of our Nature.

Ther. What You call evil Propensities, I am apt to think, are not really sinful, but appointed for the Trial of our Virtue.—Nay, since they are confessedly natural, they cannot be in themselves evil. Because, upon this Supposition, GOD, who is the Author of our Nature, would be the Author also of our Sin.

Asp. Then You imagine, that Propensities to Evil, are void of Guilt. This is the Popish Notion, but neither the Mosaic nor the Apostolic Doctrine.—In the Law of Moses it is written, Thou shalt not covet *. The Divine LEGISLATOR prohibits, not only the iniquitous Practice, but the evil Desire.—The Apostle gives it in charge to the Colossians, Mortify your Members, which are upon the Earth; Fornication, Uncleaness, inordinate Affection, and, which is the Source of all, evil Concupiscence †. Now, can that be free from Guilt, which We are commanded to mortify? Which, if not mortified, denominates Us Children of Disobedience, and subjects Us to the Wrath ‡ of GOD?

Though these Propensities are confessedly natural, they may be evil notwithstanding. The sacred Writers oppose what is natural, to what is spiritual. Instead of commending it, as innocent; they condemn it, as foolish ||, base §, and criminal ¶.—Neither does this make the AUTHOR of our Nature, the Author of our Sin. But it proves, that our Nature has sustained a deplorable Loss: that it is quite different from

* Exod. xx. 17. † Col. iii. 5. ‡ Col. iii. 6.
 || 1 Cor. ii. 14. § 2 Pet. ii. 12. ¶ Eph. ii. 3.

from its original State : that, what is spoken of the Israelitish People, is applicable to the human Race ; *I planted Thee a noble Vine, wholly a right Seed : how then art Thou turned into the degenerate Plant of a strange Vine * ?*

However, let Us observe your Propofal : dwell no longer on general Hints, but descend to a particular Examination. As our Examination will chiefly respect the Soul, let me inquire, What are her principal Faculties ?

Ther. The Understanding, the Will, and the Affections. These are the most distinguishing Powers, which that Queen of the human Oeconomy retains in her Service.—These, like the several Distributions of some ample River, run through the whole Man ; to quicken, fertilize, and enrich all his Conversation.—But You represent them bitter, as the Waters of Marab ; unwholesome, as the Streams of Jericho ; noxious, as the Pottage prepared for the Sons of the Prophets.

Asp. Nor is this a Misrepresentation. For, such they really are ; till divine Grace, like Moses's Wood †, like Elisha's Salt ‡, or the Meal ¶ cast in by that holy Man of GOD, sweeten them, beal them, and render their Operations salutary.

The Understanding claims our first Regard.—This, however qualified to serve the Purposes of civil Life, is unable to discover the Truths, in which Wisdom consists ; or to form the Tempers, from which Happiness flows.

Let Us take our Specimen, not from the uncultivated Savages of Afric, but from the politest Nation

* Jer. ii. 21. † Exod. xv. 25. ‡ 2 Kings ii. 21, 22. ¶ 2 Kings iv. 41.

206 D I A L O G U E XIII.

tion in Europe.—The Grecians piqued themselves on their intellectual Accomplishments. They termed all the rest of Mankind Barbarians. Yet, even these Sons of Science, professing themselves wise, were, in Fact, egregious Fools *.—Not to enumerate the shocking Immoralities, which the Poets ascribed to their Deities. Not to insist upon the gross Idolatries, which the common People practised in their Worship. Even their Philosophers, the most improved and penetrating Geniuses, were unacquainted with the very first Principle † of true Religion. Even they could not pronounce, with an unfaltering Tongue ‡, “That GOD is ONE.”

Ther.

* Rom. i. 22.

† The first of all the Commandments is, Hear, O Israel, The LORD our GOD is ONE LORD; and Thou shalt love the LORD, &c. Mark xii. 29. From which it appears, that the Unity of the GODHEAD, is the Foundation of all the divine Commandments, and of all human Worship.

‡ Unfaltering—For though, in Plato's Book of Laws, We meet with ο θεος—τη θεα—τον θεον again and again; yet He soon departs from this sound Speech, and relapses into the Language of Idolatry.

A learned and ingenious Friend, would fain have Socrates exempted from this Charge.—I wish, I could gratify his benevolent Temper, and spare that amiable Philosopher. But, however justly He may express Himself on some Occasions, at other Times He wavers; He evidently revolts; and is most pitiably inconsistent with Himself.—Even in his excellent Conference with Aristodemus, where He argues admirably well for the Existence, He cannot steadily adhere to the Unity of the GOD-HEAD.—Nay; in his last solemn Apology before his Judges, He publicly renounces the Truth; declares, that He worshipped those Gods, which were acknowledged by his Countrymen; worshipped them, and no other; on the same Festivals, at the same Altars, and in the same (idolatrous)

Ther. With regard to the Philosophers, the Prejudices of a wrong Education, might pervert their Judgment; or, in compliance with the prevailing Mode, they might adopt Customs, and assent to Notions, which they did not thoroughly approve.

Asp. A poor Compliment this to their Integrity! Had I been their Advocate, methinks, I would have given up the Sagacity of my Clients, rather than their Fidelity to the Cause of GOD and Truth.

With reference to the supreme GOOD, they were equally at a loss.—There's not one among all the inferior Creatures; not even the crawling Worm, or the buzzing Fly; but perceives what is beneficial, and pursues it; discerns what is pernicious, and avdids it. Yonder Caterpillar, whose Nourishment is from one particular Species of Vegetables, never makes a wrong Application to another: never is allured by the Fragrance of the Auricula, or dazzled by the Splendor of the Tulip; but constantly distinguishes, and as constantly (idolatrous) Manner.—No other: these are his Words, Οὐκ ἔστιν ἑστὶς ἄλλῃ Διῷ, καὶ Ἡραὶ, καὶ τῶν συν τέλει Θεῶν, εἰς οὓν τισὶ καίνοις δαίμοσιν, εἰς οἰκίαν, εἰς οἰκίαν αλλήλῃς Θεῶν ἀναπεφνηνα. SOCRAT. MEMOR. Lib. I. c. i. § 8. 11, 24.

Let none conclude, from this or any other Passage, That We would consign over all the Heathens to Damnation. This is as far from our Intention, as it is foreign to the Argument. We are only like Witnesses, summoned to give in our Evidence. From which it appears, that the very best among the Gentiles, were ignorant of the true GOD; or, if they knew Him, in any Degree, they glorified Him not as GOD; but became vain in their Imagination, and vile in their Worship.—Whether they shall obtain Mercy, or which of them shall be Objects of divine Clemency, is left solely to the Determination of their supreme, unerring, righteous JUDGE:

— Non nostrum est tantas componere Lites.

constantly adheres to the Leaf, which affords her the proper Food. So sagacious are the meanest Animals, with relation to their respective Happiness! While the most celebrated of the Heathen Sages were, on a Subject of the very same Import, mere Dotards.—Varro reckons up no less than two hundred and eighty-eight different Opinions, concerning the true Good; and not one of them derives it from the true Source. I mean a Conformity to the ever-blessed G O D, and an Enjoyment of his infinite Perfections.

If, on these leading Points, they were so erroneous; no Wonder, that they were bewildered in their other Researches.

Ther. We are not inquiring into the Circumstances of this or that particular Nation; but into the State of Mankind in general.

Asp. Cast your Eye, Theron, upon those Swallows. They shoot themselves, with surprising Rapidity, through the Air. I should take them for so many living Arrows, were it not for their shifting, winding, wanton Motions.—Are not these what You call Birds of Passage?

Ther. These, and some other of the feathered Race, are our constant Visitants in Summer; but leave Us, at the Approach of Winter. As soon as the Weather becomes cold, they assemble themselves in a Body; and concert Measures, for their Departure. Who convenes the Assembly—What Debates arise—Or how they communicate the Resolution taken—I do not presume to say. This is certain, that not one of them dislodges, till the Affair is settled, and the Proclamation has been published. Not a single Loiterer is to be seen, when the Troops are preparing paring for their Decampment ; nor a single Straggler to be found, when they have once begun their March. —Having finished their Journey through the Land, their Wings become a sort of Sails * ; and they launch, not into, but over the Ocean. Without any Compass, to regulate their Course ; or any Chart, to make Observations in their Voyage ; they arrive safely at the desired Shore. And what is still more extraordinary, they always find the readiest Way, and the shortest Cut.

Asp. The Stork in the Heavens knoweth her appointed Times : and the Turtle, and the Crane, and the Swallow, observe the Time of their Coming : but my People know not the Judgment of their GOD †. The young Ones of those Birds perceive, how absolutely necessary it is, to forsake the Land of their Nativity, and travel in quest of milder Climes.—But our Offspring, even when their Minds begin to open, are brutish in their Knowledge ‡. Born they are, and too long continue, like the wild Ass's Colt ||. Not only quite destitute of heavenly Wisdom, but stupid to apprehend it, and averse to receive it. As soon as they are born, they go astray, and—

VOL. II.

O

Ther.

• Remigio Alarum.

† Jer. viii. 7.

VIRG.

‡ Jer. x. 14.

|| Job xi. 12. How keenly is this Comparison pointed!—Like the Ass's, an Animal remarkable for its Stupidity, even to a Proverb.—Like the Ass's Colt, which must be still more egregiously stupid than the Dam.—Like the wild Ass's Colt, which is not only blockish, but stubborn and refractory ; neither possesses valuable Qualities by Nature, nor will easily receive them by Discipline.—The Image, in the Original, is yet more strongly touched. The comparative Particle like is not in the Hebrew ; born a wild Ass's Colt ; or, as We should say in English, a mere wild &c.

210 D I A L O G U E XIII.

Ther. Go astray—To what is this owing, but to the bad Examples they behold? They catch the wayward Habit, from the irregular Conversation of others.

Assp. Is not this a Confirmation of my Point? Why are they yielding Clay to each bad Impression? Cuse-hardened Steel to every edifying Application?—From imitating unworthy Examples, You can hardly withhold them, by the tightest Rein. But, if You would affect them with a Sense of divine Things, or bring them acquainted with GOD their Maker, Line must be upon Line, Line upon Line: Precept must be upon Precept, Precept upon Precept: Here a little, and there a little *.—What farther corroborates my Sentiment, is, That all these tender Toils of Erudition, are generally unwelcome; are too often unsuccessful; nay, will always be ineffectual, without the Concurrence of Almighty Grace.

Besides, Theron, if this Propensity to Evil be observable in all Children, it seems more than probable, that the unhappy Bias is derived from their Parents, rather

* A great Critic has laid down the following Rule, to be observed in fine Writing;

*'Tis not enough no Harshness gives Offence,
The Sound must be an Echo to the Sense.*

P O P E's Essay on Criticism.

Never was this delicate Maxim more nicely exemplified, than in the above-cited Passage of Isaiab. Chap. xxviii. 13.—Another Instance of the same kind occurs in the seventh Verse. Where the Language seems to mimic the reeling, staggering, giddy Motions of a Drunkard: while it iterates and reiterates the Idea; expresses the same Thing, in a different and still different Manner; with an apparent, and, in this Case, a significant Circumrotation of Words.

DIALOGUE XIII. 211

rather than caught from their Neighbours; and owing, not to the Influence of external Examples, but to a Principle of internal Corruption*.—Neglect the Education of Children, and You are sure to have their Manners evil, their Lives unprofitable. Nay, only remit your Endeavours, and they lose what has been gained: they start aside, like a broken Bow. And wherefore this? Why do they not, without the Rules of Discipline or Lessons of Instruction, spontaneously addict themselves to the Exercise of every Virtue? Just as the Cygnets, in yonder Canal, spontaneously take to the Element of Water, and the Art of Swimming.

That Bed, in the Garden before Us, will suggest the Reason. It has been digged and dressed this very Day. It now lies smooth and clean. Not a single Weed appears on its Surface. Yet, how certainly will it, in a very little Time, produce a plenteous Growth of those vegetable Nuisances?—Whence can this proceed? No Hand will sow them. No Wist will invite them. But the Seeds, though unperceived by any Eye, are already there. Diffeminated by the Winds, they have mixed themselves with the Mold, and are sunk into the Soil,—So, just so, it is with our Children. The Seeds of Iniquity are within † them; and,

* St. Paul confesses, that He and his Fellow-saints were, in their unconverted State, depraved: and this, not by Custom or Habit, but from, by Nature. Eph. ii. 3.

† Whoever chooses to examine the Seeds, the poisonous Seeds, which are lodged in this Nursery of all Evil, may see a Sample of them in our LORD's Description, Mark vii. 20, 21, 22, 23. Where He characterizes the Heart, not barely of the hypocritical Pharisee, or the

212 DIALOGUE XIII.

and, unless proper Diligence be exerted by Us, unless gracious Assistance be vouchsafed from Above, they will assuredly spring up; over-run their Souls; and dishonour their Lives.

Ther. Let Us leave the Children, and make Men the Subject of our Inquiry.

Asp. In this Respect, Theron,

Men are but Children of a larger Growth.

We may leave the Vest or Hanging-sleeve Coat, but We shall still find the Follies of the Child.—In Youth, what low Ambition, and Fondness for despicable Pleasures.—In Manhood, what a keen Pursuit of transitory Wealth; yet what a cold Inattention to GOD and Holiness!—Men, and Men too of the greatest Abilities, whose Penetration on other Subjects, is piercing as the Eagle's Sight, are, on the most important Points, blind as the incaverned Mole.

Ther. What! is the Understanding like the most dim-sighted Animal, when lodged in her darkest Retirement? That sublime Faculty of the Soul; which lends her Eye to all the rest; sits at the Helm, and directs their Motions!

Asp. You remember, I presume, that beautiful Passage in Milton *; which Mr. Addison so highly admires, and so judiciously illustrates. The Passage abandoned Publican, but of Mankind in general.—After such an Authority, shall I mention the Testimony of Seneca? We are allowed to glean the Grapes, when the Vintage is gathered. In such a View I would introduce the Philosopher after the SAVIOUR. Omnia in omnibus Vitia sunt; sed non omnia in Singulis extant.
I mean,

DE BENEF. Lib. IV.

* Book XI. 203, &c.

DIALOGUE XIII. 213

I mean, where the Archangel Michael comes down, to advertise Adam of future Events, and to execute the Sentence of divine Justice.

Ther. I remember it perfectly well.—In the East, the great Light of Day lies under an Eclipse. In the West, a bright Cloud descends; filled with an Host of Angels, and more luminous than the Sun itself. The whole Theatre of Nature is darkened, that this glorious Machine may appear in all its Magnificence and Beauty.—From this radiant Chariot, the Potentate of Heaven alights; and advances, with a majestic Stateliness, to meet Adam.

Asp. Should You see such an august Personage, alighting from such a splendid Chariot, and walking amidst the thronged Streets of a City?—Should You behold every One intent upon his Business or Diversions; struck with no Awe; paying no reverential Regard to this celestial Visitant; what would You think?

Ther. I should certainly suspect, That some superior Power had drawn a Veil over their Sight, and hid this wonderful Spectacle from their View.

Asp. Such is really the Case with all Mankind by Nature, and with the Generality of People, during their whole Life.—GOD, the infinitely great GOD, is in every Place. Yet how Few advert to his Presence?—All Nature exhibits Him to their Senses; yet, perhaps, He is not in any of their Thoughts.

The Sun, clothed in transcendent Brightness, most illustriously displays his MAKER's Glory. The Moon, though drest in fainter Beams, has Lustre enough to shew Us the adorable DEITY, and his marvelous Perfections. The Stars, fixed as they are at an unmeasurable Distance, and lessened almost to a Point, come in with their Evidence, and magnify their CREATOR to a gazing but unaffected World.

214 D I A L O G U E XIII.

The Air whispers his Clemency in the gentle, the refreshing Gales of Spring. If We take no Notice of this soft persuasive Address, the Tone is elevated; the Majesty of JEHOVAH sounds aloud, in roaring Winds, and rending Storms. Yet both Expedients fail. Man is like the deaf Adder, that stoppeth her Ears. He refuseth to hear the Voice of the Charmers, charm they never so sweetly, never so forcibly.

Each Flower, arrayed in Beauty, and breathing Perfume, courts our Affections for its infinitely amiable AUTHOR.—Not a Bird that warbles, nor a Brook that murmurs, but invites our Praise, or chides our Ingratitude.—All the Classes of Fruits deposit their Attestation on our Palates, yet seldom reach our Hearts. They give Us a Proof of the divine Benignity; a Proof, as undeniable as it is pleasing, and too often as ineffectual also.

In short; the whole Creation is a kind of magnificent Embassy from its Almighty LORD; deputed to proclaim his Excellencies, and demand our Homage. Yet, who has not disregarded the former, and with-held the latter?—How Few walk, as seeing HIM that is invisible, or have Fellowship with the FATHER of Spirits? Though, to walk before Him, is our highest Dignity; and to have Fellowship with Him, is our only Felicity?

Ther. This is owing to Inattention, rather than to any Blindness or Defect in Man's Understanding. The many Works of Genius, which have been produced in various Ages, are an abundant Proof of his intelintellectual Capacity.—Have not the Seas been traversed, and the Skies measured? Has not the Earth been disemboweled of its choicest Treasures; while its Surface is beautified with Towns, Cities, Palaces, innumerable?—What fine Arts are invented and exercised; and to what a Pitch of Perfection are they carried? Arts that seem, if not to exceed, at least to rival Nature.—It was the Understanding, which formed all these great Designs. It was the Understanding, which contrived the Means, and conducted the Execution.—And are not these unquestionable Evidences of her very superior Abilities?

Asp. Then she is like some great Empress, who conquers half the World, but is unable to rule Herself. Who extends her Regulations into foreign Climes, while her domestic Affairs are involved in Confusion.—Do You doubt the Reality of this Remark? Set Yourself to meditate upon the most interesting Truths. How desultory, how incoherent are your Thoughts?—Charge them to be collected. They disobey your Orders.—Rally the undisciplined Vagrants. Again they desert the Task.—Exert all your Power, and keep them close to their Business. Still they elude your Endeavours.

The other Day, I could not forbear smiling at a little Adventure of your youngest Son's. Some Quick-silver, which happened to be spilt upon the Floor, parted into several Globules. The shining Balls looked so prettily, he longed to make them his own. But when he offered to take them up, they slipped from his Hand. As soon as he renewed the Attempt, so often He met with a Disappointment. The closer

216 D I A L O G U E XIII.

He strove to grasp them, the more speedily they escaped from his Fingers. He seemed, at first, to be amazed; then became quite angry, that the little Fugitives should so constantly baffle his repeated Efforts.—Thus unmanageable I very often find my own Thoughts. If yours are under no better Regimen, this may convince Us both, that all is not according to the original Creation.

We apply Ourselves to converse with the everlasting GOD in Prayer. Here, One would expect to have the Thoughts all Clearness, and all Composure. But here We are not sufficient of Ourselves, to think any Thing as of Ourselves *. All those holy Ideas, which create Reverence, or strengthen Faith, or quicken Love, come from the FATHER of Lights. Should HE withdraw His Influence, all will be dull, and dark, and dead.—It may be, We are somewhat inlivened in this sacred Exercise; before We are aware, perhaps in the very Midst of the solemn Office, our Attention is dissipated; and not dissipated only, but scattered to the Ends of the Earth. The GOD of all Glory is forsaken, and the Devotion paid to some senseless Foppery. A Malefactor, begging his Life at the Knees of his Sovereign; and discontinuing his Suit, in order to caress a Lap-dog, or pursue a Butterfly; is but a faint Image of the Vanity which attends our devotional Services.—Reason, which ought to correct these Irregularities, is treated like the incredulous Lord; who, instead of controuling the unruly Multitude, was overborne by their Impetuosity, and trodden under Foot †,

Since

* 2 Cor. iii. 5.

† 2 Kings vii. 17.

D I A L O G U E XIII. 217

Since then the Reins are struck out of our Hands, and We have lost the Rule over our own Faculties; surely, We are in a State different, very different from our primitive Constitution.

Ther. However insensible to refined Speculation, the Understanding, when Interest is in the Case, is apprehensive enough.

Asp. In temporal *, not in spiritual Affairs.—Your younger Brother, Theron, is a Merchant. We will suppose Him at the Sea-side; within a small Distance of the Vessel, on which a considerable Part of his Substance is embarked.—We will suppose the Vessel in the utmost Distress; ready to founder with her Leaks, or to strike upon the Rocks.—If he discovers no Sign of Concern; calls in no Assistance from the Country; makes no Effort to save the Crew, and secure the Cargo; would You not think him bereaved of his Understanding, or deprived of his Sight? — Could You conceive a more favourable Opinion of his Eyes or his Intellect? If, instead of trying every Method to prevent a Shipwreck, He should amuse Himself with picking Shells from the Ocean, or drawing Figures on the Sand.

We, and every One of our Fellow-creatures, have an Interest in Jeopardy, unspeakably more precious, than all the rich Lading of a thousand Fleets. Our Souls, our immortal Souls, are exposed, every Day, every Hour, to the Peril of everlasting Destruction. Every Temptation is threatening to their endless Welfare, as a Ridge of craggy Rocks to a Ship that drives before the strongest Gale. — Yet, how unconcerned are Mankind? Where is their holy Fear?

* Called therefore by the Apostle, Fleshy Wisdom, and opposed to the Grace of G O D. 2 Cor. i. 12.

218 D I A L O G U E XIII.

Fear? Where their godly Jealousy? Where their wakeful Circumspection? Rather, what a gay Insensibility is observable in their Behaviour? Or else, what a lifeless Formality prevails in their Supplications? Their Supplications to that Almighty BEING, who alone is able to save and to destroy.—Was not the human Understanding both darkened and benumbed, We should see our Neighbours, We should feel Ourselves awakened, into much the same earnest Solicitude, as the Disciples expressed; when, perceiving the Waves boistrous, and their Bark sinking, they cried; LORD! Save Us! We perish!

But alas! in Things of an unseen Nature, though of eternal Consequence, Interest, that habitual Darling of every Heart, loses its engaging Influence. Nay; when Eternity, all-important Eternity is at stake, even Self-preservation is scarce any longer a governing Principle.—What can be more deplorable? And, if We admit not the Doctrine of original Corruption, what so unaccountable?

Ther. This, I must confess, is true, with regard to the unthinking Rabble. To them may be accommodated the Remark of Augustus. Who, when he saw some foreign Females, carrying Apes in their Arms instead of Infants, said to one of his Courtiers; “Have the Women of those Countries no Children, “that they are so fond of such despicable Animals?”—The Vulgar are so immersed in secular Cares, that One might indeed be tempted to ask; “Have those People no Souls? that Buying and Selling, Eating and Drinking, ingross their whole “Concern?”—But Persons of Rank and Education, think in a more exalted Manner.

Ass. Do you then imagine, that an Elevation of Circumstances sets the Affections on Things above? Or, that it is the peculiar Infelicity of the Vulgar, to grovel in their Desires?—Gold, I believe, is more likely to increase, than to dissipate the Fog on the Mind. Abundance of Possessions, instead of disengaging the Heart, fasten it more inseparably to the Earth. Even superior Attainments in Learning, if not sanctified by Grace, serve only to render the Owner somewhat more refined in his Follies.—But Comparisons, between the various Classes of Mankind, are as useless as they are invidious. None, in either Condition, attend to the Things which make for their Peace, till they are awakened from their Lethargy, by the quickening SPIRIT of CHRIST. And even then We cannot but observe evident Indications of much remaining Blindness.

How apt are such Persons to mistake the Way of Salvation? To place their own Works for a Foundation of Hope, instead of CHRIST the Rock of Ages? Thinking, by their own Performances to win, not seeking from unmerited Grace to receive, the Inheritance of eternal Glory. Which is more absurdly vain, than to offer Toys as an Equivalent for Thrones; or to dream of purchasing Diadems with a Mite.—They are also prone to misapprehend the Nature of Holiness. Are zealous to regulate the external Conduct, without attending to the Renovation of the Heart: in outward Forms elaborate; with respect to inward Sanctity, less if at all exact. A Labour just as preposterous, as to skin over the Surface of a Wound, while it festers at the Bottom, and consumes the Bone.

Give

Give me Leave to ask, Theron; When our LORD declares, Unless a Man be born again, He cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven *: when he speaks of eating his Flesh, and drinking his Blood †: when You hear or read of Union with the blessed JESUS, or Communion with the most high GOD: is there not a Cloud, if not total Darknes, on your Mind ‡? —How erroneous was the Psalmist himself, in his Judgment concerning the divine Disposals? So foolish was I and ignorant, even as it were a Beast, or as the veriest Beast before Thee ||. —The Voice of Experience therefore will attest, what the Word of Revelation has averred; That the natural Man, be his intellectual Abilities ever so pregnant, or ever so improved, cannot know the Things of the SPIRIT of GOD §: He

* John iii. 3. † John vi. 54.

‡ With regard to the Mysteries of CHRIST, the greatest Proficients are but Obtuse acute, Dull even in their Acuteness. —What says the wise Agur? An invaluable Fragment of whose Works, is preserved in the Book of Proverbs. Surely, I am more brutish than any Man, and have not the Understanding of a Man: even though the following Verses bespeak the very singular Elevation and Extent of his Knowledge. Prov. xxx. 2. —Conformably to the Experience of this excellent Man, I have always observed, that the more inlightened People are, the more they lament their Ignorance; the more they pant after a continual Progress in heavenly Knowledge; and pray for clearer, still clearer Manifestations of the incomprehensible GOD.

|| I question, whether Aspasio's Translation comes fully up to the Emphasis of the Original. The comparative Particle is omitted in the Hebrew. As softens and palliates the Matter. Therefore the Psalmist, to express the deepest Sense of his Ignorance, says, I was a Beast, yea, the veriest Beast, בְּחִמּוֹת, Psal. lxxiii. 22.

§ 1 Cor. ii. 14.

He has no Sight to discern their Beauty; no Taste to relish their Sweetness. Nay, though they are the purest Light, and the most perfect Wisdom, to Him they appear, not only dark and obscure, but even Foolishness itself.

Would this be the Case, if the Understanding was not greatly depraved? Should it be difficult for your Ear, to distinguish the Diversity of Sounds; or for your Eye, to discern the Variety of Colours; would You not conclude, that the Organs were very much impaired?

Ther. I think, You have treated the Understanding, as Zopyrus served his own Body *, when he went over to the Enemy.—Do You intend to mangle the other Faculties, at the same unmerciful Rate?

Asp. That Nobleman made the Wounds, which disfigured his Flesh. I have only probed the Sores, which were found in the Understanding. If I have touched the Quick, and put the Patient to Pain, it is only to facilitate the Operation of Medicine, and make way for a Cure.—But permit me to ask, Wherein does the Excellency of the human Will consist?

Ther. In following the Guidance of Reason, and submitting to the Influence of proper Authority.

Asp. The Will, I fear, rejects the Government of Reason; and it is undeniably certain, that it rebels against the Authority of GOD.

Cast your Eye upon that Team of Horses, with which yonder Countryman is ploughing his fallow Ground. No less than five of those robust Animals are linked together, and yield their submissive Necks
to

* See ROLLIN'S Ancient Hist. Vol. III. p. 46.

to the Draught. They have more Strength than twenty Men, yet are managed by a single Lad. They not only stand in awe of the Lash, but listen to the Voice of their Driver. They turn to the Right-hand or to the Left; they quicken their Pace, or stop short in the Furrow; at the bare Intimation of his Pleasure.—Are We equally obedient to the Calls, to the Exhortations, the express Injunctions of our heavenly LORD? The blessed JESUS spoke at the Beginning, and the World was made. He speaks by his Providence, and the Universe is upheld. When He shall speak at the last Day, the Heavens will pass away, and the Earth be dissolved. Yet He speaks to Us in his divine Word, and We turn a deaf Ear to his Address. He speaks in tender Expositions, and no Melting of Heart ensues. He speaks in precious Promises, and no ardent Desires are inkindled.—The Will, which, in these Cases, ought to be turned as Wax to the Seal, is unimpressed and inflexible as an iron Sinew.

Ther. The human Will is constantly inclined to preserve, accommodate, and make its Possessor happy. Is not this the right Position, in which it should always stand? Or the most desirable Direction, that can be given to its Motions?

Asp. I should be glad, if Fact bore witness to your Assertion. But Fact, I apprehend, is on the contrary Side.—I took notice, as we came along, of some Ants busily employed on a little Hillock. Have You made any Observations, Theron, on this reptile Community?

Ther. It is a little Republic *. They inhabit a Kind of oblong City, divided into various Streets. They

* See Nat. Displ. Vol. I.

DIALOGUE XIII. 223

They are governed by Laws, and regulated by Politics, of their own. Their Magazines are commodiously formed, and judiciously guarded against the Injuries of the Weather. Some are defended by an Arch made of Earth, and cemented with a peculiar Sort of Glue. Some are covered with Rafter of slender Wood, and thatched with Rushes or Grass. The Roof is always raised with a double Slope, to turn away the Current of the Waters, and shoot the Rain from their Store-houses. They all bestir themselves, with incessant Assiduity, while the Air is serene; while the Roads are good; and Abundance of loose Grain lies scattered over the Fields.—By these Precautions, they live secure, when Storms embroil the Sky; they want no Manner of Conveniency, even when Winter lays waste the Plains.

Asp. Do We improve, so diligently, our present Opportunities? This Life is the Seed-time of Eternity. Do We husband the precious Moments like Persons sensible of their unspeakable Importance? Sensible, that if We trifle and are indolent, they will be irrecoverably gone, and We irretrievably ruined.

Sickness, We know not how soon, may invade Us, Pain may torment Us, and both may issue in our final Dissolution. Are We duly aware of these awful Changes, and properly solicitous to put all in order for their Approach?—We walk (alarming Thought!) upon the very Brink of Death, Resurrection, and Judgment. Do We walk like wise Virgins, with our Loins girt; with our Lamps trimmed; in a State of continual Readiness, for the heavenly BRIDEGROOM's Advent?

Those Ants have no Guide, Overseer, or Ruler. Yet they prepare their Meat in the Summer, and gather their their Food in the Harvest *. We have all these, yet neglect the Time of our Visitation. — We have GOD's unerring Word, to guide Us; GOD's ever-watchful Eye, to oversee Us; GOD's sovereign Command, to rule and quicken Us. Notwithstanding all these Motives, is not the Speech of the Sluggard, the very Language of our Conduct? A little more Sleep, a little more Slumber, a little more Folding of the Hands to sleep †. The most supine Indifference, where all possible Diligence is but just sufficient! — This, You must allow, is the true Character of Mankind in general. And does this demonstrate the Rectitude of their Will.

224 D I A L O G U E XIII.

Ther. The Understanding may be said to carry the Torch, the Will to hold the Balance. Now, the Perfection of a Balance consists, in being so nicely poised, as to incline at the least Touch, and preponderate with the lightest Weight. This Property belongs, without all Dispute, to the human Will.

Assp. What? If one of your Scales should descend to the Ground, though charged with Trifles, that are light as Air? If the other should kick the Beam, though

* Prov. vi. 7.

† There is, if I mistake not, a nice Gradation, in this Speech of the Sluggard; such as very naturally mimics the Manner of that lazy Creature. — He pleads, first, for some considerable Degree of Indulgence, A little Sleep. — If that is too much to be granted, He craves some smaller Toleration of his Sloth; A little Slumber. — If the Taskmaster still rings in his Ear, still goads his Side; one almost sees him, rubbing his heavy Eyes, and yawning out his last Request; A little Folding of the Hands at least to lie down, לשכב Prov. vi. 10. — When such is our Conduct with regard to eternal Interests, how justly may We apply that spirited Expostulation of the Poet;

Tantumne Rem tam negligenter!

DIALOGUE XIII. 225

though its Contents be weightier, than Talents of Gold?—Is not this an exact Representation of our Will, when the fleeting Pleasures of Sense, or the puny Interests of Time, excite our Wishes; even while the solid Delights of Religion, and the immensely rich Treasures of Immortality, can hardly obtain our Attention?—However, let Us quit the Metaphor, and examine Fact. Suppose, I make it appear, that, instead of choosing the most eligible Objects, the Will is so deplorably vitiated, as to lothe what is salutary, and be fond of what is baneful.

Ther. If You prove this to be universally the Case, You will prove your favourite Point with a witness.

Assp. When Providence is pleased to thwart our Measures, or defeat our Endeavours; to bring Us under the Cloud of Disgrace, or lay upon Us the Rod of Affliction; what is our Behaviour?—Do We bow our Heads in humble Resignation? Do We open our Mouths in thankful Acknowledgments?—Observe the Waters in that elegant octangular Basin. They assimilate themselves, with the utmost Readiness, and with equal Exactness, to the Vessel that contains them. So would the human Will, if it were not extremely froward and foolish, conform itself to the divine: which is unerringly wise, and, of all possible Contingencies, incomparably the best*.

VOL. II.

P

—Yet,

* This seems to be the Meaning of the Prophet, אִשְׁרֵי הַדֶּרֶךְ לַיָּשָׁרִים Isa. xxvi. 7. Not—The Way of the Just is Uprightness—This Sense, in the present Connection, is hardly consistent with Humility: is by no means proper, to introduce a devotional Address to the great JEHOVAH. Rather—GOD's Way to the Just is Uprightness; or, still more emphatically, Uprightnesses. Is in all Respects irreprovable, excellent, admirable; suited, perfectly suited, to every sacred Attribute of Wisdom, Goodness, and Truth.

226 D I A L O G U E XIII.

—Yet, how apt are We to fret with Disquietude; and struggle under afflictive Dispensations, as a wild Bull in a Net!

Ther. This is a very imperfect Proof, Aspasio, and corresponds only with Part of your Accusation. We may dislike what is wholesome, especially if it be unpalatable, yet not be fond of our Bane.

Asp. Should You see a Person, who thirsts after the putrid Lake, but disrelishes the running Fountain; who longs for the impoisoned Berries of the Nightshade, but abhors the delicious Fruit of the Orchard, would You applaud the Regularity of his Appetite?—I don't wait for your Answer. But I more than suspect, this is a true Picture of all unregenerate People. How do they affect Dress and external Ornament; but are unwilling, rather than desirous, to be *clothed with Humility, and to put on CHRISIT†! Amusement will engage, Play animate, and Diversion fire them: but as to the Worship of the living GOD, O! what a Weariness is it‡! This is attended, if attended at all, with Languor, and a listless Insensibility. Frothy Novels, and flatulent Wit, regale their Taste; while the Marrow and Fatness of the divine Word, are “as their sorrowful Meat§.” What is all this, but to lothe the Salutory, and long for the Baneful?

Let

* 1 Pet. v. 5.

† Rom. xiii. 14.

‡ Mal. i. 13.

§ Job vi. 7.

§ The Reader may see this unhappy Contrast drawn in the strongest Colours, by the royal Preacher, and by the mourning Prophet.—Because I have called, and Ye refused; I have stretched out my Hand, and no Man regarded: But ye have set at nought all my Counsel, and would none of my Reproof. What a Croud of Words! Emphatically

DIALOGUE XIII. 227

Let me, from the same Comparison, propose one Question more; which may be applicable both to the Will and to the Understanding.—Should You hear of another Person, the State of whose Stomach was so disposed, that it turned the most nourishing Food into Phlegm; and derived Matter of Disease, from the most sovereign Supports of Health; what would You think of his Constitution?

Ther. I should certainly think it very much distempered.

Asp. Without the Grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, our Souls turn every Occurrence into

P 2

an

phatically declaring the most incorrigible Perverseness; which is Proof against every Method of Reformation; against all the Arts even of divine Persuasion. Prov. i. 24, 25.—The Host of Heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have served, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have sought, and whom they have worshipped. What a Heap of Expressions! Significantly describing that impetuous Ardor, which no Prohibitions can restrain; and that insatiable Avidity, which never knows when to say, “It is enough.” Jer. viii. 2.

If I beg leave to add another Example of this kind, it is chiefly for the sake of clearing up an obscure Passage in the Psalms; which seems to have been mistaken by the Authors of both our Versions.—David, to set forth the barbarous Assiduity of his Persecutors, says; They wander up and down. They pry into every Corner; they search the City, and examine the Country; לחלוק not for Meat; which, in this Connection, is a Sense quite foreign to the Subject, and very jejune indeed; but to devour. To devour me the destined Victim of their Rage. And if they are not satisfied, if they cannot compass their Design by Day, לילה they will grudge? No; but they will continue all Night, in the Prosecution of their Purpose. Neither Cold nor Darkness can retard them; neither Hardships nor Dangers can divert them; but their Attempts are as indefatigable, as their Malice is implacable. Psal. lix. 15.

228 DIALOGUE XIII.

an Increase of their sinful Depravity. Our very Table is a Snare; and instead of exciting Us to Gratitude, is a Provocative to Gluttony.—How difficult is it, when We flow in Plenty, not to be elated; when We are pressed with Poverty, not to repine!—Have We Business in the World? It cumbers our Thoughts, or tempts Us to Avarice. Have We no Business to manage? We sink into Sloth, and settle on the Lees of Voluptuousness.—If our Schemes are prosperous, it is odds but they attach Us to the Interests of Time. If they prove unsuccessful, We too often are chagrined with the Disappointment, and sin against Meekness.—Even the holy Commandment, instead of restraining Sin, or producing Obedience, irritates the inbred Depravity; and renders it more restless, more impetuous, more ungovernable*.—Those very Things, which should have been for our Welfare (so malignant and raging is our Corruption!) are converted into an Occasion of falling.

Ther. The Will is under no Necessity of misemploying her Powers. She is free to act in this Manner or in that. And, if a Spendthrift, is not a Slave.

Asp. In Actions which relate to the animal Economy, the Will is unquestionably free. She can contract the Forehead into a Frown, or expand it with a Smile.—In the ordinary Affairs of Life, She is under no Controul. We can undertake or decline a Journey, carry on or discontinue an Employ, just as We please.—In the outward Acts of Religion also, the Will is her own Mistress. We can read the Word of GOD, or go to the Place of divine Worship, without any extraordinary Aid from above.—But in Matters which are more intimately connected

* Rom. vii. 5.

DIALOGUE XIII. 229

ed with our Salvation, the Case is different. Here, as our Liturgy expresses it, "We are tied and bound " with the Chain of our Sins."

Would You have a Person delight Himself in the LORD; take pleasure in Devotion; set his Affections on Things above?—All this is both his Duty and his Happiness. But alas! He is alienated from the Life of GOD. His Inclinations gravitate quite the contrary Way. His Will is in the Condition of that distressed Woman, who was *bowed down with a Spirit of Infirmary, and could in no wise lift up Herself. Corruption, like a strong Bias influences, or rather like a heavy Mountain oppresses his Mind. Neither can He shake off the Propensity, or struggle away from the Load: until Grace, almighty Grace, interposes for his Release.—Where the SPIRIT of the LORD is, there and there alone is Liberty †; that sacred and glorious Liberty, which is not the common Privilege of all Men, but the high Prerogative of the Children of GOD.

Would You have a Person apply to the great REDEEMER; apply with a real Ardor of Desire; as Bartimæus of old, or the Syrophænician Mother?—His Will is like the withered Arm; cannot stretch forth itself to the all-gracious SAVIOUR; cannot hunger and thirst after his everlasting Righteousness and infinite Merit: till the SAVIOUR Himself speaks Power into the infeebled, the perverted Faculty.—If You think otherwise; try the Experiment. Persuade Men to this necessary Practice. Urge the most weighty Arguments: devise the most pathetic Expostulations: let Zeal summon all her

P 3

Force

* Luke xiii. 11.

† 2 Cor. iii. 17.

230 D I A L O G U E XIII.

Force, and Rhetoric employ all her Art. Without being a Prophet, I dare venture to foretel the Issue. Disappointments, repeated Disappointments, will convince You, that our Divine MASTER knew what He said, when He solemnly declared; No Man can come to Me, except the FATHER, which hath sent me, draw Him *.—Our Church, in Conformity to this and other Scriptures, has taught Us to pray; Turn Thou Us, O good LORD; for nothing but thy omnipotent Agency is capable of doing it; and so shall We be turned.

Ther. Are We Slaves then? Will Christianity send Us to seek our Brethren, in the Mines or in the Gallies?

Asp. Christianity does not send, but find Us there. There, or in a worse Slavery †.—It is doubtless a most

* John vi. 44. It is not said, The FATHER drives, but draws: not by violent, irrational, compulsive Means; but by clear Conviction, sweet Persuasion, and Inducements suited to a reasonable Being. Those are the Cords of a Beast, these of a Man. So that We are not acted upon as Clock-work, or influenced as mere Machines, but made willing in the Day of his Power, Psal. cx. 3.

† St. Paul says of Christians, and reckons Himself in the Number, that naturally they served (not διανοεῖς, but δεδουλωῖς, were absolute Slaves to) divers Lusts and Pleasures. Tit. iii. 3. The whole Verse is very remarkable, and nothing can be more apposite to Aspasio's Purpose. It shews Us, What They were by Nature, who through Grace became living Images of the blessed GOD.

This mortifying Doctrine is often acknowledged by our Church. Thus begins one of her public Supplications; Almighty GOD, who alone canst order the unruly Wills and Affections of sinful Man. It seems, We cannot determine our own Wills, nor regulate our own Affections. What is this but Bondage?

DIALOGUE XIII. 231

most abject State, to wear the Yoke, and truckle in Chains. Yet such, I apprehend, is the State of our Minds by Nature. To prove this, We need not go down to the lowest Ranks of Life. These, You might say with the Prophet, *are poor; these are foolish; they have not known the Way of the LORD, nor the Judgment of their GOD.—I will get me therefore to the great Men, and examine their Disposition.

Have You not known Persons of the greatest Intrepidity, and firmest Resolution, hurried away by their Lusts, as “a rolling Thing before the Whirl“wind †?” Perhaps, they were bold enough to face Danger, and defy the Sword, in the Field of Battle. Yet, were no more able to withstand the wanton Allurements of Beauty, or the soft Solicitations of Pleasure; than the Moth can forbear fluttering about the Flame, even though it singes her Wings, and is scorching her to death.—Others, possessed of a refined Imagination, disdain the gross Indulgencies of Sensuality; yet are Slaves to their own domineering Passions. They are blown into the most intemperate Rage, and pushed on to the most extravagant Actions, by every little ruffling Accident. They see the Meanness, which such an ungovernable Spirit argues: they feel the Misery, which such internal Tempests create: nay, they resolve to suppress the Impetuosity of their Temper: yet, are bore away by the Torrent; and, upon the very first Provocation, are as furiously resentful as ever.—Will You call these Persons free, because their Task-masters

P 4

and

* Jer. v. 4, 5.

† Isa. xvii. 13.

and their Tyrants are lodged within *? Because the Fetters are forged, not for the meaner, but for the immortal Part of their Nature?

Ther. Let Us pass to the Affections. These are to the Soul, what Wings are to the Eagle, or Sails to the Ship. These always stand ready to receive the Gales of Interest, and to spring at the Signal of Reason.

Asp. O! that they did!—But, if the Wings are clogged with Mire; if the Sails are disproportioned to the Ballast; what Advantage will accrue, either to the Animal, or to the Vessel?—The One will, probably, be over-set in the Voyage; the Other will lie groveling on the Ground.

Ther. Desire seems to be the first, which “opens the Mouth, or moves the Wing, or peeps †.” Desire is active as a Flame, and ever in Pursuit of Happiness.

Asp. What if your Flame, instead of shooting upwards, should point its inverted Spires to the Earth? Would not this be strange, and a Sign of great Disorder?—GOD is the Center of Perfection, and the Source of Felicity. All that is amiable in itself, is comprehended in GOD. All that is beneficial to Us, proceeds from GOD. Do our Desires uniformly tend to this super-excellent Being? Do our Wishes terminate in the Enjoyment of his ever-glorious

*Inordinate Desires
And upstart Passions catch the Government From Reason, and to Servitude reduce Man, till then free.*

MILT.

rious Majesty? Alas! We are naturally estranged from Him: We covet no Communion with Him. We are wedded to Trifles, and dote upon Vanity: but to GOD we say—it is evidently the Language of our Conduct—Depart from Us; We desire not the Knowledge of thy Ways *.

If Desire is the First-born among the Affections, observe it in Children. There it appears in its Dawn, and has most of pure Nature.—See, how those Flies, exulting in the sunny Gleam, vibrate with all the Rapidity of Motion their little Wings †. So prompt and expedite are the Desires of Children to any corrupting Diversion.—See, how sluggishly that Snail, crawling forth amidst the refreshing Moisture, drags her slow Length along. So dull, if not reluctant, are the Dispositions of our Children, to any improving Exercise. Rewards will hardly win them to the latter; the Rod can hardly deter them from the former.—And None, None but GOD, “by his special Grace preventing them, can put into their “Minds good Desires ‡.”

Is our Love under better Regulation?—How easily are We captivated with a fair Complexion and graceful Form; especially, when set off with the Decorations of Dress. But how little affected with the Beauty of internal Character; with the Ornaments of Virtue, and the Graces of Christianity? Can it be supposed, that the Pulse of the Soul beats regularly;

* Job xxi. 14.

† The Wings of a Fly are supposed to have the quickest Motion, of any material Substance which lives. And if they make, as Naturalists imagine, some Hundreds of Vibrations in a Second of Time, I think, there can be no Competition in the Case.

‡ Collect for Easter-Day.

234 D I A L O G U E XIII.

larly; when there is such a passionate Fondness for fading Embellishments, and such a cold Indifference for the most substantial Endowments?—How ready are We to be enamoured with well-proportioned Clay; often to our apparent Prejudice; sometimes to our utter Ruin! Yet how backward to love that infinitely loving and lovely REDEEMER, who would die Himself, rather than We should become a Prey to Death! Tinder We are, perfect Tinder to the Sparks of irrational and dissolute Affection. Harder than Adamant, colder than Ice, to this heavenly Flame.

Ther. If our Love is blind, our Fear has not lost her Eyes. Fear is quick of Apprehension: and, instead of being stupidly insensible, is ready to “rise up at the Voice of a Bird*.”

Asp. The Passion of Fear is sufficiently active, but deplorably misapplied.—We fear the Reproach of Men. But are We alarmed at the View of that everlasting Shame, which the LORD, the righteous Judge, shall pour upon the Ungodly? We shudder at the drawn Dagger; and stand appalled at the headlong Precipice. But how often have We defied the Sword of almighty Vengeance, and sported upon the Brink of irretrievable Perdition?

Sin is the most pernicious of all Evils. Sin violates the divine Command, and provokes the Divine MAJESTY. Sin offers Despite to the Blessed SPIRIT, and tramples upon the Blood of JESUS. For Sin, the Transgressor is banished from the blissful Presence of GOD, and doomed to dwell with inextinguishable Burnings. Do We dread this grand Destroyer of our Happiness? Dread it more than

* Eccles, xiii. 4.

than any Calamities, more than all Plagues?—Take one of those fine May-dukes, which glow with so beautiful a Scarlet on yonder Espalier. Offer it to the Blackbird, that serenades us from the neighbouring Elm. The Creature, though fond of the Dainty, will fly from your Hand, as hastily as from a leveled Fowling-piece. He suspects a Design upon his Liberty; and therefore will endure any Extremity, will even starve to death, rather than taste the most tempting Delicacy in such hazardous Circumstances.—Are We equally fearful of an infinitely greater Danger? Do We fly, with equal Solitude *, from the delusive but destructive Wiles of Sin? Alas! Do not We too often swallow the Bait, even when We plainly discover the fatal Hook? Do We not snatch the forbidden Fruit, though Conscience remonstrates; though GOD prohibits; though Death eternal threatens?

Ther. Conscience then, according to your own Account, has escaped the general Shipwreck. Conscience is GOD's Vicegerent in the Soul, and executes her Office faithfully. Even the Gentiles shew the Work of the Law written in their Hearts, their Conscience also bearing witness, and their Thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another †.

Asp.

* The instigating Admonition, transmitted to Brentius by an anonymous Letter, when the Papists had formed a Plot against his Life, should be the Rule of our Conduct on such an Occasion; Fuge! Fuge! citò—citius—citissimè.

† Rom. ii. 15. Methinks, I would not translate the Word μὴλας the mean while, but alternately or interchangeably accusing or excusing; sometimes one, sometimes the other; in Conformity to the different Circumstances of their Temper and Behaviour.

236 D I A L O G U E XIII.

Asp. If there be any Remains of the divine Image, perhaps, they are to be found in the Conscience. But even this is not exempt from the common Ruin.—Consider its Light. It is like a dim Taper, feebly glimmering; and serving only to make the Darkness visible. Or, if it discovers any Thing, it is an obscure Something, We know not what. Which, instead of informing, tantalizes Us; and instead of guiding, bewilders Us. As false and delusory Lights on the Shore, put a Cheat upon the Mariner, and lead Him on to Ruin *.—Consider its Operations. It is either dumb or dead, or both. Dumb; or else how vehemently would it upbraid Us, for our shocking Ingratitude to the Supreme Omnipotent BENEFACTOR? How loudly would it inveigh against our stupid Neglect of spiritual Interests, and eternal Ages? Dead; otherwise how keenly would it smart, when gashed with Wounds—numerous, as our repeated Violations of the divine Law—deep, as the horrid Aggravations of our various Iniquities.

Ther. Do You call this an Answer to my Objection, Aspasio? If it be an Answer, it resembles, in Point of satisfactory Evidence, the Light which You ascribe unto the Conscience.

Asp.

* This seems to have been the Case with the Bulk of the Heathen World.—Conscience arraigned, and found them guilty. This put them upon practising their abominable, sometimes their inhuman Idolatries.—Nay, this induced them to give the most scandalous and impious Misrepresentations of the DEITY. That they might sheath the Sting of Conscience, and find some Salvo for their own Iniquities, they made even the Objects of their Worship, the Patrons and the Precedents of their favourite Vices.

DIALOGUE XIII. 237

Assp. The Gentiles, You alledge, shew the Work, but not the Love of the Law, written on their Hearts. Some leading Notices of Right and Wrong they have : some speculative Strictures of Good and Evil. But without a real Abhorrence of the One, or a cordial Delight in the Other. Which, far from ennobling their Nature, far from vindicating their Practice, argues the exceeding Depravity of the former, and renders the latter absolutely without Excuse.

No; You say, Conscience excuses the Heathens. Rather, their Conscience bears witness to the Equity of the Law, while their Thoughts make some weak Apology * for the Tenour of their Conduct. This is far from acquitting, far from justifying them.—Besides, these weak Attempts to excuse, are always founded on Ignorance. Did they know themselves, their Duty, or their GOD, Conscience would, without the least Hesitation, bring in her Verdict, Guilty.—The Apostle assures Us, that, till Faith, which is a divine Principle, takes place in our Breasts, both the Mind and Conscience are defiled †. Here, and elsewhere, very plainly intimating ; that the Conscience is evil, and ever will be evil, till it is sprinkled with the Blood of CHRIST §.

It accuses some, I acknowledge ; and it ought to accuse, yea, to condemn All. But even Here it evidences itself to be corrupt. For, its Accusations are sometimes erroneous ||, and no better than false Witnesses ;

* The Word is ἀπολογούμενων, not επιμαρτυρούντων, not δικαιωσάντων.

† Tit. i. 15.

§ Heb. x. 22.

|| Erroneous—What else was that grand Article in the Accusations of Conscience, mentioned, with such particular Distinction, by Virgil ;

238 D I A L O G U E XIII.

ness; sometimes partial *, and suborned by Appetite; and very, very often ineffectual.—Nay, when they do take Effect, they produce no Fruit that is truly good. They work not a genuine Humiliation, or an unfeigned Repentance; but either a slavish Dread of GOD, as a severe Judge; or Hatred of Him, as an inexorable Enemy.

Ther. Hatred of GOD—Astonishing Impiety! Is it possible for the human Heart to admit such enormous, almost incredible Wickedness?

Asp. You may well be astonished, Theron; and GOD may justly demand; What Iniquity have my People found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after Vanity †? “I created You out “ of Nothing, and endowed You with an immortal “ Soul. As a Father, I have provided for You. As “ a Nurse, I have cherished You.—I have consigned “ over to your Possession the Earth, and the Fulness “ thereof. All my Creatures do You Service, and “ even ———Pblegyasque miserrimus omnes

Admonet, & magnâ testatur Voce per Umbras, Discite Justitiam moniti, & non temnere Divos.

For Men to despise such dunghil, worse than dunghil Deities, had been their Virtue if done, and was their Duty to do.—What else was that Voice of Conscience, mentioned by our LORD, John xvi. 2. or that, confessed by the Apostle, Acts xxvi. 9.

* Partial—Otherwise, how could the most celebrated among the antient Heroes applaud and practise, that execrable unnatural Crime, Self-Murder? How could their first-rate Historians extol and almost consecrate, that diabolical Principle of Action, Pride? And how could their ablest Teachers of Morality, not only tolerate, but establish the Error, by neglecting to find so much as a Name for that amiable Virtue, Humility?

† Jer. ii. 5.

DIALOGUE XIII. 239

“ even my Angels minister unto your Good.—Do “ You desire greater Demonstrations of my Love ?
 “ I have given what was dearer to me than all An“ gels, than all Worlds. I have given my SON “ from my Bosom, to die in your Stead.—Would “ You have farther Evidences of my tender, my “ distinguished Regard ? Behold ! I touch the Moun“ tains, and they smoke : I look upon the Earth,
 “ and it trembles : I cast even the Princes of Hea“ ven, when they break my Law, into Chains of “ Darkness. But to You, O Men, I condescend “ to act as a Supplicant. Though highly injured, “ and horribly affronted, I beseech You, again and “ again I beseech You to be reconciled.”

To hate * such a GOD, is indeed the most detestable Impiety. Yet Man, foolish Man, practises this Impiety, whenever, for the Sake of a vile Lust, an ignoble Pleasure, or an unruly Passion, He transgresses the Command of his CREATOR.

Shall I exemplify the Doctrine, in another of the Affections ?

Ther. In Truth, Aspasia, I begin to be sick of the Subject. If human Nature is so ulcerated, the less You touch it the better.—However, let us not quite omit the irascible Appetite.

Asp. Of this We have already taken a Side-view ;
 if You choose to see it in fuller Proportion, make your

* Hatred of GOD is so shocking an Expression, that one would almost wish, never to hear or read it. But it occurs in our unerring Book ; is too often exemplified in common Life ; and is engraven by corrupt Nature on every human Heart. See Rom. i. 30. Exod. xx. 5. John
xv. 25. Rom. viii. 7.

240 DIALOGUE XIII.

your Observation on Fervidus.—Fervidus comes home in a Rage. His Cheeks are pale, and his Lips quiver, with Excess of Passion. Though He can hardly speak, He vows Revenge, and utters Imprecations.—What is the Cause of all this wondrous Ferment? A Neighbour, it seems, has dropt some reflecting Hint, or a Servant has blundered in some trifling Message. Such Usage, Fervidus says, is intolerable; and such Negligence unpardonable.—This same Fervidus has offered numberless Affronts to his MAKER; He has most scandalously neglected the Will of his Almighty LORD; yet feels no Indignation against Himself.—He is all Fury, when his own Credit is touched. But when the Interest of CHRIST is wounded, He can sit unconcerned, or pass it off with a Laugh.—Anger, I acknowledge, is sometimes becoming and useful. But is this its right Temperature? This its proper Application?

Ther. This is the Practice only of some few turbulent Spirits. To saddle their Qualities upon every Person, is a Procedure just as equitable, as the Mad-man's * Calculation was reasonable; who took an Account of every Ship, which entered the Harbour, and set it down for his own.

Asp. The latter Part of my Charge, I fear, is applicable to more than a few.—However, let Us consider the most calm and sedate Minds. How are they affected under Injuries? Do they never aggravate Failings into Crimes? Do they find it easy to abstain from every Emotion of Ill-will? Easy to love their Enemies, and do Good to Those who hate them? These godlike Tempers, if our Nature was not degenerated, would be the spontaneous Produce of the Soul. But now, alas! they are not raised, without much Difficulty; seldom come to any considerable Degree of Eminence; never arrive at a State of true Perfection. An undoubted Proof, that they are Exotics, not Natives of the Soil.

* Thrasylus, an Athenian.

Now We are speaking of Plants, cast your Eye upon the Kitchen-garden. Many of those Herbs, will perfume the hard Hand, which crushes them; and embalm the rude Foot, which tramples on them. Such was the benign Conduct of our LORD. He always overcame Evil with Good. When his Disciples disregarded Him, in his bitter Agony, He made the kindest Excuse for their ungrateful Stupidity*. When his Enemies, with unparalleled Barbarity, spilt his very Blood; He pleaded their Ignorance, as an Extenuation of their Guilt†.—Is the same Spirit in Us, which was also in our Divine MASTER? Then are our Passions rightly poised, and duly tempered. But if Resentment kindles, and Animosity rankles in our Hearts; this is an infallible Sign, that We swerve from our SAVIOUR's Pattern; consequently, are fallen from our primitive Rectitude.

Ther. What say You of the Fancy? This sure, if no other, retains the primitive Rectitude. What Pictures does she form, and what Excursions does she make? She can dive to the Bottom of the Ocean; can soar to the Height of the Stars; and walk upon the Boundaries of Creation.

Asp. That the Fancy is lively and excursive, I readily grant. It can out-travel the Post, or out-fly the Eagle. But if it travel, only to pick Shells; or fly

VOL. II.

Q

* Matt. xxvi. 41.

† Luke xxiii. 34.

fly abroad, to bring home Mischief; then, I apprehend, though You should admire the Faculty, You will hardly be in Raptures with its Agency.—This is the real Truth. Our Fancy, till divine Grace regulate and exalt its Operations, is generally employed in picking painted Shells, or culling venomous Herbs. Weaving (as the Prophet very elegantly, and no less exactly describes the Case) the Spider's Web, or hatching Cockatrice Eggs *. Busied in the most absurd Impertinencies; or acting in Speculation, the vilest Iniquities. That, which should be a Garden inclosed, a Fountain sealed †, for the PRINCE of Peace, is the Thoroughfare of Vanity.—And even when We are renewed from above, O! how necessary is it, to keep an incessant Watch, and exercise a strict Discipline, over this volatile, variable, treacherous Vagrant!

The Memory, as well as the Fancy, is impaired; or, if not impaired, is debauched. Why else does it so fitfully retain the Impressions of an Injury, but so easily let slip the Remembrance of a Benefit? Any idle Fropperies, which sooth our Vanity, and increase our Corruption, cleave to the Thoughts, as the vexatious Burr to our Clothes. While the noble Truths of the Gospel, and the rich Mercies of a gracious GOD, slide away from the Mind, and leave no lasting Trace behind them. This double Perverseness is very emphatically, and too truly represented by Jeremiah; Can a Maid forget her Ornaments, or a Bride her Attire? Yet my People have forgotten me, Days without number ‡.—If We hear a loose Hint, or read an immodest Expression, they are almost sure to fasten them-themselves on our Memory. If shaken off, they follow Us with a troublesome Importunity. If excluded, as unwelcome Visitants, they force themselves, again and again, upon our Imagination. They dog Us to the Closet; they haunt our most retired Hours; and too often disturb our very Devotions.—Tell me now, can that Faculty be upright and uncorrupted, which is a perforated Sieve, to transmit the Beneficial; but a thirsty Sponge, to imbibe the Pernicious *.

* Isa. lix. 5.

† Cant. iv. 12.

‡ Jer. ii. 32.

Ther. Well, my Friend, whatever Guilt I or others have contracted, Flattery, I dare be positive, is none of yours. Human Nature has received no heightening or adulatory Touches from your Pencil. You have pourtrayed Her foolish, and beastly, and every Thing bad but devilish.

Asp. And this, even this Abomination I must not secrete, I dare not except.—Envy is a devilish Disposition. It subsists no where, but in damned Spirits, and fallen Souls. Yet, infernal as it is, it has been found in Persons of the most exalted Character. The magnanimous Joshua felt its cancrous Tooth †. The Disciples of the blessed JESUS were soured with its malignant Leaven ‡. An Apostle declares, that the Spirit which dwelleth in Us lusteth to Envy ||; is impetuously prone to that detestable Temper.

Q 2

Lying

* This, I think, suggests an unanswerable Confutation of that specious Argument, frequently used in Behalf of some fashionable but dissolute Diversions. “They are interspersed, say their Admirers, with Sentiments of Virtue, and Maxims of Morality.”—Should We admit the Truth of this Plea; yet the depraved Disposition of Mankind, is pretty sure to drop the Morality, and carry away the Ribaldry.

† Numb. xi. 29.

‡ Matt. xx. 24.

|| Jam. iv. 5.

244 DIALOGUE XIII.

Lying is confessedly a diabolical Practice. Yet, how unaccountably forward are our Children, to utter Falshood? As soon as they are born, they go astray; and as soon as they speak, they speak Lies.—I said unaccountably. But I recal the Expression. The Cause is evident. They have lost the Image of the GOD of Truth; and are become like that apostate Spirit, who is a Liar, and the Father of it *.

What think You of Malice, of Hate, and Revenge? Are they not each a Species of Murder, and the Seed of the old Serpent? Unless, therefore, We are intirely free from all these hellish Emotions, We must, We must acknowledge, that the Prince of this World† has his Party within Us. May the Almighty Hand of our GOD extirpate and subdue it, day by day!

You tell me, I am no Flatterer.—Should a Person who professes Himself the Friend of his Fellow-creatures, soothe them into a false Peace? Should He bolster them up in a groundless Conceit of their Excellency, when they really are no better than “an unclean Thing?”—Shall the Surgeon assure his Patient, “All is well;” even when the Mortification has taken place, and the Gangrene is spreading? This were to refine the first out of all Benevolence, and to flatter the last into his Grave.

A Disputant of less Complaisance than my Theron, would probably ask, what a contemptuous Sneer; “Have You then been drawing your own Picture?”—To Whom I would reply, with Confusion and Sorrow, “I have.” Alledging this only, to moderate my Confusion; That I am daily seeking, by Prayer and Watchfulness, more and more to put off this old,

Man,

* John viii. 44.

† John xiv. 30.

DIALOGUE XIII. 245

Man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful Lusts.*

And, to alleviate my Sorrow, I am endeavouring continually to remember; That, however unworthy I am, however vile I may have been, my adored REDEEMER's Righteousness is perfect; and in this Righteousness every Believer is to make his Boast.

Ther. So then Man is blind in his Understanding; perverse in his Will; disorderly in his Affections; influenced by Dispositions, which are partly brutal, and partly diabolical.—I have often heard You extol, in Terms of high Admiration, the Virtue of Humility. You have lavished all the Riches of Eloquence, when haranguing on Poverty of Spirit. If such be the Condition of Mankind, they have infinite Cause to be poor in Spirit. They must, therefore, have one Excellency left; and according to your own Account, a very distinguishing one.

Ass. Scarce any Thing displays, in a more glaring Light, the extreme Depravity of Man, than his strong Propensity to Pride; notwithstanding so much Vileness, and so many Deformities.—Should the noisome Leper admire the Beauty of his Complexion, or the impotent Paralytic glory in the Strength of his Sinews; would they not be mistaken, even to a Degree of Sottishness and Frenzy? Yet, for Man, fallen Man, who has lost his original Righteousness, which was the true Ornament of his Nature; who is become subject to base and sordid Lusts, or, as the Apostle speaks, is earthly and sensual—for Him to be proud, is still more absurdly wicked. And since this is the Case, I cannot acquit Him from the last and heaviest

Q 3

Article

* Eph. iv. 22.

Article of the sacred Writer's Charge; I have a fresh and more convincing Proof, that We do Him no Wrong, when we call his Nature, his Disposition, his Wisdom—devilish *.

Ther. Why do You reckon Pride an universally prevailing Corruption? I see no Ground for such a dishonourable Suspicion. I hope, I myself am an Instance to the contrary. To unguarded Sallies of Passion, to several other Faults, I confess myself subject. But cannot think, that I am proud.

Asp. Ah! Theran, if you was not proud, You would not be passionate. Unreasonable Anger always proceeds from an over-weening Opinion of our own Worth.—One who, besides his acquired Knowledge of human Nature, had the supernatural Gift of discerning Spirits, is observed to join Humility and Meekness †. Intimating, that they are amiable Twins; and where one exists, the other cannot be absent.—Always consistent with Himself, He links together the opposite Vices, brady and high-minded ‡: not obscurely hinting, that those who are easily provoked, are certainly proud.—Shall I add, without Offence? If We fanfy our Minds to be clear from the Weeds of Vanity, and our Thoughts free from the Workings of Self-admiration: it is a most pregnant Symptom, that We are over-run with the former; abandoned to the latter: and blinded by both.

Pride was the first Sin, that found Entrance into our Nature; and it is, perhaps, the last that will be expelled.—What are all our Afflictions, but a Remedy provided for this inveterate Disease? Intended to hide Pride || from Man. What is the Institution

of

* Jam. iii. 15.
† Job xxxiii. 17.

† Eph. iv. 2.

‡ 2 Tim. iii. 4.

of t Stro high appl yet nor tality
P Wh Iniq with how Em mor not Eve
the with fary as F
and H
how “ J

xxxi

of the Gospel, but a Battery erected against this Strong-hold of Satan? Ordained to cast down every high Imagination *.—Though that Remedy is often applied, though this Battery is continually playing; yet the peccant Humour is not intirely purged off, nor the Elatement of Spirit totally subdued, till Mortality is swallowed up of Life.

Pride is the Sin, which most easily besets Us. Who can say, I have made my Heart clean † from this Iniquity? It defiles our Duties, and intermingles itself with our very Virtues. It starts up, I know not how, in our most solemn Hours, and our most sacred Employments.—The good Hezekiah, whose Prayers were more powerful than all the Forces of Sennacherib, was not Proof against the Wiles of this subtle Sorceress ‡. Even the great Apostle, who had been caught up into the third Heavens, was in Danger of being puffed up with Pride. In such great Danger, that it was necessary to put a Lancet into the gathering Tumour; or, as He Himself expresses it, to fix a Thorn in his Flesh ||, and permit the Messenger of Satan to buffet Him.

How pathetically is this Corruption lamented, and how truly described, by “a sweet Singer of our Israel!”

But Pride, that busy Sin,

Spoils all that I perform.

Curs'd Pride! that creeps securely in,

And swells a haughty Worm.

Q 4

Thy

* 2 Cor. x. 4, 5.
xxxii. 25.

† Prov. xx. 9.

‡ 2 Chron.

|| 2 Cor. xii. 7.

*Thy Glories I abate, Or praise Thee with Design;
Part of thy Favours I forget,
Or think the Merit mine.*

*The very Songs I frame,
Are faithless to thy Cause;
And steal the Honours of thy Name,
To build their own Applause*.*

Ther. Now, I presume, You have given the last Touches to your distorted Pourtrait.

Asp. There are other disagreeable and shocking Features. But those I shall cast into Shades, or hide under a Veil. One Particular You must allow me to add; which, like a fullen Air in the Countenance, throws aggravated Horror over the Whole. I mean, An Inclination to be fond of our Slavery.

In other Instances, the captive Exile hasteth to be loosed †. But here We prefer Bondage to Freedom, and are loth to leave our Prison. Of this, our Backwardness to Self-examination, is both a Consequence and a Proof. Self-examination, under the Agency of the SPIRIT, would open a Window in our Dungeon; would shew Us our wretched Condition, and teach Us to sigh for Deliverance.—Why have We such a Dislike of Reproof? Because we hug our Chains, and choose Darkness rather than Light. Reproof is more grating than the harshest Discord; though it tends to dissolve the Inchantment, and rescue Us from the Tyranny of Sin. While Flattery, which

* WATTS's Hor. Lyr.

† Isa. li. 14.

which abets the Delusion, and strengthens the Spell, is Music to our Ears.—Is not our Reason, which should arraign and condemn every Irregularity, forward to invent Excuses, and to spare the favourite Folly? Reason, which should unsheath the Dagger, superinduces the Mask; and, instead of striking at the Heart of our Vices, screens them under the Cover of some plausible Names. A wicked Habit is called a human Infirmary; insnaring Diversions pass for innocent Amusements; a revengeful Disposition is termed Spirit, Gallantry, and Honour. Thus our Reason (if, when so egregiously perverted, it deserves the Name) is ingenious to obstruct our Recovery; and rivets on the Shackles, which our Passions have formed *.

This the eternal WISDOM foresaw, and therefore uttered that tender Expostulation; How long Ye simple Ones will Ye love Simplicity, and Scorners delight in their Scorning, and Fools hate Knowledge? Even the inestimably precious Knowledge of an all-atoning and completely justifying SAVIOUR; who preaches, who has purchased, and who works Deliverance—preaches in his Word, has purchased by his Blood, and works by his SPIRIT, Deliverance for the Captives—the wretched Captives of Ignorance, Sin, and Death.

This I take to be the most flagrant and deplorable Effect of human Depravity—our Aversion to the Doctrine,

* Perhaps, this is what our LORD means, when, developing the human Heart, and discovering its latent Enormities, He closes the dark Account with apostrophe Foolishness; implying that Stupidity, which has no Sense of its Misery; that Perverseness, which has no Inclination for a Recovery. Both which render all the other Evils far more inveterate. Mark vii. 22.

250 D I A L O G U E XIII.

Doctrine, the Privileges, the Grace of the Gospel. Beware, dear Theron, lest You prove my Point by—shall I speak it? Would You suspect it?—your own Practice. Zealous as I am for my Tenets, I should be sorry, extremely sorry, to have such a Demonstration of their Truth.

Ther. You are highly obliging, Aspasio, to single me out for your Evidence. Yet why should the Honour be appropriated to myself? It belongs, upon the Foot of the preceding Calculation, not to your Friend only, but to the whole Species.—If You was aiming at None but the Licentious and Abandoned, You would have None to oppose You, but Persons of that Character. Your Arrows of Satire, would then be rightly leveled, and might be serviceable to Mankind. Whereas, to put All in the black List; to mark All with the Villain's Brand; this can never be Christian Charity; this is unsufferable Cenforiousness.

Asp. Let me beseech You, Theron, not to misapprehend my Design. I speak not as a malevolent Satirist, but would imitate the faithful Physician. I am opening the Sore, that it may admit the healing Balm: and should I perform the Operation with an invenomed Instrument? My Soul abhors the Thought.—I must intreat You likewise to remember the Distinction, between a State of Nature, and a State of Grace. We are all naturally evil. Such We should for ever continue, did not a supernatural Power intervene; making some to differ, both from their original Selves, and from the Generality of their Neighbours.—Are they refined in their Temper, and reformed in their Life? I grant it. But then it is the Influence of the sanctifying SPIRIT, which purges away away their Dross; yet not without leaving some Alloy.

Ther. Here, Aspasio, You certainly strain the Bow, till it breaks. Since Scripture itself celebrates some Persons, as absolutely perfect.—What says Moses, the inspired Historian? Noah was perfect in his Generation *—What says the GOD of Moses, who can neither deceive, nor be deceived? Job was a perfect Man and an upright †.—Consequently, their Nature must be intirely cleansed from this hereditary Defilement; and their Character confutes your derogatory Representations of Mankind.

Asp. Those eminent Saints were perfect. That is, they were sanctified throughout. Sanctified in all their Faculties. No one Grace of Religion was lacking. As in the new-born Infant, there is a human Creature complete: no constituent Part of the vital Frame is wanting: though each is tender; all are very feeble; and none arrived at the full Size.

They were upright. This Word seems to be explanatory of the preceding; and signifies an unfeigned Desire, joined with a hearty Endeavour, to obey the whole Will of GOD: excluding, not all Defect, but all reigning Hypocrisy, and wilful Remissness.—The Interpretation, thus limited, is of a Piece with their Conduct. If stretched to a higher Pitch, it is evidently inconsistent with the Narrative of their Lives.

Pray, what was your Motive, for decorating the silvan Retirement (which sheltered Us yesterday) with the Statue of Elijah?

Ther. Because I thought, his solitary Life, and gloomy Temper, suited that sequestered Bower. Because

* Gen. vi. 9.

† Job i. 1.

cause the memorable Adventure, there represented, is, with me, a favourite Portion of sacred History.

Are We pleased with spirited and delicate Rallery? Nothing exceeds his pungent Sarcasm, on the stupid and despicable Dupes of Idolatry. Every Sentence is keen as a Razor, and pointed as a Dagger, yet wears the Appearance of the most courtly Complaisance. We may truly say, in the beautiful Language of the Psalmist, His Words are smoother than Oil, and yet be they very Swords *.

Are We delighted with Instances of Magnanimity? A single Prophet, unsupported by any human Aid, maintains the Cause of Truth, against the King, his Grandeers, and hundreds of the apostate Priests. He ventures to stake all his Credit, to risk his very Life; and (what was dearer to Him than personal Credit, or bodily Life,) the Honour of the true GOD, and Interests of his holy Religion—to risk all on the immediate Interposition of a most surprising Miracle.

Do We admire the Triumphs of Faith? His Faith was, in a manner, omnipotent. He prays, and Torrents of Fire descend from the Sky, to devour his Adversaries †.—He prays again, and the Shutes of Heaven are shut; there is neither Dew nor Rain for several Years ‡.—A third Time He prays, and the Windows from on High are opened; Abundance of Showers water the Earth ||.—On another Occasion he presents his Supplications, and GOD makes

* 1 Kings xviii. 27. And it came to pass at Noon, that Elijah mocked them, and said; Cry aloud; for He is a God. Either He is talking, or He is pursuing, or He is in a Journey, or peradventure He sleepeth, and must be awaked.

† 2 Kings i. 10. ‡ 1 Kings xvii. 1. || Jam. v. 17, 18.

his Feet like Harts Feet. Infomuch that an aged Prophet outruns the royal Chariot *.

Asp. I commend your Taste, Theron: and am particularly pleased with the Reasons of your Choice. — But do not you remember, that even the Wonder-working Tishbite failed in his Resignation, and failed in his Faith? Eminent as He was for Mortification, He gave way to unreasonable Discontent; and, though a Champion for the living GOD, He yielded to unbelieving Fear †.—The Man Moses was very meek, above all the Men which were upon the Face of the Earth ‡: Yet He, even He was provoked in his Spirit, and spake unadvisedly with his Lips §.—Was not Peter the Hero among our LORD's Followers? Yet He trembles, more than trembles, at the shaking of a Leaf; He denies his Divine MASTER, scared by the Voice of a Woman.

Look where-ever We will, We find Proofs of human Depravity; reigning uncontrouled in Some, making frequent Insurrection in All. It is written on our own Hearts, by the Pen of Experience; the Finger of Observation points it out, in the Practice of Others.—Even in the Practice of Those, who have been

* 1 Kings xviii. 46.

† Elias, or rather Elijah, was a Man subject to like Passions as We are. Jam. v. 17. Upon which Passage, an eminent Commentator makes the following Remark; “ This probably is said, with respect to his Fear and Discontent, manifested 1 Kings xix. 3, 4.” — Ουνομαθης must, I think, imply a State, liable to the irregular Workings of Passion; not free from the sinful Infirmities of Nature. Otherwise, it is an Instance foreign to the Purpose; does by no means answer the End designed; which is to encourage the Heart, and strengthen the Faith, even of frail, corrupt, offending Creatures. See Ver. 16.

‡ Numb. xii. 3.

§ Psal. cvi. 33.

254 DIALOGUE XIII.

been Saints of the first Rank, and of the highest Endowments. Yet they were defective.—Defective too, in that very Quality, which was their distinguishing Gift; in which they particularly excelled.

Ther. While We are talking, the Day has insensibly stole itself away, and left Us surrounded with Twilight. Which is a Sort of Lustre intermingled with Darkness: no Part wholly lucid; no Part wholly obscure.—An Emblem, according to your Representation, of the renewed Soul, and its imperfect Holiness.

Asp. A very just one.—Even where the Gospel shines, still there is an incurrent Gloom of Corruption. Ignorance mixes itself with our Knowledge. Unbelief cleaves to our Faith. Nor is our Purity free from all Contamination.—The Prophet Zechariah, foretelling the Establishment of the Gospel Kingdom, and describing the State of its spiritual Subjects; says; It shall come to pass in that Day, that the Light shall not be clear, nor dark *. This, as to its literal Sense, We now see exemplified in the circumambient Atmosphere. With regard to its spiritual Meaning, every true Believer feels it accomplished in his own Breast.

Ther. While You are so vehement, in decrying all human Attainments; consider, Aspasio, whether You do not check and dispirit Us, in the Pursuit of exalted Virtue.

Asp. I suppose, You never expected to be such an Adept in Geometry as Archimedes, nor so profound found an Astronomer as Newton; yet this did not check your Application to the Study of Mathematics, or the Contemplation of the Heavens.—Your Brother the Merchant, I presume, has no Prospect of amassing the Wealth of a Craesus, or the immense Treasures of a Kouli-Khan; yet this does not dispirit Him in prosecuting the Business, which brings Him both Opulence and Honour.

* Zech. xiv. 6. 1 Cor. xiii. 9. For We know in Part. Perhaps this Declaration of the Apostle may be a Key to the Prophet's Meaning. However it is a sufficient Confirmation of Aspasio's Sentiment.

However, Theron, so long as you deny the Imputation of CHRIST's Righteousness, I must acknowledge, You act a consistent Part, in being zealous for the Perfection of personal Obedience. You ought either to acquire the One, or to accept the Other. Therefore, I shall produce no more Arguments for your Discouragement; but shall comprise the whole of my Answer, in the Motto to an Irish Nobleman's Arms, TRY. Or, if this be too concise, I will subjoin, with a very little Alteration, the Words of a King; "When You have attained what You pursue, bring me Word again, that I may go, and possess it also *."

Ther. According to your Account, the most advanced and established Christians, are but like a Company of Invalids. Does not this extremely derogate from the Honour of our LORD, considered as the Physician of Souls? It seems to make a mere Nothing of Sanctification; and would swallow up CHRIST the King, in CHRIST the Priest.

Asp. Invalids they are †: and such will continue, till they are dismissed from this great Infirmary, and admitted

* Matt. ii. 8.

† Do not the best of Men lament their Ignorance of the divine Perfections, their Slowness of Heart to believe the divine Promises, and the Languor of their Gratitude admitted into that holy, happy, blessed World ; Where the Inhabitant shall no more say, I am either in Soul or in Body sick *.

If the Cure was never to be completed, this doubtless would be dishonourable to our Almighty PHY-SICIAN. But the spiritual Recovery, begun on Earth, and advancing through Time, will be perfected in Heaven, and prolonged to Eternity.—Does this make a mere Nothing of Sanctification ? No, but it makes room for a continual Progress, and affords Cause for continual Humiliation. It reserves a most exalted Prerogative, for the heavenly State and beatific Vision ; and perpetually reminds us of a most important Truth, That our present Blessedness consists, not in being free from all Sin, but in having no Sin imputed to Us †.

This

titute for inestimable, for innumerable Gifts of the divine Goodness ?—Do they not frequently feel Deadness in their Devotions, Disorder in their Affections, and various other Relics of the original Leaven ?—Do they not often complain, in the Language of the Apostle, When I would do Good, Evil is present with me ? And say, with the earliest Christians, We that are in this Tabernacle do groan, being burdened. Burdened, not so much with Affliction : those Heroes in Christianity had learnt, to rejoice in Tribulation. But burdened with a Sense of their spiritual Infirmities, and with the Workings of their in-bred Corruption. Which, to a tender and lively Believer, are the heaviest of Crosses, and the most galling of Loads.—Nay ; do not the Heirs of Glory wash their very Robes, even their fairest Deeds, and their brightest Graces, in the Blood of the LAMB ? Which, if they were free from Spot, and void of Impurity, need not be made white in this sacred Fountain. See 2 Cor. v. 4.
Rev. vii. 14.

* Isa. xxxiii. 24.

† Psal. xxxii. 2.

This Imperfection of our Obedience, instead of confounding, maintains a proper Distinction between CHRIST the King, and CHRIST the Priest. Whereas, if We were perfect in Piety, the priestly Office, with regard to Us, would be superseded. What Need of an Intercessor, to recommend our Prayers? What Occasion for an High Priest, to bear the Iniquity of our holy Things *? If some Taint of the original Leaven did not pollute our best Services?

Neither does this detract from the Wisdom, from the Goodness, or from the Power of CHRIST. It rather administers to the advantageous Display of all these divine Attributes.—Of his Wisdom; in conducting the Affairs of his Church with such exact Propriety, that the Righteousness of Faith may have its due Honour, and the Sanctification of the SPIRIT its proper Esteem.—Of his Goodness; in carrying on the Work of Grace, amidst so much Infirmary, and so many Corruptions; and in crowning, with consummate Happiness, such frail undeserving Creatures.—Of his Power; in extracting a Variety of Benefits even from—

Ther Benefits, Aspasio!—Can any thing beneficial proceed from an Evil, which, according to your own Representation, is so incorrigibly malignant?

Asp. It will tend to make Us lowly in our own Eyes. When We remember, that by Nature We are altogether become abominable; that the Remains of natural Depravity still adhere to our Minds; how must such a View of Ourselves cover Us with Shame, and lay Us low in Abasement! Less than the least of all

VOL. II.

R

tby

* Exod. xxviii. 38. Id est, expiare Peccata, quibus sanctissima: cateroquin Actiones nostrae inquinatae sunt.

258 D I A L O G U E XIII.

thy Mercies *, will be the Language of such a One's very Soul.

It will dispose Us to compassionate Others. How can We take a Brother by the Throat, and require faultless Perfection in his Behaviour, when We Our-selves in many Things offend, in all Things fall short? Every such Consideration rebukes, what I may call spiritual Unmercifulness; it pleads for Tenderness and Forbearance to our Fellow-creatures; is a Monitor within, and whispers that affecting Remonstrance, Oughtest not Thou to have Compassion upon thy Fellow-servant, since thy Almighty LORD hath such renewed, such unwearied, Pity on Thee †?

It will teach Us to admire the Riches of Grace. Shall fallen Creatures, that are taken from the very Dunghills of Sin, and rescued from a Hell of inward Iniquity—Shall they, notwithstanding their deplorable Depravity, and innumerable Deficiencies—Shall they be admitted into the Bosom of eternal Love? They be exalted to the Thrones of Glory, and numbered with the Princes of Heaven? This is Grace, transcendently rich, and divinely free indeed!

Will it not reconcile Us to the Approach of Death? This, methinks, like Wormwood on the Nipple, or Gall in the Cup, must tend to wean us from the World. How can we be enamoured with such a Land of Darkness, and such a Vale of Tears? Or why should We covet, when Providence gives the Signal for our Departure, to prolong our Abode in these Territories of Disorder?—Surely, this must incline us to leave them, every Day, more and more in our Affections; and at last, to leave them, without

* Gen. xxxii. 10.

† Matt. xviii. 33

out any Reluctance, by final Dissolution. Leave them, for that better Country, where our personal Righteousness will no longer be defective, like the waning Moon; but shine forth with consummate Lustre, like the meridian Sun, in the Kingdom of our FATHER.

It will endear the Blessed JESUS in every Capacity; as the Stings of the fiery flying Serpents, and the Dearth of the waste howling Wilderness, endear- ed to the Israelites both their miraculous Antidote, and their Bread from Heaven.—They who believe this Truth, must see their inexpressible and incessant Need of CHRIST's Spirit. The Protestation of Moses, on a particular Occasion, will be the daily, the hourly Breathing of their Souls; Carry Us not up hence, unless thy Presence, thy SPIRIT, go with Us *. For without this Aid, We can discharge no Duty aright, nor successfully resist any Temptation.—They will be exceedingly cautious, not to grieve † that sacred Guest, lest He depart from them, and abandon them to the Power of their lurking Corruptions. Knowing, that if He abandon them, when such Foes are within, and so many Snares without; their Case will be worse than Samson's, when his Locks were shaven, and the Philistines all around Him.

How highly will such Persons value the Blood of the Covenant; and the Intercession of their great HIGH-PRIEST!—They will no more pre- sume to enter into the Presence of the most High GOD, without a fiducial Reliance upon the aton- ing and interceding SAVIOUR; than the Sons

R 2

of

* Exod. xxxiii. 15.

† Eph. iv. 30.

of Jacob would have ventured to appear before the Viceroy of Egypt, without the Company of their younger Brother *. In all, in all their Intercourse with Heaven, the great PROPITIATION will be their Plea, and the great ADVOCATE their Confidence.—The impotent Man waited at the Pool of Bethesda, and the Syrian General dipped seven Times in Jordan. These Persons will not only wait, but live by the Fountain opened for Sin and Uncleanness †. They will wash in the sacred sanctifying Stream, not seven Times only, but seventy Times seven.

And when such Sentiments possess the Mind, how dear ! O how dear and desirable will our LORD's Obedience be !—I called, sometime ago, our own Works Worm-eaten Things ; and must not these Corruptions, if they remain ever so little in the Heart, tarnish our Graces, and debase our Duties ? Must they not be depreciatory to all our Accomplishments ; and too much like corroding Vermin, in the Substance of our Timber, or at the Core of our Fruits ?—Should We not then renounce, utterly renounce these tarnished, worm-eaten Things ? And rely, wholly rely, for everlasting Acceptance, on our Divine HIGH-PRIEST ? Who, in his mediatorial Works, as well as in his wonderful Person, is altogether Light and Perfection ‡ ; and neither in Him,

* Gen. xliii. 5.

† Zech. xiii. i.

‡ Light and Perfection—This is the Meaning of that mysterious Ornament, which, in the grand officiating Robes of the Jewish High-Priest, was annexed to the Breast-Plate, and styled Urim and Thummim. Only the Hebrew Words are in the plural Number, and denote every Degree of Illumination, and all Kinds of Perfection.—Does not this very significantly teach Sinners, Whence

DIALOGUE XIII. 261

Him, nor in them, is there any Deficiency or any Darkneſs at all.

Excuse me, Theron; I fear, I have been preaching. The Importance of the Text, muſt form my Apology. It is an Introduction, not to the Records of Hiſtory, or the Transactions of Philoſophy, but to the Riches of CHRIST.

Ther. If my Aſpaſio has been preaching, I can aſſure him for his Comfort, that his Audience has been very attentive; and though the Sermon was ſomewhat copious, the Hearer neither ſlept nor gaped.—However, I ſhould be glad to have the Whole reviewed, and ſummed up: that, if it has been large as the Pyramid, it may, like the Pyramid, terminate in a Point.

Aſp. This then is the State of our Nature—The Image of the CREATOR is loſt: Blindneſs is in the Underſtanding: Diſorder in all the Affections.—In the Will, Enmity againſt GOD, the ſovereign Good: Inability to all that is ſpiritual and heavenly: with a Propenſity to whatever is ſordid and earthly.—The whole Soul is deformed, diſtempered, rebellious.—And ſhall ſuch a Creature lay claim to thoſe amiable and ſacred Endowments, which may be a proper Recommendation to infinite Holineſs?—Is ſuch a Creature qualified to perform thoſe righteous Acts, which may approve themſelves to the Demand of to ſeek their Wiſdom, and Where to look for their Perfection? There never was, in all Ages, more than one Urim and Thummin; and only one Perſon, in each Generation, was appointed to wear it. And Who is there, in all Worlds, that can give Us heavenly Knowledge, but the SPIRIT of CHRIST? What is there, in Ourſelves or all Creatures, that can preſent Us unblameable before GOD, but the Obedience of CHRIST?

R 3

GOD's

262 D I A L O G U E XIII.

GOD's Law, and to the Inflexibility of his Justice.

Should he conceive the vain Hope, or make the vainer Attempt, I would now address Him, as Jehoash formerly answered Amaziah.—Amaziah King of Judah, elated with the little Victories he had obtained over the Edomites, began to fancy Himself invincible. Prompted by this foolish Imagination, He challenges Jehoash King of Israel, to meet Him in a pitched Battle; and receives this ironical Apologue, by way of Reply.—Which, for Gallantry of Spirit and Delicacy of Wit, for Poignancy of Satire and Propriety of Application, has seldom been equaled, perhaps never exceeded—The Thistle that was in Lebanon, sent to the Cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, Give thy Daughter to my Son to Wife: and there passed by a wild Beast that was in Lebanon, and trod down the Thistle *. What are We—when We offer to establish our own Righteousness, or presume to justify Ourselves before the most High GOD—but despicable Thistles, that fancy themselves stately Cedars? And is not every Temptation, is not each Corruption, a wild Beast of the Desert, which will trample on the impotent Boaster, and tread his haughty Pretensions in the Dust?

* 2 Kings xiv. 9.

DIALOGUE XIV.

SPASIO was employed in preparing for his Journey. Theron, free from Business, and disengaged from Company, had the greatest Part of the Day to Himself. Which he spent, in reviewing the Substance of their late Conferences; not without intermingled Aspirations to GOD, for the Guidance of his Divine SPIRIT.

At Evening, He went, like the Patriarch of old, into the Field to meditate * : amidst the Calm of Nature, to meditate on the Grace of the Gospel.—The Sky was peculiarly beautiful, and perfectly clear; only where the fine Indigo received an agreeable Heightenings, by a few thin and scattered Clouds; which imbibed the solar Rays, and looked like pen-file Fleeces of purest Wool.—All Things appeared with so mild, so majestic, so charming an Aspect, that, intent as He was upon a different Subject, He could not but indulge the following Soliloquy.

“ How

* Gen. xxiv. 63.

“ How delightful are the Scenes of rural Nature !
 “ Especially, to the philosophic Eye, and contemplative “ Mind.—I cannot wonder, that Persons in high “ Life, are so fond of retiring from a conspicuous
 “ and exalted Station, to the Covert of a shady “ Grove, or the Margin of a cooling Stream. Are “ so desirous of quitting the smoky Town, and noisy “ Street ; in order to breathe purer Air, and survey
 “ the Wonders of Creation, in the silent, the serene,
 “ the peaceful Villa.

“ ’Tis true, in the Country, there are none of the “ modish, I had almost said, meretricious Orna“ ments of that false Politeness, which refines People “ out of their Veracity. But an easy Simplicity of “ Manners, with an unaffected Sincerity of Mind.—
 “ Here, the solemn Farce of Ceremony is seldom “ brought into Play ; and the pleasing Delusions of “ Compliment have no Place. But the Brow is the “ real Index of the Temper, and Speech the genuine “ Interpreter of the Heart.

“ In the Country, I acknowledge, We are sel“ dom invited to see the mimic Attempts of human “ Art. But We, every where, behold the grand
 “ and masterly Exertions of divine Power.—No “ Theatre erects its narrow Stage ; surrounds it, with “ puny Rows of ascending Seats ; or adorns it, with “ a shifting Series of gorgeous Scenery. But Fields “ extend their ample Area ; at first, lightly clad with “ a Scarf of springing Green ; then, deeply planted “ with an Arrangement of spindling Stalks ; as a “ few more Weeks advance, covered with a Pro“ fusion of bearded or husky Grain ; at last, richly “ laden with a Harvest of yellow Plenty.

“ Meadows

“ Meadows disclose their beautiful Bosom ; yield “ a soft and fertile Lap for the luxuriant Herbage ;
 “ and suckle Myriads of the fairest, gayest Flowers.
 “ Which, without any vain Ostentation, or expen“ sive Finery, outvie each other in all the Elegance “ of Drefs.—Groves of various Leaf ; arrayed in “ freshest Verdure, and liberal of their reviving “ Shade ; rise, in amiable, in noble Prospect, all “ around.—Droves of sturdy Oxen, strong for La“ bour, or fat for the Shambles ; *Herd*s of sleeky “ Kine, with Milk in their Udders, and Violets in “ their Nostrils ; Flocks of well-sheeced Sheep, with “ their snowy Lambkins, frisking at their Side ; these “ compose the living Machinery.—Boundless Tracts “ of bending Azure, varnished with inimitable Deli“ cacy, and hung with starry Lamps, or irradiated “ with solar Lustre, form the stately Cieling.—While
 “ the early Breezes, and the evening Gales ; charged “ with no unwholsome Vapours, breeding no pesti“ lential Taint ; but fanning the humid Buds, and “ waving their odoriferous Wings, dispense a thou“ sand Sweets, mingled with the most sovereign Sup“ ports of Health. — And is not this School of In“ dustry, this Magazine of Plenty, incomparably “ more delightful, as well as infinitely less dangerous, “ than those gaudy Temples of Profuseness and De“ bauchery, where Sin and Ruin wear the Mask of “ Pleasure ? Where Belial is daily or nightly wor“ shipped with, what his Votaries call, modish Re“ creation, and genteel Amusement ?

“ Here indeed is no tuneful Voice, to melt in “ Strains of amorous Anguish, and transuse the “ sickening Fondness to the Hearer’s Breast. No “ skilful Artist, to inform the Lute with musical In“ chantment ;

“ chantment ; to strike infectious Melody from the “ Viol ; and sooth away the Resolution and Acti“ vity of Virtue, in wanton Desires, or voluptuous “ Indolence.—But the Plains bleat ; the Mountains “ low ; and the hollow circling Rocks echo with the “ universal Song. Every Valley remurmurs to the “ Fall of silver Fountains, or the liquid Lapse of “ gurgling Rills.—Birds, Muscians ever beauteous, “ ever gay, perched on a thousand Boughs, play a “ thousand sprightly and harmonious Airs.

“ Charmed therefore with the finest Views ; lulled “ with the softest Sounds ; and treated with the rich“ est Odours ; what can be wanting to complete the “ Delight ? Here is every Entertainment for the Eye ;
 “ the most refined Gratifications for the Ear ; and a “ perpetual Banquet for the Smell ; without any in“ fidious Decoy, for the Integrity of our Conduct, “ or even for the Purity of our Fancy.

“ O ye blooming Walks, and flowery Lawns, “ surrounded with dewy Landscapes ! How often “ have Patriots and Heroes, laid aside the Burden of “ Power, and stole away from the Glare of Gran“ deur, to enjoy themselves * in your composed Re“ treats !—Ye mossy Couches, and fragrant Bowers, “ skirted with cooling Cascades ! How many illustri- “ ous Personages, after all their glorious Toil for the “ public Good, have sought an honourable and wel“ come Repose in your downy Lap † ?—Ye venerable “ Oaks,

* ————— Mibi me reddentis Agelli,
 says Horace of his little Country-seat.

† Virgil was so smitten with the Amiability of these Scenes, that He assigns them as an Habitation for happy Spirits, in the Regions of Elysium.

DIALOGUE XIV. 267

“ Oaks, and solemn Groves; Woods, that whisper “ to the quivering Gale; Clifts, that over-hang the “ darkened Flood; Who can number the Sages and “ Saints, that have devoted the Day to Study, or re“ signed a vacant Hour to healthy Exercise, be“ neath your silvan Porticos, and waving Arches?
 “ That, far from the dull Impertinence of Man,
 “ have listened to the instructive Voice of GOD;
 “ and contemplated the Works of his adorable Hand, “ amidst your moss-grown Cells, and rocky Shades.
 “ —How inelegant, or how insensible is the Mind, “ which has no awakened lively Relish for these “ sweet Recesses, and their exquisite Beauties!”

But whither am I carried? Is not this rural Enthusiasm? I find myself talking to Trees; and forget the momentous Question, which waits for our Decision. Here then let my Rhapsody cease, and my Inquiry proceed.—Does it betray a Want of true Delicacy, to be insensible of Nature’s Charms? My Aspasio thinks, it argues as wrong a Taste in practical Divinity, not to acquiesce in the imputed Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST.—To this Doctrine I have been always extremely averse. I set myself to oppose it with Objections, drawn from the Reason of Things, and from various Passages of Scripture.
 To all which my Friend replied. And though I was scarcely convinced, yet I was silenced by his Answers.

I pleaded for the Sufficiency of our sincere Obedience. Especially, when accompanied with Repent- ance,

Lucis habitamus opacis, Riparumque Toros, & Prata recentia Rivis Incolimus.

ance, and recommended by the Merits of CHRIST.—Neither was this Attempt successful. His Arguments, somewhat like the flaming Sword, planted at the Entrance of Paradise; *turned every Way; and precluded all Access to Life, on the Foot of our own Duty.

At length, Aspasio quitted the defensive, and attacked me in his Turn. He explained the Precepts, and enforced the Threatenings, of the divine Law. So exact its Tenour! That it demands a perfect and persevering Conformity to every Injunction.—So extensive its Authority! That it reaches the inmost Thoughts; and requires Obedience, not barely in the Actions of the Life, but the very Intentions of the Heart.—So inexorable its Severity! That it condemns every the smallest Offence, and curses every the least Offender.

This Remonstrance, had some of the Terror, and almost all the Effect, of a masked Battery. It was quite unexpected, and alarmed me considerably.—To push his Advantage, He enlarged upon the infinite Purity of GOD. A GOD glorious in Holiness: Who cannot look upon Evil, with any Connivance, or without the utmost Abhorrence. Before whom the very Heavens are unclean, and who will in no wise clear the Guilty.

To complete his Victory, He played off the Doctrine of original Guilt, and original Depravity.—That, besides the Imputation of Adam's Apostacy; besides the Commission of numberless Iniquities; We were born in Sin—Are, by Nature, Enmity against GOD—In all our Faculties corrupt—In every Imagination gination evil—And, even when renewed * by Grace, are still, still tainted with some base Remains of the old Leprosy.

* Gen. iii. 24.

After all, He bid me consider—What Fruits must spring from such a Nature? — How they must appear, when compared with such a Law? — What they must deserve, when tried before such a GOD? — These, I must confess, are very weighty and startling Queries. If these Representations are true, the Face of human Affairs carries a most gloomy Aspect. Or rather, a most dreadful Storm is hanging over the Children of Men.—Aspasio urges me to fly, without any Delay, to the Covert of CHRIST's meritorious Obedience. This, He says, was wrought out, in my Name, and in my Stead: this will be admitted, both at the Throne of Grace, and the Bar of Judgment, as my justifying Righteousness.

This, He adds, opens a Way, on GOD's Part, for the largest Emanations and most honourable Exercise of Mercy. On Man's Part, it founds a Title
to

* Even when renewed—For a Display of this important Truth, and a Remedy against this stubborn Evil, let me refer the Reader to a little Treatise published by Dr. Owen, and intitled The Nature, Power, Deceit, and Prevalency of the Remainders of indwelling Sin in Believers. —The Author's Pen is indeed a dissecting Knife, goes deep into his Subject, and lays open this Plague of the Heart. Like a Work-man that need not be ashamed, He demonstrates his Point from the unerring Word of GOD, and the acknowledged Experience of Christians. Like a compassionate as well as able Physician, He all along prescribes the proper Antidote; nay, He shews how the Poison may be so over-ruled by divine Grace, and so managed by the watchful Patient, as to become medicinal, salutary, and conducive to the most beneficial Purposes.

to Pardon, to Life, and every spiritual Blessing.— This Doctrine, especially in such a Connection, begins to put on a more recommending Appearance. My Prejudices are really wearing away. I am almost a Convert.

Aspasio over-heard the Close of these Reflections. Unwilling to interrupt his Friend, in so serious an Inquiry; and desirous to observe the Issue of so interesting a Debate; He had hitherto concealed Himself. But thinking this a favourable Minute, He stepped forward, and said—

Asp. Almost! and why not altogether a Convert? What should hinder my dear Theron, from submitting to so rational a Scheme, with the most intire Acquiescence? What should hinder Him from embracing so comfortable a Doctrine, with the utmost Complacency? Why should he not subscribe, both with Hand and Heart, that divine Decree? Their Righteousness is of me, saith the LORD *.

Ther. If, by this Doctrine, the Claims of the Law are answered—If the Perfections of GOD are glorified—If the Interests of Morality are secured—I must acknowledge, it will be more worthy of Acceptance, than I could once have imagined.

Asp. And if all these Points are not gained; gained too in the most eminent Manner; I solemnly declare, that I will never plead for imputed Righteousness more.

But the Claims of the Law are all answered.— For, there is nothing in its sacred Injunctions, which CHRIST did not perform; and nothing in its awful Threatenings, which CHRIST did not sustain. He fulfilled all its Precepts, by an unspotted Purity

* Isa. liv. 17.

Purity of Heart, and the most perfect Integrity of Life. He exhausted its whole Curse, when he hung upon the Cross, abandoned by his FATHER, and a bleeding Victim for the Sins of his People.— This Obedience brings higher Honour to the divine Law, than it could have received, from the uninterrupted Duty of Adam, and all his Posterity, in all their Generations.

The Perfections of GOD, which were dishonoured by our Rebellion, are glorified.—He appears, by this Method of Justification, inconceivably rich in shewing Mercy; yet steady, inflexibly steady, in executing Vengeance. The Sceptre of Grace, and the Sword of Justice, have each its due Exercise, each its full Scope. The Holiness of the divine Nature, and the Dignity of the divine Government, are not only maintained, but most magnificently displayed. Indeed, it is the peculiar Excellence of this wonderful Expedient, that it renders all the divine Attributes supremely venerable, and supremely amiable.

Ther. But are the Interests of Morality secured? This is what I am strongly inclined to doubt. And to say the Truth, this is now my principal Objection to your Scheme.

Asp. I shall never blame my Friend, for being vigilant and jealous over the Interests of Morality. If our Doctrine had a malignant Aspect on true Morality, I would give my Voice against it, and use all my Endeavours to suppress it.—But it is formed with every Tendency, to awaken the utmost Dread of Sin, and affect Us with the warmest Sense of our CREATOR's Love. And is not that the strongest Barrier against the Incroachments of Vice? Is not this the sweetest Inducement to the Practice of Virtue?

I am

272 DIALOGUE XIV.

I am glad to find, that a Jealousy for the Interests of Morality, is the chief Obstacle in the Way of your Assent. Because, I am persuaded, it is much of the same Nature with those forbidding and mistaken Apprehensions, which our Ancestors entertained, concerning the Ocean. They looked upon it, as an unsurmountable Obstruction, to universal Society. Whereas it is in Fact, the very Cement of Society; the only Means of accomplishing a general Inter-course; and the great Highway to all the Nations of the Earth. What is here affirmed, may, on some future Occasion, be proved.—At present, let me desire you to imagine, rather, may the Blessed SPIRIT enable You to believe, That your Sins are expiated, through the Death of JESUS CHRIST: That a Righteousness is given You, by virtue of which, You may have free and welcome Access to GOD; the Merit of which you may plead, for obtaining all the Blessings of Time and Eternity.—Then let me ask; Will this alienate your Affections from your Almighty BENEFACTOR? Will this irritate evil Concupiscence, or send You to carnal Gratifications in quest of Happiness? Quite the Reverse. When this Faith is wrought in your Heart, nothing will be so powerful, to produce holy Love, and willing Obedience; to exalt your Desires, and enable You to overcome the World.

What says the Apostle? I through the Law am dead to the Law *. Being made to understand its Spirituality and Perfection, I have no longer any Hope of Justification from my own Conformity to its Precepts.—Did this prompt Him, did this embolden Him, to neglect or violate his Duty? Hear the sacred Writer's own

* Gal. ii. 29.

own Declaration) I am released from the Rigour and Bondage of the Law; I am directed to CHRIST for Righteousness and Salvation; that I may live unto GOD. That my whole Life may be devoted to HIS Honour, who has brought me into a State so delightful, into a Liberty so glorious.

For, This Liberty, I am afraid, will be of very little Service to the licentious and gay World.

Ans. I shall be in no Pain even for the gay World, if once they cordially receive this Grace, and are vitally influenced by this Doctrine. Which, far from dissolving the least Obligation to Obedience, or weakening any one Principle of Piety, adds to every other Motive, the endearing Engagements of Gratitude, and the winning Persuasives of Love.

Nay; I verily believe, that Multitudes in the gay and licentious World, are held fast in the fatal Snare, by their Ignorance of this sweet, alluring, consolatory Truth. They find themselves deeply obnoxious to divine Justice, and feel themselves strongly bound with the Chains of Sensuality. They think, it is impossible to clear the enormous Score of their Guilt; impossible to deliver themselves from the confirmed Dominion of Sin. Therefore, like desperate Debtors, they stifle every serious Thought; lest a Consciousness of their long Arrears, and a Prospect of the dreadful Reckoning, should torment them before the Time.

But if they were informed, that the infinitely merciful SON of GOD, has undertaken to redeem such undone and helpless Sinners—That He has thoroughly expiated the most horrid Transgressions, and procured even for ungodly Wretches, all the needful Supplies of strengthening Grace—That, instead of being prohibited, they are invited to partake, freely to partake, of these unspeakable Blessings—Were they acquainted with these glad Tidings of the Gospel, surely they would burst their Chains, and spring to Liberty. These Trials, if once revealed in their Hearts, would, of all Considerations, be most effectual to make them free.*

What shall I say more, to obtain my Therons Ap- probation? Shall I point out and plead the most illustrious Precedents?—G O D the F A T H E R is well pleased with this Righteousness of our R E D E E M E R. He expresses his Complacency by the most emphatical Words: Behold my Servant, whom I uphold; mine Elect, in whom my Soul delighteth†. In C H R I S T and his Righteousness, G O D is not only pleased, but delighted: his very Soul, every Perfection of the G O D H E A D, with ineffable Satisfaction, rests and acquiesces in them—I said ineffable; for He has declared this, in a Manner superior to all the Energy of Language, by raising our crucified S U R E T Y from the Dead; by exalting Him to the Heaven of Heavens; and placing Him at his own Right-hand in Glory.

Our L O R D J E S U S C H R I S T is well pleased. He esteems it his Honour to shine forth as the everlasting Righteousness of his People. It is the brightest Jewel of his mediatorial Crown. In this He sees of the Travail of his Soul, and is satisfied. Accounting Himself fully recompensed, for all the Labours of his Life, and all the Sorrows of his Death, when Sinners are washed from their Guilt in his Blood, and presented faultless by his Obedience.

The

* John viii. 32. † Isa. xlii. 1.

THE HOLY SPIRIT is equally pleased with this great Transaction, and its noble Effects! It is his peculiar Office, and favourite Employ, to convince the World of their SAVIOUR's Righteousness. Not only that his Nature was spotlessly pure; and his Conversation perfectly holy; but that from both results a Righteousness, of infinite Dignity, and everlasting Efficacy: sufficient, throughout all Ages sufficient, for the Acceptance and Salvation of the most unworthy Creatures.

Since then, this Method of Acceptance and Salvation, is excellent and glorious, in the Eyes of the adorable TRINITY—Since it magnifies the Law, and yields the most exalted Honour to its Divine AUTHOR—Since it makes ample Provision for the Holiness of a corrupt, and the Happiness of a ruined World—Why should my Friend any longer dislike it; oppose it; or treat it with a cold Indifference? Surely, all these grand Recommendations, are enough to over-rule any little Objections, which may arise from the Suspicions of Timidity, or may be started by the Artifices of Sophistry.

Ther. I know not how it is, Aspasio; but I cannot reconcile myself to this Doctrine of imputed Righteousness: notwithstanding all the Pains You have taken, to make me a Convert.

Asp. The Disappointment is mine, but the Loss is yours, Theron.—However, let me intreat You, not to reject my Sentiments absolutely, nor to condemn them prematurely. Suppose it possible at least, that they may be true; and weigh them in an even Balance.—Learn Wisdom from your Aspasio's Folly. I was once exactly in your Situation; saw Things in your Light, and through your Medium.

276 DIALOGUE XIV.

Conversing, [I well remember, with a devout but plain Person, our Discourse happened to turn upon that solemn Admonition; *If any Man will come after ME, let Him deny Himself. I was haranguing upon the Import and Extent of the Duty. Shewing, that merely to forbear the infamous Action, is little. We must deny Admittance, deny Entertainment at least, to the evil Imagination; and quench even the inkindling Spark of irregular Desire.—When I had shot a random Bolt, my honest Friend replied; “There is another Instance of Self-denial, to which this Injunction extends, and which is of very great Moment in the Christian Religion. I mean, the Instance of renouncing our own Strength, and our own Righteousness; not leaning on that, for Help; nor relying on this, for Justification.”—I thought the old Man, I must confess, little better than a superstitious Dotard; and wondered at (what I then fancied) the motley Mixture of Piety and Oddity in his Notions. But now I discern Sense, Solidity, and Truth in his Observation†. Now I perceive, that we ourselves are often the Dreamers, when We imagine Others to be fast asleep.

Ther.

* Matt. xvi. 24.

† Milton thought the same, otherwise he would never have put those Words into the Mouth of a divine Speaker.

Thy Merit,

Imputed shall absolve them, who renounce

Their own, both righteous and unrighteous, Deeds:

And live in Thee transplanted, and from Thee Receive new Life.

Ther. I shall not forget your Caution, and will endeavour to avoid the Rock, on which my Aspasie struck; but happily, it seems, escaped Shipwreck.— You may likewise assure Yourself, that, upon a Subject of exceeding great and eternal Consequence, I shall not fail to use the most attentive and impartial Consideration. An indolent Supineness, or a bigoted Obstinacy, in this great Crisis of Affairs, would be of all Errors the most inexcusable, and must prove of all Miscarriages the most fatal.

Asp. But still You cannot reconcile Yourself—And no Wonder. For this Way of Salvation runs directly counter to the Stream of corrupt Nature. It puzzles our Reason, and offends our Pride. What? shall We, not work, but believe unto Righteousness *? Shall We receive all freely, and reckon Ourselves no better than unprofitable Servants! This is a Method, to which We should never submit; this is a Proposal, which We should always spurn; were not our Sentiments rectified, and our Hearts new moulded, by sovereign Grace.

Let me remind You of a little Incident, which You must have read in the Grecian History. A certain Stranger came, one Day, to dine with some Lacedæmonians. They, You know, always sat down at a public Table, and were content with the plainest Food. The Gentleman, accustomed to higher Eating, could not forbear expressing his Disgust, at the homely Provision. — Sir, said the Cook, You don't make use of the Sauce.—What do You mean? replied the Guest.—You don't use hard Exercise; nor habituate Yourself to long Abstinence; nor bring a sharpened

S 3

* Rom. x. 10;

sharpened Appetite of the Meal.—And You, my dear Friend, I am apprehensive, have not the Sauce; have not the proper Preparative for this salutary Doctrine; which is indeed the Bread of Life, and the very Marrow of the Gospel.

Ther. What Preparative?

Assp. A Sense of your great Depravity, your extreme Guilt, and your utterly undone Condition.—While destitute of these Convictions, our Souls will be like the full Stomach, that lothes even the Honeycomb.—So long as these Convictions are slight, and hover only in the Imagination; We shall be like *Gallio listless, indifferent, and caring for None of these

* Acts xviii. 17. A late Commentator, of distinguished Eminence, has attempted to vindicate Gallio's Conduct; and would represent it, as an amiable Instance of Prudence and Moderation.

According to my Apprehension, this Roman Governor acted a Part, both irreligious and unjust.—Irreligious, because he refused to hear the Apostle's Defence; which was the most likely Means of his Conversion and Salvation. As one great End, why Providence permitted the Preachers of the Gospel to be brought before Rulers and Kings, was, that such an Incident might serve as proof, Matt. x. 18. for a Testimony (not against, but) to them. That even the Potentates of the Earth, prejudiced and supercilious as they were, might hereby have an Opportunity, of hearing the Christian Doctrine, and seeing its Efficacy on the Spirits of Men.—Unjust, because He permitted Sosthenes, then an innocent Person, afterwards a Disciple of CHRIST, (1 Cor. i. 1.) to be so illegally treated, and outrageously abused, without interposing for his Rescue. Here was evidently a Breach of the Peace; a Violation of the Laws. Of this therefore the civil Magistrate ought to have taken Cognizance: however He might fancy Himself discharged from the Obligation, of attending to the Gospel, or protecting its Preachers: however He might imagine Himself authorized, to treat divine

these Things.—But when they are deep, and penetrate the Heart; then the Righteousness of a REDEEMER will be sweet, tasteful, and inviting. As Myrrh and Frankincense to the Smell; as Milk and Honey to the Palate; as Gold and Treasures to the ruined Bankrupt.

Ther. What Method would You advise me to use, in order to get these Convictions impressed on my Heart?

Ans. Endeavour to understand GOD's holy Law. Consider, how pure, how extensive, how sublimely perfect it is. — Then, judge of your spiritual State, not from the flattering Suggestions of Self-love, nor from the defective Examples of your Fellow-creatures, but by this unerring Standard of the Sanctuary. — Above all, beseech the GOD and FATHER of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, to send his enlightening SPIRIT into your Soul. For indeed, without the enlightening Influences of the SPIRIT, We may have the divine Law in our Hand; We may comprehend its grammatical Meaning; yet be like blind Bartimeus under the meridian Sun. It is the blessed SPIRIT alone, who can rend the Veil of Ignorance from our Minds; and

S 4

shew

divine Truths with Contempt; and call the Striving for the Faith, a Wrangling about Words and Names.

Besides; if the HOLY SPIRIT intended to fix a Mark of Approbation, rather than a Brand of Infamy, upon the Proconsul's Behaviour; I cannot but think, it would have been expressed in a Manner, different from — καὶ ἐδὲν τὸν τοῦ Γαβριὴλ ἱμεῖν. Which, if it be the Language of Applause, requires some more than ordinary Skill in Criticism, to understand it aright. But, if it be the Voice of Censure, is obvious and intelligible to every Reader.

shew Us, either "the wonderful Things of GOD's "Law," or the glorious Myſteries of his Goſpel.
In this Senſe, our polite Poet * ſpeaks a Truth, as ſingularly important, as it is elegantly expreſſed :

*He from thick Films ſhall purge the viſual Ray,
And on the ſightleſs Eye-balls pour the Day.*

Will You give me Leave to propoſe another Expedient? Which, I believe, may be conſiderably ſerviceable in this particular Caſe. Which, I am aſſured, will be greatly advantageous in many other Reſpects.

Ther. Backward as I am to adopt your Doctrine,
I am no Enemy to my own Intereſt. Therefore, ſhall not only give You Leave to propoſe, but give You Thanks for communicating, ſo valuable an Advice.

ſp. It is, in Reality, none of mine. It was long ago recommended by your old Acquaintance Horace †.
It conſiſts in Keeping a Diary.

Compile a ſecret Hiſtory of your Heart and Conduct.—Take Notice of the Manner, in which your Time is ſpent; and of the Strain, which runs through your Diſcourſe. How often the former is loſt in Trifles, how often the latter evaporates in Vanity.—
Attend to the Principle from which your Actions flow; whether from the ſteady habitual Love of GOD,

* Mr. Pope, in his charming Poem ſtyled The Meſſiah.

† *Ille velut fidis Arcana Sodalibus olim
Credebat Libris: neque ſi male ceſſerat uſquam
Ducurrens alio, neque ſi bene: quo fit, ut omnis Potivâ pateat veluti deſcripta Tabellâ Vna Senis.*

HORAT. Sat.

GOD, or from some rambling Impulse, and a customary Propensity to please Yourself? — Minute down your Sins of Omission. How frequently You neglect to glorify your CREATOR; to edify your Fellow-creatures; and to improve Yourself in Knowledge and Holiness. — Observe the Frame of your Spirit in religious Duties. With what Reluctance they are undertaken, and with what Indevotion performed; with how many Wanderings of Thought, and how much Dulness of Desire. — How often, in the common Affairs of Life, You feel the inordinate Sallies of Passion, the Workings of evil Concupiscence, or the Intrusion of foolish Imaginations.

Register those secret Faults, to which None but your own Conscience is privy, and which None but the all-seeing Eye discerns. — Often review these interesting Memoirs. Frequently contemplate Yourself in this faithful Mirror. — An Artist, sometime ago, took a Survey of your Estate. Drew the Form, and measured the Dimensions, of each Inclosure. Pictured out every Hedge, and scarce omitted a single Tree, which grew upon the Premises. — Act thus with your Will, your Understanding, your Affections. These are your noble internal Demesne. Of which None but Yourself can be a competent Surveyor.

Ther. It is unreasonable and preposterous, I must acknowledge, to be minutely exact in meaner Matters, and use no Accuracy of Inspection in the most momentous Affairs. To have a correct Draught of our Lands, which are a transient Inheritance; and no Map of that everlasting Possession, the Soul.

Asp. Gratify me then, my dear Theron, in this Particular. As I purpose to set out very early in the Morning, I shall insist upon it; that You do not rise before

before your usual Time, in order to compliment my Departure. But I now make it my last Wish, and my parting Request, that You will, for some Months at least, keep a Diary.

You have wondered at my Opinion, concerning the Corruption of our Nature, and the Insufficiency of our Righteousness. This may seem strange, this may appear shocking, to a Mind unacquainted with itself. But, when You have searched your Heart, by this Probe; when You have felt the Pulse of your Soul, by Self-examination: then, You will be better able to judge of my Sentiments, and enter into the Reasons of my Faith.

By this means, We shall also discover the Sins, that most easily beset Us; which most frequently elude our Vigilance, and baffle our Resolution. We shall learn, how to post our Guard; when to exercise the strictest Watch; and where to direct the Artillery of Prayer.—In a Word; We shall learn, better than from ten thousand Volumes, to know OURSELVES. A Knowledge, which was supposed, by the antient Philosophers, to descend from Heaven*; and which, I believe, our Christian Divines will allow, has a happy Tendency to lead People thither. Because, of all other Preparatives, it best disposes them for that blessed REDEEMER, who is the Way, the only Way to those blissful Mansions.

Now I have mentioned a Way, let me suppose You travelling through an unknown Country. You come to a Place, where the Road divides itself into two equally inviting Parts. You are at a loss, which

Track

E Carlo descendit, quod. sen. 10.

JUVEN.

Track to pursue. Whose Direction will you choose to follow? That Man's, who has passed through neither of them? That Man's, who has passed through one of them only? Or that Man's, who has passed and repassed them both? — To wait for an Answer, would be an Affront to your Judgment. Only let me observe, that the last is your Aspasio's Case. He has traveled long, and proceeded far, even in your Path. All that Circumspection and Assiduity, all that Prayer and Self-denial, all that Fasting and Alms, and every other Means of Grace could do, in order to establish a Righteousness of his own, has been done. But to no Purpose.—He has also trod every Step in the Way, which he recommends to his beloved Friend. He has made the Trial; can set his Probatum est, to whatever He advises; and may very truly say, with his Divine MASTER, *We speak that We do know, and testify that We have experienced.

Ther. I am sorry to observe, that the Night is coming on, and our Conversation almost at an End. My Regret is increased, by the Consideration of your intended Journey.—Though Business obliges You to depart; it will, I hope, afford You Leisure to write. This will be some Compensation for the Want of your Company.

Yonder Sun is sinking below the Horizon, and just taking his leave of our Earth. To retard the departing Radiance, at least to alleviate the approaching Loss, those western Clouds catch the Rays; and reflect them to our View, in a most amusing Diversity of Colours. By this means, We enjoy the great Luminary in his Beams, even when his Orb is withdrawn drawn from our Sight. — An epistolary Correspondence has something of the same Nature. Letters may be called, the Talk of absent Friends. By this Expedient, they communicate their Thoughts, even though Countries, Kingdoms, or Seas intercept their Speech. You must, therefore, promise me this Satisfaction; and let me converse with my Aspasie by the Pen, when I can no longer have an Intercourse with him in Person.

* John iii. 11.

Asp. You have anticipated me, Theron. Otherwise, what is now my Promise, would have been my Request.

I cannot but take notice of another Particularity, in that magnificent Assemblage of Clouds. How they varied their Appearance, as the Lamp of Day changed its Situation.—A little while ago, those Curtains of the Sky, were streaked with Orange, or tinged with Amber. Presently, they borrowed the Blush of the Rose, or the softened Red of the Pink. Ere long, they glow with Vermilion, or deepen into Crimson. Soon succeeds the purple-tinctured Robe of Majesty; and as soon (thus transient is all sublunary Grandeur!) gives place to the sable Veil of Evening, or the gloomy Pall of Night.—Such, I trust, will be the Issue of my Theron's present Apprehensions. All his splendid Ideas of human Excellency and Self-righteousness, will become faint; will lose their imaginary Lustre; till, at length, they fade away, and darken into absolute Self-abasement.—Then, the SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS will be amiable, will be desirable, as the Beauties of the Dawn, breaking upon the Shades of Night.

S E R I E S
OF LETTERS.

LETTER I.

ASPASIO to THERON.

Dear THERON,

I AM now at the Seat of my worthy Friend Camillus; where Business and Inclination will fix me for some Weeks. — This Evening we had a most pleasing Ramble. I have met with nothing so agreeable, since I left your House, and lost your Company.

The Time was just arrived, and the Scene was fully opened, which furnished our great Poet with his fine Description;

Now

drawn from our Sight. — An epistolary Correspondence has something of the same Nature. Letters may be called, the Talk of absent Friends. By this Expedient, they communicate their Thoughts, even though Countries, Kingdoms, or Seas intercept their Speech. You must, therefore, promise me this Satisfaction; and let me converse with my Aspasia by the Pen, when I can no longer have an Intercourse with him in Person.

Asp. You have anticipated me, Theron. Otherwise, what is now my Promise, would have been my Request.

I cannot but take notice of another Particularity, in that magnificent Assemblage of Clouds. How they varied their Appearance, as the Lamp of Day changed its Situation.—A little while ago, those Curtains of the Sky, were streaked with Orange, or tinged with Amber. Presently, they borrowed the Blush of the Rose, or the softened Red of the Pink. Ere long, they glow with Vermilion, or deepen into Crimson. Soon succeeds the purple-tinctured Robe of Majesty; and as soon (thus transient is all sublunary Grandeur!) gives place to the sable Veil of Evening, or the gloomy Pall of Night.—Such, I trust, will be the Issue of my Theron's present Apprehensions. All his splendid Ideas of human Excellency and Self-righteousness, will become faint; will lose their imaginary Lustre; till, at length, they fade away, and darken into absolute Self-abasement.—Then, the SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS will be amiable, will be desirable, as the Beauties of the Dawn, breaking upon the Shades of Night.

S E R I E S
O F
L E T T E R S.

L E T T E R I.

ASPASIO to THERON.

Dear THERON,

AM now at the Seat of my worthy Friend Camillus; where Business and Inclination will fix me for some Weeks. — This Evening we had a most pleasing Ramble. I have met with nothing so agreeable, since I left your House, and lost your Company.

The Time was just arrived, and the Scene was fully opened, which furnished our great Poet with his fine Description;

Now

*Now was the Sun in western Cadence low,
From Noon; and gentle Airs, due at their Hour,
To fan the Earth now wak'd, and usher in The Evening cool.*

At this Juncture, Camillus invited me to take the Air.—We walked, several Times, along a close shady Alley, arched with the Foliage of Filberts. Here, hid from every Eye, and the whole World withdrawn from our View, we seem'd like Monks stroling in their Cloysters.—Turning short at the End, We enter a parallel Range of majestic and uniformly spreading Wallnut Trees. This Transition, was somewhat like advancing, through a low Porch, into the Isles of a magnificent Cathedral. The broad Leaf, and large Trunk of those lordly Trees—their very diffusive Spread, added to their prodigious Height—give them an Air of uncommon Dignity. It swells the Imagination with vast Ideas, and entertains Us with a romantic Kind of Delight, to expatiate amidst such huge Columns, and under such superb Elevations, of living Architecture.

Quitting our Cathedral, We turn once again, and pass into a grand Colonade of Oaks: so regular in their Situation, so similar in their Size, and so remarkably correspondent in every Circumstance, that they look'd like the Twins of Nature; not only belonging to the same Family, but produced at the same Birth. Through these lay a Walk, strait, spacious, and gracefully long. Far exceeding the last in the Extent of its Area, though much inferior in the Stateliness of its Cieling. It put me in mind of that divine Benignity, which has allowed Us six Days, for the Prosecution of our own comparatively low Affairs; and set apart but few, for the more immediate Attendance on the sublime Exercises of Devotion, owing to sacred Axioms and dogmas, which

This Walk was covered with the neatest Gravel; and not a Weed to be seen, nor one Spire of Grass, through the whole extended Surface. It rose into a continual Ascent, yet so very gradually, that the Rise was scarce discernable, either by the searching Eye, the toiling Feet, or the panting Breath. — At the Extremity, a handsome Summerhouse shewed a Flight of Steps, and half a Venetian Door. The rest of the Building was hid by the clustering Branches W.

As soon as We enter'd the Apartment, Camilla throws open the Left-hand Sash; and, with it, a most enlarged and amusive Prospect. — The Structure appeared situate on the Brow of a considerable Eminence. Whose Sides were partly confused and wild with broken Rocks, partly shagged and perplexed with thorny Shrubs. The Spectator is agreeably surprised, to find Himself accommodated with so elegant a Mansion, on the Summit of so rude and ruinous a Spot. — But, how greatly is his Surprise and his Satisfaction augmented, when he casts his Eye forward; and beholds the beautiful Meads, which, from the Foot of this ragged Hill, stretch themselves into a Space almost unmeasurable!

Through the midst of this extensive Vale, which was decked with the finest Verdure, and replenished with the richest Herbage, a River rolled its copious Flood. Rolled in a thousand serpentine Meanders, as though it had lost its Way in the flowery Labyrinth, or made repeated Efforts of flowing back to its Source. — Till, at last, having wandered more than twice the Length of the Meadows; having held a

Mirror

Mirror to the aspiring Poplars, and bending Willows; having paid a welcome Salute to several ornamented Villas, and passed through the Arches of two or three curiously pendent Bridges; it seemed to meet the Sky, and mingle with the Horizon.

Opposite to the Front Window, a Cascade fell from the adjacent Stream. It flashed and foamed along the broad Slope, indented with small Pits, and jagged with protuberant Stones. The Current, vexed and embarrassed, seemed to rage at the intervening Obstacles; and forcing its rapid, indignant, sonorous Way, struck the Ear with a Peal of liquid Thunder. These fretful Waters—let our angry Passions observe the Admonition, and follow the Example—soon were pacified; soon forgot to chide. Collected into a little Rivulet, they ran off in calm and silent Lapse, till they lost themselves amongst Beds of Olier, and Plantations of Alder.

The River, widening as it flowed, was parted here and there by several little Islands. Some tufted with Reeds, and the Resort of Swans. Some, adorned with stately Porticos, and splendid Aleves, the graceful Retreats of rural Pleasure. Some, furnished with green inbowering Walks, fitted for studious Retirement and sedate Contemplation.—On either Side of the charming Valley, Towns and Villages lay thick and looked gay; adding Ornament and Variety to the Scene, and receiving innumerable Advantages from the passing Wave.

The Whole recalled to an attentive Observer's Mind, that amiable and august Spectacle, which the Syrian Soothsayer could not behold, without a Rapture of Delight;—From the Top of the Rocks I see the

1011M

* Numb. xxiii. 7.

Tribes of JEHOVAH, and from the Hills I behold the Habitations of his chosen People. How goodly are thy Tents, O Jacob! And thy Tabernacles, O Israel! As the Vallies, are they spread forth; as Gardens, by the River's Side: as Trees of exquisite Fragrance, which the LORD hath planted: as Cedars of stateliest Growth, flourishing beside the Waters.*

We had but just looked about Us, when a Messenger came for Camillus. As He was called to settle some private Affairs, I chose to stay in this inviting Retreat; and determined to make myself Amends for the Loss of Camillus's Company, by beginning a Correspondence with my Theron.—We have Pen, Ink, and Paper, in all our rural Retirements; that, if any Thing is started in Discourse, or occurs in Meditation, worthy to be remembered, it may immediately be committed to Writing.

I could not but observe to my Friend, that, fine as the Prospect appeared, there was one Decoration wanting; if some grand Deformity may be called a Decoration. The Ridges of a bleak and barren Mountain, or the Skirts of a Sun-burnt tawny Heath, would give additional Liveliness, to the ornamented Parts of the Landschape, and make their Beauties strike with double Vigour.—This also, by shewing Us, what wretched Abodes and inhospitable Quarters might have fallen to our Share, would awaken in our Hearts

VOL. II.

T

a more

* Numb. xxiv. 5, 6. It is well known that the Word אֲרֻמִּים is used in the sacred Writings, to denote either a delightful Perfume, Prov. vii. 17. or that aromatic Plant, which produces it, Cant. iv. 14.—For which Reason, I think it very justifiable, to render the Expression, Trees of exquisite Fragrance; and am persuaded, it will be far more intelligible to the Generality of Readers, than Trees of Lign-Aloes.

a more fervent Gratitude to the Supreme DISPOSER of Things; who has cast our "Lot in "a fairer Ground, and given us a more goodly He"ritage."

So, a proper Knowledge of the divine Law—of its sublime Perfections, and rigorous Sanction—joined with a Conviction of our own extreme Deficiency, and manifold Transgressions—all this would endear the blessed JESUS to our Affections, and powerfully recommend his Righteousness to our Desires.—The Remainder of this Epistle, therefore, shall turn upon some Instances of Duty, enjoined in that sacred System. By which it may be highly useful to examine our Conduct, and sift our Hearts: in which, I believe, we have all fallen short, and are all become guilty: from which, We may learn the Imperfection of our best Services, and see the inexpressible Need of a better Righteousness than our own.

The Knowledge of GOD is the Foundation of all vital Religion, and indeed is the Consummation of human Happiness. It is not only Matter of present Duty, but the very Essence of our future Bliss; This is Life eternal, to know Thee the only true GOD, and JESUS CHRIST whom Thou hast sent *. —Yet, important and obligatory as it is, are We not very defective in this divine Science? Have We duly acquainted Ourselves with the marvelous Excellencies of the LORD JEHOVAH? His uncontrollable Power, and all-comprehending Wisdom; his unbounded Goodness, and unwearied Patience; his immaculate Holiness, and inflexible Justice; his never-failing Faithfulness, and inviolable

Vera-

* John xvii. 3.

Veracity?—Have We, according to the Direction of our inspired Tutor, pursued this sacred Study on our Knees*; and sought this most noble of all intellectual Endowments, not merely from Books, but principally at the Throne of Grace. Have We sought it, like that antient Jewish Student, with an early Application, and with incessant Assiduity; even “from the Flower, till the Grape was ripe †?”

Is that scanty Ray of Knowledge, which perhaps has forced itself through our original Darkness, operative on our Affections? Have We loved the LORD our GOD with all our Heart? This is the first and great Commandment ‡.—Have We constantly entertained the most magnificent and honourable Thoughts of his sublime Perfections? Is our Esteem for this immensely great and most blessed BEING, high, superlative, matchless? Somewhat like that, expressed by the Psalmist; Whom have I in Heaven but Thee? And there is None upon Earth, that I desire in comparison of Thee||.—Have we been affectionately concerned for his Glory, and zealous to advance his holy Religion? Troubled, very sensibly troubled, when our MAKER's Honour has been trampled in the Dust, by licentious Tongues, or flagitious Deeds?

Have We made it our ruling Care, to approve the Whole of our Life, and the most secret Transactions of our Breast, to his all-seeing Eye? Resolved, deliberately resolved to sacrifice, not only our darling Lusts, but even our most valuable Interests, whenever they stand in Competition with the good Pleasure of his Will?—In a Word; as the Hart panteth after

T. 2

the

* Jam. i. 5. † Eccus. li. 15. ‡ Matt. xxii. 38.
|| Psal. lxxiii. 25.

the Water-brooks, with such vehement and inextinguishable Ardour, have We thirsted after—a brighter Manifestation of his divine Attributes—some sweeter Assurances of his special Love—and an ever-increasing Conformity to his holy Image?

Such was the Temper of those excellent Men, who are characterized in the Scriptures of Truth, as Children of the HIGHEST, and Patterns for our Imitation. This is their Language; The Desire of our Soul is unto thy Name, and to the Remembrance of Thee. With my Soul have I desired Thee in the Night; yea, with my Spirit within me will I seek Thee early *.—Neither is such Warmth of Love, and Fervour of Desire, any needless or extravagant Pitch of Devotion; but a reasonable Service, indispensibly due, from all intelligent Creatures, to the great AUTHOR of their Being—in whom all possible Perfections, with the utmost Exaltation and Dignity, reside—from whom all Manner of Blessings, in the most copious and never failing Communications, flow.

When We receive, from an absent Friend, rich and repeated Presents; Casks of generous Wine, or Jars

* Isa. xxvi. 8, 9. We can hardly tell, which to admire most, the Beauty of the Description, or the Piety of the Persons. I have desired; and not with inactive Wishes, but such as prompt to vigorous Endeavours, I will seek Thee. And early, with the most vigilant Application and unwearied Affiduity.—The Emphasis is very much increased, by the Addition of those lively Words, with my Soul, yea with my Spirit; with the whole Bent and Sway of my Affections, and with the steady invariable Determination of my Judgment.—Thus have I desired Thee, even in the Night; when both the Pursuits and the Thoughts of other People, are sunk and lost in profound Repose. Thus will I seek Thee, with a Zeal—early as the rising—constant as the returning Sun.

Jarrs of delicious Fruit; We feel Ourselves inkindled into a grateful Affection. We honour, We love the Person, who allows Us such a distinguished Place in his Heart; and expresses his cordial Regard, by such a Series of active and tender Benevolence.—The Blessed GOD is a Friend to Us All, infinitely powerful, and equally munificent. We are the constant Objects of his more than friendly, of his parental Cares. Every passing Moment is a Messenger of his Patience, and charged with some Token of his Bounty. For our Sake, He has diffused Blessings over all the Face of the Earth; and commanded every Element to concur, in ministering to our Accommodation. He has not only adapted his Benefits to our several Wants; but has given them a Diversification, large as the Scope of our Wishes; and an Enrichment, far beyond all that our Fancy could conceive.—Profuse Liberality! Yet small and scanty, compared with his most adorable Benignity in CHRIST JESUS.

What? If GOD, willing to manifest the superabundant Riches of his Kindness, had made bare the Arm of his Omnipotence; and struck a most miraculous Road through the Surges of the Ocean, to afford Us a safe Passage!—If, to accommodate Us in our Travels, He had brought Waters out of the flinty Rock; and bid the Ravens bring Meat to our Hands, bid the Winds convey Manna to our Doors?—If, to furnish us with a commodious Settlement, He had dethroned mighty Kings, dispossessed populous Nations, and made the Walls of impregnable Cities fall to the Ground?—If, to further the Dispatch of our Business, or facilitate the Conquest of our Enemies, He had arrested the Sun in his meridian Career, and laid an Embargo upon the Moon, setting out on her nightly Tour?—In short, if to promote our Welfare, He had suspended the Powers, and controuled the Laws of universal Nature; had wrought all the Miracles, exhibited in the Land of Egypt, or recorded in the Volumes of Inspiration—Should We not think Ourselves under the most inviolable Engagements, to love the LORD our GOD, Who had done so great Things for Us; to love Him unfeignedly and ardently; to love Him with a supreme Affection, far above every other amiable Object?—Yet, We have greater, incomparably greater Obligations to our Almighty BENEFACTOR. For (hear O Heavens! wonder O Earth! and let Eternity dwell upon the stupendous Truth!) GOD spared not his SON—his own SON—his transcendently glorious and divinely excellent SON—but delivered him up to the deepest Humiliation, and to the most accursed Death, for Us Men and our Salvation.

O, Theron! Have We been impressed with Wonder, at the Contemplation of this Goodness? Have our Hearts glowed with Gratitude, under a Sense of these Mercies? Surely, No Man need be convicted of any other Crime, at the great Tribunal, than Insensibility of such Love, and Ingratitude for such Favours. This, without the Accession of horrid Impieties, is enough to leave him absolutely inexcusable. This is enough to prove Him one of the most disingenuous, and detestable of Creatures.

Have We exercised Ourselves in frequent Thanksgiving? Many are the Exhortations to this honourable Duty. Praise thy GOD, O Sion *: Praise Him for

* Psal. cxlvii. 12.

for his mighty Acts * :—Praise Him according to his excellent Greatness †.—Innumerable are the Incitements to abound in this pleasant Service. Every Comfort has a Voice, and cries in the Ear of Reason; O! that Men would therefore praise the LORD for his Goodness. Every Deliverance inforces the Address, and furnishes fresh Materials for the heavenly Employ.—The Man after GOD's own Heart declares, as an inviting Example for our Practice; I will bless the LORD at all Times: His Praise shall continually be in my Mouth ‡: Yea, as long as I have any Being, I will sing Praises unto my GOD ||.—Indeed, when We consider the inexhaustibly rich Bounty of GOD our CREATOR, and the inconceivably tender Mercy of GOD our REDEEMER, it is both strange and deplorable, that the Love of GOD is not always prevailing in our Hearts, and the Language of Praise ever flowing from our Lips.

I will not suppose our Character so irreligious, that We have neglected the daily Worship of GOD, either in our Closet, or in our Family.—But, have we prayed with that profound reverential Awe, which

T 4 is

* Psal. cl. 2.

† Among these Exhortations, We may rank that beautiful and devout Address to GOD, ישב תהלות ישראל, Psal. xxii. 3. Thou that inhabitest—Light inaccessible, shall I say? The Regions of Immensity, or the Ages of Eternity? No; but what is a more exalted Character—The Praises of Israel. Finely signifying, that Praise is a most acceptable Sacrifice; to which the Divine MAJESTY attends with the greatest Delight.—Intimating also, that the Exercise of Praise should not be an occasional Thing, like a transient Visit to a Stranger's House; but a daily and almost unintermitted Service, like the stated Residence of a Person in his own Habitation.

‡ Psal. xxxiv. 1.

|| Psal. cxlvi. 2.

is due to the HIGH and LOFTY ONE, who inhabiteth Eternity?—Have We made our Supplications with that fervent Importunity, which may in some measure correspond with the extreme Indigence of our State, and the invaluable Worth of the Blessings We crave?—Have our Petitions been attended with that steady Affiance, which may glorify the Goodness, the Power, the Veracity of the LORD? May evidently declare, That He is rich in Mercy, to All that call upon Him * : that He is the LORD JEHOVAH, in whom is everlasting Strength † : that He is the GOD of Truth, and faithful for ever ‡. We call Him FATHER: but have We trusted in Him, with that unsuspecting, chearful, filial Confidence, which a Child reposes on the Fidelity and Indulgence of such an earthly Relative? Have We not entertained, too often entertained, narrow, dishonourable, beggarly Apprehensions, concerning the Treasures of his Liberality, and the Bowels of his Pity? Rating them even lower than our Parent's, our Friend's, or our own.

Have We been careful to carry the Spirit of our Prayers into our ordinary Conversation; and waited at the Door, as well as approached to the Throne of Grace?—Amidst the Intervals of our solemn Devotions, have We cultivated an ejaculatory Intercourse with Heaven? How highly would the ambitious Courtier prize, and how frequently would He use a privy Key, which should give Him, at all Hours, free Admittance to his Sovereign. This Key of Admittance, only to an infinitely more exalted POTENTATE, We all possess in the Practice of mental

* Rom. x. 12. † Isa. xxvi. 4. ‡ Deut. xxxii. 4.

mental Aspirations to GOD.—It is certainly the noblest Employ, and will be the richest Improvement of our Thoughts, to send them in such short Embassies to the KING of Kings; and to derive, by such occasional Sallies * of Faith, a renewed Supply from

* We have, in Scripture, very remarkable Instances of the Success, which has attended ejaculatory Prayer.—Observe Nehemiah: He stands before Ahasuerus, apprehensive of the Monarch's Displeasure, yet desirous to solicit Him in Behalf of Jerusalem. To be delivered from his Fears, and to obtain his Desires, what Method does He use? The mean and servile Arts of Flattery? No; but the manly and devout Expedient of Prayer. I prayed, says the Patriot, to the GOD of Heaven.—We cannot suppose, that He fell on His Knees, or spoke with His Lips, while He continued in the royal Presence. But he darted up his Soul in silent Supplication. Which Supplication “pierced the Clouds;” reached the eternal Throne; and returned not again till a Blessing was sent. Such as totally averted the Wrath, He dreaded; and procured Favour and Assistance, much larger than He expected. Nehem. ii. 4.

When David heard, that Ahitophel, the ablest Politician in his Kingdom, was revolted to Absalom; sensible what a Loss his Affairs had sustained, and what an Advantage the rebellious Party had acquired, He betook himself to his GOD. He staid not for an Opportunity of Retirement, but instantly and upon the Spot cried; O LORD, I pray Thee, turn the Counsel of Ahitophel into Foolishness!—A short Address, but very efficacious. HE, who disappointeth the Devices of the Crafty, sent a Spirit of Infatuation among the Rebels; and inclined them to reject the Advice of that judicious Statesman. Which false Step brought upon their horrid Enterprize, the Ruin it deserved; and chagrined the wretched Traitor, even to Rage, Frenzy, and Suicide. 2 Sam. xv. 31. xvii. 23.

Amyntor, at a memorable Period of his Life, was under great Distress of Conscience, and harassed by violent Temptations. He made his Case known to an experienced Friend; who said, Amyntor, You do not pray.—Surprised from the Fountain of all Good. How great a Loss then must it be to our spiritual Interests, and how contemptuous a Disregard of the ever present JEHOVAH, to omit intirely, or long to discontinue, this most beneficial Practice of habitual Adoration? — Can You, my dear Theron, acquit Yourself on this Article of Inquiry? Has not every Day of your Life been a Day of Negligence in this Respect? Been a perpetual Disobedience to our SAVIOUR's Injunction; Men ought, in this Manner, always to pray, and not to faint *.

Have We sanctified the Sabbath? Has the LORD's Day, with all its solemn and sacred Offices, been our Delight?—Have We remembered that distinguished Portion of our Time, as Jacob remembered the delightful Interview at Peniel? Have We expected it, as Merchants expect the Arrival of a richly laden Vessel? Have We improved it, as prised at this, He replied; “I pray, if such a Thing be possible, too much. I can hardly tell, how many Times in the Day, I bow my Knee before GOD; almost to the Omission of my other Duties, and the Neglect of my necessary Studies.”—“You mistake my Meaning, dear Amyntor. I do not refer You to the Ceremony of the Knee, but to the Devotion of the Heart. Which neglects not any Business, but intermingles Prayer with all. Which, in every Place, looks unto the LORD; and, on every Occasion, lifts up an indigent longing Soul for the Supply of his Grace. This, (added He, and spoke with a peculiar Vehemence) this is the Prayer, which all the Devils in Hell cannot withstand.”—This, I would farther observe, is the Prayer, which brings down somewhat of Heaven into the Heart; in which I would myself desire to abound; and would earnestly recommend, to all my Acquaintance, and all my Readers.

Husband-

Husbandmen improve the shining Hours of the Harvest?—Have We wholly laid aside every earthly Engagement; *not speaking our own Words, nor allowing Ourselves in any Gratifications, that may interrupt our Communion with the FATHER of Spirits?—Has one Day in his Courts been preferable to a Thousand†, spent either in the Works of our Calling, or in the Scenes of Recreation?—Have the Memorials of our REDEEMER's dying Merits, and the Seals of his unchangeable Loving-kindness, been relished as a Feast, and prized as a Portion?

Have We honoured GOD's holy Word?—What greater Mark of Disesteem, than to despise a Person's Discourse; and not to think his Speech worthy of our Notice? Especially, when He addresses Us with very great Seriousness, and with the utmost Affection. In our Bible, the GOD of Glory speaks to his Creatures; speaks with the most persuasive Energy, and with all the Yearnings of parental Tenderness. Have We listened to our CREATOR, with Reverence and Delight; and rejoiced with Trembling at—Thus saith the LORD?

Have We searched the Oracles of Truth, not merely as Scholars, but as Sinners; not from a Spirit of Curiosity, or with an Air of Formality, but with a Solitude and Ardour, becoming Persons, who inquire after the SAVIOUR of their lost Souls? Have We submitted our inmost Thoughts to their impartial Scrutiny; to receive Conviction of Sin from their awful Remonstrances, and to hear the Sentence of Condemnation at their righteous Bar?—Have We been willing to suffer the Reproach of conscious

* Isa. lviii. 13.

† Psal. lxxxiv. 10.

conscious Baseness, while they have ripped up the Disguises of Falshood; laid open our secret Iniquities; and brought all our evil Ways to Remembrance? Thus Josiah acted. *His Heart was tender, and He humbled Himself before the LORD; He rent his Clothes, and wept before the LORD, when He heard the Words of the Book of the Law.

Have We hid the glad Tidings of the Gospel within our Memories, within our Hearts? Have We been diligent to suck this Honeycomb † of Grace by concomitant Meditation, and subsequent Prayer?—Have We valued the precious Promises, as Gentlemen of Wealth value the Writings of their private Estates; or as enfranchised Bodies esteem the Charter of their public Privileges?—Have We, like the princely Patriarch, longed for those Words of Edification, Exhortation and Comfort, more than for our necessary Food ‡? And, like the royal Prophet, prevented the Night-watches, that We may be occupied in those Statutes ¶ and Ordinances of Heaven?

We have hitherto confined the Examination, to a few Instances of the affirmative Kind; how dreadfully will the dark Account be swelled, if instead of Love and Obedience, there be Hatred and Opposition—Hatred of the Name, Glory, and Worship of GOD—Opposition to his Interest, Kingdom, and Service!

GOD is infinite Perfection: worthy of all Admiration: exalted above all Praise. Yet do not our Thoughts more frequently, or more naturally turn upon our own Accomplishments, than upon the adorable and shining Attributes of the ALMIGHTY? This

* 2 Chron. xxxiv. 27.
xxiii. 12.

† Cant. v. 1.
¶ Psal. cxix. 148.

‡ Job

This is, in itself, the most shameful Dotage; and, in GOD's Sight, the most abominable Idolatry. Yet, let Us observe what passes within, and We shall probably find, that as Damps arise in the Mines, or Fogs in the fenny Grounds, so naturally, and so copiously do these over-weaning Reflections arise in our depraved Minds.

GOD is an everlasting King. Have we not too often resisted his Authority? Have We not, as far as in Us lay, deposed the omnipotent S O V E R E I G N, and exalted Self into the Throne? Made Self will our Law, and Self-pleasing our End? Thus adding Sacrilege to Rebellion?

GOD is transcendently gracious and amiable. Have We not turned our Backs upon Him, by forgetting his Mercies! Nay, have we not spurned Him from our Affections, by being *Lovers of Pleasure, more than Lovers of GOD?—Awake, Conscience: bear thy impartial Testimony: and I am persuaded, the Pharisee in our Breasts, like the Man unfurnished with the Wedding-garment, must be struck dumb; must be covered with Confusion.

Is our Heart warm with brotherly Love?—Good-manners will put Expressions of Civility into our Mouths; but has a Power from on High implanted the royal Law of Charity in our Breasts? The Character of a Gentleman requires a Deportment accessible, obliging, and courteous: has the Spirit of Christianity taught Us to love, not in Word or plausible Appearance only, but in Deed and in Truth †?—Do We love our Neighbours, not merely on account of some Relation they bear Us, or some Services they have

* 2 Tim. iii. 4.

† 1 John iii. 18.

have done Us? But, because they are Creatures of the blessed GOD; are the Objects of his providential Care; and capable at least of being conformed to his Image? Do We love them, because We hope, that the LORD JESUS CHRIST has bought them with his Blood; is willing to make them Partakers of his SPIRIT, and Members of his Mystical Body?

Are We sincerely concerned for their present Welfare, and their eternal Happiness? Do We embrace all Opportunities of promoting, both the one and the other? Embrace them with the same Alacrity, and improve them with the same Zeal, which actuate Us in seeking our own Felicity?—If they exceed Us in all that is amiable, and all that is prosperous, do We contemplate their superior Excellence with a real Complacency, and their more abundant Success with a real Satisfaction?

Do We dislike to hear, and abhor to spread, defamatory Tales; even when our Adversaries are the Men, whom they tend to blacken?—When rudely affronted, or causelessly abused, do we pity the Offenders, for the Wrong done to their own Souls; rather than kindle into Resentment, at the Indignity offered to Ourselves?—When greatly injured, are We slow to Anger, and not easily provoked? Are We much more willing to be reconciled, than to foment Displeasure, and prosecute Revenge? In a Word; do We love our Enemies; bless them, that curse Us; do Good to them, that hate Us: and pray for them, which despitefully use Us, and persecute Us*?—Without this loving ing and lovely Disposition, We abide, says the Apostle, in Death *; are destitute of spiritual, and have no Title to eternal Life.

* Matt. v. 44. What Manner of Love is this? How disinterested! how extensive! how triumphant! Must not all the boasted Benevolence of the Philosopher and Moralist,

Let me add—Are all our Graces, and all our Works, clothed with Humility? This should be the Dress; in which they severally appear; as well as the Bond of Connection, which unites them all †.—Do We maintain a very low Opinion of our own Accomplishments, and in Honour prefer Others to Ourselves ‡? Habitually sensible, that We are less than the least of the divine Mercies, and the very chieft of Sinners?

I might easily have branched out the preceding Subjects, into a much greater Variety of interrogatory Articles. But I intend only to present You with a Specimen. Your own Meditations will enlarge the Sketch, and supply what is defective. Only let me beg of You, my dear Friend, to try your State by this Touchstone; to prove your Conduct by this Standard. And may the FATHER of Lights give You an Understanding, to discern the exact Purity and sublime Perfection of his holy Law!

Have You lived in the uninterrupted Observance of all these Duties; avoiding whatever is forbidden, and obeying whatever is commanded? Your outward Behaviour, I know, has been free from notorious Violations; but has your inward Temper been preserved, ralist, strike Sail to this evangelical Charity? Must not both Moralist and Philosopher acknowledge the Necessity of a divine Operation, thus to enlarge, exalt, and refine their social Affections?

* 1 John. iii. 14.

† 1 Pet. v. 5. The unusual Word ἐκπορεύσασθε is supposed to have both these Significations.

‡ Röm. xii. 10.

served, from all ungodly Motions, and from every irregular Desire? Is there no Enmity in your Heart to any of the Precepts; nor any Backwardness, nor any Failure in performing each and every Injunction?

When You put these Questions to Yourself, remember, That if You fail in one Point, or in any Degree, You are guilty of all*. If your Conformity be not persevering as well as perfect, You incur the Penalty, and are abandoned to the Curse. You stand charged, before the JUDGE of the World, with all the Guilt of all your Sins, both original and actual: and there is not one Circumstance, nor one Aggravation, of any of your Iniquities, overlooked or forgotten—UNLESS, renouncing all your personal Performances, You place your whole Affiance on a SAVIOUR's Atonement, and a SAVIOUR's Righteousness.—I think, You will not dare to put the Issue of your everlasting State upon the former Footing. Which is not only hazardous, but must be inevitably ruinous. You will infinitely rather choose, to acknowledge Yourself a poor Insolvent; and plead the unsearchable Riches of your REDEEMER's Obedience.

To those who believe, the Law, though strict, is not terrible. Because, be its Precepts of Holiness ever so extensive, they have been most completely fulfilled by their glorious SURETY. Be its penal Sanctions ever so rigorous, they have been satisfied to the utmost, by their great MEDIATOR.—Believers, therefore, may make their Boast of their adorable SPONSOR. They may sit under his Shadow with great Delight†. While the Thunderings of Mount Sinai, and all the Terrors of the legal gal Dispensation, tend only to increase and quicken the refreshing Sense of their Safety. Just as the Possessor of a plentiful Estate, in some peaceful and prosperous Country, reposes Himself under the Shade of his Vine, or the Shelter of his Fig-tree; and, hearing of the Wars which embroil, or the Plagues which depopulate other Nations, tastes, with augmented Relish, his own Felicity.

* Jam. xi. 10, Gal. iii. 10. † Cant. ii. 3.

Let me close with the affectionate and emphatical Wish of an inspired epistolary Writer. That the LORD of Peace may give my dear Theron Peace—always—by all Means *! Then I shall think, my Wishes are accomplishing, and this Blessing is at the Door, when He sees the Purity of the divine Law—sees the Depravity of his own Nature—and the Impossibility of being justified, without an Interest in the great MEDIATOR's Righteousness. That Righteousness, which, as it is the only Hope, and the constant Joy, is therefore the darling Theme, of

Your ever faithful

ASPASIO.

P. S. Shall I abridge the preceding Letter, and contract the Whole into those two great Commandments, which made the first awakening Impressions on my own Mind? Thou shalt love the LORD thy GOD with ALL thy Heart: Thou shalt love thy Neighbour as THYSELF.—Amazing! said your Aspasio. Are these the Commands of GOD? As obligatory, as the

VOL. II.

U

Pro-

Prohibition of Adultery, or the Observation of the Sabbath? Then has my whole Life been a continual Act of Disobedience. Not a Day, no, nor an Hour, in which I have performed my Duty.—This Conviction struck me, as the Hand-writing upon the Wall struck the presumptuous Monarch.—It pursued me, as Saul pursued the Christians, not only to my own House, but even to distant Cities.—Nor ever gave up the great Controversy, till, under the Influences of the SPIRIT, it brought me weary and heavy laden to JESUS CHRIST.

LETTER II.

THERON to ASPASIO.

Dear ASPASIO,

MORE than three Weeks are elapsed, since You favoured me with your improving Company. During which Interval, I have frequently recollected the most material Parts of our late Discourses. I have carefully considered, both the Doctrines You advanced, and the Answers You returned to my several Objections.—I have often reviewed your valuable Letter; have used it as a Touch-stone, to examine my State; and have, with great Punctuality, observed your parting Advice.—I have sat; every Evening, for a Picture of my Mind; and have endeavoured to take a true unflattering Draught of all its distinguishing Qualities. And, if the Diary is a faithful Mirror, if it does not aggravate the Deformity of my Features, I shall be absolutely out of Conceit with myself: I shall ever entertain the meanest Opinion of my own, either moral or religious Qualifications.
if

Where is that intense and supreme Love of GOD, which his transcendent Perfections challenge, and his ineffable Goodness claims?—Where that firm and joyful Reliance on CHRIST JESUS, in any Degree proportioned to his infinite Merits and inviolable Promises?—Where that cordial and tender Affection for my Fellow-christians, which is due to the Servants of a Divine REDEEMER; the People whom He ransomed by his Agonies, and purchased with his very Blood?—Where is the Incense of holy Contemplation and refined Desire? Where the Flame of fervent Devotion and ever active Zeal? Such as become the living Temple of GOD, in which his most immaculate and glorious SPIRIT vouchsafes to reside.—These fundamental Graces, like the grand Organs in the animal System, should impart Health to the Soul, and spread the Beauty of Holiness through all the Conversation. But these, alas! far from beating with a vigorous and uniform Pulse, hardly heave with Life; only just struggle, now and then, with some faint, intermitted, uneven Throws.

How seldom do my Actions spring from Gratitude to the everlasting BENEFACTOR, or aim at the Glory of his super-excellent MAJESTY?—In addressing the KING immortal, invisible, how languid are my Affections, and how wandering is my Attention? How great my Unbelief, and how little my reverential Awe?—I receive innumerable Mercies; but where are my Returns of correspondent

Thankfulness? I am visited with many gracious Chastisements; but without proper Resignation, or due Improvement.—Alas for my heartless Devotions, my lifeless Virtues, and the Multitude of my refined Iniquities!—Hid behind the Mask of outward Decency, and some customary Forms of Religion, I was altogether unacquainted with my spiritual State. I fancied myself rich, and increased with Goods, and to have Need of Nothing: even while I was *wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked.

If I look back, and review the Years of Youth and Manhood, what has been the Tenour, what is the Aspect of my Life? More like a desolate and horrid Wilderness; than a cultivated Garden, or a fruitful Vineyard.—In Youth, what sordid Gratifications of Appetite! In Manhood, what base Compliances with a wicked World! In both, what Sholes of evil Inclinations have polluted my Heart! What Swarms of vain Imaginations have debased my Thoughts! What frothy and unprofitable Words have dropt from my Lips!—By all which, how have I disobeyed, and how dishonoured GOD! How have I denied, and how crucified the LORD JESUS CHRIST!—And yet supposed myself, all the while, to be good enough!

It is something unaccountable, that a Person of my inquisitive Disposition, should, through the Course of so many Years, be such an utter Stranger to Himself. I wonder at my own preposterous Folly!—To travel into foreign Countries, and visit the most renowned Cities of Europe; yet never step over the Threshold, nor look within the Apartments of my own Breast.—To carry on a Correspondence with

my

* Rev. iii. 17.

my Friends, even in the remotest Nations; and never enter upon a Conference, nor hold any Intelligence with my own Heart! —To inquire after News from the Fleet, News from the Army, News from the Court; yet exercise neither Curiosity nor Care, with regard to the Hope of Heaven, and the Concerns of Eternity! —What egregious Misconduct is this! A most pernicious Error, in the Oeconomy of religious Life.

Sometimes, I have cast a transient Glance on my outward Behaviour; but never extended my Search to the Delinquent, the Traitor, the Rebel within. — And even my outward Behaviour has been surveyed, with as much erroneous Partiality, as superficial Levity. It has been compared, not with that exact and sublime Standard, the Scriptures of Truth; but, as in the Case of the self-deceiving Pharisee, with the unjust, extortionate, adulterous Practices of some other People. From whence I most unwarrantably concluded, That, being not quite so abandoned as the most profligate Creatures, my Character must be good, and my Condition safe. —But, Thanks to your last friendly Letter, and the searching Expedient it recommended, I am now in a different Way of thinking.

It is strange to recollect, and indeed it is shameful to confess, the many Artifices which I have used, to put a Cheat upon myself. —Sometimes, I have fancied, that the divine Law could never be so strict, as to condemn Us inexorably, if We continue not in all its Precepts. —Sometimes, I have pleaded the Infirmary of our Nature, and endeavoured to make the Works of Darkness appear only as pitiable Failings. —Sometimes I have taken Refuge in the Excellency of our Church, and plumed myself with the borrowed Feathers of a religious Profession.—At other Times, I have soothed my Conscience to Rest, by a Punctuality of Attendance on Places, or a zealous Attachment to Forms. And all this, to seduce, cajole, and betray myself—betray myself, first into a vain Conceit of my own Endowments; then into a contemptuous Disregard of CHRIST; and at last into eternal Destruction.—But now I see my Guilt; I apprehend my Danger; and feel my helpless Condition.

Indeed, my Aspasio, I am now convinced, that the darkest Colours cannot be too dark, for the Pourtrait of my spiritual State. I see myself overspread with an habitual Depravity, and cannot forbear crying out, with the abashed Leper; Unclean! Unclean!*—The sacred Oracles in no wise misrepresent fallen Man, when they describe Him as altogether become abominable †. They are far from under-rating human Works, when they denominate them filthy Rags ‡.

Rags

* Levit. xiii. 45.

† Job xv. 16.

‡ Isa. lxiv. 6. Does not Theron misapply this Text? Can it be intended to discredit the Qualifications of the Upright? Is it not rather a Brand set upon the Works of the Wicked; whose very "Sacrifices are an Abomination to the LORD?" Or, a Rebuke given to the specious Performances of the Hypocrite; who is precise in the Form, but destitute of the Power of Godliness? Or, may it not refer to ritual Observances; in Contradistinction to moral Duties, and spiritual Accomplishments?

The disparaging Character must not, I think, be confined to ritual Observances; because it is expressly said, ALL our Righteousnesses, including every Kind of religious Duty.—Neither can it be appropriated to the formal Hypocrite, much less to the notoriously Wicked; because, those very Persons, who are the Subject of this Assertion, declare Rags they are, if We consider their great Imperfection; filthy Rags, if we advert to their manifold Defilements.—And since the Nature of GOD is so irreconcilably averse to all Contamination; since the Law of GOD requires such unspotted Perfection; O! *Who can stand before this holy LORD GOD, in any Accomplishments of their own?

U 4 — When declare in the Context; LORD, We are thy People: Thou art our FATHER; We shall be saved.—So that it seems intended to stain the Pride of all human Glory.

Besides the Prophet speaks of himself; WE all are as an unclean Thing. Which, however strange or unreasonable it may seem, is the very same Charge, to which He pleads guilty in another Place; Who is me! I am undone! For I am a Man of unclean Lips! Not that He was defiled with any gross Pollutions; nay, He was a Saint of the most distinguished Lustre but his Eyes had seen the KING, the LORD of Hosts. He was under the clear Manifestations of a GOD, glorious in Holiness, inflexible in Justice, and infinite in all Perfections.—Amidst these Manifestations, the Impurity of his Heart and Nature, were not only apparent, but glaring; overwhelmed Him with Abashment, and, till CHRIST was applied in a Type, (Isa. vi. 7.) filled Him with Terror.

In such Circumstances, and under such Views, all our moral Virtues and evangelical Graces, all our Exercises of Devotion, and Acts of Charity, will appear both defective and polluted. By no means proportioned to the Demands of the Law, nor sufficient for our Recommendation to the Supreme LAW GIVER—no more than a few tattered Rags, can claim the Character, or perform the Services, of a complete Suit—no more than a few filthy Rags are fit, to dress the Bride for her Nuptials, or the Courtier for a Birth-night.

But there is a Righteousness—blessed be divine Grace!—spotlessly pure and consummately excellent: a Righteousness, which answers all that the CREATOR requires, and supplies all that the Creature needs: to prove this momentous Point, and to display this unspeakable Gift, is the Design of the following Sheets.

* 1 Sam. vi. 20

When I farther reflect, that I have only a very obscure Glimpse of the divine Purity, and am a mere Novice in the Knowledge of my own Heart; how am I amazed at the lofty Apprehensions which I once formed, concerning the Dignity of my Nature, and the Integrity of my Conduct! All owing to Ignorance, the grossest Ignorance of myself and the Scriptures.—How do I shudder to think, that, in expecting Justification from the Law, I was resting the Welfare of my immortal Soul, not on the Foundation of a Rock, but on the Point of a Dagger.—I was going to the decisive Tribunal, flushed with the falsest Hopes, and charged with a Set of glittering Sins: going, like poor deluded Uriah *, not with any valid Credentials, but with the Ministration of Death † in my Hand.

Though I cannot but acknowledge the Arrogance of these Pretensions, yet loth, very loth is my Pride, to renounce the pleasing Absurdity. Self-love has searched, and searched again, for something excellent. It would fain make a better Appearance, and can hardly brook the Humiliation of imploring all sub Formâ Pauperis ‡. With what Reluctance is a Sinner brought to confess Himself, sinful in every Duty, sinful in every Capacity! Strange Perverseness!—But the Charge is undeniable. However unwilling, I must plead guilty. THOU ART WEIGHED IN THE BALANCES, AND FOUND WANTING ||, is evidently written on all I am, all I have, all I do.—And if I am thus defective, even in my own Estimation;

* 2 Sam. xi. 14, 15.

† 2 Cor. iii. 9.

‡ That is, under the Character of a poor Destitute, or as a Beggar sues for his Alms.

|| Dan. v. 27.

Let. 3. ASPASIO to THERON. 313

mation; if am utterly condemned, at the Bar of my own Conscience; *What then shall I do, when GOD riseth up? And when HE visiteth, what shall I answer Him ?

I now see the Necessity of an imputed Righteousness. Without some such Object for my Trust, I am undone. I long therefore to hear your Arguments in its Behalf. And I must declare to You, if it can be satisfactorily proved from the Scriptures, it is the most comfortable Doctrine in the World, and worthy of all Acceptation.

A Letter upon this Subject, would be a singular Favour, and, I hope, an equal Blessing to Your obliged, and affectionate,

THERON.

L E T T E R III.

ASPASIO to THERON.

Dear THERON,

THough all your Letters give me Pleasure, none was ever so highly pleasing, as your last. I look upon it with the same secret Joy, as a compassionate Physician observes some very favourable Symptoms, in the Crisis of a beloved Patient's Distemper.

What

* Job xxxi. 14.

What You ask, I shall, without any farther Preface, attempt to execute. If my Attempt proves satisfactory to your Judgment, I am sure, it will be the most likely Means, of healing your Conscience, and calming your Fears.—When we perceive the odious Depravity of our Nature; when We discern the horrible Iniquity of our Lives; and are sensible of that tremendous Wrath, and everlasting Vengeance, which are due to such guilty Creatures: then nothing can be found, that will speak effectual Peace, nothing that will administer solid Comfort, but only the vicarious Sufferings and the imputed Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST.

To this Purpose speaks one of the wisest and best of spiritual Guides; Has Sin abounded? As undoubtedly it has, in our Heart, and our Life: Grace has much more abounded, in the Obedience, and the Merits of our REDEEMER.—Nay, has Sin reigned? Exerted its malignant Power, in the most extensive and most destructive Manner; rendering us subject unto Death, both temporal and eternal? Even so has Grace reigned; exerted its benign Efficacy, and in a Manner yet more triumphant; not only rescuing Us from Guilt and Ruin, but restoring Us to everlasting Life and Glory. And all this through the Righteousness, the complete meritorious Righteousness, brought in by JESUS CHRIST our LORD*.

You inquire after the Proofs of this imputed Righteousness. From a Multitude I shall select a few. Sufficient, I hope, to make it appear—That this is
the

* Rom. v. 21.

the declared Doctrine of our Church, and the avowed Belief of her most eminent Divines—That it is copiously revealed through the whole SCRIPTURES; revealed in many express Passages, and deducible from a Variety of instructive Similitudes.

Hear the Language of our Common Prayer, in a very affecting and solemn Address to the ALMIGHTY; “We do not presume to come to this thy Table, O merciful LORD, trusting in our own Righteousness.”—If we may not, if we dare not, rely on our own Righteousness, when we approach the eucharistic Table; much less may we depend upon it, when we are summoned to the decisive Tribunal.—Should you ask, On what we are to depend? The Exhortation to the Communion furnishes an Answer; “On the meritorious Death and Passion of CHRIST, whereby alone we obtain Remission of Sins, and are made Partakers of the Kingdom of Heaven.”

The Collect, appointed for the Festival of Circumcision, has this remarkable Introduction; “Almighty GOD, whose blessed SON was obedient to the Law for Man.” In what Sense, or with what Propriety, can this be affirmed? Unless CHRIST’s perfect Obedience be referable to Us, and accepted instead of ours? On any other Interpretation, I should think, He was obedient, not for Man, but for Himself.

Should the artful Critic give some other Turn to these Passages, it will avail Him but little. Because the Church, her own best Expositor, has explained the Meaning of such Phrases, and put the Matter beyond all Doubt. In her eleventh Article she says; “We are accounted righteous before GOD only
“ for

“for the Merits of our LORD and SAVIOUR “JESUS CHRIST.”—The Doctrine relating to Pardon of Sin, had been stated in a preceding Article. This displays the Method, whereby Sinners may appear righteous in the Eye of GOD, and in the Court of Heaven; so as to recover the divine Favour, and obtain a Title to eternal Bliss.—This is done, not by any native Righteousness, not by any ac- quired Righteousness, but by an imputed Righteousness.
 Were We justified by either of the former Methods, it would not have been said, We are accounted, but we are righteous. They are so far from constituting our reconciling and justifying Righteousness, that they have no Share in it; contribute nothing towards it; are totally excluded from it. We are accounted righteous, and accepted as such, ONLY (mark the Expression) ONLY through the meritorious Obedience, and propitiating Blood of our great MEDI-ATOR.

The Homilies are, if it be possible, still more explicit, and more cogent. In the Homily concerning the Salvation of Mankind, we read the following Words;—“The Apostle toucheth three Things, “which must go together in our Justification. On “GOD’s Part, his great Mercy and Grace. On “CHRIST’s Part, the Satisfaction of GOD’s “Justice, or the Price of our Redemption, by the “Offering of his Body, and Shedding of his Blood, “with Fulfilling of the Law perfectly. On our “Part, true and lively Faith in the Merits of JESUS “CHRIST, which yet is not ours, but by GOD’s “working in Us.”—You see, according to the Judgment of our venerable Reformers, not only the Offering of CHRIST’s Body, and Shedding of CHRIST’s

CHRIST's Blood, but also his perfect Fulfilling of the Law, are the adequate Price of our Redemption. All these act conjointly, they sweetly harmonize, in the great and glorious Work. To suppose their Disunion, is a doctrinal Mistake, somewhat like that practical Error of the Papists, in severing the sacramental Wine from the sacramental Bread; administering to the Laity the Symbols of the slaughtered Body, but with-holding the Symbols of the streaming Blood.

There are other Clauses in the same Homily, which set the Seal of the Church to our Sentiments. I shall content myself with transcribing one from the Conclusion.—“CHRIST, says that Form of sound Words, is the Righteousness of all them, that do truly believe. He for them paid their Ransom by his Death. He for them fulfilled the Law in his Life. So that now, in HIM, and by HIM, every true christian Man may be called a Fulfiller of the Law; forasmuch as that which their Infirmary lacked, CHRIST's Righteousness hath supplied.”—This Authority is as clear, as the Doctrine authorized is comfortable. May the former sway our Judgment! May the latter cheer our Hearts!

The Homily on CHRIST's Nativity informs the Reader, that the Design of our LORD's Incarnation was—“To give Light unto the World, and call Sinners to Repentance; to fulfil the Law for Us, and become the Propitiation for our Sins; to cast out the Prince of this World, and destroy the Works of the Devil.—We have all broke the Law, We are all unable to keep the Law; therefore, the Blessed JESUS fulfilled the Law—fulfilled it, in each and every of its Demands—fulfilled it, in the highest Degree of Perfection—and, what is of all Considerations most delightful, fulfilled it for Us. His Obedience took the Place of what We were obliged to perform, under the Covenant of Works; and is not only the meritorious, but also the constituent Cause of our Justification.

So that — if there be any Worthiness in our LORD's most holy Nature; any Merit in his Exercise of the sublimest Virtues; completed by his Submission to the most ignominious Sufferings, and tormenting Death—then, according to this Standard-System of orthodox Divinity, these are the Ground, these are the Substance of a Sinner's Justification.—And, according to the Dictates of the most unbiaſſed Reason, they are the best, the surest Ground, that can either be wished or imagined.

Does it not, from the preceding Quotations, appear; That the Doctrine of Justification through the imputed Righteousness of our REDEEMER, is far from being disclaimed by the established Church? —I am sorry, but constrained to own, that We rarely find any considerable Strictures of this great evangelical Peculiarity, in our modern theological Discourses. Yet there have been Preachers of the highest Repute for Learning, for Judgment, and for Piety, who professedly maintained this grand Truth of the Gospel.

The devout Bishop Beveridge, in his Private Thoughts, has left upon Record the following very remarkable Acknowledgment. Which, if it suited his State of eminent Holiness, cannot be too humbling, my dear Theron, for your Lips and for mine.

“ I

“ I do not remember, neither do I believe, that I ever “ prayed, in all my Life-time, with that Reverence, “ or heard with that Attention, or received the Sa“ crament with that Faith, or did any Work with “ that pure Heart, and single Eye, as I ought to “ have done. Infomuch, that I look upon all my “ Righteousness, but as filthy Rags; and it is in the “ Robes only of the Righteousness of the SON of “ GOD, that I dare appear before the MA-“ JESTY of Heaven.”

The fervent and affectionate Bishop Hopkins * speaks in perfect Consonance with his Brother of St.
Asaph.—“ The Law was given Us, not that We “ should seek Justification by the Observance of it,
 “ but finding it impossible to be justified by fulfilling
 “ it, We should thereby be driven to CHRIST’s “ Righteousness; who hath both fulfilled it in Him“ self, and satisfied for our transgressing of it; and “ therefore saith the Apostle, The Law was a School- “ master, to bring Us unto CHRIST; that We might “ be justified by Faith. To this End it was pro“ mulged, that seeing the Strictness of its Precepts, “ the Rigour of its Threatenings, and withal being “ convinced of our Impotence to fulfil its Com“ mands, We might be urged by its Terrors to fly “ to CHRIST, and find that Righteousness in “ Him which may answer all the Demands of the “ Law.”

Bishop Reynolds †, styled by his Contemporaries, and not without Reason, A walking Library, bears his Testimony

* See his Sermon on John vii. 19.

† See his Treatise intitled The Life of CHRIST.—
 Which, as well as all his other Works, abound with striking

Testimony in the following Words;—"CHRIST
 " as our Surety paid our Debt, underwent the Curse
 " due to our Sins, and bare them all in his own " Body on the Tree: became subject to the Law
 " for Us, and representatively in our Stead fulfilled
 " all the Righteousness the Law required, active and " passive. For Sin being once committed, there " must be a double Act to Justification; the Suffer" ing of the Curse, and the Fulfilling of Righteous" ness anew. The one, a Satisfaction for the In" jury We have done to GOD, as our JUDGE:
 " the other, the Performance of a Service which
 " We owe unto Him, as our MAKER."

To this illustrious Triumvirate, let me join Bishop Davenant. Who, for his great Abilities, and unquestionable Integrity, was appointed one of our religious Plenipotentiaries, at the renowned Synod of Dort. In his very valuable Exposition of the Epistle to the Colossians, He writes to this Effect: "Ye " are complete in CHRIST. Ye are furnished, in " that all-sufficient REDEEMER, with what" ever is requisite to everlasting Salvation. With " Wisdom; since it is the Consummation of this " noble Endowment, to know CHRIST and Him " crucified. With Righteousness; because He has " perfectly satisfied the Law *, and thoroughly ex" piated

ing Sentiments; have much Elegance of Diction, a copious Variety of Learning, and a lively animating Spirit of evangelical Piety.

* In this Respect principally (says our Author, inlarging upon the Text) are Believers complete; because though destitute of any Righteousness, that may properly be called their own, CHRIST has graciously enriched them with his. Vid. DAVENANT, in Epist. ad Coloss. Cap. ii.
Com. 10.

“piated our Guilt. With Sanctification; because “his SPIRIT dwelling in our Hearts, mortifi“fies our corrupt Affections, and renews the Soul
 “after the Image of its CREATOR.”

Let me bring up the Rear with a Testimony, which, for Clearness, Solidity, and a full Representation of the evangelical Doctrine, might very justly have claimed a Place in the Van. It is taken from an Author, whom the general Consent of our Nation has distinguished with the Title of Judicious.
 The judicious Hooker, in a Treatise on Justification, says;—“It is a childish Cavil our Adversaries so “greatly please themselves with, exclaiming, that “We tread all Christian Virtues under our Feet; “because We teach, That Faith alone justifieth.
 “Whereas, by this Speech, We never meant to “exclude either Hope or Charity from being always “joined as inseparable Mates with Faith, in the “Man that is justified; or Works from being add“ed, as necessary Duties, required of every justified “Man: but to shew, that Faith is the only Hand, “which putteth on CHRIST to Justification; and “CHRIST the only Garment, which being so put “on, covereth the Shame of our defiled Natures, “hideth the Imperfection of our Works, and pre-
 VOL. II. X “serveth

Let me beg leave to intimate, That this Exposition of the Epistle to the Colossians—the Perspicuity of Style, and Accuracy of Method—for Judgment in discerning, and Fidelity in representing, the Apostle’s Meaning—for Strength of Argument in refuting Errors, and Felicity of Invention in deducing practical Doctrines, tending both to the Establishment of Faith, and the Cultivation of Holiness—is, I think, inferior to no Writing of the Kind; and richly deserves to be read, to be studied, to be imitated, by our young Divines.

“ serveth Us blameless in the Sight of GOD: before whom, otherwise, the Weakness of our Faith were Cause sufficient to make Us culpable, yea, to shut Us out of the Kingdom of Heaven, where nothing that is not absolute can enter.”

You will allow the sagacious Bishop Sanderfon * to sum up the Evidence; or rather to make an important Remark on the Whole of the Controversy. That great Light of the Church, both in casuistical and practical Divinity, observes;—“ The Tidings of a REDEEMER must be blessed and welcome News, to those that are sensible of their own Poverty, and take it of Grace.” Our eagle-eyed Divine penetrates into the true Cause of the prevailing Averseness to this evangelical Doctrine. It is founded on the State of the Heart, more than upon any Force of Argument. People are but little, if at all, sensible of their spiritual and moral Indigence; of the Defects which depreciate, and the Defilements which fully, whatever they have, and whatever they do. Nay, strongly tinged with Pride, they would be themselves the Alpha, and suffer the Blessed JESUS to be no more than the Omega, in procuring their eternal Salvation. Therefore they can hardly be reconciled to the humbling Character of an Eleemosynary; one who lives wholly upon the Alms of the Gospel, and is dependent upon Grace for his All.

Whereas, was this grand Obstacle once removed; were Men convinced of Sin, of exceeding Sinfulness in their worst Estate, and of remaining Sinfulness in their best; they would soon be convinced of Righteousness, ousness *, of the absolute Necessity and inestimable Worth of a REDEEMER's Righteousness. They would no longer dispute against it, but cordially receive it; intirely rely on it; and adore the Goodness, the transcendent and unutterable Goodness of GOD, in providing it.

* See his Sermon upon Isa. lii. 3.

I think, in one of our Conferences, I undertook to produce my Vouchers from the antient Fathers. Let me now subjoin two or three Attestations of this Kind.—From one of which You will perceive, that those early Writers had a considerable Degree of Clearness upon the Point. From the other You will see, that, far from rejecting the Doctrine, they embrace it with Delight and Rapture. And if you will admit of the last, You cannot be startled at any Thing, which I shall advance upon the Subject.—Let me only premise in general, that, if those Authors are not so copious and explicit, with regard to the Imputation of active Righteousness; they abound in Passages, which evince the Substitution of CHRIST in our Stead. Passages, which disclaim all Dependence on any Duties of our own, and fix the Hopes of a Believer intirely upon the Merits of his SAVIOUR. When this is the Case, I am very little solicitous about any particular Forms of Expression; and far from being angry, even though the Words, which I think most significant, are not retained.

Clemens—an intimate Acquaintance of St. Paul's, and whose Name was in the Book of Life †—in his truly excellent Epistle to the Corinthians, assures that

X 2

People :

* John xvi. 8.

† Phil. iv. 3.

People *: We are not, in any Respect or in any Degree, justified by Ourselves, but wholly by JESUS CHRIST: not by our own Wisdom or Prudence, which could never find out the Way; not by the Piety of our Hearts, or Works of Righteousness performed in our Lives, which could never be sufficient for the Purpose; but by Faith. The one invariable Method, by which the Almighty SOVEREIGN has justified all his People, ever since the World began.

Justin—who was first a Gentile Philosopher, then an eminent Christian, and at last a Martyr for the Truth—speaks more fully to the Point †: What else could cover our Sins, but the Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST? By what possible Means could We, unrighteous and unholy Creatures, be justified, but only by the Interposition of the SON of GOD in our Behalf?—Having, in this Clause, made a Profession of his Faith; the good Man, on the Contemplation of such a Privilege, breaks out into a kind of holy Transport.

* Οὐ δι' ἑαυτῶν δικαιωμένα, οὐδὲ δια τῆς ἡμετέρας σοφίας, ἢ συνέσεως, ἢ εὐσεβείας, ἢ ἔργων ὡς καλεῖσθαι αμαρτανὰ ἐν οὐκίῃ καρδίας· ἀλλὰ δια τῆς πίστεως, δι' ἧς πάντας τὰς ἀπ' αἰῶνος ὁ πασιπράως Θεὸς· ἐδικαιώσιν. 1 Epist. ad Corinth.—This Quotation is explained, as well as translated. But that every Reader may distinguish the Text from the Paraphrase, the first is printed in Italic, the last in Roman Characters.

† Τὸ ἄλλο τὰς ἀμαρτίας ἡμῶν ἠδυνήθη καλυψαί, ἢ ἐκείνῳ δικαιώσιν; Ἐν τῇ δικαιώσῃ δύνατον τὰς ἀνομίας ἡμῶν καὶ ἀσεβείας, ἢ ἐν τῷ οὐκίῃ Θεῷ; Ω ΤΗΣ ΓΑΥΚΕΙΑΣ ΚΑΤΑΛΑΤΗΣ, ὡ τῆς ἀνέχοντος δημερίας, ὡ τῶν ἀπροσδοκίων δεύρος πολλὰς ἀνομίας δικαίωση. Epist. ad Diogn.—Though Du Pin questions the Authority of this Epistle, He allows it to have been written by an antient Hand. Dr. Cave, as capable a Judge, thinks there is no Reason to doubt, but it is the genuine Work of Justin.

sport. O SWEET AND DELIGHTFUL EXCHANGE! A Dispensation unsearchably wise and gracious! Benefits, quite unexpected, and rich beyond all our Hopes! That the Sin of Many should be hid by one righteous PERSON; and that the Righteousness of ONE, should justify many Transgressors.

The following Words are remarkably strong, and the Sentiments peculiarly bold. But they come from the Pen of the finest Writer in Ecclesiastical Antiquity. They have the great Name, and venerable Character of St. Chrysostom, for their recommendatory Preface*—Fear not, says He, on Account of any of thy past Transgressions of the Law, when once Thou hast fled by Faith to JESUS CHRIST. The most enormous and the most destructive Violation of the Law, is, To be with-held, by the Consciousness of any Guilt whatever, from believing on CHRIST. When Thou artest Faith on Him, Thou hast fulfilled, I might say, more than fulfilled the Law. For Thou hast received a better Righteousness, than it could ever require: Thou art possessed of a better Obedience, than any Creature could possibly pay.

Two or three Witnesses of distinguished Ability, and undoubted Veracity, are a sufficient Confirmation of any Cause. For this Reason, and to avoid a tiresome Prolivity, I have set aside a Multitude of Voices; which, from the Writings of our own and foreign Divines, are ready to pour their united Evidence.—And lest the Business of Quotation, though sparingly
X 3 managed,

* Μη τινος φοβηθης, ως του νομου παραβαινων, επειδαν τη πιστει προσηλθης· τοις γαρ αυτον παραβαινεις, ος δι' αυτον τω Χριστω μη πιστευσης· ως αν πιστευσης αυτω, κακεινος πληρωσας κ' πολλω πλεον η εκεινου· πολλω γαρ μεγαλον δικαιοσυνην ελαβες. Homil. XVII. in X. ad Rom.

managed, should seem dry and tedious ; I will relieve your Weariness, and inviven the Collection, by an Extract from the Prince of English Poetry.—Michael, the prophetic Archangel, mentioning the destructive Consequences of the Fall ; and asserting the GOD-HEAD of that glorious PERSON, who undertook to be the Repairer of this deadly Breach ; adds,

*Which HE, who comes thy SAVIOUR, shall secure,
Not by destroying Satan, but his Works,
In Thee and in Thy Seed. Nor can this be,
But by fulfilling (that which Thou didst want) Obedience to the Law of GOD, impos'd
On Penalty of Death ; and suffering Death,
The Penalty to thy Transgression due ;
And due to theirs, which out of thine will grow.
So ONLY can high Justice rest appaid*.*

Here then is the express Determination of our Homilies—supported by the Authority of our Articles—established by the Concurrence of our Liturgy—still farther ratified by the unanimous Attestation of several celebrated Divines ; whose Lives were the brightest Ornament to our Church, and whose Writings are the most unexceptionable Interpretation of her Meaning.—As a Capital, to crown and complete this grand Column, supervenes the Declaration of the ancient Fathers ; those who flourished, and with the highest Renown, in the first and purest Ages of Christianity. — So that, if great Authorities carry any Weight ; if illustrious Names challenge any Regard ; this Tenet comes attended and dignified with very considerable Credentials.

Yet

Yet I will venture to affirm, that all these, considerable as they appear, are the least of those Testimonials, which recommend the Doctrine to my Theron's Acceptance, and which have gained it Admittance into the Heart of

His most affectionate

ASPASIO.

L E T T E R IV.

ASPASIO to THERON.

Dear THERON,

THE Family, in which I have the Satisfaction to reside, though remarkable for their genteel Figure and ample Fortune, are still more amiably distinguished by their Benevolence, Hospitality, and Charity.—As they live at a Distance from the Market-town, the Lady has converted one Apartment of her House into a little Dispensatory; and stocked it with some of the most common, the most needed, and most salutary Medicines. Which, in Cases of ordinary Indisposition, She distributes to her indigent Neighbours, with singular Compassion, and with no small Success.—This fine Morning, Emilia has ordered some skilful Hands into the Fields, to cull their healing Simples, and lay up a Magazine of Health for the afflicted Poor. Camillus is withdrawn to receive his Rents, and settle Accounts with his Tenants.

Suppose, We act in Concert with these valuable Persons. Suppose, We range the delightful Fields of Scripture, and form a Collection, not of salutiferous Herbs, but of inestimable Texts; such as may be of sovereign Efficacy, to assuage the Anguish of a guilty Conscience, and impart saving Health to the distempered Soul.—Suppose, We open the Mines of divine Inspiration, and enrich Ourselves, not with the Gold of Ophir, but with the unsearchable Treasures of CHRIST; or with that perfect Righteousness of our REDEEMER, which is incomparably more precious, than the Revenues of a County, or the Produce of Peru.

In pleading for imputed Righteousness, We have already urged the Authority of our established Church, and the Suffrage of her most eminent Divines.—The Opinion of excellent Writers, which has been the Result of much Learning, great Attention, and earnest Prayer, is no contemptible Evidence. Yet We must always reserve the casting Voice, for those infallible Umpires, the Prophets and Apostles. *If we receive, with a deferential Regard, the Witness of Men; the Witness of GOD is greater , and challenges the most implicit Submission.—Which Remark naturally leads me to the intended Subject of this Epistle; or rather calls upon me to fulfil my late Engagement, and shew—That the above-mentioned Doctrine is copiously revealed, through the whole Process of the Scriptures.

Let me detach a very significant Portion from the Epistle to the Romans; which, though little inferior to a decisive Proof, is produced only as an Introduction to others. *Now the Righteousness of GOD without the Law is manifested, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets; even the Righteousness of GOD, which is by Faith of JESUS CHRIST unto all, and upon all them that believe . The Righteousness of GOD, signifies that Righteousness, which the incarnate GOD wrought out in his own all-glorious Person †. It is styled the Righteousness of GOD, by way of superlative Pre-eminence; in Opposition to any Righteousness of our own, and in Contradistinction to the Righteousness of all Creatures whatever.—This Righteousness is without the Law. Its Efficacy has no Dependence on, its Merit receives no Addition from, any Conformity of our Practice to the divine Law: being complete, absolutely complete in itself, and altogether sufficient to procure the Reconciliation and Acceptance of Sinners.—This Righteousness is witnessed by the Law and the Prophets; receives

* Rom. iii. 21, 22.

† This Explication, or something to the same Purpose, has occurred already. But it is hoped, the candid Reader will not condemn the Repetition, as a disagreeable and jejune Tautology.—Because, it is so consonant to the Practice of our great Apostle, who repeats the Term, re-inculcates the Doctrine, and hardly knows how to desist from the favourite Topic: like One, who was quite enamoured with the Subject; who found Music in the Words; and whose Happiness was bound up in the Blessing.—Because, it is conformable to another, and a greater Example. The LORD JEHOVAH Himself, within the Compass of one Chapter, once and again, yea, a third and a fourth Time, styles this wonderful Obedience, MY RIGHTEOUSNESS. As though the GOD of infinite Perfection gloried in it; thought Himself most eminently magnified by it; and was jealous to have all the Honour resulting from it. See Isa. li.

receives an uniform Attestation from the various Writings of the Old Testament. To investigate which Attestation, to examine its Pertinency, and weigh its Sufficiency, is our present pleasing Business.

We may begin with that gracious Declaration, made to the first Transgressors: *The Seed of the Woman shall bruise the Serpent's Head; shall destroy the Works of the Devil, and retrieve whatever was lost by his malicious Artifices †. How could this be effected, but by restoring that Righteousness, which, for a while, our first Parents possessed; which they ought always to have held fast; but from which they so soon and so unhappily swerved?—Take the Position in the right Sense, and Christianity is, if not entirely, yet very nearly as old as the Creation. It was comprehended in this blessed Promise, as the Stamina of the largest Plants are contained in the Substance of their respective Seeds. Every subsequent Revelation being no more, than a gradual Evolution of this grand evangelical Principle; acting like the vegetative Powers of Nature, which, in rearing an Oak with all its Spread of Branches, only expand the Tunicles, and fill up the Vessels of the Acorn.

This Doctrine seems to have been typically taught, by the remarkable Manner of clothing our first Parents. —All they could do for their own Recovery, was like the patched and beggarly Mantle of Fig-leaves. This they relinquish, and GOD himself furnishes them with

* Gen. iii. 15.
† In some such Sense, I think, our first Parents must understand the Promise. Otherwise it could yield them no effectual Relief, under the distressing Sense of their own Misery, and the dismal Apprehension of their Posterity's Ruin.

with Apparel*. Animals are slain, not for Food but Sacrifice; and the naked Criminals are arrayed with the Skins of those slaughtered Beasts. The Victims figured the Expiation of CHRIST's Death; the Clothing typified the Imputation of his Righteousness. —In perfect Conformity, perhaps with a Reference, to the Passage thus interpreted, the Apostle just now expressed Himself; even the Righteousness of GOD, which is not only made over † to all Believers, as a rich Portion; but put † upon all, as a beautiful Garment. Whereby alone their moral Deformity can be covered, and their everlasting Confusion prevented.—Milton, it is certain, speaking of this memorable Transaction, considers it in the same spiritual Sense:

*Nor HE their outward only with the Skins Of Beasts, but inward Nakedness (much more Opprobrious!) with his Robe of Righteousness
Arraying, covered from his FATHERS's Sight.*

In thy Seed, says the great JEHOVAH to his Servant Abraham, shall all the Nations of the Earth be blessed†. That the Seed here mentioned is CHRIST, the Apostle || places beyond all Doubt. Both Scripture and Reason declare, That true Blessedness must necessarily include—the Pardon of Sins, and the Favour of GOD—the Sanctification of our Souls, and the

* Gen. iii. 21.

†† Rom. iii. 22. ΕΙΣ παντας, ΕΠΙ παντας, τας ανθρωπους.

‡ Gen. xxii. 18.

|| See St. Paul's Comment upon this invaluable Promise, Gal. iii. 8, &c. This Commentator, We all allow, was guided by the SPIRIT, and knew the Mind of GOD. According to his Exposition of the Text, it is pregnant with the Doctrine of Justification by Faith, and contains an Abridgment of the Gospel.

the Inheritance of Life eternal. None of which are to be acquired by any human Performances; but all are to be sought, and all may be found, in the Root and Offspring of Abraham, JESUS CHRIST. Who is therefore most pertinently styled, *THE DESIRE OF ALL NATIONS: The actual Desire of every enlightened Nation; and the implicit Desire of all Nations whatever. Because all, without any Exception, covet, what is to be derived only from JESUS CHRIST the Righteous, real Happiness.

The patriarchal Age, and the legal Oeconomy, bore their Testimony to this Truth, by typical Persons, emblematical Miracles, and figurative Usages. Indeed, the whole ceremonial Service was a grand Series of Types, representing CHRIST and his everlasting Righteousness. In all which, this was the unanimous though silent Language; Behold the LAMB of GOD, that taketh away the Sin of the World.—These I shall not stay to discuss, because Proofs of a more explicit and positive Nature wait for our Consideration. Only I would just make a transient Observation, relating to one very remarkable Constitution in the Jewish Ritual.

The High-priest had, on the Front of his Mitre, a Plate of pure Gold, engraven with that venerable Motto†, HOLINESS TO THE LORD. Which was always to be on his Forehead, when He performed the solemn Ministrations of the Sanctuary; and for this important Reason, that the People might be accepted before the LORD‡. Did not this most clearly

* Hag. ii. 7. † Exod. xxviii. 36, 37. ‡ Exod. xxviii. 38.

clearly foreshew the immaculate Holiness of our great HIGH-PRIEST? And with equal Clearness imply, that his Holiness should procure Acceptance for all his Followers?

In the Book of Job, We have several Hints of this Truth, and one Passage very exprefs to our Purpose. — Elibu describes an unconverted Person, under the chastising Hand of Providence. Whose Life, through the Extremity of his Disease, drew near to the Grave; and his Soul, through the Multitude of his Iniquities, was ready to become a Prey to the Destroyers. In this deplorable Condition, if there be present with Him, the MESSENGER * of the Covenant of Peace; that great INTERPRETER * of the divine Counsels, who, for his super-excellent Wisdom, is justly deemed One among a thousand, or rather the chiefest among ten thousand. If He, by his enlightening SPIRIT, vouchsafe to shew unto the afflicted Man his own perfect Righteousness; that most meritorious Uprightness, on which alone a Sinner may depend, both for temporal and eternal Salvation. Then the poor distressed Creature, attentive to this Instruction, and applying this Righteousness, is made Partaker taker of Pardon. GOD, the sovereign LORD of Life and Death, is gracious unto Him; and saith, in the Greatness of his Strength, as well as in the Multitude of his Mercies, Deliver Him from going down into the Pit of Corruption, as a Pledge of his Deliverance from the Pit of Perdition. For, I have found a Ransom, sufficient to satisfy my Justice. I have received an Atonement, in Behalf of this once obnoxious, now reconciled Transgressor.

* * See Job xxxiii. 22, &c. — CHRIST is called מַלְאָךְ The Angel of the divine Presence, Isa. lxiii. 9. The Messenger of the Covenant, Mal. iii. 1. — He is also, in the most unlimited Sense of the Phrase, מְלִיץ The Interpreter of the divine Counsels: He, to whom the FATHER hath given the Tongue of the Learned, and by whom He makes known the otherwise unsearchable Mysteries of the Gospel. — Should any Doubt remain, concerning the Propriety of applying this Passage to our LORD JESUS CHRIST, the Reader, I hope, will give himself the Pleasure of perusing the polite Witfius, Oecon. Lib. IV. Cap. iii. § xxxi. and Dr. Grey's valuable Notes upon the Place, in his Liber Jobi.

But why do I select one particular Paragraph? It seems to be the main Design of the whole Book, to overthrow all Pretensions of any justifying Righteousness in Man. That the wretched Sinner, nay, that the greatest Saint, stripped of every personal Plea, may rely only on the Merits of a REDEEMER. This is the final Issue of all those warm Debates, which pass between the afflicted Hero and his censorious Friends. This is the grand Result of Elibu's calm Reasoning, and of GOD Almighty's awful Interrogatories. The apparent Center this *, in which all the Lines terminate; justly therefore to be considered, as the principal Scope of the whole Work.

I must not omit an excellent Observation, which I find in some critical and explanatory Notes †, on the last Words of David. The judicious Author proving, that this Song relates to CHRIST; that it displays the Dignity of our REDEEMER, under the Character of The KING, and The JUST ONE; adds, as an Explication of the last amiable and glorious Title — “ Our LORD JESUS “ CHRIST is so called, not so much for having “ fulfilled all Righteousness, in his own Person, and “ per-

* See Job xlii. 6.

† By Dr. Grey. See 2 Sam. xxiii. 1, &c.

“ performed an unfinning Obedience to the Will of “ GOD, as because by his Righteousness imputed
 “ to Us, We also upon the Terms * of the Gospel, “ are justified, or accounted righteous before
 “ GOD.”

I think We may evidently discern the same Vein of evangelical Doctrine, running through many of the Psalms—He shall convert † my Soul; turn me, not only from Sin and Ignorance, but from every false Confidence, and every deceitful Refuge. He shall bring me forth in Paths of Righteousness, in those Paths of imputed Righteousness, which are always adorned with

* That is, freely; or, as the Prophet speaks, without Money and without Price. For nothing is requisite, in order to a Participation of CHRIST and his Benefits, but a Conviction of our extreme Need, and an unfeigned Desire to receive them; receive them as Gifts of pure Grace, vouchsafed to the most undeserving Creatures.—This Point, which is so intimately connected with our Comfort and Hope, the Reader may see more fully stated in Dialogue XV.

Psal. xxiii. 3. I am sensible, the Word שׁוּבֵב may signify to refresh or restore; may answer to the Greek Phrase ἀναψύξῃς; and denote the Comforts of the HOLY GHOST.—This Verb may also bear the same Signification with the Participle επιστρέψας, in our LORD’s Exhortation to Peter, When Thou art converted. Not describing the first grand Revolution in the Heart, by which a new Determination is given to the Judgment, and a new Bias to the Affections; but expressing those subsequent Operations of the Divine SPIRIT, by which We are recovered from our various Relapses, and healed of our daily Infirmities. And I question, whether there is any Instance, in which We more frequently need these restoring Aids, than in the Case of adhering to our REDEEMER’s Righteousness. So prone are We to forget our Resting-place! So liable to fall from our Steadfastness in CHRIST!

with the Trees of Holiness; are always watered with the Fountains of Consolation; and always terminate in everlasting Rest.—Some, perhaps, may ask, Why I give this Sense to the Passage? Why may it not signify the Paths of Duty, and the Way of our own Obedience?—Because, such Effects are here mentioned, as never have resulted, and never can result, from any Duties of our own. These are not green Pastures, but a parched and blasted Heath. These are not still Waters, but a troubled and disorderly * Stream. Neither can these speak Peace, or administer Comfort, when We pass through the Valley and Shadow of Death. To yield these Blessings is the exalted Office of CHRIST, and the sole Prerogative of his Obedience.

Admitting, that this Obedience is of sovereign Advantage, during the Years of Life, and in the Hour of Death; it may still occur to the serious and inquisitive Mind, what will be our Safeguard, after the great Change? When the Soul departs, and our Place on Earth knows Us no more: when the Body revives, and We shall all stand before the Judgment-Seat: what will then avail Us? — The same Righteousness of our Divine LORD. This, if I mistake not,

* Blasted, disorderly—Let not these Words grate on the Ear; or, if they grate on the Ear, let them humble the Heart. What were Job's Duties? Zealous and exemplary; practised from his very Youth; and neither exceeded nor equaled by any Person on Earth. Yet these, in Point of Justification, were not a whit better than Aspasio represents. Let Us hear the last Words of this matchless Saint, I abhor myself, and repent in Dust and Ashes. From this Confession we learn, that, with all his Furniture of personal Obedience, He had just enough to be ashamed, confounded, undone.

not, is displayed in the very next Psalm. Which begins with a solicitous Inquiry; subjoins a satisfactory Answer; and closes with a most pertinent but rapturous Apostrophe.—This is the Inquiry; Who shall ascend into the Hill of the LORD? Or who shall rise up in his holy Place?—This is the Answer; *Even He that hath clean Hands and a pure Heart. He shall receive † the Blessing of plenary Remission from the LORD, and Righteousness also from the GOD of his Salvation: even that perfect Righteousness, which is not acquired by Man, but bestowed by JEHOVAH: which is not performed by the Saint, but received by the Sinner: which is the only solid Basis, to support our Hopes of Happiness; the only valid Plea, for an Admission into the Mansions of Joy.—Then follows the Apostrophe. The Prophet foresees the Ascension of CHRIST and his Saints into the Kingdom of Heaven. He sees his LORD, marching at the Head of the redeemed World, and conducting them into Regions of Honour and Joy. Suitably to such a View, and in a most beautiful Strain of Poetry, He addresses Himself to the heavenly Portals; Lift up your Heads, O ye Gates, and be ye lift up, ye everlasting Doors; and the King of Glory, with all the Heirs of his Grace and Righteousness,

VOL. II.

Y

shall

* Psal. xxiv. 4. Who hath clean Hands and a pure Heart; He only, whose Heart is sprinkled from an evil Conscience, by the precious Blood of CHRIST; and who lives by Faith in the SON of GOD. Heb. x. 22. Gal. ii. 20.

† The Words of the Apostle, ο λαμβανων την δωρεαν της δικαιοσυνης, are almost a literal Translation, are the very best Explanation, of the Psalmist's Language, ישא עדרקה Rom. v. 17. Psal. xxiv. 5.

shall make their triumphant Entry; shall enter in, and go out no more.

Having shewn the powerful and extensive Influence of our REDEEMER's Righteousness; its Efficacy, in this World to justify, in the other World to glorify; well may the sweet Singer of Israel profess his supreme Value for it, and intire Dependence on it. *I will go forth in the Strength of the LORD GOD, and will make mention of thy Righteousness only As though He had said; I will have recourse to no other Righteousness, for the Consolation of my Soul. I will plead no other Righteousness, for the Recommendation of my Person. I will fly to no other Righteousness, for my final Acceptance, and endless Felicity.—This is that Raiment of Needle work and Clothing of wrought Gold †, in which the King's Daughter is introduced to HIM, “who sitteth in “the Heavens over all.” This is that Garment for Glory and for Beauty ‡, which clothed our great HIGH-PRIEST; and descending to his very Feet §, clothes and adorns the lowest Members of his mystical Body.

Recollecting all the foregoing Particulars, justly and on the most rational Ground, does our royal Author

* Psal. lxxi. 16. There is, in the Hebrew Original, and in the new Translation, a very emphatical Repetition; which adds Weight to the Sentiment, and demands a peculiar Attention from the Reader: Thy Righteousness, even thine only.

† Psal. lxxv. 13.

‡ Exod. xxviii. 31. Notabat, says WITSIUS upon the Place, illud Pallium Justitiæ, quo indutus est, & suos induit CHRISTUS.

§ Rev. i. 13.

Author declare; Blessed are the People, that know the joyful Sound: they shall walk, O LORD, in the Light of thy Countenance. In thy Name shall they rejoice all the Day: and in thy Righteousness shall they be exalted *.

—They are truly blessed, they alone are happy; who know the joyful Sound of the Gospel; not only receive it with their Ears; but admit it into their very Hearts; so as to partake of the sacred Peace; and spiritual Liberty, which it proclaims.—They shall walk in the Light of thy Countenance; they shall enjoy such Communications of thy Grace, and such Manifestations of thy Love, as will constitute the Serenity and Sunshine of their Souls.—In thy Name, O LORD JESUS CHRIST, in thy glorious Person, and thy infinite Merits, shall they rejoice. And not occasionally, but habitually; not barely at some distinguished Intervals, but all the Day. Their Joy shall be as lasting, as it is substantial.—And in thy Righteousness shall they be exalted; set above the tantalizing Power of temporal Things; placed beyond the slavish Fear of the last Enemy; and raised, when Time shall be no more, to a State of celestial Glory, and consummate Bliss.

How thoroughly evangelical is this seraphic Writer! He has Joy, He has Blessedness, and He looks for everlasting Exaltation. Yet not from his Faith, his Repentance, and his own sincere Obedience. According to this, which is the modern Scheme, Faith, instead of receiving, would supplant the LORD JESUS: Repentance, instead of being the Gift of CHRIST, would become his Rival: and sincere Obedience, which is for the Praise and Glory of GOD, would eclipse and impoverish his Grace.— But David adopts no such Sentiments. David maintains no such Doctrine. This is the invariable Language of his Heart, All my Springs of Hope, of Trust, and Consolation, O thou adored EMMANUEL, are in Thee *.

Y 2

of

This Sense is the less precarious, I had almost said the more certain, as it exactly corresponds with the Analogy of Faith, and coincides with the express Declarations of other Scriptures.—Isaiah is styled the Evangelist of the Jewish Church. Because, more frequently than any of the Prophets he celebrates, and more copiously explains, this and other Peculiarities of the Gospel.—In the very first Chapter, He preaches these glad Tidings; Sion shall be redeemed with Judgment, and her Converts with Righteousness. Sion, the Gospel-Church, composed of fallen Creatures, sometime disobedient to their GOD, and enslaved to Satan, shall be redeemed. Redeemed, not with corruptible Things, Silver and Gold; but by severe Judgments executed on their glorious HEAD, and gracious REPRESENTATIVE. And not by these only, but by Righteousness also; by the perfect and most meritorious Righteousness of the same divinely excellent PERSON †.

Our sacred Author bears his Testimony, with warmer Zeal and brighter Evidence, as he proceeds in his incomparable Discourses. Surely, shall one say (or, as it may be rendered, only) in the LORD have I Righteousness and Strength ‡. Please to observe,
Theron.

* Psal. lxxxvii. 7.

† Hanc Redemptionem docet SPIRITUS SANCTUS habere Nos in Obedientiâ & Sanguine JESU CHRISTI. Isa. i. 27. VITRING. in Loc.

‡ Isa. xlv. 24.

Theron. It is not said, in my own Works, in my own Repentance, no, nor in my own Faith, but in the LORD JESUS have I Righteousness.—Righteousness for Justification, and Strength for Sanctification. An imputed Righteousness, to procure my Acceptance; an imparted Strength, to produce my Holiness. The first, constituting my Title to the everlasting Inheritance; the last, forming my personal Preparation for its Enjoyment.—Surely, which expresses a firm Persuasion, and an unshaken Affiance. Only, which denotes an utter Renunciation of all other Confidence, and excludes every other Ground of Hope.—Righteousnesses *, the Original is in the plural Number. Which seems to be used, not without an important Design; to enlarge the Significancy of the Word, and make it correspond with the Richness of the Blessing. So that it may imply the Fulness and supereminent Excellency of this Gift of Grace; as comprehending whatever †, either of Suffering or of Obedience, is requisite to the Justification of Sinners.—Inasmuch, that in the LORD JESUS CHRIST, and his all-perfect Righteousness, the Seed of Israel shall not only be justified, but rejoice; and not only confide, but glory ‡.

Y 3

What

* צדקות parallel to which, both in Construction and Signification, is the Phrase used by St. John, Ἀγαπῶμεθα, Rev. x. 8. The fine Linen is the Righteousness (properly the Righteousnesses) of the Saints.

† Vult dicere Prophetæ, in JEHOVAH esse ID PROPTER QUOD Peccator resipiscens & credens, a Peccatis absolvi, & jure ad Benedictionem cœlestem donari queat ac debeat: esse illud JEHOVÆ proprium; ab ipso quærendum; quod extra ipsum non invenitur. VITRING.

‡ Isa. xlv. 25.

What he had just now asserted, he exemplifies in his own, and in the Person of every true Believer. I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my Soul shall be joyful in my GOD; for He hath clothed me with the Garments of Salvation, He hath covered me with the Robe of Righteousness *.—True Believers are compared, in one of our sacred Eclogues, to a Company of Horses in Pharaoh's Chariot †: to Horses, than which no Animal is more stately and graceful: to Egyptian Horses, which were the best and completest, then in the World: to those in Pharaoh's Chariot, which, doubtless, were a choice Set; selected from Thousands; and finest, where all were fine. Here, methinks, I see the Comparison realized. Christians, endued with such a Spirit, as breathes in this animated Text, are like a Collection of those gallant and majestic Steeds; not destined to low Drudgery, but appointed to run in the royal Chariot; all Life; full of Fire; champing the Bit, and eager for the Chase. Nothing can more beautifully describe a State of Exultation and Ardour, than the preceding Similitude, or the following Words—I will rejoice; I will greatly rejoice; my very Soul, and all that is within me, shall be joyful in my GOD. Wherefore? Because He has clothed me, undone Sinner as I am, with the Garments of Salvation: because He hath covered me, defective as all my Services are, with the Robe of Righteousness. A Robe, which hides every Sin, that in Thought, Word, or Deed, I have committed. A Robe, which screens from the Sword of Justice, the Curse of the Law, and all the Vengeance my Iniquities have deserved. A Robe, which adorns
and

* Isa. lxi. 10.

† Cant. i. 9.

and dignifies my Soul; renders it fairer than the Moon, clear as the Sun, and meet for the Inheritance of Saints in Light.

Having represented this Righteousness, in a Variety of grand and charming Views—the Prophet farther characterizes it, as the unalterable and never-failing Origin of our Justification and Happiness. This he displays by a Train of Images, bold and sublime to the last Degree. Lift up your Eyes to the Heavens, and look upon the Earth beneath: for the Heavens shall vanish away like Smoke, and the Earth shall wax old like a Garment; but my Salvation shall be for ever, and my Righteousness shall not be abolished *.—Observe the vast Dimensions, and the firm Foundations, both of the upper and the lower World. How strong, how steadfast, they all appear! Yet these, indissoluble as they may seem, shall perish.—This majestic Globe, on which Mountains rise and Oceans roll, shall lose its beautiful Gloss; and be laid aside, like a decayed useless Garment. Even that more majestic Concave, in which Stars are fixed, and Planets revolve, shall be deprived of its very superior Lustre; and vanish away, like the dissolving Smoke.—Whereas, my Salvation, with all the spiritual and heavenly Blessings included in it, shall subsist and flourish for ever. And my Righteousness, which is the meritorious Cause of all, shall be an immoveable Foundation for Repose and Happiness.—In short; whether there be moral Virtues, they shall be found wanting; whether there be christian Graces, they shall prove ineffectual; but my Conformity to the Law, and my Obedience unto Death, neither need Addition, nor admit of Change;

Y 4 they

* Isa. li. 6:

they are all-sufficient in their Merit, and in their Virtue everlasting.

When Day arises on our benighted Hemisphere, it breaks and spreads by a gradual Increase. Forming, first, the grey Twilight; next, the blushing Morn; then, the shining Light; till all is heightened into the Blaze and Glow of Noon.—When Spring revisits our wintry Clime, She also advances by gentle Degrees. First, swells the Bud, and protudes the Gem; then, expands the Leaf, and unfolds the Blossom: the Face of things is continually changing for the better; and Nature shews herself, almost every Hour, in some new and more engaging Dress.—This leisurely Process, renders the strong Effulgence of the celestial Orb, more supportable; and the lovely Expansions of the vegetable Creation, more observable.

So progressive and increasing are the Displays of JESUS CHRIST, exhibited in the Scriptures. Whose Appearance is unspeakably more delightful to the Soul, than the Emanations of orient Light are to the Eye, or the Entertainments of the vernal Season to our other Senses.—The Gloom of fallen Adam was alleviated by a Ray from this SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS.—Abraham and the Patriarchs saw afar off the Blessed JESUS, as the Morning spread upon the Mountains*.—The Psalmist and the Prophets, beheld his nearer Approaches, like the Sun upon the point of Rising.—To the Apostles and Evangelists He arose, in perfect Lustre, and complete Beauty. The Grace and the Privileges, which dawned under other Dispensations of Religion, are brought even to meridian Light by
the

* Joel ii. 2.

the Gospel.—This I mention, just to intimate, what You may expect from a following Letter.

In the mean Time, let Us attend to the Prophet Daniel. He records a Message from Heaven, which is more clearly descriptive of this great evangelical Blessing, than all the foregoing Texts.—He had been under much Distress, and in great Perplexity: afflicted for his own, and his Countrymens Sins; anxious for the Welfare of the chosen Nation, and the Prosperity of true Religion. When an Angel was dispatched to the holy Mourner, with this most chearing News; which, received by Faith, is the richest Balm to a wounded Conscience, and the only Remedy for a guilty World. Seventy Weeks are determined upon thy People, and upon thy holy City; to finish the Transgression, and make an End of Sin; to make Reconciliation for Iniquity; and to bring in everlasting Righteousness *.

—This Prophecy relates to the MESSIAH. It foretels, that, in the Fulness of Time, He should finish the Transgression †; restrain and suppress the Power of Corruption, by purifying to Himself a peculiar People—Should make an End of Sin ‡; by sealing up or secreting its Guilt, and totally abolishing its condemning Power—Should make Reconciliation for Iniquity; by sustaining the Vengeance due to Sinners, and fully satisfying the divine Justice for all their Offences—Should not barely publish, but accomplish and bring in a Righteousness ||; that it may be

* Dan. ix. 24.

† כלא

‡ חתם

|| להביא I think, must signify more than to publish or preach. Had this been all that the Angel was commissioned to declare, לבשר or להגיד would probably have been used.—The Word implies such a bringing in (the Original be presented both to GOD and Man; to GOD, for the Reparation of his violated Law; to Man, for the Justification of his obnoxious Person—That this Righteousness should be everlasting; not such as may be compared to the Morning Cloud, which passeth away; or to the early Dew, which is soon dried up; but such as will out-last the Hills, on which the latter shines; and out-last the Skies, through which the former sails. A Righteousness, whose Merits extend to every Period and every Action of our Lives; and when once made ours by Imputation, remains and will remain our unalienable Property.—To this all the Saints, who, in antient Generations, pleased GOD, owe their Acceptance; on this, all the Children of Men, who, in future Ages, hope for his Mercy, must rely; by this the whole Assembly of the Blessed, will be invariably and eternally precious in his Sight.—Exalted Character! Can it be applicable to any Thing less, than the Righteousness of the incarnate GOD? Surely, None can imagine, that Daniel would speak in such a magnificent Strain of any human Righteousness; since, in this very Chapter, he professedly depreciates Himself, his Fellow-saints, and all human Performances whatever.

I forgot, in the proper Place, to consult the Prophet Jeremiah. Let Us now refer Ourselves to his Determination. Celebrating the SAVIOUR of Judah and Israel, He says; This is his Name, whereby He shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. A Determination, so clear and sa-

Original is the same) as when Abel brought his Sacrifice to the Altar, for the divine Acceptance; and Esau brought his Venison into the Chamber, for his Father's Use. Gen. iv. 4. xxvii. 31.

satisfactory, as not to leave, One would almost conclude, any Room for Appeal.—Should the Sense of the Passage be questioned, I think, there cannot be a more authentic Explication, than the preceding Extracts from Isaiah and Daniel. And having the unanimous Attestation of two inspired Penmen, We may venture to abide by such Authority, even in Opposition to some respectable Names.—In the Verse immediately foregoing, the essential Holiness of the REDEEMER is displayed, under the Character of the RIGHTEOUS BRANCH.—The Sanctity, which He will impart to his Subjects, is intimated by his executing Judgment and Justice in the Earth.—In the Clause, We have quoted, his imputed Righteousness is foretold and promised.—Thus the several Sentences are distinct; the Description of the SAVIOUR is complete; and He appears perfectly suited to the Exigencies of a wretched World; in their worst Estate, enslaved to Satan, and in their best, falling short of the Glory of GOD. — This therefore I take to be the grand and extensive Meaning of the Prophet; not barely, The righteous LORD; not barely, the LORD who infuses Righteousness into sinful Souls; but the incarnate JEHOVAH*, whose mediatorial Righteousness is, by an Act of gracious Imputation, ours—

* Jer. xxiii. 5, 6. In these golden, infinitely better than golden Verses, are characterized the divine and the human Natures of CHRIST, together with his mediatorial Office. The divine Nature; in that He enjoys the Honours of the GODHEAD, and possesses the incommunicable Name JEHOVAH.—The human Nature; in that He was to be raised up unto David, and spring as a Branch from his Root.—The mediatorial Office; in that He is the Righteousness of his People, and the Salvation of Sinners.

to all the Intents of Justification and Salvation, ours —as much ours for these blessed Purposes, as if We had wrought it out, each in his own Person*.

Foreseeing and contemplating these Blessings, the inraptured Zechariah cries out; Rejoice greatly, O Daughter of Sion; shout, O Daughter of Jerusalem; behold, thy King cometh unto Thee: He is just, and having Salvation, lowly and riding upon an Ass, and upon a Colt the Foal of an Ass†. — He addresses himself to Sion and Jerusalem, to the ecclesiastical and civil Community. Persons of all Ranks and of every Character, are exhorted to rejoice; to rejoice greatly; nay, to express the Joy of their Heart, by loud Hallelujahs, and triumphant Exclamations. — What is the Cause of this general Delight? What can fill both Church and State with such high Satisfaction? Thy King cometh unto Thee; even that glorious KING, who rules in Heaven, and rules in the Heart; whose Service is Freedom, and whose Laws are Love. — He is just; divinely righteous in his Nature, and He cometh to fulfil all Righteousness in thy Stead. Having Salvation; hereby procuring Salvation for his People; Deliverance from Sin, from Death, and Hell; from every Evil Thou deservest, and from every Misery Thou fearest. — That none may be discouraged, and none deterred, from applying to this PRINCE of Peace, He is, amidst all the Honours

* Wassur, speaking of the mediatorial Righteousness, has written in Latin, what Aspasio expresses in English; Per illam Obedientiam tota Multitudo illorum, qui ad ipsum pertinent, iusti constituuntur; id est, censentur Jus habere ad eternam Vitam, non minus quam si quilibet eorum in propria Persona illam Obedientiam prestisset. Lib. II. Cap. v.

† Zech. ix. 9.

Honours of his Sovereignty, lowly: does not abhor the Basest, will not despise the Meanest: to the Poor his Gospel is preached, and for the Guilty his Benefits are intended.—As an Emblem, as a Proof, of this most amiable and condescending Goodness, He will ride; not like the Conquerors of old, in a triumphal Chariot, or on a richly caparisoned Steed; but upon the most mean and despicable of all Animals, an Ass: nay, what is still more despicable, on a rude undisciplined Colt, the wayward Foal of an Ass *.

And

* Because some profane Scoffers have presumed to ridicule this very remarkable Incident of our LORD's Life, some Interpreters of Note have endeavoured to rescue it from their abusive Attempts, by observing—"That the Eastern Asses are much larger and more graceful than ours. That Patriarchs and Judges thought it no Disgrace to ride upon them."

This Observation has, I fear, more of false Delicacy, than of real Truth, or Christian Simplicity. In the Patriarchal Ages, I acknowledge, Persons of High Distinction thought it no Dishonour, in their Journies and Processions, to appear on this Animal. But I very much question, whether the same Fashion subsisted, or the same Way of Thinking prevailed, in the Reign of Tiberius Cæsar. See Jam. iii. 3.—Nay, I am strongly inclined to suspect, that this plain primitive Custom was superseded, even in the Days of Zechariah. For, long before this Time I find, that Solomon had four thousand Stalls of Horses for his Chariots, and twelve thousand Horsemen; and that Horses were brought to Him out of Egypt, and divers other Countries, 1 Kings iv. 26. x. 28, 29. From this Period, it is probable, none but the poor and inferior Sort of People rode upon Asses.—When Isaiah prophesied, The Land was full of Horses, Isa. ii. 7. Under the Persian Monarchy, when Zechariah flourished, Horses were in still greater Repute. Well there-

And now—since my Theron confesses Himself to be miserable, and poor, and naked: since the Eyes of his Understanding are inlightened, to see the Impurity of his Heart; the Imperfection of his Righteousness; and that He is, in Himself, a lost undone Sinner—what Advice, cheering and salutary, shall I suggest? O! let Him listen to an ADVISER, infinitely more able and compassionate. Listen to HIM, who is the ANTI-TIENT OF DAYS, and the WISDOM OF GOD; I counsel Thee, says the Blessed JESUS, *to buy of me Gold tried in the Fire, that Thou mayest be rich; and white Raiment, that Thou mayest be clothed.—Gold! What can this denote, but all those spiritual Treasures, which are hid in CHRIST? Which are, in Measure, unfearchable; in Value, inestimable; in Duration, therefore might the Prophet say, with Wonder and Delight—lowly and riding upon an Ass!

Was it a mean Attitude? Exceedingly mean? Mean even to Contempt? I make no scruple to grant it: nay, I make my Boast of it! It is for the Honour of my LORD's Condescension: it is for the utter Confusion of all worldly Pomp and Grandeur: and it is for the unspeakable Comfort of my sinful Soul.—Most charming Humility! Most indearing Gentleness! HE, who rideth upon the Heavens as it were upon an Horse, and maketh the Clouds his Chariot, to atone for my Pride, and to encourage my Hope, disdained not, in the Days of his Flesh, to ride upon an Ass.

They, who would dignify this Action, any otherwise than from its ever-to-be-admired Abasement, seem to have forgotten the Stable and the Manger. They, who are offended at this Circumstance, and ashamed to own their LORD in his deep Humiliation, have but very imperfectly learned the Apostle's Lesson; GOD forbid, that I should glory, save in the Cross of CHRIST JESUS my LORD.

ration, eternal.—White Raiment! Surely this must signify the Righteousness of our REDEEMER; which is all Purity, and all Perfection. Which clothes the Soul, as a most suitable and commodious Garment; which covers every Deformity and every Sin; and presents the Believer, free from Shame, and free from Blemish, before the Throne of the MAJESTY in the Heavens.

This, to use the delicate Language, and amiable Images of Isaiah—This Doctrine, embraced by a realizing Faith, is the only Pillow of Rest, wherewith Ye may cause the weary and heavy-laden Soul to find Repose; and this is the sovereign Cordial, prepared by infinite Mercy, for the Refreshment of anxious and desponding Transgressors. O! Let Us not be in the Number of those proud and refractory Creatures, who, though they infinitely needed, yet would not bear * the gracious News, nor receive the unspeakable Benefit.—In this Respect, and in this most eminently, is that other Saying of the same sublime Teacher, true; The LORD of Hosts shall be for a Crown of Glory, and for a Diadem of Beauty, to the Residue of his People †. Shall we tear from our Temples, or reject with Disdain, this unfading and heavenly Ornament; in order to substitute a mean and tawdry Chaplet of our own?

Let me add a pertinent Passage from one of our celebrated dramatic Writers. Which, if proper in his Sense, will be incomparably more so, according to our Manner of Application.

— It

* Isa. xxviii. 12.

† Isa. xxviii. 5.

*It were contemning;
With impious self-sufficient Arrogance,
This Bounty of our G O D, not to accept,
With every Mark of Honour, such a Gift.*

I might proceed to urge this Expostulation of the Poet, as I might easily have multiplied my Quotations from holy Writ. But, studious of Brevity, I leave both, without farther Inlargement, to your own Meditation. Yet, more studious of my Friend's Happiness, I cannot conclude without wishing Him an Interest, a clear and established Interest, in this everlasting Righteousness of CHRIST. For so, and so only, can He have everlasting Consolation and good Hope through Grace.—I am, my dear Theron, Inviolably Yours,

ASPASIO.

P. S. Opposite to the Room in which I write, is a most agreeable Prospect of the Gardens and the Fields. These, covered with Herbage, and loaded with Corn: those adorned with Flowers, and abounding with Esculents. All appearing with so florid and so beautiful an Aspect, that they really seem, in Conformity to the Psalmist's Description, even to laugh and sing.—Let me just observe, That all these fine Scenes, all these rich Productions sprung — from what? From the Dissolution of the respective Seeds. The Seeds planted by the Gardener, and the Grain sowed by the Husbandman, first perished in in the Ground, and then the copious Increase arose.

Much in the same Manner, a true Faith in CHRIST and his Righteousness arises — from what? From the Ruins of Self-sufficiency, and the Death of personal Excellency. Let me therefore intreat my Theron, still to take the Diary for his Counsellor; still to keep an Eye on the Depravity of his Nature, and the Mis-carriages of his Life. The more clearly We see, the more deeply We feel, our Guilt and our Misery, the more highly shall We value the Obedience of our blessed SURETY.— In such a Heart, Faith will flourish as a Rose, and lift up its Head like a Cedar in Lebanon. To such a Soul, the great REDEEMER's Righteousness will be welcome, as Waters to the thirsty Soil, or as Rivers in the sandy Desert.

LETTER V.

ASPASIO to THERON.

Dear THERON,

GIVE me Leave to relate an uncommon Accident; which happened a little While ago, in this Neighbourhood; and of which I myself was a Spectator.—The Day was the Sabbath; the Place

VOL. II.

Z

appro-

appropriated to divine Worship, was the Scene of this remarkable Affair.

A Boy came running into the Church, breathless and trembling. He told, but in a low Voice, those who stood near, that a Press-gang * was advancing, to besiege the Doors, and arrest the Sailors. — An Alarm was immediately taken. The Seamen, with much Hurry, and no small Anxiety, began to shift for themselves. The rest of the Congregation, perceiving an unusual Stir, were struck with Surprise. — A Whisper of Inquiry ran from Seat to Seat; which increased, by Degrees, into a confused Murmur. No One could inform his Neighbour; therefore every One was left to solve the Appearance, from the Suggestions of a timorous Imagination. Some suspected, the Town was on fire. Some were apprehensive of an Invasion from the Spaniards. Others looked up, and looked round, to see if the Walls were not giving way, and the Roof falling upon their Heads. — In a few Moments, the Consternation became general. The Men stood like Statues, in silent Amazement, and unavailing Perplexity. The Women shrieked aloud; fell into Fits; sunk to the Ground in a Swoon. Nothing was seen, but wild Disorder; nothing heard, but tumultuous Clamour. — Drowned was the Preacher's Voice. Had He spoke in Thunder,

* The Reader, it is hoped, will excuse whatever may appear low, or favour of the Plebeian, in any of these Circumstances. If Aspasio had set Himself to invent the Description of a Pannic, He would probably have formed it upon some more raised and dignified Incident. But as this was a real Matter of Fact, which lately happened in one of our Sea-Port Towns; Truth, even in a plain Dress, may possibly be no less acceptable than Fiction, tricked up with the most splendid Embellishments.

der, his Message would scarce have been regarded. To have gone on with his Work, amidst such a prodigious Ferment, had been like arguing with a Whirlwind, or talking to a Tempest.

This brought to my Mind that great tremendous Day, when the Heavens will pass away; when the Earth will be dissolved; and all its Inhabitants receive their final Doom.—If, at such Incidents of very inferior Dread, our Hearts are ready to fail; what unknown and inconceivable Astonishment must seize the guilty Conscience, when the Hand of the ALMIGHTY shall open those unparalleled Scenes of Wonder, Desolation, and Horror! — When the Trumpet shall sound — The Dead arise — The World be in Flames — The JUDGE, on the Throne—and all Mankind at the Bar!

*The Trumpet shall sound, says the prophetic Teacher. And how startling, how stupendous the Summons! Nothing equal to it, nothing like it, was ever heard through all the Regions of the Universe, or all the Revolutions of Time.—When conflicting Armies have discharged the bellowing Artillery of War, or when victorious Armies have shouted for Joy of the Conquest, the Seas and Shores have rung, the Mountains and Plains have echoed.—But the Shout of the Archangel, and the Trump of GOD, will resound from Pole to Pole. Will pierce the Center, and shake the Pillars of Heaven.—Stronger, stranger still! It will penetrate even the deepest Recesses of the Tomb. It will pour its amazing Thunder into all those Abodes of Silence. The Dead, the very Dead, shall hear.

Z 2

When

* 1 Cor. xv. 52.

When the Trumpet has sounded, the Dead shall arise.—In a Moment, in the Twinkling of an Eye, the Graves open; the monumental Piles are cleft asunder; and the Nations under-ground start into Day. What an immense Harvest of Men and Women, springing up from the Caverns of the Earth, and the Depths of the Sea! Stand a-while my Soul, and consider the wonderful Spectacle.—Adam formed in Paradise, and the Babe born but Yesterday, the earliest Ages, and latest Generations, meet upon the same Level. Jews and Gentiles, Greeks and Barbarians, People of all Climes and Languages, unite in the promiscuous Throng. Here, those vast Armies, which, like Swarms of Locusts, covered Countries; which, with an irresistible Sweep, over-run Empires; here they all appear, and here they all are lost. Lost, like the small Drop of a Bucket, when plunged into the unfathomable and boundless Ocean.—O! the Multitudes! The Multitudes! which these Eyes shall survey, when GOD calleth the Heavens from above, and the Earth that He may judge his People. What Shame must flush the guilty Cheek! What Anguish wound the polluted Breast! To have all their filthy Practises, and infamous Tempers, exposed before this innumerable Croud of Witnesses!—Fly, my Theron; and fly, my Soul; instantly let Us fly, earnestly let Us fly, to the purifying Blood of JESUS. That all our Sins may be blotted out; that We may be found unblameable and unreproueable, in the Presence of the assembled World; and, what is infinitely more to be revered, in the Sight of the omnipotent GOD.

When the Swarm issues, the Hive will burn.
There is no more Need of this habitable Globe.

The

The Elect have fought the good Fight, and finished their Course. The Wicked have been tried, and found incorrigible. The important Drama is ended: every Actor has performed his Part: now therefore the Scenes are taken down, and the Stage is demolished.—Woe be to the Earth, and to the Works thereof! Its Streams are turned into Pitch, its Dust into Brimstone; and the Breath of the ALMIGHTY, like a Torrent of Fire, inkindles the Whole. See! see! how the Conflagration rages—spreads—prevails over all! The Forests are in a Blaze, and the Mountains are wrapt in Flame. Cities, Kingdoms, Continents, sink in the burning Deluge. London, Britain, Europe are no more. Through all the Receptacles of Water, through all the Tracts of Land, through the whole Extent of Air, nothing is discernable, but one vast, prodigious, fiery Ruin.—Where now are the Treasures of the Covetous? Where the Possessions of the Mighty? Where the Delights of the Voluptuary?—How wise, how happy are they, whose Portion is lodged in heavenly Mansions! Their Inheritance is incorruptible and undefiled. Such as the last Fire cannot reach, nor the Dissolution of Nature impair.

But see! The azure Vault cleaves. The Expanse of Heaven is rolled back like a Scroll: and the JUDGE, the JUDGE appears! He cometh, cries a mighty Seraph, the Herald of his Approach, He cometh to judge the World in Righteousness, and minister true Judgment unto the People!—He cometh, not as formerly, in the Habit of a Servant, but clad with uncreated Glory, and magnificently attended with the Armies of Heaven. Angels and Archangels stand before Him, and ten thousand times ten thou-band of those celestial Spirits minister unto Him.— Behold Him, ye faithful Followers of the LAMB; and wonder and love. This is HE, who bore all your Iniquities on the ignominious Cross. This is HE, who fulfilled all Righteousness for the Justification of your Persons.— Behold Him, ye Despisers of his Grace; and wonder and perish. This is HE, whose merciful Overtures you have contemned, and on whose precious Blood You have trampled.

The great white Throne *, beyond Description august and formidable, is erected. The KING of Heaven, the LORD of Glory, takes his Seat on the dreadful Tribunal. Mercy, on his Right-hand, displays the Olive-Branch of Peace, and holds forth the Crown of Righteousness. Justice, on his Left, poises the impartial Scale, and unsheaths the Sword of Vengeance. While Wisdom and Holiness, brighter than ten thousand Suns, beam in his divine Aspect.— What are all the preceding Events, to this new Scene of Dignity and Awe? The Peals of Thunder, sounding in the Archangel's Trumpet; the Blaze of a burning World, and the strong Convulsions of expiring Nature; the unnumbered Myriads of human Creatures, starting into instantaneous Existence, and thronging the astonished Skies; all these seem familiar Incidents, compared with the Appearance of the incarnate JEHOVAH.—Amazement, more than Amazement, is all around. Terror and Glory unite in their Extremes. From the Sight of his majestic Eye, from the insupportable Splendors of his Face, the Earth itself and the very Heavens flee away †.— How then? Oh! how shall the Ungodly stand? Stand in his angry Presence, and draw near to this consuming Fire?

Yet

* Rev. xx. 11.

† Rev. xx. 11.

Yet draw near they must, and take their Tryal—their decisive Tryal at his righteous Bar. Every Action comes under Examination. For each idle Word they must give Account. Not so much as a secret Thought escapes this exact Scrutiny.—How shall the Criminals, the impenitent Criminals, either conceal their Guilt, or elude the Sentence? They have to do with a Sagacity, too keen to be deceived; with a Power, too strong to be resisted; and (O! terrible, terrible Consideration!) with a Severity of most just Displeasure, that will never relent, never be intreated more.—What ghastly Despair lours on their pale Looks! What racking Agonies rend their distracted Hearts! The bloody Axe and the torturing Wheel, are Ease, are Down, compared with their prodigious Woe. And (O holy GOD! wonderful in thy Doings! fearful in thy Judgments!) even this prodigious Woe is the gentlest of Visitations, compared with that Indignation and Wrath, which are hanging over their guilty Heads—which are even now falling on all the Sons of Rebellion—which will plunge them deep in aggravated and endless Destruction.

*And is there a last Day? and must there come
 A sure, a fix'd, irrevocable Doom?*

Surely then, to use the Words of a pious Prelate*, it should be “the main Care of our Lives and “Deaths, what shall give Us Peace and Accepta“tion before the dreadful Tribunal of GOD. What “but Righteousness? What Righteousness or whose?
 “Ours or CHRIST’s? Ours, in the inherent

Z 4

“Graces

* Bishop Hall.

“ Graces wrought in Us, in the holy Works wrought
 “ by Us? Or CHRIST’s, in his most perfect “ Obedience and meritorious Satisfaction, wrought “ for Us, and applied to Us? The Popish Faction “ is for the former. We Protestants are for the “ latter. GOD is as direct on our Side, as his “ Word can make Him; every where blazoning the “ Defects of our own Righteousness, every where “ extolling the perfect Obedience of our RE- “ DEEMER’s.”

Behold! says the everlasting KING, I lay in Sion, for a Foundation, a Stone; a tried Stone; a precious Corner-stone; a sure Foundation: HE THAT BE-*LIEVETH, SHALL NOT MAKE HASTE. As this Text contains so noble a Display of our SA- VIOUR’s consummate Ability for his great Work;
 as it is admirably calculated, to preserve the Mind from distressing Fears, and to settle it in a steady Tranquility; You will give me Leave to touch it cursorily with my Pen. Just as I should descant upon it in Conversation, was I now sitting in one of your agreeable Arbors, and enjoying your more agreeable Company.

How beautiful the Gradation! How lively the Description! and how very important the practical Improvement! Or I might say, the Inscription which is engraven on this wonderful Stone,—Behold! Intended to rouse and fix our most attentive Regard.
 The GOD of Heaven speaks. He speaks, and every Syllable is Balm; every Sentence is rich with Consolation. If ever therefore We have Ears to hear, let it be to this SPEAKER, and on this Occasion.

* Isa. xxviii. 16.

A Stone. Every Thing else is sliding Sand; is yielding Air; is a breaking Bubble. Wealth will prove a vain Shadow; Honour an empty Breath; Pleasure a delusory Dream; our own Righteousness a Spider's Web. If on these We rely, Disappointment must ensue, and Shame be inevitable. Nothing but CHRIST, nothing but CHRIST, can stably support our spiritual Interests, and realize our Expectations of true Happiness. And, blessed be the divine Goodness! He is, for this Purpose, not a Stone only, but

A tried Stone. Tried, in the Days of his Humanity, by all the Vehemence of Temptations, and all the Weight of Afflictions: yet, like Gold from the Furnace, rendered more shining and illustrious by the fiery Scrutiny.—Tried, under the Capacity of a SAVIOUR, by Millions and Millions of depraved, wretched, ruined Creatures; who have always found Him perfectly able, and as perfectly willing, to expiate the most enormous Guilt—to deliver from the most inveterate Corruptions—and save, to the very uttermost, all that come unto GOD through Him.

A Corner-stone. Which not only sustains, but unites the Edifice: incorporating both Jews and Gentiles, Believers of various Languages, and manifold Denominations—here, in one harmonious Bond of brotherly Love—hereafter in one common Participation of eternal Joy.

A precious Stone. More precious than Rubies; the Pearl of great Price; and the Desire of all Nations. Precious, with regard to the divine Dignity of his Person, and the unequalled Excellency of his mediatorial Offices. In these, and in all respects, greater than Jonah—wiser than Solomon—fairer than the Children of Men—chiefest among ten thousand —and, to the awakened Sinner, or enlightened Believer, altogether lovely *.

A sure Foundation †. Such as no Pressure can shake: equal, more than equal to every Weight; even to Sin, the heaviest Load in the World. — The Rock of Ages; such as never has failed, never will fail, those humble Penitents, who cast their Burden upon the LORD REDEEMER; who roll all ‡ their

Guilt
* Cant. v. 16.

† Fundamentum fundatissimum.

‡ Roll — This is the exact Sense of the sacred Phrase, לִלְכֹת Psal. xxii. 8. xxxvii. 5. Prov. xvi. 3. I am not ignorant, that some People have presumed to censure, and many have been shy of using, this bold and vigorous Metaphor. Which nevertheless appears to me, of all others the most just, the most significant, and therefore the most truly beautiful.

A Burden, that is manageable and comparatively light, We cast, we throw. But that which is extremely ponderous and quite unwieldy, we move only by rolling. Accordingly, Stones of an enormous Size, are called by the Oriental Writers, Stones of Rolling, Ezra v. 8. — Consider the Expression in this View, and nothing can represent, with greater or with equal Energy, that prodigious Load, which, heavier than the Sand of the Sea, oppresses the guilty Conscience. — By substituting any other Word, We infeeble and dilute the Sense: We lose the capital and striking Idea.

Vain Man would be wise. Let Him not then, for the Credit of his Ingenuity, adventure to correct the Language of Omniscience. This, if any Thing in Nature, is Periculosa plenum Opus Alex.

This will be sure to discover, not his fine Taste, but his groveling Apprehension, and his rampant Pride. To improve, with the Painter's Brush, the glowing Colours of the Rainbow; to heighten, by Fuller's Soap, the Lustre of the new fallen Snows; would be a more modest Attempt, and a much easier Task, than to make an Index expurgatorius, or a Table of Errata, when the SPIRIT of Inspiration dictates.

Guilt, and fix their whole Hopes, on this immovable Basis.—Or, as the Words may be rendered, A Foundation * ! A Foundation ! There is a fine Spirit of Vehemency in the Sentence, thus understood. It speaks the Language of Exultation, and expresses an important Discovery. That which Mankind infinitely want; that which Multitudes seek, and find not; it is here ! it is here ! This, this is the Foundation for their Pardon, their Peace, their eternal Eelicity.

Whosoever believeth, though pressed with Adversities, or surrounded by Dangers, shall not make haste †. But, free from tumultuous and perplexing Thoughts, preserved from rash and precipitate Steps, He shall possess his Soul in Patience. Knowing the Sufficiency of those Merits, and the Fidelity of that Grace,

* מוסר מוסר

† Shall not make haste, לא יחזק This metaphorical Expression, though it might be very intelligible to an Hebrew, is to an English Reader, like some fine Picture placed in a disadvantageous Light. We may possibly illustrate the Prophet's Meaning, and exemplify his Assertion, if We compare the Conduct of Moses, with that of the Israelites, on viewing the fatal Catastrophe of Dathan and Abiram.—When the Earth trembled under their Feet; when the Ground opened its horrid Jaws; when the presumptuous Sinners went down alive into the Pit; when the tremendous Chasm closed upon the screaming Wretches; the Children of Israel, it is written, fled at the Cry of them. Fled, in wild and hasty Confusion; for they said, Lest the Earth swallow up Us also.—But Moses, who denounced the dreadful Doom; Moses, who was sure of the divine Protection; Moses made no such precipitate or disorderly Haste. He stood calm and composed: saw the whole alarming Transaction, without any uneasy Emotions of Fear, or any unnecessary Attempts to escape. So that his Behaviour seems to be a clear and apposite Comment on Isaiab's Phrase. See Numb. xvi.

on which he has reposed his Confidence, shall quietly and without Perturbation wait for an expected End.—And not only amidst the perilous or disastrous Changes of Life, but even in the Day of everlasting Judgment, such Persons shall stand with Boldness.—They shall look up, to the grand ARBITRATOR—look round, on all the Solemnity of his Appearance—look forward, to the unalterable Sentence—and neither feel Anxiety, nor fear Damnation.

*Such, in that Day of Terrors, shall be seen To face the Thunders with a godlike Mein.
The Planets drop ; their Thoughts are fix'd above :
The Center shakes ; their Hearts disdain to move.*

This Portion of Scripture, which, I hope, will both delight and edify my Friend, recalls our Attention to the Subject of my present Letter—to those propitiatory Sufferings, and that justifying Righteousness, which, imputed to Sinners, are the Ground of their Comfort, and the Bulwark of their Security.—And what say the Writers of the New Testament upon this Point ? They, whose Understandings were opened by the “WONDERFUL COUNSEL—LOR,” to discern the Meaning of the antient Oracles. Who must therefore be the most competent Judges of their true Import, and our surest Guides in settling their Sense.—Do they patronize our Interpretation of the Prophets ? Do they set their Seal to the Authenticity of our Doctrine ?

St. Luke, in his ecclesiastical History, has preserved this weighty Declaration of the Apostles ; We believe, that, through the Grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST,

CHRIST, We shall be saved, even as they *. Here the Thing is implied.—St. Peter, in the Introduction to one of his Theological Epistles, thus addresses his happy Correspondents: To them that have obtained like precious Faith, in the Righteousness † of our GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST. Here the Point is expressly asserted.—With equal Clearness is the Doctrine delivered by Matthew the Evangelist; Seek ye first the Kingdom of GOD and his Righteousness ‡. What can the Kingdom of GOD mean? An Experience of the Power, and an Enjoyment of the Privileges of the Gospel. What are we to understand by his Righteousness? Surely, the Righteousness which is worthy of this grand Appellation, and peculiar to that blessed Institution.

Would We learn, What is the great and distinguishing Peculiarity of the Gospel? St. Paul informs Us; Therein the Righteousness of GOD is revealed, from Faith to Faith. As this Text leads Us into the Epistle to the Romans—as this Epistle is, for the Propriety of its Method, as well as for the Importance of its Doctrine, singularly excellent—it may not be amiss, to examine its Structure, and inquire into its Design.

The Apostle writes to a promiscuous People: who had been converted, partly from Judaism, partly from Gentilism. His Aim is, to strike at the very Root of their former Errors respectively—to turn them wholly to the superabundant Grace of GOD, and establish

* Acts xv. 11.

† 2 Pet. i. 1. The Phrase is πίστις ἢ δικαιοσύνη. If We retain the common Translation, it proves another very momentous Truth: that the Righteousness of our GOD, even of our SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, is the one meritorious procuring Cause of all spiritual Blessings; of Faith, as well as of Fruition; of Grace, as well as of Glory.

‡ Matt. vi. 33.

bliss them solely on the all-sufficient Merits of CHRIST.

The Gentiles were for the most part, grossly ignorant of GOD, and stupidly negligent of invisible Interests. If any among them had a Sense of Religion; their Virtues, they imagined, were meritorious of all that the DEITY could bestow. If they fell into Sin; Sin, they supposed, might easily be obliterated by Repentance; or compensated by a Train of Sacrifices *. A few of their judicious Sages taught, that the most probable Means of securing the divine Favour, was a sincere Reformation of Life.

The Jews, it is well known, placed a mighty Dependence on their Affinity to Abraham, and the Covenant

* See WITSTI Animadversiones Irenicæ. Cap. vii.—A choice little Piece of polemical Divinity, perhaps the very best that is extant. In which the most important Controversies are fairly stated, accurately discussed, and judiciously determined; with a Perspicuity of Sense, and a Solidity of Reasoning, exceeded by nothing, but the remarkable Consciseness, and the still more remarkable Candour of the Sentiments.

The Oeconomia Fœderum, written by the same Hand, is a Body of Divinity; in its Method so well digested—in its Doctrines so truly evangelical—and (what is not very usual with our systematic Writers) in its Language so refined and elegant—in its Manner so affectionate and animating—that I would venture to recommend it, to every young Student in Divinity: I would not scruple to risk all my Reputation upon the Merits of this Performance: and I cannot but lament it, as one of my greatest Losses, that I was no sooner acquainted with this most excellent Author.—All whose Works, have such a Delicacy of Composition, and such a sweet Savour of Holiness, that I know not any Comparison more proper to represent their true Character, than the golden Pot which had Manna; and was—outwardly, bright with burnished Gold—inwardly, rich with heavenly Food.

venant made with their Fathers; on their Adherence to the Letter of the moral Law, and their scrupulous Performance of ceremonial Institutions. — Gentiles and Jews agreeing in this Mistake, that they looked for the Pardon of Guilt, and the Attainment of Happiness, from some Services done, or some Qualities acquired by Themselves.

Against these Errors the zealous Apostle draws his Pen. He enters the Lists like a true Champion of CHRIST, in the most spirited and heroic Manner imaginable. I am not ashamed of the Gospel of CHRIST: for, however it may be deemed Foolishness by the polite Greeks, or prove a Stumbling-block to the carnal Jews, it is the Power of GOD unto * Salvation: it is the grand Instrument, which he has ordained for his blessed Purpose, and which he will certainly crown with the desired Success.—Whence has the Gospel this very peculiar Power? Because, therein a Righteousness is revealed; a true and perfect Righteousness, which obliterates all Guilt, and furnishes a solid Title to eternal Life.—What Righteousness is this! The Righteousness not of Man but of GOD. Which was promised by GOD in the Scriptures; was introduced by GOD in the Person of his SON; and, on Account of its consummate Excellency, is both acceptable and available in his Sight.

This Righteousness is from Faith to Faith †: held forth, as it were, by a promising GOD, and apprehended by a believing Soul. Who, first, gives a firm Assent to the Gospel; then, cordially accepts its Blessings. From a Conviction that the Doctrine is true, passes to a Persuasion that the Privileges are his own.—

* Rom. i. 16.

† Rom. i. 17.

own.—When this is effected, a Foundation is laid for all Happiness; a Principle is wrought, to produce all Holiness.

But why was it requisite, that such a Righteousness should be provided by GOD, and revealed in the Gospel?—Because, both Gentile and Jew, neither possessed, nor could attain, any Righteousness of their own: and this Righteousness, though so absolutely necessary for their fallen State, was infinitely remote from all human Apprehensions. The latter Assertion is self-evident. The former is particularly demonstrated.—First, with regard to the Gentiles; the Generality of whom, were abandoned to the most scandalous Excesses; and they who had escaped the grosser Pollutions, fell short in the Duties of natural Religion.—Next, with regard to the Jews; Many of whom lived in open Violation of the external Commandment; and not One of them acted up to the internal Purity, required by the Mosaic Precepts.—From which Premises, this Conclusion is deduced; that each of them had transgressed even their own Rule of Action; that all of them were, on this Account, utterly inexcusable; therefore by the Works of the Law, whether dictated by Reason, or delivered by Moses, no Mortal can be justified * in the Sight of GOD.

Left

* Rom. iii. 20. There seems to be a Kind of humbling or degrading Turn in the Apostle's Language κατακατε, which may possibly be preserved in the Translation, No Mortal.—We may farther observe the very nice and exact Manner of the sacred Argumentation. Lest it should be said, and from the Authority of St. James, A Man is justified by Works; our unerring Writer tacitly allows, That before Men this is practicable, before Men this is proper; but not πρωτιον αυτου, not before GOD.

Left any should imagine, that Righteousness may be obtained, if not by a Conformity to the Law of Nature, or the Law of Moses, yet by an Observation of Evangelical Ordinances, He farther declares; That Sinners are justified freely, without any Regard to their own Endowments; through the Redemption, the complete Redemption of *JESUS CHRIST. After such a Manner, as may lay them low in Humiliation, even while it exalts them to the Kingdom of Heaven. After such a Manner, as may bring Life and Salvation to their Souls, while all the Glory reverts to GOD the FATHER and his SON JESUS CHRIST.

In the Prosecution of this very momentous Subject, our sacred Disputant removes an Objection, which is as common, as it is plausible. Do We make void the Law through Faith? Do We render it a vain Institution; such as never has been, never will be fulfilled?—GOD forbid! This were a flagrant Dishonour to the Divine LEGISLATOR and his holy Commandments. Such as We would abhor, rather than countenance.—On the contrary, We establish the Law†; not only as We receive it for a Rule of Life, but as we expect no Salvation without a proper, without a perfect Conformity to its Injunctions.—How can this be effected? By qualifying its Sense, and softening it into an easier System? This were to vacate the Law; to deprive it of its Honours; and hinder it from attaining the due End, either of Obedience or Condemnation.—No; but We estab-

VOL. II. A 4 blish,

* Rom. iii. 24.

† Rom. iii. 31. An incontestable Proof, that the Apostle treats of the moral Law.

blish the Law, by believing in that great MEDIA-TOR, who has obeyed its every Precept; sustained its whole Penalty; and satisfied all its Requirements, in their utmost Extent.

Farther to corroborate his Scheme, He proves it from the renowned Examples of Abraham and David.—The Instance of Abraham is so clear, that it wants no Comment. Any Paraphrase would rather obscure, than illustrate it.—The other, derived from the Testimony of the Psalmist, may admit the Commentator's Tool. Yet not to hammer it into a new Form, but only to clear away the Rubbish; to rescue it from Misrepresentation; and place it in a true Light. *Even as David describeth the Blessedness of the Man, to whom GOD imputeth Righteousness without Works, saying; Blessed are They, whose Unrighteousness is forgiven, and whose Sins are covered: Blessed is the Man, to whom the LORD will not impute Sin.—Here is Imputation asserted.—The Imputation of Righteousness—Of Righteousness without Works; without any Respect to, or any Co-operation from, any Kind of human Works. It is a Blessing vouchsafed to the Ungodly; not founded on a Freedom from Sin, but procuring a Remission of its Guilt.

Some, I know, have attempted to resolve all the Force of this Passage, into an Argument for the Sameness of Pardon and Justification. Whereas, the Apostle undertakes to prove, not that Forgiveness and Justification are identically the same, but that both are absolutely free. To maintain which Position, He argues—"This Doctrine is as true, as it is comfortable. It agrees with the Experience, and has received the Attestation of David. When

* Rom. iv. 6, 7.

“ he speaks of the blessed and happy Man, He de“ scribes Him, not as an innocent, but guilty Per“ son: not as having any Claim to the divine Fa“ vour, on account of deserving Performances, or “ recommending Properties. But as owing all his “ Acceptance to that sovereign Grace, which for- “ gives Iniquities, and blots out Sin. Such is the Case “ with regard to that evangelical Justification, which “ We preach. Even as; it is, in the Manner of its “ Vouchsafement, perfectly similar to the Blessedness “ celebrated by the Psalmist.”—The Apostle’s Eye, is not so directly upon the Nature of the Privilege, as upon the Freeness with which it is granted. Nor can Any infer from the Tenour of his Reasoning, that to be forgiven, is the same as to be justified;
 only that both are Acts of infinitely rich Mercy;
 designed for Sinners; promised to Sinners; bestowed on Sinners. Who have nothing, nothing of their own, either to boast, or to plead.

In the fifth Chapter, from Verse the twelfth to the End, the sacred Penman points out the Cause, and explains the Method of Justification. Of which this is the Sum—That CHRIST, in pursuance of the Covenant of Grace, fulfilled all Righteousness in the Stead of his People—That this Righteousness, being performed for them, is imputed to them — That, by virtue of this gracious Imputation, they are absolved from Guilt, and intitled to Bliss; as thoroughly absolved, and as fully intitled, as if in their own Persons they had undergone the expiatory Sufferings, and yielded the meritorious Obedience. — Lest it should seem strange, in the Opinion of a Jew or a Gentile, to hear of being justified by the Righteousness of Another, the wary Apostle urges a parallel Case;

Case; recorded in the Jewish Revelation, but ratified by universal * Experience; namely, Our being condemned for the Unrighteousness of Another.—In this Respect, He observes, Adam was a Type of our LORD; or, a Figure of HIM that was to come †. The Relations the same, but the Effects happily reversed. Adam the Head of his Posterity; CHRIST the Head of his People. Adam's Sin was imputed to all his natural Descendants; CHRIST's Righteousness is imputed to all his spiritual Offspring. Adam's Transgression brought Death into the World, and all our Woe; CHRIST's Obedience brings Life and all our Happiness ‡.—The Whole closes with this very obvious and no less weighty Inference; Therefore, as by the Offence of One, Judgment came upon all Men to Condemnation; even so, by the Righteousness of One, the free Gift came upon all Men unto Justification of Life §.

I do not recollect any other Similitude, which the Apostle so minutely lists, and so copiously unfolds. He explains it; He applies it; He resumes it; He dwells upon it; and scarcely knows, how to desist from it.

* By the Pains and Death which Infants, in every Nation, endure. Which are unquestionably Punishments, and to which they are doomed by the righteous Judgment of GOD.

† Rom. v. 14.

‡ Quemadmodum Peccatum Adami, says Bengelius, sine Peccatis, quæ postea commisimus, Mortem attulit nobis; sic Justitia CHRISTI, sine bonis Operibus, quæ deinceps a nobis sunt, Vitam nobis conciliat. That is; As the Sin of Adam, without any Concurrence of the Sins, which We Ourselves respectively commit, occasioned our Ruin; so the Righteousness of CHRIST, abstracted from all Consideration of our personal Obedience, procures our Recovery.

§ Rom. v. 18.

it. I am sure, you will not blame me, if I imitate the sacred Author; revert to the Subject; and quote another Passage from the same Paragraph.—Much more shall They, who receive Abundance of Grace and of the Gift of Righteousness, reign in Life by One, JESUS CHRIST *.—Here, I am ready to think, the inspired Writer puts a Difference between the two grand Blessings purchased by EMMANUEL, Remission and Righteousness †. For, who are the Persons, which receive Abundance of Grace? They, I apprehend, that, having sinned much, have much forgiven.—Who are the Persons, which receive Abundance of the Gift of Righteousness? They, that having in their own Conduct wrought out none, which will bear the Test of GOD's impartial Scrutiny, have one placed to their Account, which the all-seeing Eye of Heaven approves.—However, whether the Distinction I have ventured to propose, be fanciful or substantial, of this I am persuaded; that the Gift of Righteousness †, must signify a Righteousness, not originally

* Rom. v. 17.

† Non tantum Peccata sublata, sed Justitia prestita.

‡ I cannot but wonder at the Assertion of a late Writer, who roundly declares, "That there is not one Word in this whole Chapter, relating to the antecedent Obedience of CHRIST's Life, but expressing only his passive Obedience."—Must then this Group of Expressions—δικαιοσύνη—δικαιοσύνη—υπακοή—be confined barely to the Sufferings of our LORD? To put such a Sense upon the Words of the Apostle, is, according to my Apprehension, not to bear his Voice, but to gag his Mouth; not to acquiesce in the sacred Oracles, but to make them speak our own Meaning.—Besa, who perhaps is inferior to no Critic, with regard to a masterly Skill in the Greek Language, thus explains δικαιοσύνη; Justificationis est Materia, nempe CHRISTI Obedientia; cujus Imputatio nos justos facit.—Mintert, in his accurate and copious Lexicon for originally their own, but Another's; not what they themselves have acquired, but what was fulfilled by their SURETY; and is, by an Act of heavenly Indulgence, consigned over to them. Accordingly, it is represented, not as a Work, but as a Gift; and Those who are interested in it, are styled not Workers, but Receivers.

I should but faintly copy the apostolic Example, if I did not once again avail myself of this important Topic. Suffer me, therefore, to transcribe one more Verse from this admirable Chapter. As by the Disobedience of One Man, many were made Sinners, so by the Obedience of One, shall Many be made Righteous *.

—The Disobedience of One, is the Disobedience of Adam; his actual Transgression of the divine Law. Hereby, Many were made Sinners; Sinners, in such a Sense, as to become obnoxious unto Condemnation and Death.—All this, I think, is, from the Apostle's own Words, indisputable. And, if We would preserve the Propriety of his Antithesis, or the Force of his Reasoning, We must allow, that the Obedience of One, is the Obedience of CHRIST; his actual and complete Performance of the whole Law. Hereby, Many are made Righteous; righteous, in such a Sense, the Greek Testament, gives this Interpretation of δικαιοσύνη; Opera CHRISTO a Patre præscripta hoc Nomine veniunt; nimirum omnia quæ ab ipso præstanda erant, tam ad Legis divinæ Impletionem, quam ad Generis humani Redemptionem. Quæ nobis imputata, & per Fidem accepta, faciunt ut coram DEO justificemur.—And as for ἕνα, surely that cannot, without the utmost Violence to its native Signification, be so applied to the passive, as to exclude the active Obedience. The contrary Notion, if an artful Disputant should espouse it, might appear somewhat plausible; but this has not the least Air of Probability.

* Rom. v. 19.

Sense, as to be released from Condemnation, and vested with a Title to Life eternal.—How clear and easy is this Meaning! How just and regular this Argumentation! What Subtily of Evasion must be used, to give a different Turn to the instructive Text!

This is the most consistent Sense, in which I can understand Rom. viii. 5. That the Righteousness of the Law might be fulfilled in Us, who walk not after the Flesh, but after the SPIRIT. That the Righteousness required by the holy but broken Law, might be thoroughly accomplished. Accomplished by our public REPRESENTATIVE, and in our human Nature. So as to be deemed, in point of legal Estimation, fulfilled for Us and by Us *. This, I say, is most consistent with the Tenour of St. Paul's Arguing, and with the exact Import of his Language.—With the Tenour of his Arguing: for, He undertakes to demonstrate the Impossibility of our Justification, by any personal Conformity to the Law. Whereas, if We could satisfy its Penalty, and obey its Precepts; or, in other Words, fulfil its Righteousness; this Impossibility would cease.—With the exact Import of his Language: for, the original Phrase denotes, not a sintere, but a complete Obedience; not what We are enabled to perform, but what the Law has a Right † to demand.

* It is remarked by a judicious Critic, and very valuable Expofitor, that the Preposition συν sometimes signifies by or for; and is so translated, Matt. v. 34. Heb. i. 1. See Dr. Gysse's Exposition of the New Testament.

† It may be worth our while to observe, that St. Paul, when treating on this Subject, uses three distinct Words, all derived from the same Original.—δικαιωσις, which expresses Justification; the accounting or declaring a Person righteous.—δικαιωσιν, which never signifies Justification, mand. Which, every One must acknowledge, is not fulfilled in any mere Man, since the Fall; but was fulfilled by JESUS CHRIST, for our Good, and in our Stead.—This Interpretation preserves the Sentences distinct, and makes a very natural Introduction for the following Clause; where the Persons interested in this Privilege, are described by their Fruits, who walk not after the Flesh, but after the SPIRIT. Implying, that Justification and Sanctification are, like the ever-corresponding Motion of our Eyes, inseparable Concomitants; and We vainly pretend to the former, if We continue destitute of the latter.

We have produced positive Proofs of our Doctrine.—We have heard an Apostle declaring the assured Happiness, and complete Justification of true Believers.—Let us now observe the same sagacious Judge of Men and Things, discovering the Danger of those Self-justiciaries, who reject the REDEEMER's Righteousness.

He is filled with the darkest Apprehensions, concerning his Brethren the Jews. He is impressed with melancholy Presages, relating to their eternal State*.

—What was the Cause of this tender Solicitude? Had they cast off all Religion, and given themselves over to gross Immoralities? On the contrary, they were Worshipers of the true GOD; and had, in their Way, not only a Regard, but a Zeal for his Honour†.—Wherefore then does this compassionate

Father but Righteousness; either performed by Us, or imputed to Us.—Διαιτομα, the Phrase which occurs in this Place, and denotes the Right or Demand of the Law; as that which is indispensibly necessary to the Justification of Man.

* Rom. ix. 2.

† Rom. x. 2.

Father in Israel feel the same trembling Uneasiness, for his Kinsmen according to the Flesh, as Eli felt for the indangered Ark? Himself assigns the Reason. Because they being ignorant of GOD's Righteousness, and going about to establish their own Righteousness, have not submitted themselves to the Righteousness of GOD. Not knowing that immaculate Holiness, which the perfect Nature, and equally perfect Law of the most High GOD, require—being willfully ignorant of that consummate Obedience, which an incarnate GOD vouchsafed to perform, for the Justification of his People—they sedulously, but foolishly endeavoured, to establish their own Righteousness; to make it scanty and decrepit as it was, the Basis of their Hopes.—Thus were they resting their everlasting ALL on a Bottom, not precarious only, but irreparably ruinous. A boundless Eternity the Fabric! Yet they built (wonder O Heavens!) on the Foam of the Waters! And (which added Stubbornness to their Folly) in avowed Contempt of that strong and sure Foundation, laid by GOD's own Hand in Sion.—For this, the good Apostle was afflicted, with “great Heaviness and continual Sorrow.” For this, He made the Prophet's pathetic Complaint his own; Oh! that my Head were Waters, and my Eyes a Fountain of Tears, that I might bewail, Day and Night, the incorrigible Perverseness of my People! For my People have committed two Evils: in not thankfully submitting to the Righteousness of GOD, they have forsaken the Fountain of living Waters: in attempting to establish their own Righteousness, they have heaved themselves out Cisterns, broken Cisterns, that can hold no Water.

Having

Having shewed their fatal Error, He strengthens his Representation, by displaying the happy Success of the Gentiles—What shall we say then? This, however improbable it may seem, We confidently affirm, That the Gentiles, who followed not after Righteousness, who had no Knowledge of it, and no Concern about it; even they have attained to Righteousness *.—Strange Assertion! How is this possible! Doubtless, the Righteousness which they attained, could not be any personal Righteousness. Of this they were totally destitute. Instead of practising moral Virtues, or religious Duties, they were immersed in Sensuality, and abandoned to Idolatry. It must therefore be the evangelical, the imputed Righteousness, even that which was wrought by CHRIST, and is received by Faith †.

Israel, in the mean time, the nominal Israel, who, with great Pretensions to Sanctity, and many costly

* Surely, this must signify more, than “attaining to the Profession of a Religion, whereby they may be justified and saved.” To this Multitudes attain, who continue, as the Prophet speaks, stout-hearted, and far from Righteousness. Who derive no real Benefit from their Profession; but are rendered utterly inexcusable, and liable to more aggravated Condemnation.

† Surely, the Righteousness, which is by Faith, cannot consist “in humbly committing the Soul to CHRIST, in the Way that he hath appointed.” According to this Notion, the justifying Righteousness would spring from Ourselves; would be constituted by an Act of our own, and not by the perfect Obedience of our LORD.

I am sorry to see this, and the preceding Interpretation, in the Works of an Expositor, whose Learning I admire, whose Piety I reverence, and whose Memory I honour. Yet I must say, on this Occasion, with one of the antient Philosophers; Amicus Plato, amicus Socrates, sed magis amica Veritas.

Oblations, followed after the Law of Righteousness, hath not attained to the Law of Righteousness. Attained! They have done nothing less. They are fallen vastly short of it; they are pronounced guilty by it; they stand condemned before it*.—Wherefore did they so grossly mistake, and so grievously miscarry? Because they forsook the good old Way, in which Abraham, David, and their pious Ancestors walked. They adopted a new Scheme; and would fain have substituted their own, instead of relying on a SAVIOUR's Righteousness. They sought for Justification, not by Faith, but as it were by the Works of the Law†. A Method, which their Fathers knew not; which their GOD ordained not; and which proved, as it always will prove, not only abortive, but destructive.—At this Stone they stumbled; on this Rock they split. Let their Ruin be a Way-mark, and the Apostle's Observation a Light-house to my Theron.

Our zealous Writer tries every Expedient. He mingles Hope with Terror. Having pointed out the Rock, on which the Israelites suffered Shipwreck; He directs

* This, I apprehend, is the Purport of the Apostle's Speech, when He tells Us, that his Countrymen had not attained unto the Law of Righteousness. He uses the Figure metonymy, and means more than He expresses. Somewhat like the dramatic Poet, who says of certain literary Pretenders,

Qui se primos esse rerum omnium existimant Nec tamen sunt.

That is, they are quite the reverse.—Or like the Prophet in the Close of this Chapter, who assures the Believers in JESUS, They shall not be ashamed; that is, they shall be encouraged, emboldened, established.

† Rom. ix. 30, 31, 32.

directs Us to the Haven, in which Sinners may cast Anchor, and find Safety. He gives Us a fine descriptive View of the Christian's complete Happiness. He opens (if I may continue the Metaphor) a free and ample Port for perishing Souls. Not formed by a Neck of Land, or a Ridge of Mountains, but by a magnificent Chain of spiritual Blessings. All proceeding from, and terminating in, that precious Corner-stone JESUS CHRIST. Who of GOD is made unto Us Wisdom, and Righteousness, and Sanctification, and Redemption *. Wisdom, to enlighten our ignorant Minds. Righteousness †, to justify our guilty Persons. Sanctification †, to renew our depraved Natures. Redemption, to rescue Us from all Evil; and render Us, both in Body and Soul, perfectly and eternally happy. — Let it be remarked, how carefully our inspired Writer sets aside all Sufficiency, as well as all Merit in Man. He represents the whole of our Salvation, both in its Procurement and Application, as a Work of free Grace. CHRIST is, and not We Ourselves, the Author of this glorious Restoration,

* 1 Cor. i. 30.

† Righteousness and Sanctification; the former imputed, the latter inherent. This preserves a Distinction between the noble Articles, and assigns to each a grand Share in the Oeconomy of Salvation. — To say, that, if one of the Blessings is communicated by way of Imputation, the other should be communicated in the same Manner, seems to be cavilling, rather than arguing. Because, the Subjects are of a different Nature; and therefore must be enjoyed in a different Way. — The Cocoa Tree is, to the American, Food and Clothing, a Habitation and domestic Utensils. But must We suppose it, administering to all these Uses, in one and the same unvaried Method? Because, in one Respect it is eaten, in another it is wore, must it be thus applied in all? I believe, the illiterate Savage, who enjoys the several Gifts, need not be taught the Absurdity of such a Supposition.

tion, the Cause of this great Felicity. He is made all this unto Us—How? Not by our own Resolution and Strength; but of GOD, by the Agency of his mighty Power, and blessed SPIRIT. He shews Us the all-sufficient Fulness of CHRIST. He brings Us by ardent Longings to CHRIST. He implants Us into CHRIST, and makes Us Partakers of his Merits.

In the Process of the same Epistle, the sacred Penman enumerates the constituent Parts of that great Salvation, which the SON of GOD has procured for ruined Sinners. *But Ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the Name of the LORD JESUS, and by the SPIRIT of our GOD. Ye are washed; cleansed from the Filth, and discharged from the Guilt, of all your Iniquities. Ye are sanctified; delivered from the Death of Sin, and endued with a living Principle of Holiness. Ye are justified; restored to a State of Acceptance with GOD, and invested with a Title to eternal Glory. All which inestimable Prerogatives are conferred upon the true Believer, in the Name of our LORD JESUS CHRIST; in consideration of his atoning Blood and meritorious Righteousness. By the SPIRIT of our GOD; through the Efficacy of his Operation, revealing CHRIST, and working Faith in the Heart.

Some Gentlemen have talked of a new remedial Law; whereas, the Apostle declares, that CHRIST is the End of the old, the unalterable, the Mosaic Law, for Righteousness to every One that believeth†.—Follow the Course of a River; it will constantly lead

* 1 Cor. vi. 11.

† Rom. x. 4.

You to the Ocean. Trace the Veins of the Body; they invariably unite in the Heart. Mark likewise the Tendency of the Law; it no less constantly and invariably conducts You to CHRIST, as the Center of its Views, and the Consummation of its Demands. —The moral Law aims, at discovering our Guilt, and demonstrating our inexpressible Need of a SAVIOUR. The ceremonial points Him out, as suffering in our Stead; making Reconciliation for Iniquity; and purging away every Defilement with his Blood.—They both direct the wretched Transgressor, to renounce Himself, and fly to the REDEEMER. Who alone has paid that perfect Obedience, and brought in that everlasting Righteousness, which the Sinner wants, and the Law exacts. Who is, therefore, the only proper Accomplishment of the one, and the only suitable Supply for the other.

What is the grand Design of the whole Scriptures? St. Paul, displaying their sublime Origin, and enumerating the gracious Purposes, they are intended to serve, writes thus: All Scripture is given by Inspiration of GOD; and is profitable—for Doctrine, to declare and establish religious Truth—for Reproof, to convince of Sin, and to refute Error—*for Correction, or Renovation of the Heart, and Reformation of the Life—for Instruction in Righteousness, in that Righteousness, which could never have been learned from any other Book, and in which alone sinful Men may appear with Comfort before their GOD.

We have seen the principal Scope of the Law, and the leading Design of the Scriptures: let Us add one Inquiry more. What is the chief Office of the SPIRIT?—If all these coincide, and uniformly terminate

* 2 Tim. iii. 16. Πρὸς πειρασμὸν.

nate in the imputed Righteousness of CHRIST; We have a Confirmation of its Reality and Excellence, great as Man can desire, I had almost said, great as GOD can impart. — What says our LORD upon this Point? When He, the SPIRIT of Truth is come, He shall convince the World of Sin, of Righteousness, and of Judgment. Of Sin, because they believe not in me: of Righteousness, because I go to my FATHER, and ye see me no more: of Judgment, because the Prince of this World is judged †.* — Is it possible for Words to be more weighty and comprehensive? Here is a Summary of Christian Faith, and of Christian Holiness. Not that superficial Holiness, which is patched up of devotional Forms, and goes no farther than external Performances: but that which is vital, and springs from the Heart; consists in Power, not in mere Profession; whose Praise, if not of Men, who are smitten with pompous Out-fides, is sure to be of GOD, who distinguishes the Things which are excellent:

He shall convince the World of Sin; of original and actual Sin. The Sin of their Nature, as well as the Sin of their Life; the Sin of their best Deeds, no less than of their criminal Commissions, and blameable Omissions. Above all, of their sinning against the sovereign, the only Remedy, by Unbelief; because they believe not on me. — He shall convince of Righteousness;

* He shall convince, seems to be the most proper Translation of ελεγε. As it implies the sure Success, which attends the Operation of the Divine SPIRIT. — Man may reprove, and no Conviction ensue. Whereas, that Almighty AGENT not only reproves, but reproves with Power; so as to determine the Judgment, and sway the Affections.

† John xvi. 8, 9, 10, 11.

ness; of the Divine REDEEMER's Righteousness, which the foregoing Conviction must render peculiarly welcome. Convince them, that it was wrought out in behalf of disobedient and defective Mortals; that it is absolutely perfect, and sufficient to justify even the most Ungodly. Of all which an incontestable Proof is given, by his Resurrection from the Dead, his triumphant Ascension into Heaven, and Session at the Right-hand of his FATHER; because I go to my FATHER, and ye see me no more *.—He shall convince of Judgment. Those, who are humbled under a Sense of Guilt, and justified through an imputed Righteousness, shall be taught by happy Experience, that the Prince of this World is condemned and dethroned in their Hearts: That their Souls are rescued from the Tyranny of Satan; are made victorious over their Corruptions; and restored to the Liberty—the glorious Liberty of the Children of GOD.

You wonder, perhaps, that I have not strengthened my Cause, by any Quotation from the Epistle to the Galatians. What I design, my dear Theron, is not to accumulate, but to select Arguments. However, that I may not disappoint an Expectation so reasonable, I proceed to lay before You a very nervous Passage, from that masterly Piece of sacred Controversy.—Only let me just observe, that the Epistle was written to Persons, who had embraced Christianity, and professed an Affiance in CHRIST. But would fain have have joined Circumcision, would fain have superadded their own religious Duties, to the Merits of their SAVIOUR; in order to constitute, at least, some Part of their justifying Righteousness. Against which Error, the vigilant and indefatigable Assertor of the Truth as it is in JESUS, remonstrates—*We who are Jews by Nature, and not Sinners of the Gentiles, knowing that a Man is not justified by the Works of the Law, but by the Faith of JESUS CHRIST, even We have believed in JESUS CHRIST; that We might be justified by the Faith of CHRIST, and not by the Works of the Law; for, by the Works of the Law shall no Flesh be justified.

* For, if the Work had been imperfect in any degree, our REDEEMER, instead of taking up his stated and final Residence in the Regions of Glory, must have descended again into this inferior World, to complete what was deficient.

We, who are Jews by Nature, the Descendents of Abraham, and GOD's peculiar People; have the Tables of his Law, and the Ordinances of his Worship: We who, in Point of Privileges, are greatly superior to the Gentile Nations, and have all possible Advantages for establishing (if such a Thing were practicable) a Righteousness of our own; What have We done?—We have believed on JESUS CHRIST: We have renounced Ourselves; disclaimed whatever is our own; and depended wholly on the Righteousness of CHRIST.—For what End? That by this Faith in CHRIST, which receives his Righteousness; pleads his Righteousness; and presents nothing but his Righteousness before the Throne, We might be justified.—What Motive has induced Us to this Practice? A firm Persuasion, that by the Works of the Law, by sincere Obedience, or personal Holiness, no Man living has been, and no Man living can be, justified before GOD.
VOL. II. B b ceives

* Gals ii. 15, 16. Observable, very observable is the Zeal of our Apostle, in this determined Stand, against the most specious, and therefore the most dangerous, Inroachments of Error. To express his ardent Concern for the Truth and Purity of the Gospel, the Works of the Law are mentioned no less than three Times, and as often excluded from the Affair of Justification. The Faith of CHRIST likewise is thrice inculcated, and as often asserted to be the only Method of becoming righteous before GOD.

Are You tired, Theron? Have I fatigued your Attention, instead of convincing your Judgment?—I will not harbour such a Suspicion. It is pleasing to converse with Those, who have traveled into foreign Countries, and seen the Wonders of Creation. We hearken to their Narratives with Delight. Every new Adventure whets our Curiosity, rather than palls our Appetite. Must it not then afford a more sublime Satisfaction, to be entertained with the Discourses of a Person, who had, not indeed sailed round the World, but made a Journey to the third Heavens? Who had been admitted into the Paradise of GOD, and heard Things of infinite Importance, and unutterable Dignity?—This was the Privilege of that incomparable Man, whose Observations and Discoveries, I have been presenting to my Friend. And I promise myself, He will not complain of Weariness, if I enrich my Epistle with one or two more of those glorious Truths.

GOD hath made HIM to be Sin for Us who knew no Sin; that We might, not be put into a Capacity of acquiring a Righteousness of our own, but be made the Righteousness of GOD in Him*. In this Text, the apt Imputation of our Sin to CHRIST, and of CHRIST's Righteousness to Us, is most emphatically

* 2 Cor. v. 21.

phatically taught, and most charmingly contrasted.—
Most emphatically taught. For, We are said, not barely to be righteous, but to be made Righteousness itself; and not Righteousness only, but (which is the utmost that Language can reach) the Righteousness of GOD.—Most charmingly contrasted. For, One cannot but ask, In what Manner, CHRIST was made Sin? In the very same Manner, We are made Righteousness. CHRIST knew no actual Sin; yet, upon his mediatorial Interposition on our Behalf, He was treated by Divine Justice, as a sinful Person. We likewise are destitute of all legal Righteousness; Yet, upon our receiving CHRIST, and believing in his Name, We are regarded by the Divine MAJESTY, as righteous Creatures. This therefore cannot, in either Case, be intrinsically; but must be, in both Instances, imputatively.—Gracious, divinely gracious Exchange*! pregnant with amazing Goodness, and rich with ineffimable Benefits.
The incessant Triumph of the strong, the sovereign Consolation of the weak Believer!

Cease your Exultation, cries One, and come down from your Altitudes. The Term used in this Verse denotes, not so properly Sin, as an Offering for Sin.
—This is a mere Supposal, which I may as reasonably deny, as Another affirm. Since the Word occurs, much more frequently in the former Signification,

B b 2

* Ita scilicet mirabili Permutatione Mala nostra in se re-cepit, ut Bona sua nobis largiretur; recepit Miseriam, ut lar-giretur Misericordiam; recepit Maledictionem, ut Benedictionis sue compotes nos faceret; recepit Mortem, ut Vitam conserret; recepit Peccatum, ut Justitiam impertiretur. Thus writes the judicious Turretin. To which, in Concurrence with the accurate Witsius, I subscribe both with Hand and Heart.

tion, than in the latter ; and since, by giving it the latter Signification in the Passage before Us, We very much impair, if not totally destroy, the Apostle's beautiful Antithesis.

However ; not to contend, but to allow the Remark. I borrow my Reply from a brave old Champion * for the Truths of the Gospel : “ This Text, “ says He, invincibly proveth, That We are not justified in G O D's Sight by Righteousness inherent “ in Us, but by the Righteousness of CHRIST “ imputed to Us through Faith.” After which He adds, what I make my Answer to the Objection ; “ That CHRIST was made Sin for Us, because “ He was a Sacrifice for Sin, We confess : but therefore “ was He a Sacrifice for Sin, because our Sin “ was imputed to Him, and punished in Him.”— The poor Delinquents under the Mosaic Dispensation, who brought their Sin-offering to the Altar of the L O R D, were directed to lay their Hand on the devoted Beast ; signifying, by this Usage, the transferring of Guilt from the Offerer to the Sacrifice. Conformably to the Import of this Ceremony, CHRIST assumed our Demerit ; like a true particular Victim, suffered the Punishment, which We had had deserved; and which, without such a Commutation, We must have undergone. So that our LORD's being made a Sin-offering for Us, does by no means invalidate, but very much confirm our Doctrine. It necessarily implies the Translation of our Iniquity to his Person; and on the Principles of Analogy, must infer the Imputation of his Righteousness to our Souls.

* See Dr. Fulk's Annotation on the Place, in that valuable Place of antient Controversy and Criticism, The Examination of the Rhemist Testament. Which, though not altogether so elegant and refined in the Language, nor so delicate and genteel in the Manner, as might be wished ; is nevertheless full of sound Divinity, weighty Arguments, and important Observations.—Would the young Student be taught to discover the very Sinews of Popery, and be enabled to give an effectual Blow to that Complication of Errors, I scarce know a Treatise better calculated for the Purpose.

One Passage more permit me to transcribe into my Paper; and, at the same Time, to wish, that it may be written on both our Hearts. Written, not with Ink and Pen, no, nor with the Point of a Diamond, but with the Finger of the living GOD. Yea, doubtless, and I count all Things but Loss, for the Excellency of the Knowledge of CHRIST JESUS my LORD; for whom I have suffered the Loss of all Things, and do count them but Dung, that I may win CHRIST, and be found in Him; not having mine own Righteousness which is of the Law, but that which is through the Faith of CHRIST, the Righteousness which is of GOD through Faith.*

Be pleased to observe, that in this Confession of Faith, and with Reference to the Case of Justification, the Apostle renounces all those Acts of supposed Righteousness, which were antecedent to his Conversion.—Nor does He repudiate them only, but all those more excellent Services, by which He was so eminently distinguished, even after his Attachment to CHRIST, and Engagement in the Christian Ministry. As though He should say—“ The Privilege of being a Hebrew by Birth; the Prerogative of being a Pharisee by Profession; together with

B b 3

“ a Be-

* Phil. iii. 8, 9.

“ a Behaviour exemplary, and a Reputation un-“ blameable; all these, which were once reckoned “ my highest Gain, as soon as I became acquainted “ with the glorious Perfections of CHRIST, I “ counted * Loss for Him.—And now, though I have “ been a Disciple many Years; have walked in all “ holy Conversation and Godliness; have endured, “ for my Divine MASTER’s Name, Tribula“ tions above measure; have laboured more abun“ dantly, and more successfully than all the Apostles; “ yet, even these and all other Attainments, of what “ Kind or of what Date soever, I count † but Loss,
 “ for the transcendent Excellency of CHRIST “ JESUS my LORD.—Yea doubtless ‡; it is “ my deliberate and steadfast Resolution; what I “ have most seriously adopted, and do publicly “ avow; that, specious as all these Acquirements “ may seem, and valuable as they may be in other “ Respects, I reckon them but Dung, that I may “ win CHRIST ||. They fade into nothing, they “ dwindle

* ἡσέμην, I have counted.

† ἡσέμην, relates to the present Time, and comprehends present Attainments, I do count.—Not some, or the greatest Part, but all Things.—What? Is a Course of Sobriety, and the Exercise of Morality, to be reckoned as Dung? All Things, says the Apostle.—What? Is our most elevated Devotion, and enlarged Obedience, to be degraded at this monstrous Rate? All Things, says the Apostle. This is his invariable Reply. And We may venture to affirm, That He had the Mind of CHRIST.

‡ Perhaps, ἀλλὰ μόνον may be translated, but truly. As if He had said, “ But why should I mention any more “ Particulars? In truth, I count all Things, &c.”

|| Διὰ Χριστον—διὰ το υπερειχον—να Χριστον κερδησω—plainly imply this comparative or relative Sense. Virtues, which are the Fruits of the SPIRIT, and Labours, which are a Blessing

“ dwindle into less than nothing, if set in competition “ with his matchless Obedience : and were they to “ supersede my Application to his Merits, or weaken “ my Reliance on his Mediation, they would be not “ contemptible only, but injurious—irreparably in“ jurious—Loss itself.”

You will ask, If He rejects all his own Righteousness, on what are his Hopes fixed ?—On a Foundation, extensive as the Obedience of the REDEEM-ER's Life and Death, unshaken as the Dignity of his eternal Power and GODHEAD. They are fixed on the Righteousness which is of GOD ; the Righteousness which GOD the FATHER, in unsearchable Wisdom, provided ; and which GOD the SON, in unutterable Goodness, wrought.—Do You inquire,
How He came to be invested, with this Righteousness ? The Answer is ready and satisfactory. It was by the Application of the Divine SPIRIT, and the Instrumentality of Faith.—Lest Any should imagine, That this Faith might be substituted, instead of his own Obedience to the Law ; He puts an apparent Difference between the Righteousness which justifies, and the Faith by which it is received : not the Righteousness which consists in, but is THROUGH a Blessing to Mankind, must not be reckoned absolutely or in all Respects despicable ; but only in a limited and qualified Acceptation. Despicable, not in themselves, but as compared with the divinely perfect Righteousness of CHRIST, or as referred to the infinitely important Article of Justification.

B b 4 the

That Aspasio, in this whole Paragraph, speaks the Sense of our Church, will appear from the following Extract :
 —“ The Apostle St. Paul saith, He doth glory, in what ?
 “ In the Contempt of his own Righteousness ; and that “ He looketh for the Righteousness of GOD by Faith.”

Homily of Salvation, Part 12

the Faith of CHRIST.—To shew the great Importance of this Distinction ; how earnestly He insisted upon it, as a Preacher ; how much it tended to his Consolation, as a Christian ; He repeats the Sentiment, He reinculcates the Doctrine, The Righteousness which is of GOD BY Faith.

Will You now, Theron, or shall I, poor unprofitable Creatures, presume to rely on any Performances or any Accomplishments of our own ? When that distinguished Saint—a perfect Prodigy of Gifts, of Graces, and of Zeal—indefatigable in Labours, unconquerable by Afflictions, and of whose Usefulness there is neither Measure nor End—When He denies Himself in every View ; depreciates all ; disavows all ; and makes mention of nothing, but the incomparable Righteousness of his obedient, dying, interceding SAVIOUR.

What shall I say more ? Shall I attempt to play the Rhetorician, and borrow the insinuating Arts of Persuasion ? This, after all the cogent Testimonies produced, and all the great Authorities urged, would be a needless Parade. When our Pen is a Sunbeam, there is but little Occasion to dip it in Oil.

Instead of such an Attempt, give me leave to make a frank and honest Confession. I would conceal nothing from my Friend. He should have a Sash to my Breast ; throw it up at his Pleasure ; and see all that passes within.—Though I never had any Temptation to that pernicious Set of Errors, which passes under the Character of Socinianism ; yet I had many Searchings of Heart, and much solicitous Inquiry, How far We are indebted to CHRIST's active Righteousness. Thoroughly persuaded, that Other *Foundation can no Man lay, save that which is laid, even JESUS CHRIST; and that there is no other Name given under Heaven, whereby Men can be saved†; yet, whether We were not to to confine our believing Regards to a dying SAVIOUR, was Matter of considerable Doubt.—At first, I was inclined to acquiesce in the Affirmative. After long Consideration and many Prayers, my Faith fixed upon the Whole of CHRIST's mediatorial Undertaking. Which began in his spontaneous Submission to the Law: was carried on through all his meritorious Life; and issued in his atoning Death.—This is now the Basis of my Confidence, and the Bulwark of my Happiness. Hither I fly; here I rest; as the Dove, after her wearisome and fruitless Rovings, returned to Noah, and rested in the Ark.
Foun-

This Scheme first recommended itself to my Affections; as making the most ample Provision, for the Security and Repose of a guilty Conscience. Which, when alarmed by the Accusations of Sin, is very apprehensive of its Condition; and will not be comforted, till every Scruple is satisfied, and all the Obstructions to its Peace are removed. Thus I reasoned with myself — “ Though there is, undoubtedly, “ something to be said for the other Side of the Question; yet, this is evidently the safest Method. “ And, in an Affair of infinite Consequence, who “ would not prefer the safest Expedient?—Should “ the Righteousness of JESUS, CHRIST be “ indispensibly requisite, as a Wedding-garment; “ what will they do, when the great immortal “ KING appears, who have refused to accept it? “ Whereas, should it not prove so absolutely necessary, “

• 1 Cor. iii 11.

† Acts iv. 12.

“fary, yet such a Dependence can never obstruct
 “our Salvation. It can never be charged upon Us, “as an Article of Contumacy or Perverseness, that “We thought too meanly of our own, too magnifi- “cently of our LORD’s Obedience. So that let “the Die turn either Way, We are exposed to no “Hazard.—This Scheme takes in all, that the “other Systems comprehend, and abundantly more.
 “In this I find no Defect, no Flaw, no Shadow of “Insufficiency. It is somewhat like the perfect Cube; “which, where-ever it may be thrown, or however “it may fall, is sure to settle upon its Base.—Sup“posing, therefore, the important Beam should hang “in Equilibrio, with respect to Argument; these “Circumstances, cast into the Scale, may very justly
 “be allowed to turn the Balance.”

Upon a more attentive Examination of the Subject, I perceived—That this is the Doctrine of our national Church; is enforced by the Attestation of our ablest Divines; and has been, in all Ages, the Consolation of the most eminent Saints:—That it is the genuine Sense of Scripture; and not some inferior or subordinate Point, incidentally touched upon by the inspired Writers, but the Sum and Substance * of their heavenly

* This Doctrine runs through St. Paul’s Writings, like a golden Warp. While Privileges, Blessings, and evangelical Duties are like a Woof (if I may allude to the Ornaments of the Sanctuary) of Blue, of Purple, of Scarlet, and indeed of every pleasant Colour. The Righte- ousness of GOD, Rom. i. 17.—The Righteousness from GOD, Phil. iii. 10.—Righteousness by Faith, Rom. iii. 22.—Righ- teousness of Faith, Rom. iv. 11.—Righteousness without the Law, Rom. iii. 21.—Righteousness without Works, Rom.
 iv. 6.—Righteousness in the Blood of CHRIST, Rom. v. 9.
 —Righ-

heavenly Message; that which constitutes the Vitals of their System, and is the very Soul of their Religion. On which Account the whole Gospel is denominated from it, and styled The Ministration of Righteousness:—I was farther convinced, That this Way of Salvation magnifies, beyond Compare, the divine Law; is no less honourable to all the divine Attributes; and exhibits the ever Blessed MEDIATOR in the most illustrious and the most delightful View:—All these Considerations, under the Influence of the eternal SPIRIT, have determined my Judgment, and established my Faith. So that I trust, neither the Subtilties of Wit, nor the Sneers of Ridicule, nor any other Artifice, shall ever be able to separate me from the Grace and Righteousness which are in JESUS CHRIST.

Let me now, by way of Conclusion, review that awful Subject, which introduced the Letter. Let me suppose the JUDGE, who is at the Door, actually come: the great and terrible Day, which is hastening forward *, really commenced.—Hark! The Trum-—Righteousness by the Obedience of CHRIST, Rom. v. 19.

—Righteousness not our own, Phil. iii. 9.—Righteousness imputed by GOD, Rom. iv. 6, 10, 22.

* The sacred Writers, I observe, often remind their Readers of this grand Event; often display this delightful, dreadful Scene.—Their Manner of Speaking shews, that they themselves lived under the habitual and joyful Expectation of it: as Persons, who were looking for, and hastening to, the Coming of the Day of GOD.—They represent it, not only as sure, but near; yea, very near, and upon the Point to take place. The LORD is at Hand. The JUDGE is at the Door. Yet a little while, and HE that shall come, will come and will not tarry.—The last Passage is the most spirited and emphatical of them all; but has lost

Trumpet sounds the universal Summons. The Living are struck with a death-like Astonishment; the Dead start from their silent Abodes.—See! The whole Earth takes Fire; the Sun is turned into Darkness; and the Stars fall from their Spheres.—Behold! The LORD JESUS comes, with Myriads of his Angels. The Judgment is set, and the Books are opened.

Observe those exemplary Christians, whose Sentiments I have been collecting. They renounce themselves, and rely on their Glorious SURETY. Methinks, I hear them say, Each as they quit their Beds of Dust; I will go forth from the Grave in thy Strength, O Blessed JESUS; and, at the decisive Tribunal, will make mention of thy Righteousness only.—At the same time, will You, Theron, or shall I, stand forth and declare—before the innumerable Multitude of anxious Sinners, and adoring Seraphs—“ Let those “ pusillanimous Creatures fly for Refuge to their “ SAVIOUR’s Righteousness. We will confide “ in Works, in Accomplishments of our own. We “ are the Men, who have personally kept the divine “ Law, and want no supposititious Obedience from An“ other. Let the Eye that glances through Immen“ sity, and penetrates the Recesses of the Heart; let “ that holy and omniscient Eye, examine our Tem“ per, and sift our Conduct. We are bold to risk “ our lost much of its Emphasis, by the English Version. It is in the Original μικρον οσον οσον. A beautiful Pleonasm; by which the Septuagint, though too often inaccurate in translating the prophetic Text, have very happily expressed Isaiah’s כמעט רגע Which may, I think, be rendered in our Language, yet a very, very little while. Heb. x. 37. Isa. xxvi. 20.

Let. 5. ASPASIO to THERON. 397

“ our Souls, and all their immortal Interests, on the “ Issue of such a Scrutiny.”

Perhaps, Your Mind is impressed with this solemn Scene, and your Thoughts recoil at such daring Presumption. If so, it will be proper for me to withdraw, and leave You to your own Meditations. At such Moments to obtrude on Your Company, would render me the troublesome and officious, rather than

The respectful and affectionate,

ASPASIO.

The END of the SECOND VOLUME.

